ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Emma Catharine Cresse vs. Gilbert Sthempson Cresse.
No. 2976 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:—

That the plaintiff was married to the defendant March 3, 1920, with whom she resided until June, 1921, at which time the said defendant deserted the said plaintiff while they resided at Bayard, Grant County, West Virginia; that, although the conduct of the plaintiff toward the said defendant has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Gilbert Sthempson Cresse has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her; that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that there was one child born of said marriage, Russell Dale Cresse, eight years of age, who is in the custody and care of your oratrix; that your oratrix has been a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, for more than two years next preceding the filing of this suit, but the defendant is not a resident of Maryland, his last known address being Camden, New Jersey, but his present place of residence being to your oratrix unknown.

The bill then prays for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii of the plaintiff from the defendant, for the guardianship and custody of the said infant child, Russell Dale Cresse, for general relief and for an order of publication.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 27th day of August, 1930, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspapcr published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1930, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1930, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not to be passed as prayed.

School Days and Eyesight

Dr. J. Fred Andreae, secretary of the Maryland State Board of Examiners in optometry, recently isued the following bulletin concerning "School Days and Eyesight":

"The twenty-five million children in the United States are back at their school desks. At least one-fourth of this number have eyes so completely out of focus that their progress in school is interfered with, and as a result they are belng robbed of their opportunity for preparation for life.

"The importance of the eyes, in acquiring an education, cannot be overemphasized. A child with defective vision is handicapped with his studies and many failures can be traced directly to this cause. These defects not only retard the child in his school work, but will handicap him later in life. If neglected, they tend to grow worse, rather than better, and will do him permanent harm. On the other hand, eye defects may, in most instances, be quickly and definitely corrected, if detected in time.

"A child has no means whatever of knowing whether or not his eyes are right, and until he reaches the age of understanding and judgment he must depend entirely upon his parents to take care of this important matter for him. They should see to it that their child's eyes are examined by a competent optometrist or oculist, before he starts to school, and then again once each school year thereafter. Every child is entitled to a fair start in life, and this cannot be had with defective vision."

THE NEWSPAPER

There used to be more criticism of newspapers than there is today. Some were called "clean" and some were referred to as not clean. Times are different. Magazines and books have so far outrun newspapers in frankness and in open discussion of subjects once spoken of in whispers that the newspaper is in a class of cleanliness all its own. The average newspaper does not tell dirty stories; it does not draw upon fiction to paint life; it does not defend immorality. In fact it does little moralizing of any sort. It tells what happened and it is readable for all members of the family. People don't go to the newspapers for racy reading. They don't go to newspaper editors to be shocked. They go to magazine makers and book publishers.

To Inspect Results of Yard-Garden Contest Entries

All people who are interested in better homes and gardens are invited to visit as many of the places mentioned below as possible tomorrow to inspect the results of the Oakland Yard and Garden contest, which has been conducted during the past summer.

A number of representative gardens was picked out of the 250 entries, and people will be welcome at any of them tomorrow afternoon, 2 to 5, where they may stay as long as they like and discuss the different improvements made. The inspection tomorrow will have no effect whatever on the awarding of prizes, Miss Lottie Loar, president of the Civic club, stated. This trip is merely to show people what has been done, and everybody is invited to go from place to place during the afternoon.

The yard and garden contest committee is so pleased with the interest that has been shown in work done this summer and plans for next year, rock gardens, lily pools, fountains and flowers, that they arranged this pilgrimage to visit a few of the homes.

Tea will be served at the home of Mrs. Paul Naylor where a free-will offering will be taken to help defray expenses of the contest.

The following homes will be visited: Mrs. Byron Besse, Mrs. James Bell, Miss Ora Bush, Mrs. N. I. Broadwater, Mrs. Asa Coddington, Mrs. Harold Dawson, Mrs. Walter Hardesty, Mrs. Delbert Davis, Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. J. W. Hart, Mrs. H. Harned, Mrs. E. R. Archibaldson Breaks Forth

Archibaldson has broke forth this week again with a beautiful sentiment on the art of staying home. It was written Thursday evening.

"After all is said an done, there's nothing quite to compare with the quiet contentment of an evening at home. Tonight while the world dances, plays miniature golf, loafs, and flocks to the bright lights and loud voices of the movies, I sit comfortably at home, my cigar in my mouth, at peace with the world.

"And I shall go to bed early just reasonably tired, knowing that I shall arise for a new day's work thoroughly refreshed.

"No movies, no late hours, no gay parties for me. Rather would I sit comfortably by the fireside (no fire in it yet), turning the dials on my radio or scanning the latest magazines and newspapers.

"And it's a good thing I'd rather, anyhow, because Mrs. Archibaldson is attending her bridge club, and it's my night to put Eleanor and Bobby to bed."

Reputation De Luxe

Mary: "It says in the paper that the marines have landed and have the situation well in hand. What does that mean?"

Agnes: "Say, dumb-bell, hain't you ever been out with a marine?" (Not Original.)

The blackbirds which have been hovering around the corner of Third and Oak streets for the past several weeks, finally packed up and left their nests, presumably for winter quarters in the southland.

At 3 o'clock Tuesday morning when the returns came in from Accident and it was found that J. S. Teats had a majority of 113, it took five men to hold Guy Yutzy from jumping out of the window. But then, they hadn't heard from Kitzmiller.

The bugles have arrived for the rum, excuse me, the drum corps. Since Archibaldson has been named one of the buglers, Scoop knows that a lot of hot air is going to pass thru the City hall from now on.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR TO END WITH FARMERS' DAY

Fourteenth Annual Exhibit Will Conclude Tomorrow—Has Been Fairly Successful

WEDNESDAY WAS BIG DAY

The Fourteenth Annual Garrett County Fair will close tomorrow with Farmers' Day, after a fairly successful exhibition, according to Henry M. Speicher, general manager.

There will be no parade on this day, but all farmers are especially invited to be present on this day and look over the exhibits in all departments.

"The exhibits have been above expectations this year", Mr. Speicher said, "considering the summer drought. I have visited several county fairs this year and our exhibits will compare favorably with any of them.

"We had a better quality of cattle, sheep, hogs, etc., than in previous years and there were more purebred horses than formerly. There were more entries in the poultry department than ever before, and the exhibits of the 4-H clubs and agriculture clubs were very good.

"The heavy drought cut down on the quantity of farm products, especially in the corn and potato and grain departments, but all other departments were up to standard."

Judges have been busy during the past two days in making awards and they will be announced in next week's issue of The Republican.

Members of the association are attempting to get Governor Ritchie here for the final day of the Fair, it was stated this morning.

Yesterday Was Big Day

Yesterday, September 17, was the feature day of the Fair. A parade of all school children of this vicinity was held, with the Crellin Band, Oakland Boys' Band, and a number of floats also in line.

Mayor W. F. Broening, of Baltimore, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland, was present during the afternoon, and it was estimated that several thousand were in attendance throughout the day.

Entertainment throughout the four days is being furnished by the American Exposition shows. The carnival is said to be one of the largest to be in Oakland in several years.

A number of business houses of Oakland have been decorated for the occasion by Mr. John Kliffner, decorator, of Cumberland.

Oakland High School Wins Vo-Ag Judging Contest

Oakland High School vocational agricultural team won the annual dairy cattle judging contest, at the Fair grounds, Oakland, yesterday, with a score of 840, while its nearest rival was the Accident team with 835. Friendsville was third with 760 points.

Mr. J. A. Conover, dairy specialist, University of Maryland, acted as judge. The winning team was presented with a silver loving cup. Each contestant had to place and write reasons on three classes of cattle—Jersey cows, Jersey heifers, and Guernsey heifers.

Individual prizes were presented as follows: William Spiker, Oakland, first, $5.00; Elbert Buckel, Accident, second, $3.00; William Harmon, Accident, third, $2.00.

The teams were composed of the following: Oakland, Wayne Hamilton, William Spiker; Accident, Elbert Buckel, William Harmon; Friendsville, Karol Rush, Glenn Fike; Grantsville, Raymond Loechel, Clarence Murphy.

Community Show Held by Pleasant Valley Grange

The annual community show of the people of Pleasant Valley was held last Saturday, September 13, at the Pleasant Valley Grange hall. Agricultural exhibits of all kinds were on display. A number of ribbon prizes and a cash prize were awarded.

Boxing matches and horseshoe pitching contests furnished the entertainment during the afternoon. Chas. Ream was chairman of the evening program which consisted of the following: selections by the Oakland quartet; address by Rev. I. S. Middaugh, Mt. Lake Park; W. W. Dawson of Oakland made a few appropriate remarks and the Sanders family of Crellin assisted in the entertainment.

Essex Coupe Destroyed by Fire

The Essex coupe, owned by Dave Hardesty, and which had just repaired following a wreck Sunday, September 7, at King's Hill, became ignited last Thursday evening on Big Bear Creek hill, about two miles north of Accident, and was almost entirely consumed by flames.

Hardesty, noticing smoke issuing from under the hood, investigated and found it blazing fiercly. The car was brought to Kerins Bros. garage Friday morning. Flames reached every point but the two front wheels and tires. There was no insurance.

Youth Injured in Crellin Mine

Freeman Uphold, 18 years old, was injured in the mines of the Stanley coal company at Crellin on Monday when he was dragged for some distance by a mine car and severely bruised about the hips.

His belt caught in one of the moving cars and he was not able to extricate himself before he had been pulled along for quite a ways. No bones were broken. Dr. H. W. McComas, of Oakland, rendered medical assistance.

The injured youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Uphold, Crellin.

TAPS AND REVEILLE RESOUND AS LEGIONAIRES BLOW

When it's taps in one end of town, it's time to get up in the other, while in between, it isn't any time at all, 'cause most of the legionaires are still trying to shape their lips properly to play the four notes necessary on a bugle, in order to get any music out of it whatever, and they haven't done much yet with assembly, mess, or call to quarters.

It is impossible to escape the massacre of notes, you hear them almost everywhere you go. And the rat-a-tat-tat of the drums is wafted on the breezes where the buglers fail to penetrate.

It's all caused by the drum and bugle corps of the American Legion post, just trying to get a start in life. Neil Fraley and Julius Littman keep Quality hill well covered, Fazzalari, Reckard, and Joe Gonder keep the center of town on edge; Ed. Kahl, Mit Sincell, Betty Dawson, Mose Sincell, Dick Maroney, Ed. Lawrence, Mike Liller and Hugh Teats are keeping the north edge of town in tune, while Francis Gower, Frank Pifer and Earl Selders are expecting to get run out of their section any minute. O. "Soldier" Halsey has all of Deep Creek Lake to keep covered with his snare drum beats. And there are Alex Hesen, Bob Helbig, Harry Friend, I. Romanus Rudy, Shaffer and a few others in sections not already mentioned. They are still holding their own, notwithstanding some dire threats of neighbors.

It is rumored that in selecting those who were to play the bugles and those who were to beat the drums, Joseph Gonder, post commander, made a personal inspection of the teeth of every individual. This does not mean that all drummers have false teeth, it is stated by I. R. Rudy and Ed. Lawrence, two lovers of drumsticks.

But there's a silver lining to all this. They are practicing two nights each week until they master their difficulties. So, maybe it won't be long, after all.

ENROLLMENT FIGURES IN OAKLAND HIGH INCREASES

New High Mark Is Reached This Week With 405 Registered

Enrollment figures in Oakland High school reached a new high mark this week when it was learned that 405 students had registered, an increase of 30 over figures given out the first of last week and an increase of 72 over figures for the same period last year.

Revised figures at Oakland Grammar school show that 313 are enrolled and divided as follows, seventh, 42; sixth, 39; fifth, 44; fourth, 45; third, 56; second, 40; first, 47. This makes a total of 788 students enrolled in Oakland schools.

An interesting feature is noted in the enrollment of boys and girls in the High school. The greater percentage of the freshman enrollment are boys, but as they continue through the four years they rapidly decrease until finally there are twice as many girls as boys. The enrollment during the four years is as follows: Freshmen, total 156, 85 boys and 71 girls; sophomore, total 112, 56 boys and 56 girls; junior, total 81, 25 boys and 56 girls; seniors, total 47, 18 boys and 29 girls; postgraduates, total 9, 3 boys and 6 girls.

Wayne Hamilton Wins In Bando Calf Club Exhibit

Wayne Hamilton won first prize offered by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to the member of the Bando Calf club for the best calf exhibited at the Garrett county fair.

The decision of the judges was based on the individuality and condition of animal and growth made, records of method of feeding, rations selected, amount fed; written story of the feeding, care, management and cost of raising heifer; and individuality and breeding of bull to which calf was bred.

All calves of club members were shown to good advantage, according to J. H. Carter, county agent. Wilber Hollar was placed second, Bural Frazee, third; Hagan Frazee, fourth; Allen Kelley, fifth; Wade Frazee, sixth; and Paul Frazee, seventh. First prize was $10.

Premiums on the same calves, offered by the Fair association were won as follows: cow, 3 years and over, Paul Frazee, first; Wayne Hamilton, second. Heifer, 2 years and under 3, Allen Kelly, 1; Bural Frazee, 2; Hagan Frazee, 3; Wade Frazee, 4; Wilber Hollar, 5. All calves exhibited were purebred Guerneseys.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Harned have returned home from a week's visit with their daughter, Mrs. Hubert Burdette, at Mount Airy.

JAMES SANDERS IS MADE COUNTY 'SHOE CHAMPION

Defeats William Bittinger in Tournament Finals Yesterday

James Sanders, of Hutton, won the official championship of Garrett county in horseshoe pitching by defeating William Bittinger of Mt. Lake Park in the finals of the contest held yesterday afternoon in connection with the agricultural fair.

Each contestant had won one game and the third was tied at 23, when Sanders slipped on a ringer to bring his score to 26. The contest was held under the auspices of the Baltimore Sunpapers and the Playground Athletic League of that city.

Paul Welch, last year's champion, was eliminated by William Bittinger, one of the finalists. There were approximately 20 entered in the tournament.

C. W. Ashley, of the Playground Athletic League, was the official referee, while Charles A. Tower and W. E. Spoerlein, of Gortner, county chairman for the promotion of the tournament, acted as scorers and judges.

A silver loving cup was presented to the winner by Mayor W. F. Broening, of Baltimore.

The champion from the several counties of the State will go to Baltimore on October 15 to meet for the State championship. During their stay in the city they will be the guests of the Playground Athletic League and the Sunpapers.

Attend the road opening Saturday.

MONDAY WAS OFFICIALLY LAST DAY FOR STRAWS

(By Panama Ike)

In style on Monday, September 15, out of style on Tuesday, September 1, and you haven't done a thing but wear the same straw lid on both days. Now just why is that? Well, we don't know either, but we did attempt to find out from a few of the people around town and they knew just about as much concerning the straw hat season as we did.

The thought that Tuesday was September 16 was brought rather forcibly to several Oakland people when they had their favorite summer headgear snatched, a doubled fist, connected on a right arm, pushed thru the top and the brim torn to shreds. And the offender couldn't be arrested for disorderly conduct or malicious destruction of property—because it was September 16.

When asked why May 15 to September 15 was stylish for straw hats and dates before and after them considered not, here is what a few Oakland people thought:

H. C. Sincell—"I think the tradition was originated by a bunch of hoodlums."

Harold Dawson—"I'd blame it on the manufacturers of felt hats."

Cot McComas—"Rowdyism must have been the orlginal reason."

Cecil Smith—"It's just an old Spanish custom."

And after looking in the Encyclopedia Brittanica under "hats", "customs", "traditions", "customes", and "Straw", we have also come to the conclusion that it is lawful to break up straw hats after the 15th because Christopher Columbus, in his travels around the North Pole on the good ship Titanic, threw his straw headgear out to the polar bears on that date upon seeing the flag of the United States planted on top of the world.

In spite of all this, we'll see straw hats in Garrett county until the first fall of snow, maybe later. We'll also see them in March, the same hats. And why not? City people consider us "original" in a good many things. We might as well be original in this.

SPEAKERS ARE SELECTED FOR OPENING OF HIGHWAY

Plans Are Completed for Road Opening Celebration at Kitzmiller on Saturday

OAKLAND TO FORM AT 10

Speakers were decided upon for the road celebration which will be held at Kitzmiller on Saturday, September 20, and include Mr. G. Clinton Uhl, State Roads Commissioner; C. P. Fortney, State Roads Commissioner of West Virginia; Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman, Mr. David J. Lewis, and Dr. Henry W. McComas, of Oakland, Republican candidate for State Senator.

Plans for the road opening were completed at a meeting of the joint committees held at Deer Park on Monday evening. The Oakland part of the parade will form at the City Hall, Oakland, at 10 o'clock and will proceed towards Kitzmiller. They will be joined along the way by people from Deer Park, Wilson, and other towns.

The parade will be formed again at the top of the hill leading into Kitzmiller, and will be joined by the people of Kitzmiller.

The Crellin Band, the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band, of Oakland, the Oakland Troop of Boy Scouts, and the Oakland Rotary club will be in line of parade besides a number of automobiles containing Oakland, Crellin, Mt. Lake and Loch Lynn people. The parade will go to the school grounds where the celebration is to be held.

The West Penn Power company has donated a bus to be used in taking people from Oakland to the scene of the road opening, and two large school busses will be used to take the two bands and scouts.

The entertainment and other details are being taken care of by the Kitzmiller Fire department and the Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller. A ball game will be played in the afternoon, and there will be carnival and park attractions throughout the day. The speaking is scheduled for 1 o'clock, immediately after dinner. There will be square and round dancing in the evening.

Kitzmiller is making plans to accommodate the largest gathering the town has ever known, and plenty of parking space is assured for those who attend.

Arrested for Refusing to Fight Forest Fire.

Albert Howard, Bloomington, was arrested Friday, September 12, by Officer Jake Tasker, upon a warrant sworn out by A. L. Sines, district warden, charging him with refusing to fight fire when ordered by the district warden.

He was taken before Justice W. H. Turner, who imposed a fine of $10, and costs of $4.65.

Pythians to Make Plans for Winter Programs

Plans for the winter activities of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, will be made at the regular meeting of that organization, to be held tomorrow evening in Castle Hall, Oakland, it has been announced.

An attempt is made to have an interesting program each Friday evening throughout the year, and different committees are appointed to see that these plans are carried out. It is urged that a large number will be present.

A full report of the committee in charge of the Labor Day picnic will be made at the meeting tomorrow evening. While not quite as large as last year, the net receipts were considered satisfactory, a member of the committee stated.

OVER 150 IN ATTENDANCE AT BANQUET OF GOODWILL

Mayors and Councils of Incorporated Towns Are Guests of Oakland City Council

W. F. BROENING SPEAKS

More than 150 were present at a banquet given last night by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland in honor of all the Mayors and Town Councils of incorporated towns of Garrett county, at the Manhattan hotel. Friendsville, Grantsville, Accident, Deer Park, Loch Lynn, Mt. Lake Park, Kitzmiller, and Oakland were represented and in addition practically all the business and professional men of Oakland attended.

The banquet concluded the goodwill meetings between officials of various towns, which were held during the summer when the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland visited different communities and were entertained.

W. F. Broening, mayor of Baltimore, gave the principal address of the evening. Fred N. Zihlman, congressman from the sixth congressional district, also gave a short talk.

The program for the evening included the following: music by the Marylanders; address of welcome to visiting towns, by A. T. Matthews, acting State's Attorney for Garrett county; music by the Oakland quartet; two solos by Reeves Blandford. W. W. Dawson, local attorney, acted as toastmaster and G. C. Stemple, mayor, introduced Mayor Broening.

Mayor Broening complimented those responsible for the banquet and for the wonderful spirit of good-will shown by everybody present. He pointed out the difference between the city and small town, stating that in a place like Garrett county men loved to meet one another and get together.

Their spirit, he said, was manifest in the many volunteer organizations that had been formed for the purpose of rendering service to other people. "That spirit enriches the life of a people and brings out the finer and nobler qualities of men."

"These good will meetings are not only helpful to the immediate community. They are helpful to the entire state. We want all towns and communities to grow, thrive, move onward, increase in wealth. Men realize the purpose of building a new spirit for tomorrow, in order to give better opportunities to the children of today, and the modern problems will be solved to better advantage after such meetings as you are holding tonight."

Mayor Broening cited the similarities in the office of mayor whether it was in a large city or a small town. All had their problems of water supply, health, schools, streets, etc., he stated. It was also pointed out that out of the small towns of the country had come the great men of the United States, because of their contacts and association with the people who had understanding.

Congressman Zihlman in a few words, commended the people for the spirit of the occasion and lauded the booster organizations of small communities for the work which they were doing. He predicted a great feeling of friendliness between the counties of Maryland during the next few years, and a decrease in the petty enmities that usually exist between different communities of the state.

Mr. Matthews assured the visiting mayors and councils of a warm welcome in Oakland and asked for a continuance of good will such as was manifest at the meeting.

Town officials present included:

Deer Park, E. C. Clatterbuck. C. A. Ashby represented the mayor.

Accident, Adam Richter, mayor; John Hetrick, F. E. Spoerlein.

Mt. Lake Park, E. O. Fouch, C. V. Harvey, E. E. Friend.

Loch Lynn Heights, C. E. Hardesty, mayor; E. C. Hutchinson, H. V. Leighton.

Friendsville, Norval Speelman, mayor; Henry Shevel, A. F. Nell, C. O. Ross, Arnold E. Fox.

Grantsville, A. C. Stanton, mayor; William Winterberg, Norman Patton, J. W. Folk, N. U. Broadwater, Daniel Klotz.

Kitzmiller, C. H. McDonald, mayor; George L. Pritts, W. C. Paugh, W. F. Schwinabart, E. J. Hamill.

Oakland, Grover C. Stemple, mayor; Carlton McComas, Jesse Ashby, George Little, Ralph Thayer.

Lesson for September 21

JONAH: THE NARROW NATIONALIST REBUKED

LESSON TEXT—Jonah 3:1-5,10; 4:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Peter opened his mouth, and said, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to him.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Love for All the World.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Love for all the World.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Is True Patriotism?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Patriotism and World Brotherhood.

In teaching this lesson it will be necessary to sweep into view the entire Book of Jonah.

I. Jonah's Call and Commission (Ch. 1:1, 2).

Jonah, a Jew, was called to go and preach repentance to a Gentile city. (Gen. 12:1, 2). The story of Jonah graphically portrays the history of Israel as a nation. God separated Israel to be the channel through which his mercy and salvation are to be carried to all nations. They, like Jonah, have been recreant to duty. Because of this, God has caused them to be swallowed up by the nations which will one day spew them out upon dry ground—Palestine. After severe chastisement, they will discharge their obligation, and the nations through their ministry will repent and turn to God.

II. Jonah's Flight From Duty (1:3).

He turned his back upon God and attempted to flee from his presence. In the same way Israel has become an apostate people.

III. Jonah's Correction (1:4-2:10).

1. Overtaken by a storm (v. 4).

Trouble soon came upon the disobedient servant of God. So with the Jews, misfortune after misfortune have overtaken them because they turned from God. They are now tossed about by the surging of the nations.

2. Cast overboard (v. 15).

In their perplexity the sailors cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah. According to his own direction they cast him overboard. God had prepared a great fish which swallowed him.

3. Jonah's deliverance (Ch. 2).

Jonah in his affliction turned to God and prayed (James 5:13). God miraculously preserved him while in the belly of the fish, and he has miraculously preserved Israel in the heart of the nations. The fish could not digest Jonah, neither can the nations digest Israel. Jonah repented while in the fish. So Israel will repent as they go into the great tribulation. God made the fish to vomit out Jonah. So he will at the proper time cause the nations to cast out Israel.

IV. Jonah's Commission Renewed (Ch. 3).

His experience made him willing to do God's bidding.

1. His field (v. 3).

He was to go to Nineveh, a large city, the people of which were cruel. Israel's field is the Gentile nations.

2. His message (v. 4).

He was instructed to "preach the preaching" commanded by God. Forty days were given to the people in which to repent. God's supreme desire is that all should repent (II Peter 3:9). This message represents the heart of God in his dealing with sinners.

3. Repentance of the Ninevites (vv. 5-8).

(1) They believed God (v. 5).

They believed that God was speaking to them through Jonah about their sins, and was announcing impending judgment.

(2) They proclaimed a fast (vv. 5-8).

The king and people joined sincerely in this movement. They put on sackcloth, the sign of penitence.

(3) They reasoned that God would repent (v. 9).

The sending to them of a prophet encouraged them to believe that God would show mercy if they repented.

V. Jonah's Behavior (Jonah 4:1-11).

1. He replies at God's action (vv. 1-3).

He now makes known the real reason for his flight from duty. He knew that the gracious God would spare the people who repented. The treatment of the Israelites at the hand of the Ninevites was such that Jonah did not want God to forgive them. We have here a case of a preacher of repentance mortified when the people repent and are pardoned.

2. God reproves Jonah (vv. 4-11).

By means of the gourd God showed him his error. This closing scene affords a striking example of the patience and pity of God in contrast with the hard-heartedness of man.

Our Religion

Our religion is, indeed, a thing between God and our own soul; but it is also a thing between us and society, and to attempt to isolate and secrete it is to deprive it of a thousand influences and excitements essential to its perfection.—William L. Watkinson.

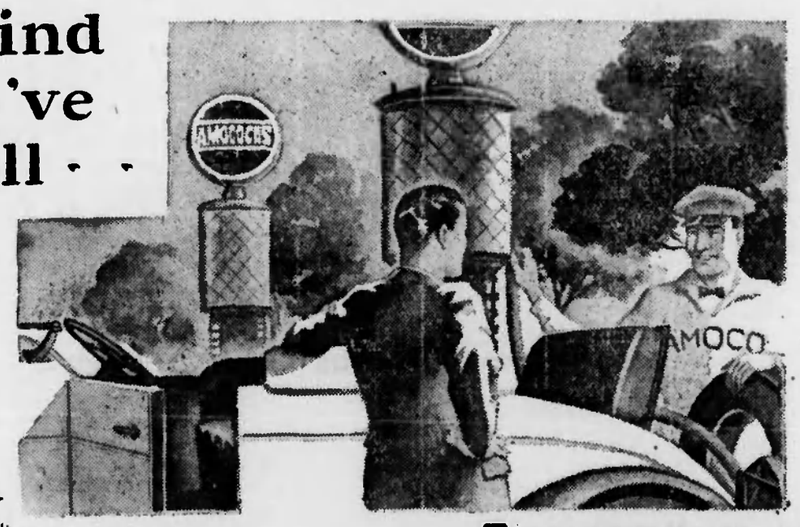
"NEVER mind where I've been. Bill - -



I'm back at the AMOCO PUMP to stay!"

"Haven't seen you for some time, Mr. Parks. Been out-of-town?"

It was an attendant in a service station in a Pennsylvania city talking to a motorist.

Mr. Parks smiled sheepishly. "Never mind where I've been, Bill. But I'm back at the Amoco pump to stay."

As the attendant proceeded to fill his tank with Amoco-Gas, Mr. Parks volunteered more information.

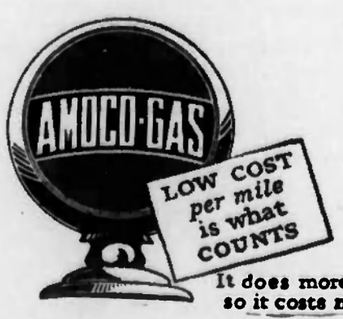
"I learned my lesson," he continued. "I'd been reading a lot of ads and hearing a lot of talk about gas just as good as Amoco and how I could save money. I bit.

"It didn't seem like the same car but I decided it might be worth it if I saved enough money. Save money? I didn't get the mileage in the first place and after four thousand miles things got so bad I couldn't stand it. I took her into the shop and--well, it cost me $32.50 to get her back in shape."

He paid for ten gallons with a smile and started his motor.

"I can tell you it feels good to get Amoco back in her again. Boy, if I'd heard another knock I'd have gone crazy. No more for me, Bill. I'm back here to stay."

Bill smiled as he gave him his change. He'd heard the same story many times before. Experience had taught him that the most enthusiastic users of Amoco-Gas are those who have tried the "just-as-goods."



It does more-it's worth more-so it costs more per gallon

"No Honor Among Bootleggers"

A story is being told around Oakland concerning one of our infamous bootleggers, and from all Scoop can gather, it's true.

This bootlegger went out around Deer Park someplace for a 40- gallon supply. He took two people with him, neither of whom were known to the maker of the "shine". It happened the moonshiner had only 20 gallons instead of 40 but as he was getting it, the Oakland bootlegger fixed it so that his two friends would appear just as the moonshiner came on the scene. The plan worked to perfection, and the Oakland liquor dispenser hollered "Here come the revenue men", at the right time. The Moonshiner fled and S--s-- (I almost named him) and his two friends picked up the 20 gallons and carted it away, free of charge.

Scoop has heard of "Honor Among Thieves," but evidently there isn't any such term among our liquor racketeers.

Scoop's business was solicited by somebody on Sunday who evidently is just starting up. It must have been my red nose that gave him the idea. He guaranteed the stuff, too.

"Every dog has his day", the old saying goes. If I wouid let a pint or so of that stuff slip down my guzzle, it would bc may day of daze, sure enough.

On Second Street

An Oakland man's car struck the rear of a car driven by an Oakland woman.

"Didn't you see me stick out my hand?" the woman asked.

"No, I didn't, Miss," he replied.

"Well, if it'd been my leg, you'd have seen it", she replied as she drove away.

Col. Bell got a nice photo of the Squire's son as he passed The Republican office one evening last week, hittin' around 50. It happened that Col. Bell wasn't the only one who saw him, hence the story of last week about using Second street as a speedway.

Chicken houses seem to be getting visitors right regularly in certain sections of the county. A man calling at The Republican office yesterday said he heard a noise in his hen house the other evening, walked out on his porch and halloed, "Who's there?" No answer. "Who's there?" Still no answer. "Answer or I'll shoot. Who's there?"

Then a shaky voice answered: "Nobody boss, 'cept us chickens."

I Can Remember

Archibaldson, who is realiy young in experience and the ways of the world says even he can remember when:

You could buy a six-inch stick of Jumbo chewing gum for one cent.

Mouths were washed out with soap if your parents caught you saying "dern" or "dogone it."

There was little hope for the soul of a woman who smoked cigarets.

Bridge was played only by bridge players.

Peg-top trousers were the "stuff."

It was not much of a family unless there were a dozen kids.

Children did not say "Oh don't be like that," or Oh yeah!" when corrected by elders.

Drug stores sold only drugs.

There were no chain stores.

Santa Claus came by reindeer.

The butcher always threw in liver free for good measure.

The baker thought a dozen was 13.

Old worn-out furniture was not called "antique."

Golf was for the rich.

Everyone died from old age or complications.

Horses shied at automobiles.

Readers of The Republican did not have to put up with this kind of stuff.

Suppression

It is surprising how many questions were asked by people last week who read an article in which a name was withheld. The case concerned three boys, and judging by news value, should never have been printed at all. However, one of the boys was a squire's son and the squire wanted it in print to show he would treat his son like anybody else's son.

Another boy wanted it in, for no reason at all. The other one wanted it withheld because his mother did not know about his "terrible escapade," and he didn't want her to find it out.

So what was The Republican to do? It did what it always does. Tried to please everybody concerned.

A DISCREDITED REMEDY

It will be difficult for anyone who has followed the activities of the Federal Farm Board over the course of the last twelve months to regard the suggestion of Senator Capper that the government "buy 100,000,000 bushels of grain" as anything other than a step backward in our farm-relief policy. Financial support either in the form of loans or outright market purchases may have some efficacy in cases of temporary overproduction. When overproduction becomes chronic, however, such remedies are worse than useless. They are far more likely to aggravate than to allay the malady toward which they are directed.

A year ago the Farm Board was formed under the direction of Alexander Legge, a hard-headed business man, but a man with an intense, almost belligerent sympathy for the farmer. The powers of the board were virtually limitless; and its financial backing was on the same ultra-generous scale. For a year this organization has sought, to the accompaniment of deep misgivings in many quarters, but supported by an almost unbelievable patience on the part of the public as a whole, to apply first aid to the suffering wheat farmer. First, it lent him money at unprecedentedly low rates of interest to enable him to "carry" and "market" his surplus crop; then, this device proving a failure, it openly entered the grain market and bought wheat to support the price of that commodity. This second experiment has been no more successful than the first, and only Monday wheat touched the lowest level reached in sixteen years.

As former President Coolidge so cogently pointed out a few days ago, the last twelve months' experimentation in farm relief may, after all, not have been wasted if thereby the Farm Board "has demonstrated that even the United States Treasury cannot maintain a fixed price for farm products."

The one important lesson that has been brought home to the Farm Board as a result of its attempts at price-fixing and "stabilization" is that our wheat surplus is due to chronic, and not to temporary, causes, and that relief can be afforded only by a major operation in the form of acreage curtailment. To talk at this date of buying more wheat is to ignore this lesson, learned at the cost of a year of painful experience and many millions of dollars in public money.—N. Y. Herald-Tribune.

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

For many years the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, a New Jersey corporation with headquarters at Springfield, was a strong competitor in the automobile tire industry of the United States, with a substantial foreign market. It was purely an American institution, financed by American capital and giving employment to hundreds of skilled workmen and common laborers. It was one of the units in a series of manufacturing plants that could be relied upon to do its part in this period of alarming depression and unemployment. But apparently, according to a number of newspapers, its day is past—just another American institution crowded to the wall by the inexorable law of changing business methods.

It was stated in a New Jersey court in a recent hearing on an application for a receivership for the company, that the corporation had lost more than thirteen million dollars since the year 1923. The whole situation seems to have been summed up in the further statement that the company could not compete with mail-order houses. This makes for a condition which must be given serious consideration by home merchants and by every citizen in every community. It may possibly be true that the mail-order house and the chain store, in some instances, sells an article a few cents cheaper than the home merchant—the man upon whom rests the success or failure of your community. But what of the future? Is it not possible that with the great accumulation of capital and concentration of buying power, the mail-order houses and chain stores may secure absolute control of merchandising and supplant the individual mercahnt? In that event, would it not be entirely possible for the foreign-capitalized corporations to place such price on their commodities as they see fit? And is it at all likely that those prices would be on as close a margin of profit on which they now claim they are doing business? QUO VADIS?

THEME SONG OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

It has not been an easy matter for the Democratic party to find an issue for the Congressional campaign this year. The leaders seem to be guided by local conditions in various parts of the country. They try one thing and then another, but nearly always they end in attacks on the Smoot-Hawley Tariff bill. This might well be called the theme song of the Democratic party. No matter how far afield they stray, they always come back to that one topic, in spite of the fact that they pretended to be in accord with the Republican principle of protection to American industry in the last Presidential campaign.

Thus Senator Barkley of Kentucky, just returned from Europe, attempts to discredit the tariff law with regard to its possible effect upon the matter of foreign debt settlements with the United States. He raises the old cry that in placing protective duties upon imports we have made ourselves unpopular with the nations of the Old World. Possibly; but he forgets to mention the fact that most of these countries have their own tariff laws and that such legislation is for the protection of their own workers just as our law was intended to safeguard the interests of ours. In other words, he takes the side of the foreign workman against that of the American, whose prosperity depends upon the success of our mills and factories. And the Democratic party expects to win elections with an issue like that!

Under-Secretary of the Treasury Mills points out that the statement of the Senator from Kentucky is merely a rehash of the glittering generalities that were used so often in the Senate discussions last winter and spring. They would not stand the test then and they cannot now. Mr. Mills says this critic forgets the magnitude of our cash dealings with foreign countries and of the many individual factors that enter into the balance of international payments. To many figures are confusing in a discussion of this kind, but the Treasury expert declares that the favorable trade balance of $734,000,000 last year "could have been financed by the expenditures of American tourists abroad; the net yield of investments could have been financed by our underwriting of new foreign securities; and the war debt payments could have been financed by immigration remittances or by payments for ocean freights."

Most important of all is the fact that the effect of our new tariff on world trade is comparatively slight. At least 72 per cent of the dutiable items remain unchanged. The influence of the changes on farm products is very small, as most of these exports go to Canada or Mexico. In a word, the balance of trade in general is not affected to an extent to cause a ripple on the current of world commerce, and the effect on individual countries in the long run will hardly be noticed. Europe is recovering from the World War, while we are protecting the future of our own workers. That is the truth in a nutshell.

IN DAYS OF OLD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Among the delegates to the Garrett County Sunday School convention at Mt. Lake Park, was Amos Broadwater, who came a distance of 30 miles on horseback through the rain. He was 84 years old and had 12 living children, 90 living grandchildren and 53 great grandchildren.

To the energetic efforts of Maurice Thomas, Oakland was indebted for its electric lights, Mr. Thomas having interested local capital in the building and equipping of the plant.

Charles Newman, employed at Kingwood, returned to that town Monday.

Deer Park was the scene of a brilliant wedding and it was said the only wedding that was ever held from this famous hotel. The contracting parties were Miss Mattie L. Davis, niece of Hon. Henry G. Davis and Col. Thomas B. Davis, of West Virginia, and George F. Downey, son of Major Geo. M. Downey, U. S. A., of Salt Lake City. Rev. Clarence Buell, of Cumberland, and Rev. Lewis Brown, of Piedmont, performed the ceremony.

There was widespread complaint among Garrett county farmers about the failure of their crops. There was an abundance of hay, but it could not be sold at paying prices. The oat crop was injured by some kind of an insect unknown in the region and was cut off at least one half. The heavy rains for more than two weeks rotted the potatoes and that crop was nearly destroyed.

As officers of the Garrett County Sunday School Union, the following were elected for another year: Wm. D. Hoye, president; J. A. Enlow, vice-president; G. S. Hamill, treasurer; A F. George, Hiram Frazee, C. J. Otto, George L. Michael, Daniel Hinebaugh, George E. Bishoff, William Hinebaugh, Edwin W. Miller, Dr. J. W. Laughlin. J. F. Robinson, executive committee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Senator Harvey J. Speicher and H. M. Speicher, of Accident, with former Sheriff Austin Brown of Oakland, planned to leave for New York from which port they were to sail for Europe the following Tuesday.

Local talent, under the direction of Frank L. Davidson, the well known comedian, were practicing to present "Robinson Cruso" in Beckwith's Theatre for the benefit of the Oakland Concert Band. Those composing the cast included Misses Mary Broderick, Veronica Rasche and Edith Ault; Willian Lawton, James E. Verina, Lawrence Fraley, Charles A. Tower, B. F. Selby and Bennie Kildow.

Andrew Gonder had rented a storeroom fronting on Alder street in the First National Bank building which he fitted up as a lunch and pool room.

An Interesting Fact

SELF GOVERNMENT—THE FIRST STEP.

The name "Free State" was bestowed on Maryland not without sound reason, and we need only to turn to the proceedings of the First Assembly, held February 26, 1635, to learn one suggestive interesting fact in this connection.

For the right perspective one must bear in mind that the Seventh Section of the Charter specifically delegated to Lord Baltimore and his heirs the authority and power "to ordain, make and enact all laws * * * with the advice, assent and approbation of the free men of the same Province, or of the great part of them, or of their delegates or deputies."

Notwithstanding this provision, the First Assembly, composed of Leonard Calvert, Lieutenant-General, as chief executive, and all the freemen of the Province, believing that it was essential that all legislation should be directed by the people, initiated a code of laws and thus took the first step in local self-government—one of a series of acts which culminated nearly a century and a half later in absolute separation from the mother country.

It must not be understood, however, that Lord Baltimore took kindly to this independent attitude of the Colonists, for we read that he objected, not to the laws themselves, but to the fact that the action of the Assembly was contrary to the provisions of the Charter.

Correspondence on the subject must have been voluminous, for we find that it was not until three years later (January, 1638) that Lord Baltimore directed his Governor to call another Assembly in which, owing to the fact that settlement had been extended and many of the planters could not or did not attend, freemen were permitted to be represented by proxy. Still the Colonists contended for the principle of self-government and at this second Assembly succeeded in passing a number of bills which were initiated by the freemen themselves. Finally, in August, 1638, Lord Baltimore yielded. From thence on the proprietary had to be content with the power of veto.

SHALLMAR NINE DEFEATS CRELLIN ATHLETIC CLUB

Next Game of Series At Shallmar Next Sunday

In a very loosely played contest the Shallmar baseball nine defeated the Crellin A. C. by the score of 12-9 in the first game of the three game series for the championship of Garrett county at Crellin. Colaw was on the mound for Crellin and pitched a splendid game, but six errors on the part of his team-mates paved the way for the defeat. Although hit heavily at times, he sent twelve Shallmar batters back with strike-outs, while three opposing pitchers were whiffing four Crellin batters. Shallmar had the lead throughout the game with the exception of the fifth innings, when Crellin went into the lead with one run, but was unable to hold it. Burns, first sacker for Shallmar, led at the bat for his team, getting 4 hits in 5 times up, and drove five runs across the plate with his hits. Sanders led in batting for Crellin with 3 hits in 5 times at the bat. Welch, first baseman for Crellin, circled the bases for a home run in the fifth when Hart, Shallmar's left fielder lost the ball in a clump of grass along the line.

The game was delayed several times due to arguments on the part of the spectators.

In the second game Crellin defeated Oakland in a five inning contest by the score of 10-2. Fred Wolfe was on the mound for Oakland and was hit hard. Mickey pitched for Crellin and allowed but four scattered hits in the five innings. A crowd of about 500 fans witnessed the contest.

The next games will be played in Shallmar next Sunday afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, Glenn Odis, who died two years ago, September 15, 1928.

Out from our hearts comes a bitter cry,
Why did our dear Glenn have to die?
With patience he suffered,
His troubles he bore,
But now they are ended
He suffers no more.
We will meet you again Dear Glenn
When life and its sorrows are o'er.

Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Blocher.

Characters In Odeon at Mt. Lake Park Praised by One Who Attended

(A Review)

The Odeon which was held at Mt. Lake Park August 26 to 30 by players from the Byron King School of Oratory of Pittsburgh was by far the best entertainment of the kind presented in the Park for many years.

The actors and actresses who took part in the four plays gave very superior interpretations of their parts. Karl Emerson Williams from the first, when he played Tony in "Patsy", showed himself a finished and polished actor. In "The Mollusc," "Suppressed Desires", and in "Applesauce" his portrayal of the various characters was perfect. His mannerisms both on and off the stage won for him at Mt. Lake Park a host of admirers and friends all hoping that he will return for the performances next year.

Miss Anne Tennant whose personality so well suited the role of "Patsy" also won the acclaim of the appreciative audiences from the beginning. Miss Tennant proved herself a most accomplished actress and the ease with which she got her lines across the footlights proved that she not only had experience but also talent. She should go far in her chosen profession.

Perhaps the most popular member of the troupe was Mr. Franklin Randolph Hipps who, as Mr. Harrington in "Patsy", had the audience rolling in mirth. Again as Tom Kemp in "The Mollusc" he gave a sincere and gracious representation of the carefree brother.

Sue Pearl Hamilton proved to be the most versatile of the cast fitting into the different roles with ease and distinction. As the irate wife in "Patsy", the congenial Miss Roberts in "The Mollusc", and the joy-killing Jennie McPherson in "Applesauce", Miss Hamilton gave truly great performances.

Special notice must be given to Miss Croushere and Miss Mulvey, who did admirable work in three of the plays. Miss Croushere by her portrayal of Ma Robinson in "Applesauce" for which part she was not best suited, added much to the play. Her best bit of acting was in "Patsy" where she had the part of the selfish sister and she certainly stood out in the performance. Miss Mulvey's best night was "Applesauce" and she added considerably to the splendid reputation of the Byron King's players in this final performance.

Mr. Nathan B. Keener, lecturer and recitalist, who took the part of grouchy Pa Robinson in "Applesauce" had many in the audience wandering if he had not missed his calling. As good as Mr. Keener proved himself to be as a lecturer he proved himself just as good as an actor. Another member of the troupe who filled in owing to the sudden sickness preventing one member from coming to Mt. Lake Park for the Odeon seemed to indicate that acting at Byron King's School became infectious. The performance put over by the business manager Mr. Robert McKim on the last night would suggest that if business does not reward McKim he should turn to the stage. His acting was fine and won him generous praise.

The Children's Kermise on Friday afternoon and night combined with the Bolgiano Dancing Class of Oakland brought the enthusiasm up to a high pitch. The classical dancing by the local members of the Bolgiano class mixed with the unexcelled tap dancing of the Pittsburgh contingent rounded out a most finished program and for general interest probably received first place of all the performances.

The Byron King School of Oratory richly deserved the high praise bestowed upon it by the appropriate and fine talk made on the last night by Mr. Delbert Davis of Oakland. Mr. Davis in his talk expressed what was in the minds of most of the audience and especially those who had not only seen the shows but who had become acquainted with the members of the cast.

A BORN HILL CLIMBER

Oldsmobile owners who drive regularly in the mountains say that Oldsmobile is a born hill-climber. That it does its work so easily and quietly. That very little gear-shifting is required. That its running temperature is little affected by the hardest grades. That its power is more than ample for every requirement. Such a recommendation is of real importance—whether you ever drive through the mountains or not. For it means just so much reserve power—so much added dependability for everyday travel. You will appreciate this when you drive Oldsmobile.

ONE OF GARRETT'S FIRST SCHOOLS, "THE ACADEMY"

Established At the Request of John Hoye During the Early Years of the Last Century

During the early years of the last century John Hoye, of Cumberland, being deeply interested in the welfare of the pioneers of western Allegany county, where his family owned large tracts of land, and especially in the education of his brother William's children, induced William Warren, school master, an Englishman, to proceed from Cumberland and establish a school, known as "The Academy." This was one of the first schools in what is now Garrett county and as indicated by its title was designed as the educational center for the western district, its founders doubtless hoping that it would one day rank with the Academy at Cumberland and similar schools of the day.

John Hoye himself paid a large part of the master's salary, whose expenses were not heavy, since he "boarded around" among the patrons, and was not tempted to buy non-essentials, the nearest store being forty miles away and the moving picture theatre one hundred years in the future.

Our Academy was a comparatively large log house, clapboard roof,puncheon floor. There was no sawmill in the vicinity and the furniture consisted of logs split and supported on wooden legs, a rough hewn desk and stool for the master, and a blackboard of slabs split from a pine log, planed and painted black on the exposed side. It was built by the first settlers on the Hoye lands at "Crabtree Bottom," near the present village of McHenry.

Later the school was transferred to a new log house at the "Cross Roads," on the Enlow farm, where James Warren, a brother of William, taught many years. The Warrens possessed that most necessary qualification for a teacher's "credential" in those early days—the ability to use the hickory rod. Milder methods of discipline included standing noisy pupils on the stumps in the school grounds and sending the obstreperous big boys out to gather the "ruts" and other firewood from the clearings. "Switching" was an effective remedy for tardiness.

Settlers were few and far apart, but children were many. William Hoye reared seventeen. They all at some time attended the academy—perhaps forty or more of all ages and many grades of advancement. Pupils included the numerous Hoye family; children of Meshach Browning—Mary (DeWitt), James, William, Priscilla (Hone), Rachel (Friend), and James Dolan, an adopted Irish boy; children of Jeremiah Enlow—John, Alicn, Jerry and William; John Friend's family—Willis, Elijah, Joseph, Cornelius, Samuel, Elizabeth (Hoye), Harrison, Rebecca (Johnson), Sarah (Savage); John DeWitt's family—Joseph, John and Arch; Dominick Mattingly's family—Mashach, Washington, Richard, Ann (DeWitt), Mary (Sebold); the Townshend family—Jeremiah L., Priscilla (King), Ann (Armstrong), Singleton L., Louisa, Mary (Townshend).

Subjects taught were chiefly the three "R's," with emphasis on the difficult English spelling, and English grammar for those prepared to take it. Contrary to the practice of the early New England schools the teaching of religion seems to have been omitted, but Sunday school and church services were early held in the school house.

Little has been told us of games and play at school, but doubtless racing through the woods at the noon hour, long walks to and from the school and the chores at home gave the young pioneers ample physical exercise. A favorite sport of the big boys was "a fight." No gloves used and accompanied with more or less real anger. One story of such an encounter informs us that as Harrison Friend sat down to eat his lunch one day obliging school mates informed him that William Browning was waiting outside "to lick him."

"Pester to it," said the future minister and judge, "I'll attend to him right away."

Putting away his lunch, he promptly met William in the woods nearby where they "had it out" before an admiring and cheering audience. Reports of who won differ, depending on which family is telling the story.

Judge D. Harrison Friend, a pupil of this school, writing of his schoolmates, said: "I appreciate the memory of the scholars who attended that old school more than I can express. They were a credit to any community—intelligent and studious, zealously trying to get all the information they couid during the short terms of school. They were scrupulously truthful and moral. There were many of them whom I never heard use profane language and they were vigilant students at home."

If we compare our primitive first school with the modern elementary and high schools of Garrett county, we are inclined to suggest to the third and fourth generations after these first school boys and girls, who are now attending our schools, that our country will expect of them an ever-increasing measure of culture, technical skill and civic improvement when they go out into the world to make their marks.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Emma Catharine Cresse vs. Gilbert Sthempson Cresse.
No. 2976 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:—

That the plaintiff was married to the defendant March 3, 1920, with whom she resided until June, 1921, at which time the said defendant deserted the said plaintiff while they resided at Bayard, Grant County, West Virginia; that, although the conduct of the plaintiff toward the said defendant has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Gilbert Sthempson Cresse has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her; that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that there was one child born of said marriage, Russell Dale Cresse, eight years of age, who is in the custody and care of your oratrix; that your oratrix has been a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, for more than two years next preceding the filing of this suit, but the defendant is not a resident of Maryland, his last known address being Camden, New Jersey, but his present place of residence being to your oratrix unknown.

The bill then prays for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii of the plaintiff from the defendant, for the guardianship and custody of the said infant child, Russell Dale Cresse, for general relief and for an order of publication.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 27th day of August, 1930, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1930, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1930, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not to be passed as prayed.

PROCLAMATION

Proposing Amendments to the Constitution of the State, 1930.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1929, two Acts were passed, to-wit: Chapter 133 proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Maryland, title "Treasury Department," to authorise deputies in the Treasury Department to sign checks and warrants; and Chapter 348, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Maryland, title "Legislative Department," regulating the compensation of the members of both Houses of the General Assembly of Maryland; in words and figures as follows:

CHAPTER 133.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 2 and 3 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Treasury Department," so as to confer upon the Legislature power to authorize deputies employed in the Treasury Department, to sign, countersign and grant warrants, and to sign, countersign and issue checks for the withdrawal of funds from the State Treasury under regulations prescribed by the Legislature; and providing for the submission of said amendment to the legally qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all of the Members of both of the Houses concurring), That an amendment to Sections 2 and 3 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title, "Treasury Department," be and the same is hereby proposed, the said amendment, if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided, to become a part of said Constitution, and the said Sections as amended to read as follows:

The Comptroller shall have the general superintendence of the fiscal affairs of the State; he shall digest and prepare plans for the improvement and management of the revenue, and for the support of the public credit; prepare and report estimates of the revenue and expenditures of the State; superintend and enforce the prompt collection of all taxes and revenue; adjust and settle, on terms prescribed by law, with delinquent collectors and receivers of taxes and State revenue; preserve all public accounts; and decide on the forms of keeping and stating accounts. He, or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature, shall grant, under regulations prescribed by law, all warrants for money to be paid out of the Treasury. In pursuance of appropriations by law, and countersign all checks drawn by the Treasurer upon any bank or banks in which the moneys of the State may from time to time be deposited. He shall prescribe the formalities of the transfer of stock, or other evidence of the State debt, and countersign the same, without which such evidence shall not be valid; he shall make to the General Assembly full reports of all his proceedings, and of the State of the Treasury Department within ten days after the commencement of each Session; and perform such other duties as shall be prescribed by law.

3. The Treasurer shall receive the moneys of the State, and, until otherwise prescribed by law, deposit them, as soon as received, to the credit of the State, in such bank or banks as he may, from time to time, with the approval of the Governor, select(the said bank or banks giving security, satisfactory to the Governor, for the safekeeping and forthcoming, when required of said deposits), and he or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature shall disburse the same for the purposes of the State according to law, upon warrants drawn by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, and on checks countersigned by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, and not otherwise. The Treasurer or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature shall take receipts for all moneys paid from the Treasury Department; and receipt for moneys received by him shall be endorsed upon warrants signed by the Comptroller, or such deputy as may be authorized to do so by law, without which warrants, so signed, no acknowledgment of money received into the Treasury shall be valid; and upon warrants issued by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, the Treasurer shall make arrangements for the payment of the interest of the public debt, and for the purchase thereof, on account of the sinking fund. Every bond, certificate, or other evidence of the debt of the State shall be signed by the Treasurer, and countersigned by the Comptroller; and no new certificate or other evidence inteaded to replace another shall be issued until the old one shall be delivered to the Treasurer, and authority executed in due form for the transfer of the same filed in his office, and the transfer accordingly made on the books thereof, and the certificate or other evidence cancelled; but the Legislature may make provisions for the loss of certificates or other evidences of the debt; and may prescribe, by law, the manner in which the Treasurer shall receive and keep the moneys of the State.

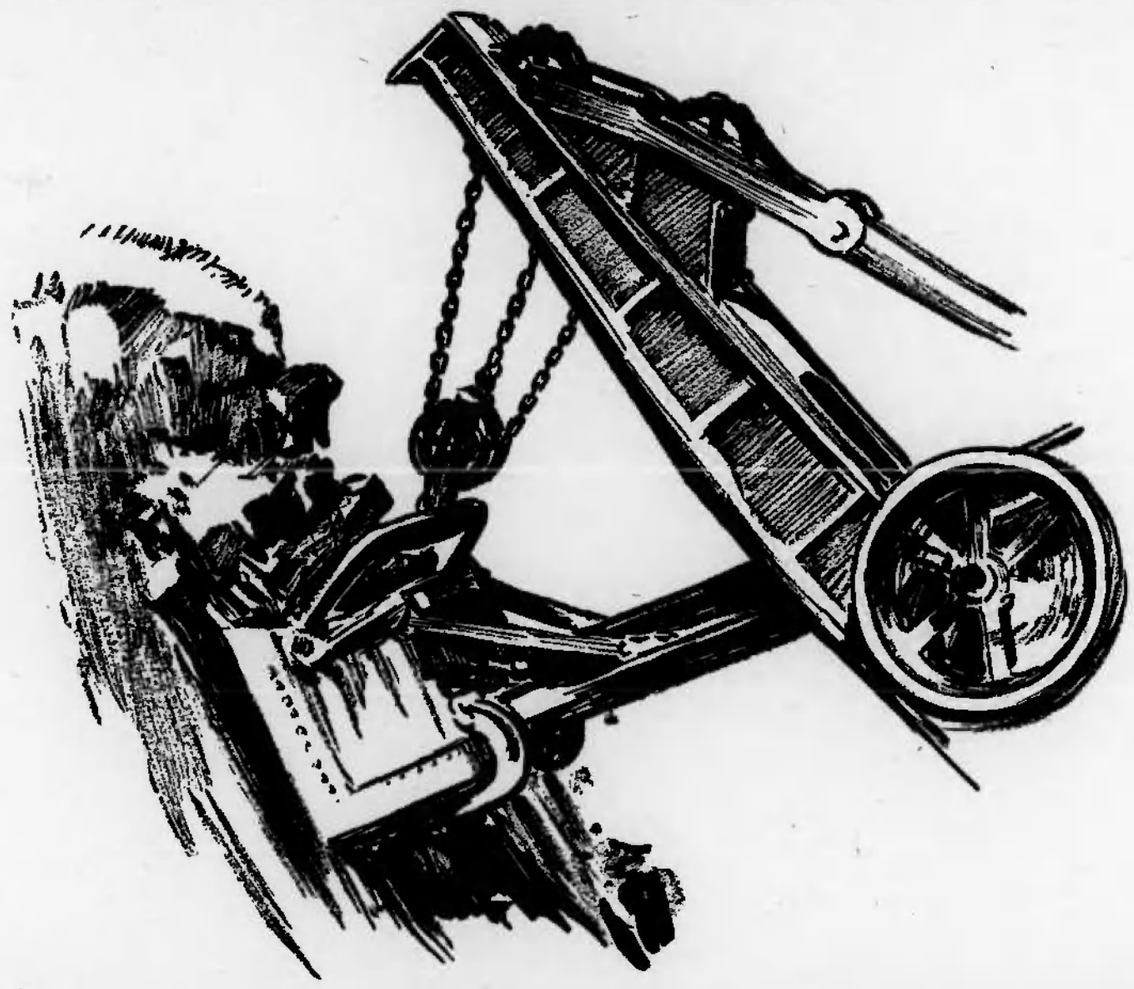
Continued Effort Will Accomplish Much



On Saturday, September 20th, 1930, the dream of the citizens of Oakland and Kitzmiller is to be realized. In all time past these two towns have been separated by the almost impassable barrier of mud roads. The spirit of friendship that existed between these two towns and their surrounding communities was not permitted to grow due to the wide separation that but a few miles of unimproved road caused to exist.

The desire to link hands for common good never ceased to exist, and now the opportunity is at last offered. On Saturday the citizens of Garrett County will go to Kitzmiller to celebrate the opening of the new concrete road which links Kitzmiller with her sister towns of the county.

The people of Oakland and nearby towns will go in a body, leaving Oakland at 10 o'clock a. m., joining Deer Park on the way and then unite with the mammoth parade upon entering Kitzmiller.

MEANS OF DEFENSE ARE GIVEN FOR COMMON COLD

Strengthen Powers of Resistance With Nourishing Meals.

With the season of the "common cold" at hand, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, suggests several ways by which they may be prevented or controlled. His advice was asked especially as to means mothers could use to protect the youngsters who have just entered school and who are having their first experience in adjusting themselves to the long hours in the school room.

"In the first place," he said, "strengthen their powers of resistance by giving them nourishing meals. Little children—older ones, also—are likely to rush off to school in the morning in too much of a hurry or too excited to eat the proper sort of breakfast. A wholesome breakfast—a cooked cereal, a soft boiled egg, bread and butter, with milk and cocoa—something of that sort with occasional variations—eaten slowly, not swallowed whole, gives a good start to the day and may well be listed as Item 1 in our means of defense against the common cold as well as against other 'catching' diseases. The other meals should be planned with equal regard to the needs of the growing child.

"Under Item 2, I would say: Dress the child according to the weather, making provision at this time of the year for the sharp changes of temperature that are likely to occur.

Item 3: Plenty of sleep. The change to school life taxes the strength of the most robust children. They have plenty of excitment in their play and games, so see to it that they have a chance to build up by long hours of sleep. Wait until they are older to take them to the movies. Save some thrills for them until then.

"Item 4: Some play out of doors every days except in stormy weather.

"Item 5: As part of his equipment for school as well as at home, see that he has his own drinking cup.

"Item 6. See that he has his own towel at home and if possible at the schools. These last two items, as you will notice, are to prevent the exchange of germs betwoen children. In connection with Item 6, get him to form the habit of always washing his hands before eating. As to this item, one of the greatest services the Parent-Teacher Associations could render to the children in the schools in which they are interested, would be to supply them with towels—paper or washable—with plenty of soap, unless they are provided from other sources. Our hands are the worst offenders we have as carriers of germs. To wash our hands before eating is one of our strongest means of defense.

"What seems to be 'only a cold' in children is often the beginning of one of the other diseases. So don't regard any 'cold' with indifference. Put the ehild who suffers from one in bed and send for your doctor."

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

J. H. CARTER,
Resident County Agent,
Oakland, Maryland

Emergeney Measures are Recommended

At a conference of farm leaders from all parts of Maryland, together with county agents from all the counties of the State and specialists of the University, ways and means for reducing the damage done by the drought to a minimum were considered and a number of definite recommendations were agreed upon. Discussion and consideration of emergency measures to meet the unusual situation was a feature of the Farmers' Marketing Conference, held at the University of Maryland on August 12 to 15, and participated in by about two hundred leading farmers.

Recommendations made by this group ineluded specifie suggestions as to practices which may be found helpful to those engaged in various lines of farming, such as grain and livestock production, dairying, poultry raising, fruit and vegetable growing, and tobacco growing.

Reports by those attending the conference made it apparent that one of the most difficult problems is to provide suitable feed for livestock and dairy animals and a number of recommendations were made, both as to crops which may be sown with a view to provide emergency pasture for this fall and in the spring, and also for conserving such feed as is available.

Thinning of apples and peaches on trees which do not show promise of producing fruit of marketable size was recommended by the fruit growers.

In all, more than thirty recommendations or suggestions were made. Detailed information relative to the steps which were advised for meeting the emergency problems in any particuler line of farming, or in any locality in the State, can be obtained from the county agent, or direct from the Extension Service of the University of Maryland. All sections of the Conference urgently recommends that farmers consult their county agricultural agents in order that the advice and assistance of the Extension specialists of the University may be utilized in meeting the emergency problems which the long continued drought has forced upon them.

Maryland Black Walnuts in Demand

Maryland farmers who have Black Walnut trees upon their property and who will be in position to sell walnuts this fall may secure from the University of Maryland Extension Service information as to a possible source of buyers. Mr. F. B. Trenk, Extension Forester, announces that a number of nut meat houses in the United States have written to him recently. Many of them have stated they consider the Maryland nut the best grown and that they wish to handle it exclusively.

However, they point out that during the past season there were very few nuts available and it is their desire to get in touch with any growers in the State who may wish to sell walnuts this year.

Anyone interested should write to F. B. Trenk, University of Maryland Extension Service, College Park, Md.

What May Be Fed To Livestock With Profit At Present Prices

At present market quotations wheat may be fed to livestock with profit in many instances, according to a statement just issued by Dr. DeVoe Meade and Professor B. E. Carmiehael of the Animal Husbandry Department of the University of Maryland. These specialists caution, however, that before the present wheat crop is marketed, there may be a very different relation between wheat and corn prices and advise feeders to keep well posted on market conditlons.

It is polnted out in the statement referred to that wheat and corn are similar in composition, although they differ slightly in the amount of the several nutrients whlch they contain. Wheat, it ls stated, is slightly higher than corn in digestible proteln and in digestible carbohydrates, but is much lower in digestlble fat. On the basis of total digestible nutrients, there is a slight difference in favor of corn. Experiments with farm animals, it states, have shown that wheat is a wholesome feed, fairly comparable with corn in feeding value. Sheep may consume whole wheat, but hogs, cattle, or horses, wheat should be ground coarsely or rolled; very finely ground wheat may form a pasty mass that is not consumed as readily and with relish. Soaking, it is advised, should not be expected to take the place of grinding.

Excepting with hogs, it will probably be most satisfactory to feed wheat or rye along with other feeds, according to Dr. Meade and Mr. Carmichael, rather than as a sole grain allowance. They caution the need for care to avoid over-feeding due to the small bulk of rye and wheat, both of which are comaparble with shelled corn in bulk, and, like shelled eorn, may be fed in too large an amount unless care is exercised.

Feeders who are interested in using wheat in thc ration for their livestock or dairy cows can obtain detailed information by addressing an inquiry to the University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

No soot...no fumes...no greasy smoke

WHEN YOU COOK ELECTRICALLY

When you install a Hotpoint range in your kitchen, it makes you a wonderful promise: you'll never again have to scour sooty pots and pans... freshly painted kitchen walls will never be smoked up... there will never be any fumes to worry you.

Electricity gives such clean heat that you can take a pan directly off the range and place it on the table without smudging the linen. It materially reduces greasy deposits on walls and curtains.

A Hotpoint makes cooking so much easier, too. You merely place the food in the oven, set the time and temperature controls and you are free of all responsibility until time to serve the meal.

But best yet, the new low electric rate of only 1¾c for every kilowatt hour over 150 a month... and reduced Hotpoint prices... the elimination of all installation expense to the customer... the faster cooking speed... combine to make electric cookery practical for every home. Let us show you that all obstacles to owning an electric range now are removed!

MORE THAN 3,000 ATTEND KITZMILLER ROAD OPENING

Five Hundred Attend from Oakland—Parade Is One of Largest Ever Held in County

SPEAKING PROGRAM LARGE

With more than 3,000 people in attendance the opening of the Deer Park-Kitzmiller highway was celebrated at Kitzmiller last Saturday with a parade, speaking, and amusements.

About 500 attended from Oakland, the majority of whom left the City Hall, Oakland, in a motor caravan, at 11 o'clock and paraded in formation to the outskirts of Kitzmiller where the parade through the streets of the town was formed.

The parade was one of the largest ever staged in Garrett county and was led by Mr. Duvall, marshall. Included in the line of parade were the Boy Scouts of Oakland, the Boy Scouts of Kitzmiller, the Crellin band, the Kitzmiller schools, the Proctor Kildow Post, No. 71, American Legion, the Oakland Firemen and Boys' Band, cars containing the mayor of Friendsville, the mayor of Oakland, the mayor of Kitzmiller, the mayor of Loch Lynn, the speakers of the day, a number of automobiles from Deer Park, and Oakland, and several floats, etc. The parade disbanded at the High school building where the celebration was held. A number of selections were played by both the Crellin Band and the Boys' Band of Oakland.

Following dinner a pumping demonstration was held by the members of the Oakland Fire department. Five lines were attached to the pumper truck and the force of the streams and the distance they would travel were demonstrated to a large number who were present at the time.

The speaking began about 1:30 with Mayor C. H. McDonald, of Kitzmiller, welcoming the people and thanking them for their help in making the road opening a success.

E. R. Jones, Oakland attorney, was in charge of the program. G. Clinton Uhl spoke briefly on the work of the Roads commission. Ex-senators John W. McCullough and A. D. Naylor spoke next, followed by Dr. Henry W. McComas. W. W. Dawson, representing the Mayor and Council of Oakland, made a short talk, voicing Oakland's willingness to be of service at any time in the future for other celebrations.

David J. Lewis spoke on the mining conditions of the country and the tariff question. Hon. Fred. N. Zihlman, congressman from the sixth congressional district, concluded the speaking program with a talk which had goodwill as the keynote.

Kitzmiller and Bruce High of Westernport were deadlocked at the conclusion of a soccer game, 1 to 1, which followed the speaking program, and which was played on the high school grounds. Bruce had posession of the ball a good part of the time but the work of the Kitzmiller goal keeper kept the score down by stopping numerous attempts of his opponents to kick the ball between the uprights.

The evening was given over to a street dance, held in the center of the town, and which attracted a large number of people.

The celebration was held under the auspices of the Kitzmiller Fire department and the Mayor and Town Council of Kitzmiller, with Oakland cooperating.

School Enrollment Higher

In tabulating the attendance in the Oakland Grammar school last week figures from one room were omitted, which would have made the enrollment among the seven grades 343, instead of 313. This total, added to the number enrolled in the High School and the Parochial school, makes 818 students enrolled in Oakland.

Benefit Card Party

A card party, for the benefit of the Oakland Grammar school, will be held next Friday evening, October 3, in the Grammar school building, beginning at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. There will be tables for bridge, five hundred, flinch, and children's games. Admission will be 50 cents.

HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE ON SATURDAY MORNING

John Peck and Family, Sand Flat, Barely Escape With Lives

The home of John Peck, at the top of Pat Rodeheaver's hill, six miles north of Oakland on route 37, was entirely consumed by flames early Saturday morning, and the occupants of the house barely escaped with their lives.

The entire kitchen was a mass of flames before it was discovered and by the time Mr. Peck had rescued the last of the six children, who were home at the time, the roof caved in, and it was impossible to save any of the personal belongings or furniture. There was no insurance carried.

The family is now staying at the home of Mr. Peck's daughter, nearby.

WILL HOLD POTATO SHOW HERE OCTOBER 24 AND 25

Fifty-eight Potato Club Members Will Exhibit Products—Open Class For Farmers.

That a county-wide potato show, for the purpose of displaying potatoes grown by members of potato clubs and also by any farmer in the county, would be held in Oakland on October 24 and 25, was announced yesterday by John H. Carter, County Agent.

There are at present three potato clubs in Garrett county consisting of 58 members. Two two-year clubs are at Accident and Friendsville and one one-year club at Oakland. Twenty members of two clubs are being sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Oakland Rotary Club, and the others are voluntary members.

Certified seed to the twenty members was furnished by the two organizations to be planted on a measured plot of ground and records kept of the cost of production, yield, etc. The other members bought their seed but will be eligible to compete for the prizes which are to be awarded at the conclusion of the potato show.

There will be an open class for everybody who desires to exhibit, Mr. Carter stated. It was felt that a potato show was necessary as very few potatoes had matured at the time of the agricultural fair. The fair was held earlier than usual this year, and the drought also checked the growth of the potatoes to a considerable extent, it was pointed out.

During the two days of the exhibit, a question box will be placed where anyone desiring to do so may ask questions for discussion on potato problems.

A specialist from the University of Maryland Extension service will discuss the questions that may be asked.

The various prizes and exhibit classes will be announced later in The Republican by Mr. Carter.

Prizes will be offered in both the one and two-year clubs.

OAKLAND IS WITHOUT ANY WESTERN UNION SERVICE

B. & O. Telegraph Office Closed Last Saturday Afternoon

No arrangements have been made to take care of Western Union telegrams, since the closing of the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph office last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Oakland station.

Oakland has not been without telegraph service since about 1852 when the Baltimore and Ohio railroad reached here, and steps are being taken by the business men of Oakland whereby a complaint will be registered with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. J. R. Murphy, who has been operator at Oakland for a number of years, has been transferred to Terra Alta, where he works the turn from 4 p. m. until 12 midnight.

The only way at present for Oakland to receive telegrams is by telephone from Cumberland, and the only way people can send them is either to telephone them to Cumberland, or go to Mt. Lake Park, a distance of about 2½ miles, or to Terra Alta, W. Va., a distance of ten miles. Telephone charges are 30 cents extra.

The office at Oakland was closed when the electric signaling system of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad went into effect.

MARYLAND REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM IS DRY AND CONDEMNS RITCHIE'S POLITICAL DOMINATION

His Eleven Years In Office Said To Be Tinged With Sinister Design To Perpetuate His Tenure And To Obtain Power Of The State—State Candidates Placed In Nomination

The Republican State convention in Baltimore Monday sent its four candidates before the people on a platform which for the most part was an excoriation of the eleven years of Democratic administration under Governor Albert C. Ritchie, seeking his fourth term, and an endorsement of the Republican national administration of President Hoover.

From the time the convention started in the Maryland Theatre, where last Thursday the Democrats endorsed the administration of Governor Ritchie and declared for the return of liquor to the states and a modification of the Volstead Act to permit manufacture and sale of light wine and beer, Ritchie was the center of attack.

Galen L. Tait, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, calling the 148 delegates to order, declared the Maryland executive, who is seeking his fourth term, "forfeited his claim to greatness when he yielded to the lust for power." The chairman held Governor Ritchie responsible for the recent penitentiary riot and for the defalcations in the State Roads Commission offices.

A grave crisis in the constitutional history of Maryland was declared by the document to exist in the state, through the "ambition of a single individual for continuous political domination." From first to the last, the three administrations of the present Governor of this state have been tinged with the most sinster design to revise the theory of our government as to perpetuate this tenure of office and to gather into his own hands the whole power of the state, the platform charged.

Has Obtained Vast Power

"Since 1919, he has, through the preponderance of his party in the legislature and by use of his own power of patronage, succeeded in altering the plan of our government by the passage of his pretended system of reorganization so as to effectually concentrate within himself the power not only to direct all executive functions, but also to violate through such control the independence of the legislature itself."

Touching on the state budget system, the platform declared it had inaugurated in the Republican platform of 1915 for the purpose of systematizing the state expenditures and diminishing the cost of state government. "Having reduced the function of the state legislature to a mere formality * * * Governor Ritchie has used the budget to reward or punish the officers and employes of the state according to their political conduct," the declaration charged.

Senate Power Usurped

The platform declared the power of the state senate had been usurped by Governor Ritchie through failure to submit many state appointees to that body in "flagrant violation" of the State Bill of Rights, calling for "rotation (in office) as one of the best securities of permanent freedom."

The speculations in the office of the State Roads Commission were scored as a result of "continuation in office" and Governor Ritchie was charged with building roads for "political expediency." The roads plank cited the record of former Senator Ovington E. Weller as chairman of the State Roads Commission, during which time Maryland took rank with the finest roads in the nation, and this without the loss of a single dollar to the taxpayers or even the slightest suspicion of graft."

"What a striking contrast this record presents to the inefficiency, ineptitude and dishonesty in the affairs of the State Roads Commission during the regime of the present governor," the platform said. "We favor a liberal extension of the state roads system, but upon a set program for each year."

Expenditures Mount

The platform declared that the high cost of state government during the administration of Governor Ritchie "has been mounting year by year, despite the false claim that taxes have been reduced by reason of a lower tax rate."

Attacking the claim of Governor Ritchie for the excellence of the state school system, the Republican declaration says that the county institutions have been invaded by the political power of the governor and that the schools of Baltimore under the Broening administration have brought the standard up to the average, which gives Maryland its high rating.

"Glaring evidences of inefficiency and laxity in the management of our prisons and the most complete disregard of the importance of rehabilitating the inmates for future usefulness" is charged against the present administration, which also is assailed for the delay in constructing a new state penitentiary as "inexcusable."

Labor Rights Disregarded

The present administration has disregarded "the rights of labor in that there is paid in various counties a wage to unskilled labor which is less than the current wage paid by private employers," the platform says, and takes a position opposing the use of convict labor in construction of the new state penitentiary in Washington county.

LUTHERAN CONFERENCE TO CONVENE AT MORGANTOWN

Rev. C. A. Shilke, Oakland, to Deliver Opening Sermon

The nineteenth annual conference of the Lutheran Synod of West Virginia will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Morgantown, W. Va., September 30 and October 1, it has been announced.

The conference sermon will be preached Tuesday evening by Rev. C. A. Shilke, Oakland, president of the conference. Rev. Shilke will also preside over the business sessions of the conference.

The theme of the conference is "The problems of youth," and the addresses and discussions will hinge largely on this topic. The main address on Wednesday morning will be brought by Dr. Leslie French, student pastor of the Westminster foundation of West Virginia University. Rev. Frank B. Herzel, Westernport, will lead a discussion of "The Pastor and the Student."

Dr. Earl S. Rudisill, of York, Pa., an authority on the problems of youth and an outstanding pastor in the Lutheran church, will give the main address on Wednesday afternoon. His subject will be "The Problems of Youth," and he will conduct an open forum on the subject following his talk. Wednesday evening Dr. Rudisill will talk on "Lending Youth a Hand." TO HOLD COOKING SCHOOL HERE OCTOBER 1, 2, AND 3

Miss Betty Harper To Be In Charge—Admission Free

Oakland's first large electric cooking school will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 1, 2, and 3 in the Naylor Building, it has just been announced. Hundreds of women in Oakland and vicinity will be interested in this announcement of what promises to be one of the most interesting affairs ever conducted here for the sole benefit of housewives. The Hotpoint electric range will be used in this school for all cooking demonstrations.

Miss Betty Harper, home economist of the Home Service department of the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, will be in charge of the school, admission to all sessions of which will be free. She will be assisted by Mrs. Ethel Cunningham, Home Service representative of the same company. Both have had a wide range of experience in home economics work and are especially familiar with the electric range and electric cooking, having had special experience and instruction in this work.

The cooking school is expected to be most interesting. A program has been prepared for each day of the school and many new cakes, pies and other good things to eat will be prepared electrically. The programs, printed for each day of the school, tell in detail how each dish is prepared, enabling those present at the school to more closely follow the instructor.

Oakland has never had a large cooking school before, but housewives here are to be given the same instruction in the electric cooking school as in the metropolitan centers. Every point will be thoroughly explained so that some real worth-while cooking advice may be gathered by the hundreds who are expected to be present.

FRED CROPP IS INJURED IN FALL FROM SCAFFOLD

Painter Falls 26 Feet to Cement Walk When Board Breaks

J. Fred Cropp, 40, local painter, was seriously injured last Friday morning when he fell twenty-six feet from a scaffolding at the Oakland Grammar school building and landed on a cement pavement.

Three ribs were broken, one lung punctured, his ankle sprained, back severely strained, and he received a blow on the head. Medical aid was rendered by Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh and the injured man was taken to his home just north of town. On Monday he was removed to a Clarksburg, W. Va., hospital, and from a report received this morning he is resting fairly comfortable.

Harry Hinebaugh, another painter, escaped injury by grasping the ropes of the scaffolding just as the board on which they were both standing broke in the center.

The school children were having recess at the time and practically all of them saw him fall.

HALLOWE'EN JUBILEE WILL BE UNDER JOINT AUSPICES

Firemen and Boys' Band to Have Charge This Year—Committees Named and Work Started

PLAN MAMMOTH PARADE

That the annual Hallowe'en celebration this year would be held under the joint auspices of the Oakland Volunteer Fire department and the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band of Oakland, was announced following a meeting of the two organizations on Tuesday evening. The proceeds of the entertainment will be divided equally among the two organizations, the fire department using its funds for payment on the fire truck, and the boys' band using its funds to purchase uniforms.

Committees were appointed at the meeting Tuesday evening, and plans made for making this Hallowe'en a memorable one in the minds of all the people of Garrett county and surrounding communities.

For the fire company, Grover Stemple, George Kerlns and Singleton Townshend were named as committeemen, and R. R. Gilbert, R. E. Weber and Arthur Lawton, for the band.

Mammoth Mummers' Parade

The big feature of the celebration will be the mammoth mummers' parade about 7 o'clock in the evening, the same as in previous years. There will be a number of prizes offered to different organizations and individuals. Last year over 50 prizes were offered and the parade was one of the longest in the history of Oakland.

Second street will be roped off as usual for the street carnival and there will be a number of concessions and amusements along the thoroughfare. A dance is being planned, and will be held in Fraley's hall. Some valuable articles will be given away on that evening, it was also announced. Just what the articles will be will be announced following another meeting of the committees on Thursday evening.

Out of town organizations are being invited. The Hallowe'en celebration was started two years ago by the Knights of Pythias lodge. Last year it was turned over to the Fire department, and this year the Boys' Band organization was included in order that uniforms might be purchased for the members and a surplus formed to pay for music, racks, and other incidentals.

Free Act Performer at Fair Injured on Incline Slide

Miss Dorothea, of the company of Hilbert and Dorothea, who furnished the program of free acts featuring Miss Dorothea's sensational "slide-for-life" down a five hundred feet incline wire, at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair, was injured Friday afternoon in performing her act.

The net at the bottom of the wire was not in proper position to catch her and the performer was only partially stopped after her rapid descent from the cupola of the exhibition building. An examination by Dr. H. W. McComas revealed no broken bones, but she was badly shaken up by the mishap. She had been slightly shaken the day previous on account of a simirar circumstance.

GIRL EN ROUTE TO SCHOOL ASSAULTED BY STRANGER

Garrett County Girl, Aged 14, Attacked Near State Line—Posses Seek Assailant

AUTHORITIES NOTIFIED

Garrett county authorities and State police are seeking an unidentified young man who is accused of assaulting Leah Williams, 14-year old daughter of L. W. Williams, Garrett county farmer, while the girl was walking to school yesterday morning. The girl was attacked near her home, about three miles from the Pennsylvania line, south of Addison, Pa.

The girl was walking along a dirt road, which connects with the National Highway, when she was accosted by a young man. She said the stranger wore a derby hat and had a small mustache. After attacking the girl, the man is believed to have escaped in a car. The girl returned home and informed her parents, who notified Pennsylvania State Police at Somerset.

Officers Russell E. Rogers and Glenn Adams, of the Somerset substation, conducted a preliminary investigation and notified Garrett county authorities, as the girl was attacked in Maryland. Farmers of that section formed posses and searched the surrounding woods, but found no trace of the girl's assailant.

UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN IS FOUND INJURED ON ROAD

Is Picked Up Near Keyser's Ridge and Taken to Frostburg

An unidentified young woman, about 30 years old, was found unconscious about 9 o'clock last night, along the National Highway a short distance west of Keyser's Ridge. The woman, who said she was struck by a car, was taken to the Miners' hospital at Frostburg, where efforts to establish her identity were unsuccessful.

The young woman is believed to be a native of Switzerland. She was semi-conscious last night at the hospital and was apparently suffering from shock and bruises. Her condition is not regarded as serious by Dr. J. C. Cobey, the attending physician.

Two men in a car stopped at the Edwards' Garage in Grantsville a short time before the young woman was found along the road. The men said they saw her lying along the road, but did not stop. Harry Durst, of Grantsville, who was driving toward Addison, Pa., stopped and picked up the young woman. She was taken to the National Hotel at Grantsville and later was removed to the Frostburg hospital.

It is believed the young woman was seeking work at a farm along the highway. She was seen walking through Grantsville, toward Keyser's Ridge, earlier in the evening. She was poorly dressed and had no letters or other means of identification on her clothing.

Fourteenth Annual Fair Brought to Close on Friday

The Fourteenth Annual Garrett County fair closed last Friday with the celebration of Farmers' Day. A fairly large number attended throughout the day and evening, inspecting the exhibits and strolling along the midway of the American Exposition shows.

The attendance was up to standard on the second day of the Fair, School Day, when a parade was held and other features listed on the program, but only a few were present throughout the other three days.

Weather conditions were better than they have been for some years, Mr. H. M. Speicher, general manager, stated, and exhibits in several departments were above the average. The drought cut heavily in the production of grains, potatoes, corn, etc., but the premiums on exhibits will amount to approximately $700, it was estimated.

Very few special premiums by local people were offered this year, and it is thought this may have resulted in fewer people exhibiting. The abolishment of parades for the other three days of the fair is also thought to have cut the attendance of the farmers of the county.

The awards are listed on pages 2 and 3 in today's Republican.

REVIEW—THE GREATNESS OF THE GOD-FEARING

GOLDEN TEXT—The fear of Jehovah is the beginning of wisdom; a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endureth forever.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Makes People Great.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Makes People Great.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Makes Men and Women Great?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—An Estimate of the Characters Studied During the Quarter.

Lesson for July 8.

When called to go out from his own country and kindred, Abraham believed God and obeyed his command. True faith is proved by unquestioned obedience.

Lesson for July 13.

Jacob, a crafty schemer, through discipline at God's hands, became Israel, a prince with God. Before he could enter the Promised Land a change must take place. Self-will must be broken before there can be confidence in God.

Lesson for July 20.

Moses, educated first at his mother's knee and then at Pharaoh's court, was forced to flee from Egypt because of a premature effort to deliver the enslaved people. Forty years of training in the wilderness was necessary before he was ready to hear God's call.

Lesson for July 27.

In the time of national emergency, there being no man to judge Israel, Deborah was called to take this place. God bestows his grace upon whomsoever he will, regardless of sex.

Lesson for August 3.

Ruth chose to cast her lot with God's people. This choice brought her not only salvation but earthly blessings. Ruth's relationship to Naomi shows the vital fellowship centered in the God of Israel. National prejudices, hatred, and strife disappear on the part of those who are united in Jesus Christ.

Lesson for August 10.

Hannah asked God to give her a son, promising to dedicate him to God's service. God heard her prayer and she named her son Samuel, which means "asked of God." Samuel in his tender years was given to God, and he rendered a distinguished service for many years.

Lesson for August 17.

Saul was a man of fine gifts and had a great opportunity, but made a dismal failure because his heart was not right toward God. He had more concern for his own honor and welfare than for the glory of God. God is more concerned with having his commands obeyed than he is with the offering of sacrifices.

Lesson for August 24.

Friendship between David and Jonathan has been immortalized. This friendship was unique in that it took place between two men of rival interests. Jonathan was the natural heir to the throne, but David was God's choice. Jonathan knew this and magnanimously waived his rights.

Lesson for August 31.

Amos, a humble herdsman, was called from his life as God's prophet to stand before the king. He was not a prophet by succession nor was he trained in the schools. God selects his servants from even the humblest walks of life.

Lesson for September 7.

Josiah, the young king, was loyal to God. Two wicked kings had preceded him, during whose reigns God's law was lost. God put it into his heart to inaugurate a reformation, and in the process of restoring the temple, the law was found. When it was read before him, the king rent his clothes, and proceeded to institute his reforms on the basis of God's word.

Lesson for September 14.

Jeremiah, having heard God's call in his early years, zealously carried on his ministry. He called upon individuals to face their responsibility before God, assuring them that they would not be judged on the basis of racial heritage. Every man shall give an account of himself to God.

Lesson for September 21.

Jonah, a Jew, was called to preach repentance to a Gentile city. He sought to escape his responsibility by fleeing to Tarshish. God prepared a fish to swallow him. This was the means of his chastisement and return to his own land. After chastisement he was recommissioned. At his preaching the city repented, putting on their sackcloth and ashes. God is not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance.

POWNALL TAKES ISSUE WITH RITCHIE ON STATE RIGHTS

Stigmatizes Governor's Assertions as "Crafty, Tempting Bait to Catch the Heedless Masses"

(By T. G. POWNALL)

Governor Ritchie, at the Democratic rally at Hagerstown on Monday night charged his opponent with dodging prohibition, and pleaded for "state rights." Nobody knows what he means by "state rights" and many really wish to know.

Means What?

Does he mean that a state shall have a right to secede, at will, veto a Federal law, or refuse to obey it? Does he not know that the Civil War left no doubt about that matter? When Abraham Lincoln declared that "the propagation of human beings for slaves or for the market, was wrong and would not be tolerated," certain states formally seceded, and the Civil War was waged to define "state rights," and the verdict was that no state would be permitted to secede or disregard any Federal law, and the offending states accepted the verdict and gladly again became loyal adherents of the Union.

That is understood now by all fair and thoughtful men.

Not a League.

The United States is not a league of states, nor a federation of states, but a Republic, the laws of which are final and binding upon all the states alike, and the courts have so decreed. It is the foundation of all our laws, indeed it is supreme, and may take property in any state, as its needs may be, by the usual condemnation proceedings, but a state cannot appropriate a foot of land owned by the Federal government.

The Federal government levies an income tax, a tariff tax and other taxes upon the people in all the states, and collects them without state interference. It tells us what we shall do and we do it, but when it tells us that whiskey shall not be made nor sold in Maryland, the governor demurs and repeats the refrain of certain states when they declared that their "liberties were being taken away from them," when the institution of slavery was threatened.

The state is the child of the Republic which created it, and protects it from invasion by a foreign foe.

It is the creature, the Republic is the creator. May a child defy its parent, or in street parlance, is the "tail" to wag the dog?

"State Rights"

A crafty, tempting bait, on the hook of a cunning, conniving politician, to catch the heedless masses, which, like parrots, repeat, but never analyze. Nobody knows and perhaps never will know, what the governor means, except to destroy the 18th Amendment and permit each of the forty-eight states to make its own liquor laws, and also permit each of the three thousand counties and the many towns and the cities of the nation to do as they like about it.

In other words, go back to local option, and discuss, deride, denounce and damn for another fifty years and then be exactly where we were before we had the Amendment.

"Maryland a Free State"

"Under the broad shield of Federal law, Maryland is 'Free'." Free to every right vouchsafed to her by this great Republic, but not free to violate, ignore and trample upon a Federal law which happens to be distasteful to her ever-blooming governor, who seems not to know that the Decalogue or moral law took away from us many of the things we like long before the Constitution was written. He seems not to know that "liberty" is obtained by obedience and that the greatness of all countries is gauged by the degree of support the people give to their respective laws.

Mr. Broening

Voters care nothing about his personal likes and dislikes, but they do wish to know whether or not, if elected, the oath of office, to which he must assent, will be regarded as binding in the matter of upholding the laws of the state and nation.

They have warned both candidates that political affiliations are easily donned and quickly doffed and they await the results of both platforms with much concern.

A Riot of Garden Color Next Year If You Plant Perennials This Fall

Early fall is the ideal time to plant most perennials, especially those varieties which bloom in the spring. Lateblooming varieties such as Asters and Chrysanthemums may be postponed until spring, but this group compriscs such a small selection from the great class of perennials that we are safe in saying that most perennials can be planted very successfully in autumn.

By planting now the newly set plants get well established before the winter freezes set in. Then when spring comes they can start growing immediately and a full crop of flowers may be expected. Of course, it takes a little time for some hardy flowers to become established, and such varieties as Peonies should not be expected to yield an abundance of bloom the first year. However, if good strong plants are set out, and they are set out early, you may look forward to a good showing of flowers the first year, just the same. Newly planted perennials must be given a protective mulch of straw or manure to prevent winter damage. Put this on after heavy frosts have come.

One of the chief considerations in planting perennials is that you plan for a continuance of colorful flowers in your outdoor living room. It is practically impossible, of course, to have an uninterrupted display of bloom all summer long in exactly the same place. A judicious selection of plants will, however, bring a succession of flowers in different parts of the garden all through the season.

Bulbs planted in the perennial borders will offer the first cheery greeting in spring. Ere the last Tulips have faded the fragil Irises have begun to appear. A garden can hardly be considered complete if it lacks the exquisite beauty of these rainbow flowers. Mingle some airy Columbines with the Iriscs this fall if you would achieve an arresting lovely picture next spring.

Although the Rose is queen of the garden in June, the magnificence of Peonies also claims our attention at this time. Interplant some Phlox, Asters and Delphiniums among the Peonies to "carry on" after the Peonies have ceased to bloom.

A group of Delphiniums are a breath-taking sight when planted against a background of green where their spikes of heavenly blue call forth exclamations of wonder and delight. Supplement the Delphiniums with white Canterbury Bells to secure an interesting, harmonious effect.

By keeping the Phloxes pinched back and removing the faded flowers, a constant succession of their bloom is assured during that trying period when the spring-blooming varieties have ceased and the autumn flowers have not yet arrived.

If your perennial border is to be well balanced, you will surely want to include some Oriental Poppies. Their immense flowers of bright scarlet and soft salmon-rose make a stunning color display.

Later on in summer, and into fall, come the more compelling color tones. There are the intense orange-reds and crimson shades of Gaillardias; the vivid yellows of Coreopsis, Golden Glow and Globe Flowers, all of which are splendid cutting flowers.

Last of all comes the autumn finale of royal purple and gold—the Asters, Heleniums and Chrysanthemums. Who would want to cut short the color display in the border by omitting these striking varieties?

Perennial borders that are thoughtfully planned and planted this fall will be a source of increasing pleasure and beauty for years to come.

Notes of the Local School

A magazine subscription contest has been started in the school here. The object is to secure subscriptions for nationally known magazines. The teams have been divided into the Blues and Reds. At present the Blues are in the lead.

The soccer and fieldball teams will play the first game of the season at Oakland on Thursday of this week. Mr. George Weitzell has been kind enough to furnish the soccer team with a field for play and practice. H. J. Speicher has given the fieldball team a small lot for play and practice. Both the soccer and fieldball teams express their thanks and appreciation to both men for the use of the ground.

The F. F. A. department of the school was succesful in capturing two of the prizes in the judging contest at the Garrett County Fair. The team lacked only five points to win the contest. Elbert Buckel was awarded a $3.00 prize and William Harmon a $2.00 prize.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Emma Catharine Cresse vs. Gilbert Sthempson Cresse.

No. 2976 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The bill states:—

That the plaintiff was married to the defendant March 3, 1920, with whom she resided until June, 1921, at which time the said defendant deserted the said plaintiff while they resided at Bayard, Grant County, West Virginia: that, although the conduct of the plaintiff toward the said defendant has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Gilbert Sthempson Cresse has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her; that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that there was one child born of said marriage, Russell Dale Cresse, eight years of age, who is in the custody and care of your oratrix; that your oratrix has been a resident of Garrett County, Maryland, for more than two years next preceding the filing of this suit, but the defendant is not a resident of Maryland, his last known address being Camden, New Jersey, but his present place of residence being to your oratrix unknown.

The bill then prays for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii of the plaintiff from the defendant, for the guardianship and custody of the said infant child, Russell Dale Cresse, for general relief and for an order of publication.

IT IS THEREUPON, This 27th day of August, 1930, ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1930, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1930, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not to be passed as prayed.

PAUL HOYE SOCIETY HELD REUNION SUNDAY, SEPT. 21

Memorial Stone Dedicated in the Family Cemetery

Many of the descendants of Paul Hoye, pioneer resident of Western Maryland, met on the old William Waller Hoye farm near Hoyes, north of Oakland, on Sunday, September 21, to dedicate a memorial stone in the family cemetery.

Rev. Paul Linaweaver, of Washington, D. C., read suitable selections from the service book of the Episcopal church, offered prayer and pronounced the benediction. Those in attendance were deeply impressed with the beauty of the service and the clearness and dignity of its rendition.

Dr. John G. Robinson, of Oakland, and a quartet led in singing "Lead Kindly Light" and "Rock of Ages." The latter hymn was especially well rendered and appropriate to the occasion, the memorial being a native gray sandstone standing six feet above a concrete base, the masonry work being by George Glotfelty, of McHenry.

The brief exereises at the cemetery closed with an excellent fife selection, "March of the Dead," by Charles F. Cook, of Somerset, Pa., and the placing of a laurel wreath on the memorial by Ruth Hoye, secretary of the society.

The bronze tablet on the stone reads as follows:

GOD'S PROVIDENCE IS OUR INHERITANCE

Members and guests, following the dedication of the memorial, motored to the William Hoye maple grove on the banks of the beautiful Youghiogheny, where they enjoyed at lunch the goods things from the farms of Maryland, followed by an interesting program, which included:

The adoption of a constitution of the society; the election and installation of officers, as follows: President, Elijah Hoye, Sang Run, Md.; first vice-president, Robert F. Towson, of Smithburg, Md.; second vice-president, Emma Hoye Leigh, Lincoln, Neb.; secretary-treasurer, Miss Beulah Engle, Grantsville; historian, Charles E. Hoye, Los Angeles, Cal.

Report of memorial committee, by John R. Engle, Kingwood, W. Va.; report of the historian, Charles E. Hoye; singing, "Maryland, My Maryland"; fife selection, C. F. Cook; historical story, "Discovery of Ginseng (Sang) Run," Schell B. Hoye, Oakland; reading of Paul Hoye's will, Arthur Towson, Smithburg, Md.; "Old Man of Hoy," Elizabeth Engle Wadsworth; brief addresses by Mr. E. A. Browning, Oakland, and Mr. Stephen M. Hoye, of New York City; "Auld Lang Syne," led by quartet; old-time violin music, Browning Brothers.

One hundred ninety-seven partook of the lunch and the total attendance was more than 250, including, as well as the Hoye family, the Friends, DeWitts and Browning, descendants of neighboring pioneers.

Among the many members and visitors were Geo. D. Browning, A. T. Matthews, Oakland; Sadie C. Bishop, Smithburg, Md.; G. Tyson Kenny, Washington county, Md.; Mabel T. Landell, Philadelphia; Mary B. Wade, Lucia A. Hendrickson, Washington; Mirah L. Drane, McHenry; Mrs. Etta V. Engle, Grantsville; Catherine J. Stanton, Bittinger; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, Page Miller and Miss Black, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pulliam, Keyser; Mrs. H. D. Perry, Bayonne, N. J.; Miss Bryan, New York.

Mrs. Perry is the historian of the famous Deakins family of England and Virginia. Leonard Deakins was half brother of Paul Hoye, their mother being Tabitha Marbury, of Maryland.

Five photographs of Paul Hoye's home and of William Waller Hoye were awarded Mabel Towson Landel and Elizabeth Engle Wadsworth for having the most beautiful red hair of members of the family present.

The committees desire to express their thanks to all those who assisted in erecting the memorial and in the preparations for the happy reunion, as well as all who took part in the program, and especially appreciate the old-time violin music of the Browning Brothers, whose sweet music carried the thoughts of many back to the days of their youth.

Even the elements were kind and made the first day of autumn a perfect day as the family met under the maple trees by the clear waters—God's own handiwork.

Paul Hoye, whose ancestors were red headed Scotch-Irish from County Antrim, setteled on his plantation, called "Frog Harbor," near Williamsport, Md., before the American Revolution. His son John became a wealthy and prominent citizen of Cumberland, while the other son, William Waller, a surveyor, about the year 1800, was a pioneer settler near the Youghiogheny River, farthest west, and from his "Crabtree Bottom" farm within one hundred years, 400 descendants trace their common origin.

Severely Cut When Falling Axe Strikes Man On Wrist

Mr. William Paugh, of near Oakland, suffered a severe cut on his wrist Monday when an axe which he had stuck in the top of a fence post on his farm was jarred loose and fell while he was repairing the wires of a fence. The instrument severed an artery of his wrist and he bled profusely from the wound. He was brought to Oakland immediately following the accident and was treated by Dr. McComas.

The next time the Fair has a guest of honor, they are going to paste his picture all over the grounds, and have all door keepers, ticket sellers, etc., take an extra long look. The Mayor and Town Council will also be instructed as to how the gentleman looks.

Last Wednesday Mayor Stemple had people posted at the edge of town to stop Mayor Broening and conduct him to the Fair grounds as the guest of honor. They loked in vain.

He was found a couple of hours later right in the grounds, and the gate keeper had made him purchase an admission ticket before he would let him in.

They made up for it later, though. They let him present the loving cup to Red Sanders, the winner of the horseshoe tournament.

And was Red excited? He said he was weak from pitching shoes.

Meeting of the Big Shots

Well the meeting of the big shots, city fathers, town scoundrels, or whatnot, was held at Oakland last week with great success. Mayor Hardesty of Loch Lynn was there with his ten-gallon hat, and in fact there was a whole stable full of mayors present at the afternoon gathering in front of the City hall.

Preceding the banquet in the evening, a general get-together and goodwill convention was held in the afternoon, with all the mayors and the town scoundrels present. Cot McComas was master of ceremonies and the following program was carried out:

Song, "She ain't what she used to be," led by Jesse Ashby.

Game, Drop the Handkerchief, with Arnold Fox "it." Some of the councilmen didn't want to play this game and started another one of their own choosing. It was the presentation of Uncle Tom's Cabin. Monk Stemple played the part of Simon Legree with W. F. Schwinabart as Little Eva.

Squat tag was next on the program, and they all squatted so much that Bill Winterberg finally gave up, saying that when he stooped down, he could hardly stoop back up again. Then after a short rest they went thru a Virginia Reel to the tune of Comin' Thru the Rye, and all joined in singing "I'm prancing with tears in my eyes," "Together," and "I'll see you when the roses bloom again."

Col. Bell came over in time to catch the Mayor of Loch Lynn when he still had his hat on.

And the Road Opening

Next came the road opening on Saturday, which was really just a continuation of the good will program. The candidates had dwindled since the last road opening, but then, that wasn't their fault. Primary elections come and go, regardless of road openings.

It is surprising how many people found the cinder path at Kitzmiller that led up over the hill to an oasis, or thirst quencher.

MARYLAND REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM DRY

boring states" through legislation is pledged by the platform, which also "favored the general improvement of school facilities for colored children throughout the state."

County distribution of automobile license plates also was favored among the reforms advocated in the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, as was also the construction of the Chesapeake Bay bridge by the state, "if feasible."

Mr. Broening Nominated

Oliver Metzerott, former state senator and candidate for the house of delegates, in placing in nomination the Republican state ticket, made up of William F. Broening, mayor of Baltimore for governor; William N. Jackson, Salisbury, for comptroller; David A. Robb, Cumberland, for attorney general, and Dr. Charles Warner, of Belair for clerk of the court of appeals, continued the attack on the governor.

Metzerott Strikes Keynote

Metzerott struck the keynote in declaring "our battle is not against the Democratic party, but against one who has usurped the power of that party and used it for his own personal ends."

Governor Ritchie's long term has enabled him to use every state function for his own ends," Metzerott said. "He has almost destroyed local county government. His idea of home rule is to have all rule in the home of Governor Ritchie."

He also charged state roads have been built to "carry the bandwagon of the governor and not move the state products." He asserted the county school boards have been "blighted" by the pernicious policy of executive usurpation."

Later, when the platform was brought to the floor of the convention, it continued in detail the attack on Governor Ritchie's record, a full endorsement of the Republican national administration and contained a plank on prohibition which had forced many conferences by leaders of the party before the delegates went into session.

Oppose Return of Saloons

Where the Democrats had adopted an outright declaration for return of the prohibition question to the states for their own control, the Republican declaration said:

"The evils of the old time saloon are now generally admitted and the Republican party is unalterably opposed to its return.

"Public preaching and condoning of violation of the national liquor laws have been resorted to as a screen for the various shortcomings of the present administration and the purpose now is, through this means, to divert public attention from the fourth term which is the chief issue in this campaign.

"As to the obligation of public officails under their oath of office to support and enforce all laws as they may exist there can be no question. Unless a public official is himself an exemplar, law and order must suffer."

The platform was kept in strict secrecy until it was placed before the convention resolutions committee, in which dissention appeared over the prohibition plank after hasty conference of leaders had been called Monday morning to iron it out.

Gunter Nominates Robb

David A. Robb was placed in nomination for attorney general by Senator William A. Gunter. The nomination was seconded by former state Senator Harry O. Levine, of Baltimore. Mr. Gunter made what was considered one of the best speeches of the convention and was applauded vigorously.

Another speaker was Joseph I. France, former United States senator, who urged that the Republican party conduct its campaign on the merits of its candidates rather than on a platform of criticism of the opposing candidates.

The Garrett county delegation was composed of C. N. McIntire, L. M. Fraley, C. H. Browning and L. C. Bray.

Are Your Eyes Weak Like Billy Jones'?

Here is pictured Billy Jones. He's just a young chap. Pretty good to look at. An exceptionally bright student in all the subjects where he doesn't have to use his eyes. In these he's far below the average.

These few statements tell a tale. Billy tries to study under glaring lights. His eyes are being ruined. If your eyes are weak you can sympathize with him.

His parents are ruining his most valued possession . . . his eyes. They may not even know it. In your case it's different. So if you're not exactly sure that your lighting is good to your eyes . . . check up on it at once. We'll be glad to help you and it won't cost you a cent.

19TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF LUTHERANS IS ENDED

Theme of Convention, "Our "Youth," Carried Out—Waybright Elected Vice-President

The nineteenth annual conference of The Evangelical Lutheran Synod of West Virginia closed its scssions in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Morgantown, W. Va., last evening, after a two-day meeting.

The theme of the convention, "Our Youth," was carried out in the sermons, addresses and discussions thruout. President C. A. Shilke spoke on "Our Debt to Youth," Dr. Leslie French, of the Westminster Foundation of West Virginia University, talked on "Youth and the Problems of Religious Education." Dr. Winters, of the Philosophy department of the University, spoke on "Youth in its relation to morals, rcligion, and ethics." Last evening, Rev. M. S. Collins, of the Wesley Foundation of the University, spoke on "Lending Youth a Hand." Dr. Earl S. Rudisill, York, Pa., also spoke.

Dr. Robert T. Vorberg, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Keyser, was elected president; Rev. W. E. Waybright, Red House, vice-president; Rev. Howard Amick, Warwood, Wheeling, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to hold a Lenten retreat at Grafton, to which all pastors of the synod are to gather for spiritual guidance for the Lenten Season. The responsibility for the annual Lutheran Day at Mt. Lake Park was placed upon the pastors and congregations surrounding the Park, with the other congregations of the conference cooperating.

October 26 was designated as Stewardship Sunday, when there will be an exchange of pulpits.

About 60 attended the banquet on Tuesday evening served in the Sunday school room of the church. Rev. Roy Hashinger, Morgantown, was toastmaster, and Dr. S. W. Bell, pastor of the First M. E. chureh, gave a resume and his impressions of the Passion Play which he recently attended. About 35 pastors and laymen of the church were in attendance. Conference will be held next year in St. Johannes' Lutheran church, St. Clara, West Va.

The O. H. S. Soccer Team opened its season last Friday afternoon at the Fair grounds with Accident when the visiting team was taken into camp to the tune of 8-2. Both teams played rather ragged ball throughout most of the contest. There was a lack of endurance on the part of some of the O. H. INVITATION IS RECEIVED BY CITY TO ENTER EVENT

Photographs of Winning Yards May be Submitted in National Yard and Garden Contest

GIVE BEAUTIFUL PRIZES

An official invitation requesting Oakland to participate in the National Yard and Garden contest was received here this morning by Mrs. A. L. Lee, chairman for the local Yard and Garden contest.

The Yard and Garden contest association of America requests that photographs of our first prize-winning yards be sent to its headquarters at Davenport, Iowa. From photographs, such as these, sent in from all parts of the country, the national winners will be selected.

Home owners entered in the Oakland contest are urged to photograph yards before all their flowers have faded or are frozen. This will provide photographs to enter in the National contest should the entrant win a prize in the home town competition.

Local prize winners will be announced within a week, at a public meeting, the exact date to be announced later, according to Miss Lottie Loar, president of the Oakland Civic club. A talk will be given at the meeting on an appropriate subject, it was also announced.

The nine highest ranking yards in the national contest will be awarded the major trophies, each of which will be a beautiful piece of stone garden furniture bearing a bronze plate, giving the winner's name. The outstanding garden of all will be chosen as sweepstakes winner.

Honorable mention awards will be given to as many other home grounds as the national judges deem worthy of this distinction. The national winners will receive wide publicity in the press, on the screen and over the radio. Last year, in addition to newspapers all over the country, many big national magazines published the story and photographs of the winning gardens.

This publicity is regarded everywhere as the best advertising any town can receive.

City Water in Oakland is 100 Percent Pure

City water in Oakland is 100 percent pure, according to the test for September, which was returned to the City Council on September 23.

The water supply in the reservoir is approximately the same as usual. The level dropped during the past week, but the pumps gained back the amount over the week-end, Grover Stemple, mayor, stated.

"We should consider ourselves extremely fortunate on this mountain top," Mayor Stemple stated. "While many cities are entirely without water Oakland has not been handicapped severely, and it is hoped that before long rivers, springs, wells, etc., will be back to normal."

Assault Was Not Made on Girl Investigation Reveals

An investigation by Sheriff Casteel and his deputies into the case of Leah Williams, 14-year old daughter of L. W. Willlams, Garrett county farmer, who was supposed to have been assaulted by a young man while on her way to school on Wednesday, September 24, disclosed the fact that no assault had been made.

The girl told her parents that she was attacked near her home about three miles from the Pennsylvania line, along a dirt road which connects with the National highway. After the examination of the officers it was found that a man did accost the girl, probably with the intentions of attacking her, but was scared away by the approach of a bus along the National highway.

ZACHARIAS AND ELISABETH: LIFE IN A PIOUS JEWISH HOME

LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:5-80.

GOLDEN TEXT—And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping to Make Our Homes Good.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Helping to Make Our Homes Good.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What I Owe to My Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Makes a Home Christian?

I. A Godly Husband and Wife (Luke 1:5-7).

The name Zacharias means "Jehovah hath remembered," and the name Elisabeth means "A covenant maker."

1. When they lived (v. 5).

"In the days of Herod the king." They lived in a day when godlessness was rife. The priesthood was corrupt, and the ruling classes most wicked.

2. Their character (v. 6).

Both were righteous before God. Many appear to be righteous before man who are not righteous before God. They were so mated that they walked in the commandments of the Lord blameless. The highest in wedded life can be attained only when both husband and wife are united in Jesus Christ. Their practical living was manifested in obedience to God's commandments.

2. They were childless (v. 7).

Though this godly couple were well mated and possessed the joy of the Lord in their souls, there was a real lack in their home. No home is quite ideal into which no child has come.

II. A Son Promised (Luke 1:8-23).

1. By whom (vv. 11, 19)?

Gabriel, a special messenger of God, appeared and made known the good news to Zacharias.

2. When (vv. 8-14)?

While officiating as priest this good news came to him. From verse 13 the implication is that Zacharias had been praying definitely about this matter. While he burned incense, which is typical of prayer, the multitudes without were praying.

3. Characteristics of the child (vv. 15-17).

(1) Shall be great in the sight of the Lord (v. 15).

Though the people did not greatly esteem him, he was highly esteemed by the Lord.

(2) Shall drink neither wine nor strong drink (v. 15).

He was to be a Nazarite, separating himself from sensuous things and dedicating himself unto the Lord (Numbers 6:1-6).

(3) Shall be filled with the Holy Ghost (v. 15).

The energy of the divine Spirit was needed to enable him to lead the people to repentance (v. 16).

(4) Shall go in the spirit and power of Elijah (v. 17).

In this power he was to prepare the people for the coming of the Savior, and the salvation which he was to bring.

4. Zacharias asking for a sign (vv. 18-23).

Although the aged priest was earnestly praying for the salvation of Israel, the gracious promise of the angel which was the beginning of that salvation staggered his faith. The angel gave him a sign. Because he refused to praise God in faith for this gracious promise, God caused his tongue to be silent until the promise was fulfilled. God wants us to believe his promises no matter how contrary to reason they may seem.

III. The Promise Fulfilled (Luke 1:57-64).

1. Neighbors and kinfolk rejoicing with Elisabeth (vv. 57, 58).

2. The child circumcised and named (vv. 59-63).

On the eighth day they circumcised the child and named him "John" (v. 13). By means of writing Zacharias made known the name which he would have by divine instruction.

3. Zacharias praises God (v. 64).

At this time God opened the mouth of Zacharias, and he offered up praise to God.

IV. Zacharias Prophesying (Luke 1:67-80).

1. Praising God for fulfillment of the promise of salvation (vv. 67-75).

This was according to covenant promise.

2. John to be called "The Prophet of the Highest" (vv. 76-79).

He was to go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways.

3. The growth of John (v. 80).

He grew and waxed strong in the Spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his showing unto Israel.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

After Cot McComas had read his name in this column last week he asked Scoop why he never told anything on himself. He said I delighted in putting other people's names in the paper but never pulled any jokes on myself.

Even as much as Scoop talks about himself and Col. Bell every week, Cot would have the nerve to say that. Cot wanted me to tell the people about the time some women walked in on me in the Chic Cales department of the Pressroom downstairs, but there isn't really anything to tell. And anyway, it wouldn't be in good taste with the principles of this column.

Scoop promises to publish anything about himself that the Maryland State Board of censors or the Oakland Women's I-Told-You-So club will pass on.

* * *

Believe It Or Not

Believe it or not Scoop will be away this week-end, in Morgantown, W. Va., where he will attempt to give a speech at a journalism conference before members of the West Virginia press.

Just after I finished my speech and had Archibaldson put his O. K. on it, I received a letter from Washington, D. C., where some concern promised to write my speech for me (exclusive use), and for only $3.00 per thousand words. That certainly was bad—and now it's too late. Anyway the concern was big hearted in wanting to save the conference.

A Real Fish Story

Jim Kerins and Bill Browning left Tuesday for Canada where they will do some fishing. They ought to be able to tell some wild tales when they return, and they will have plenty of time to tell them as they don't do much fishin' during the winter.

* * *

Don't Mistake It

An article by Dr. Fishbein in the Cumberland Evening Times of Monday says that asthma is more common among boys than girls up to 14 but over 14 the cases are about equal.

Archibaldson hopes that the doctor is sure it is asthma. Don't mistake it.

* * *

A couple of Oakland's big game hunters are feeling rather thankful today because they aren't up in Oakland's Hoose-gow. They were down at Swanton the other day practicing with their high-powered rifles, so that they would be in trim for their trip to Canada this fall when they expect to work out on some deer meat, when a game warden arrived on the scene.

He was about to place the handcuffs on them, believing they were hunting rabbits out of season, but the big shots proved that they were rapid fire artists with words at least, and they finally convinced him that they were harmless members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to wild animals, and president and vice-president respectively of the society for the preservation of mamma Chinchillas. Col. Bell was at his post as usual and got a "shot" at the game warden.

The boss editor says this is enough for this week. Well, I was going to stop anyway. Next week I might tell you how it feels to be a speaker.

MUST HAVE CHILD'S FULL NAME ON BIRTH RECORD

Health Department Must Have Accurate Records for Children

Does the Health Department know your child's name? If you are not sure of it, write to the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. 2411 North Charles street, Baltimore, and find out. It may mean a great deal to the child later on.

The assistance of the Bureau has been requested recently in establishing the identity of a child in a case, still pending, involving the transfer of a considerable sum of money. The birth proved to be registered, but the child's name had been omitted by the person who sent in the original record and other sources have had to be consulted in order that the child's identity may be legally proved.

About 16,000 births occur in the counties of Maryland every year and the State law requires every birth to be reported within four days of its occurrence. For purposes of identification, the names of the parents, place, date of birth, sex, color, and the first name of the child must be entered upon the record that is forwarded to the department. If the record is not complete, a letter is sent to the parents asking them to supply the missing information. As soon as the complete record is received, an engraved certificate, containing all of the facts is mailed to the parents. Because of their importance to the children, these certificates should be kept in a safe place along with the family records and other valuable papers.

Largely because the parents fail to understand the necessity for entering the child's given name, that very important item is frequently omitted when the birth is reported. Then, when the child's age or identity have to be established in order that he or she may enter school; may take out work papers; may vote; may obtain a passport to visit foreign countries; may prove the right to inherit property, or to transact other important business, the omision of the given name from the records makes such transactions very difficult. A number of instances have occurred in connection with settlement of estates when an inheritance was lost to an individual because his or her birth had either not been reported or because of the omission of some important fact from the record.

A recent checking up, under the direction of Mr. John Collison, Chief of Bureau of Vital Statistics, of the original records of births reported from the counties of Maryland since 1898, brought out some startling facts. It was shown, for instance, that about one out of every four of the orlginal records failed to supply the given name of the child. This means that the given name is omitted from the records of about 4,000 children born in the counties every year. The inquiry also showed that even repeated notices to the parents have failed to bring the missing information.

If you have any doubt as to whether your child's birth has been completely reported, write to the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Feeding of Calves Described in Bulletin

Dairymen and cattle breeders of the State can obtain latest information on the feeding of calves from a new bulletin recently issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Maryland. The authors of the publication are L. W. Ingham, Dr. DeVee Meade and M. H. Berry.

The bulletin gives the results of a year's experiments conducted by one of the authors during which time a close check was kept on the relatives efficiency and resulting increase in growth and development from feeding a number of the more common calf feeds. One interesting fact brought out by the tests was that a normally healthy calf can be raised on approximately 100 pounds of whole milk and from 60 to 85 pounds of skim milk powder. Part of this amount of skim milk powder may be fed in liquid form and part in dry form.

The bulletin may be obtained free of charge by writing the University at College Park.

Marglobe Variety of Tomato Makes Good Showing

Reports from L. M. Goodwin, canning crops specialist for the University of Maryland Extension Service, are to the effect that Marglobe variety of tomato, recently developed and introduced by the United States Department of Agriculture, has shown very favorable growth and production in Maryland during the past summer and promises to be a profitable variety for the many growers of the State.

Because of the unusually dry season it has not produced a normal crop, but it has withstood the blossom and rot disease better than any other kind of tomato grown in this section, according to Mr. Godwin. As a result, he reports that the Marglobe variety is being lauded by both canners and growers, since it is particularly desirable, due to its smooth shaps and superior qaulity.

MIGHTIER than the MIGHTIEST WALL - - -

THREE hundred thousand men labored for fifteen years to build the mightiest of man's structures, the Great Wall of China. A masterpiece of engineering, it was erected as a barrier of protection from invasion, but it was also a barrier to communication.

TODAY, across America stretches the masterpiece of modern engineering—the network of telephone lines—not a barrier to, but a means of communication that enables you to talk from your own home to people in distant cities throughout the country as easily and as clearly as across the street. You simply give the city and telephone number you want to your operator and while you hold the line you're there.

An Interesting Fact

A FATEFUL JOURNEY

November 22, 1633 (O. S.), March 25, 1634, are two memorable dates in the history of Maryland.

On the first mentioned date the Ark and Dove, bearing the Maryland emigrants, set sail from Cowes, on the north shore of the Isle of Wight. On the last mentioned date the voyagers first disembarked on St. Clement's Island, having reached the "promised land."

Harrassed by his enemies, charged with the intention of carrying nuns over into Spain in his ships and soldiers to serve the Spanish king, overtaken on the journey by the king's ships because of false information conveyed to government authorities that his ships had departed without the proper seals from the custome house, nevertheless Cecil Calvert persisted and finally saw the Ark and Dove off on their adventurous journey. Two of Cecil Calvert's brothers "with very near twenty other gentlemen of very good fashion, and three hundred laboring men, well provided in all the necessary things," were on board.

They were hardy souls. Trusting their lives and fortunes to the wind and waves in the Ark, a vessel of from three to four hundred tons, and the Dove, a pinnace of some fifty tons, their voyage was beset with danger.

There is no written account in fact or fiction so thrilling and exciting as the account of the great storm which overtook them on the first part of that memorable voyage as recounted in Andeas, but "we had a skillful captain and so he was given his choice whether he would return to England or keep on struggling with the winds * * nevertheless, his bold spirit and his desire to test the strength of the ship which he then managed for the first time, prevailed. He resolved to keep the sea, with great danger, wanting sea room."

Finally boldness, courage, skill and the ever-present desire to attain the goal sustained them until the storm abated. "From this time to our journey's end, about three months, including the time spent at Barbadoes and St. Christopher's, we had not one hour of bad weather * * * as our mariners never saw so sweet a passage."

BROENING ASSAILS HEAD OF UNIVERSITY FOR MOVE

Declares Dr. J. S. Ames Deserted His Proper Field to Enter Politics With Ritchie

Dr. Joseph S. Ames, president of Johns Hopkins University, was criticised Tuesday night at Baltimore, by Mayor William F. Broening, Republican gubernatorial candidate, for "deserting his proper scholastic field to enter the political arena". Mayor Broening spoke at a political meeting at Community Hall, in northwest Baltimore.

Last Saturday, Dr. Ames announced the formation of the Ritchie Citizenship League, with himself as leader. Mayor Broening in his speech used that action as the basis for his charge that political considerations have controlled the management of the county school boards.

"If the desire for a fourth term is so keen as to permit the invasion of the Johns Hopkins University by partisan politics, is it to be wondered that the same political considerations have been permitted to enter and control the management of the county school boards of Maryland which are, under the governor's reorganization plan, directly appointed by him without confirmation by the senate?" the mayor demanded.

Citing Dr. Ames' assertion that the fourth term was not the issue of the campaign, the Mayor declared:

"There is no originality in the thought, but there is novelty in the fact that the president of the Johns Hopkins University lends himself and the prestige of a great university to meet the exegencies of a precarious political situation.

"The political doctors of the Ritchie group have long labored to explain away the article of our declaration of rights which frowns upon a long continuance of power or trust as dangerous to liberty, and which declares that a rotation in these departments is one of the best securities of permanent freedom.

"Dr. Ames' lengthy statement adds nothing that has not already been said by those political doctors who find the declaration of rights embarrassing to their personal ambitions.

"Dr. Ames' venture in the political arena is so recent that he may be pardoned for having overlooked the pronouncement of Thomas Jefferson the acknowledged and revered father of his political party, in declining to treat the principles of rotation in office as purely 'academic', and, therefore, refusing a third term."

Insurance Pays

Oakland, Maryland,
30 September, 1930.

To Whom it May Concern:—

On September 19, 1930, my house, near Oakland, Maryland, was totally destroyed by fire.

This property was insured by Frederick A. Thayer, Jr., the insurance having been placed through Cheston H. Browning, a solicitor for Mr. Thayer's agency. On September 25, the adjuster visited the scene of the fire and on the morning of September 28 Mr. Thayer received checks for the full amount of my loss.

I wish to say that I am thoroughly satisfied with this adjustment and I hereby recommend the Home Insurance Company to the public generally.

Very truly yours,
JOHN PECK.

HUNTING TURKEY BANNED IN GARRETT UNTIL 1931

Closed Season Has Also Been Announced on Bobwhites

Hunting of wild turkeys and bob white is still forbidden by law in Garrett county.

Announcement that a closed season on these game birds will be enforced in Garrett county until November, 1931, was made yesterday by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden. In addition, Mr. LeCompte announced that the season for ruffed grouse, which continues in other counties until December 31, will last in Garrett county only from November 10 to December 1.

Season Opens November 10

The State-wide upland game season, which opens November 10, permits hunting of the woodcock, ringnecked pheasant, ruffed grouse, cotton-tail rabbit, wild turkey and bob white, with exceptions mentioned above. For raccoon and possum the season opens November 1, and lasts until January 31.

Three days, December 1, 2, and 3, will constitute the deer season in Garrett county. Deer may be hunted until December 15 in Allegany county.

The wild-fowl season will open this year with substantial reductions in bag limits for both wild ducks and wild geese, Mr. LeCompte said. On the former the number per day is reduced from 25 to 15 ducks. Wild geese will be limited to 4 instead of 8 per day.

Jim Crow, The Wireless Messenger

Early one October morning Jim Crow flew down to his favorite perch on a limb of the Big Chestnut Tree.

"Good morning, Friend Tree," he cawed.

"Good morning, Jim Crow," the Big Tree replied. "No one was ever more welcome. I am in need of a messenger, speedy, trusty, and wise. I will reward him well."

"We-ll," Jim Crow cawed softly, "I don't say this to boast, but,—well—no crow has ever outflown me in a race—and as to wisdom—I fell from the nest when I was a baby crow and hurt my wing. Two little children found me and took me home. They helped mend my wing and taught me many wise things that other crows do no know. When I could fly again they let me fly away to my family. (They were kind children. I'd like to do them a good turn some day.) You have always given me a welcome here so now, if you need my wisdom and speed they are at your service."

"Good!" returned the Big Tree. "I can tell you in a nutshell: Jack Frost is long overdue and my burrs will not open without his help, though the sun and wind have done their best.

"Every morning the little children come with their little tin pails and look longingly up at my burrs. So I wish to send a messenger at once to the North Country to beg Jack Frost to come without delay."

"I'll undertake the mission, sir," said Jim, saluting the Big Tree.

"I wish you goodspeed, Friend Jim," called a little striped chipmunk, popping out his head from under a root of the Big Tree.

"Thanks, Stripey," cawed Jim, and poising on the topmost branch of the Big Tree he spread his wings, saying:

Cal Cawl Away I fly,
A messenger of trust am I.
My coat is black, my wings are strong,
My gift is wisdom, not song and, with a flutter of farewell, he was away.

He paused for a drink at the edge of the creek. "It will save me time," he cawed to himself, dipping his bill thirstily.

"I supposed that you had all the time in the world, Friend Jim. What is your hurry?" spoke up a nimble young turtle, slipping to the end of the log near Jim Crow.

"Is that you, Tommy Turtle?" Well, so I did have yesterday, but today I'm a mesenger of trust on a secret mission."

"What's the secret mission, Jim Crow, that can set you to work on anything but pulling corn?" called a young muskrat, swimming up to the log.

"That's a secret, Friend Musky. Ha! Ha! Caw! Caw!" and away he flew.

In a nearby corn field he stopped in the lea of a scarecrow for breakfast, and kind little Fanny Field Mouse gave him a luncheon of corn wrapped in soft corn husks for his journey. Rufus Robin flew with him for a time, but turned back when the air grew more keen.

As Jim Crow advanced farther north, he saw signs of Jack Frost's work on all sides, the leaves showing more and more the traces of his paint brush.

Even as the Crow flies it was a long journey, but at last he was cheered by the sight of patches of snow and ice-bordered ponds, and a little later his keen eye spied a little house of ice. Circling this, he read the words, "J. Frost, Esq.," engraved on the ice over the door.

Tirsty and wing-weary he flew down and, tapped with his bill on the ice-panelled door.

A bright-eyed little lady with icicles bordering her cap opened the door.

Mer son Jack, she said, had gone farther north to do some work for the Eskimos, but was due home now, as her pond was about ready for another coat of ice.

Seeing that Jim Crow was worn out by his long flight, she offered him a bowl of ice-chips, but he told her all he needed was a sip of water.

Water in October is scarce in Jack-Frost Land, but at last Dame Frost found a few drops falling from icicles on the sunny side of the house.

Soon Jack Frost came sparkling in, his paint brush and box of colors under his wing, and they started on the return journey.

By midnight they reached the Big Chestuut Tree, and Jack Frost set to work at once flitting from branch to branch and touching each branch with his icy fingers, for it is at night that he does his best work.

"Now for a good sleep," said Jim Crow, settling down on his favorite branch with a tired caw.

"Wake up, sluggard, or you'll miss the fun!" wispered a voice in his ear.

Jim opened his eyes. The sun was shining full in his face, and from all parts of the tree where the sun was shining, chestnuts were falling. He started to fly down.

"Wait!" whispered the Big Tree. "There come the Children."

Two little children with shining tin pails in their hands were coming along the path toward the Big Tree.

Suddenly thert was a joyous shout.

"The big green burrs are open! Jack Frost has been here!" cried Ernie.

"There are chestnuts on the ground!" shouted Fred Calvin. "Now I can send some to Ada-Jane." And with a rush they fell joyously to work gathering the glossy brown nuts.

"Now as to your reward, Jim Crow," the Big Tree was beginning—

"That's all the reward I want!" Jim Crow interrupted, pointing to the happy children.—Christian Science Monitor.

SAVE TIME
....by cooking electrically

You must actually TRY cooking by electricity to appreciate the great time-saving of this modern type of fuel! It saves hours of kitchen-work every day. For you merely place the food in the oven, set the simple time and temperature controls, and you're through until time to serve. The range itself does all the watching and tending!

And here's another time-saving feature. The modern electric range cooks marvelously faster than any previous model. It compares favorably in cooking time with any fuel range.

But time-saving is not the only new economy offered by electric cooking of today. The new low electric rate of only 1¾c a kilowatt hour over 150 a month cuts electric cooking costs almost in half. Reduction in electric range prices now affords you an ultra-modern range at as low as $129.50. And it no longer costs you anything to install this most modern kitchen appliance. Now this company makes all wiring connections for your Electric Range.

So, today, every obstacle to enjoying the labor-saving, time-saving advantages of electric cookery is permanently removed! We invite you to stop in and let us show you how easy and economical it is to cook electrically.

NEW PUMPER TRUCKS FOR FIRE COMPANY ARE HERE

Types "75" and "99" Are Being Unloaded This Week—Are To Be Given Severe Test

MODERN IN ALL RESPECTS

The two new American-LaFrance fire trucks, the one an entirely new piece of equipment, and the other a replacement on the type "75", 750 gallon capacity pumper truck now in use by the Oakland Volunteer Fire department, have arrived and are being unloaded this week by members of the local department and representatives of the LaFrance company.

They were ordered by the purchasing committee of the Volunteer fire company on August 12 after a contract was closed with the American LaFrance company in which it offered to replace the truck now in use with an exact duplicate in a later model, free of charge, if the Oakland company would purchase a No. 99, 500 gallon capacity pumper truck at a cost of $5,500. The present model "75" has never performed to the satisfaction of the members of the fire department, and it was felt that a change was necessary.

Both of the new trucks will be given a severe test by the local fire fighters, according to George Kerins, fire chief.

The truck which replaces the present "75" is known as a master series type "75" and is a triple combination, being provided with pump, a hose body and chemical tanks. The rotary gear pump throws a fire stream of 750 gallons. It is equipped with a powerful six cylinder motor which develops 140 brake horsepower. Other distinctive features include a special type of four wheel brakes, a highly efficient cooling system, new type of frame, five times as strong as the conventional rolled steel frame and lighter in weight, hollow-spoke cast wheels, double ignition, low stream lines, full crowned fenders, low clear platforms, non-warp running boards and springs on the front end shackles.

The New Type 99

The new piece of equipment is known as the type 99 and embodies the latest features in modern fire-fighting design. It has powerful rotary gear fire pump which is capable of discharging 500 gallons of water per minute. Motive power is provided by a 98 horsepower engine.

The machine is supplied with a chemical or water tank for use in extinguishing small fires or those in outlying sections where water, in sufficient quantities to utilize the fire pump, is not available.

It is equipped with four-wheel brakes and other modern features.

Both fire trucks are also equipped with one Foamite fire department type hand fire extinguisher, a soda-acid type extinguisher for use on ordinary free burning fires, miscellaneous ladder equipment, electrically operated siren, searchlight, and two lengths of suction hose for use with the fire pump.

Knights Plan to Attend Meeting at Frostburg

Members of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, are planning to attend a district meeting at Frostburg next Wednesday, October 15. They will leave Oakland in Ramsey's bus at 5:30 o'clock promptly, and a large attendance is urged. Jacob Gazan, of Georgia, representing the Supreme Chancellor, will be the principal speaker.

The entertainment committee for the balance of the year was appointed at the regular meeting of the lodge last Friday evening, and consists of Arthur Lawton, Stanley Bond and Milburn Mann.

Several applications for membership were received and more are expected, it was stated. A class of candidates will be initiated on Friday, November 7.

MINE WORKER INJURED SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

Frank Cogley, 21, Caught By Car In Thayer & Nordeck Mine.

Frank Cogley, aged 21 years, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cogley, Sr., of near town, suffered a broken leg and other less serious injuries last Thursday afternoon about 3:00 o'clock when he was caught between a rib in the mine and a runaway coal car.

The young man was held between the car and the side of the mine for some time before he could be extricated by his fellow-workmen and then only after his clothing had been cut from his body.

Following the accident, Dr. Hinebaugh was summoned who made an examination and after applying first-aid the victim of the accident was sent to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where an x-ray picture revealed the fact that his leg was broken just below his knee, and that his knee was also painfully injured.

Reports from the hospital this morning are to the effect that young Cogley is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

YOUNG BRIDE IS SENT TO HOME BY ORDER OF COURT

Husband Is Held—Couple Were Married in Oakland Last Week

A 13-year old bride, nee Dorothy Verliera Bigelow, was sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd in Wheeling, W. Va., and her 19-year- old husband committed to the county jail to await action of the October grand jury Friday by Judge Charles G. Baker, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Six weeks ago the girl, who will not be 14 years old until December, returned to her home near Morgantown after a long visit with relatives. Earl Smith, also of near Morgantown, had been engaged to the girl's older sister, but when the child came home, transferred his affections to her.

Wednesday, October 1, the couple came to Oakland where they were married. Smith gave his age as 21 years, 4 months, and that of the girl 18 years and 9 months. Later Wednesday Sheriff Herbert C. Johnson and Deputy Charles B. Morris, of Monongalia county, W. Va., arrested Smith on charges of contributing to a minor's delinquency.

At the hearing on Friday the girl said she wanted to remain with her husband. Juvenile officials, however, suggested she be sent to the Wheeling home because of her youth, and the parents consented.

After the girl had left with officers for Wheeling, her youthful husband was arraigned on the charge before a justice, waived a hearing, and posted bond for grand jury action, which will be taken next week.

Liquor Law Violator Starts Serving Sentence

John Dilley, who was convicted on a liquor charge at the June Term of court, was taken to the House of Correction last Friday to begin serving his sentence.

He was found guilty of manufacturing and possessing liquor for the purpose of sale, and as this was his second offense he was fined $400 and costs and sentenced to serve nine months in the House of Correction, or in default of the payment of fine, to serve 18 months in the House of Correction.

He appealed the case which was denied by the presiding judge, and he has been in the County jail since the adjournment of court. He will serve 18 months in the Maryland institution.

Masked Dance to be Feature of Hallowe'en Celebration

A masked ball and dance, with a number of prizes for the best costumes, will be one of the features of the mammoth Hallowe'en celebration, to be held Friday, October 31, under the joint auspices of the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band and the Oakland Volunteer Fire department.

The ball will be held in Fraley's hall on Second street.

The festivities will begin promptly at 6 o'clock, with the mummers' parade at 7 o'clock. Both the Oakland and Crellin bands are expected to take part and there will be a large number of prizes awarded for various costumes of those in the procession.

Oakland will be decorated by numerous colored lights, corn shocks, and other things emblematical of Hallowe'en, the committee stated. Permission has been granted to rope off Second street from Alder street to Liberty street and the majority of the merriment will take place within this area.

DEATH FOLLOWS IN WAKE OF ACCIDENT TO YOUTH

Albert Harvey, 15, Son of George Wm. Harvey, Dies of Injuries In Cumberland Hospital

Albert Harvey, aged 15 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. George William Harvey, of the Bethlehem section of Garrett county, died at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Saturday morning at 5:30 o'clock, following his admission to the institution the evening preceding when he was taken to Cumberland on a train from Oakland, accompanied by his father and Dr. Henry W. McComas.

The youth had assisted with the work of threshing the year's crop of grain on his father's farm Friday and had delivered the last load of buckwheat from the field to the threshing machine. After the last shock of grain had been thrown to the thresher he jumped from the wagon on to a board covering the cylinder of the machine which broke under his weight and his left leg was drawn into the rapidly revolving mechanism which literally shredded the limb from his ankle to his hip. He was immediately brought to Oakland for surgical aid and within an hour after the occurrence he was put aboard the train for Cumberland where death occurred from shock.

The funeral of the youth was held from the stricken home Sunday afternoon.

That Oakland would have a "Great White Way" was practically decided at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council held Monday evening in the City hall. Definite decision will be made at an adjourned meeting of the council next Monday evening, held for the purpose of giving the citizens of Oakland a chance to voice their opinion before the contract is signed.

Messrs. Paul Summers, Ed. Alexander, Sutton Critchfield, and A. T. Shaw, representatives of the West Penn Power company, explained the proposition to the council and present plans call for 32 400-Watt bulbs on Cedar poles, along Second street, beginning at the Presbyterian church and ending at Durst's Shoe shop; along Alder street between Second and Third; Third street between Alder and Oak. There are to be four lights at the intersection of Second and Alder streets.

The lights will be 75 feet apart along these streets. The poles will be painted either green or black, and there will be an ornamental bracket on the top of each one. The additional cost to the town will be about $57 each month. "Providing the contract is signed within the next few days," Mr. Arch. Shaw, local superintendent of the Monongahela System, stated, "work would be started immediately and the white way would be entirely completed by Christmas." The white way question was up before the Council in July of 1927, but was decided unfavorably.

To Sink Test Well

The Mayor and Town Council also authorized the sinking of a test well on the town property below the reservoir on Crook Crest. While the water supply still remains fairly good, the digging of the well is being taken as a precaution against a water shortage.

To Complete Third Street

It was decided to improve Third street between Alder and Green, from curb to curb, the work to start immediately. This will mean an additional three feet on each side of the road between these two points and will make a decided improvement, it was pointed out. The additional improvement will be made of concrete and will be done by the employes of the street commissioner.

Other routine matters which came before the council were discussed and acted upon in the usual manner. It was noted that Lee R. Mason was acting policeman in the absence of B. B. Nethkin, who is ill. The next regular meeting of the council will be held on November 3.

Maryland voters have the chance to express their preference for one of four and possibly five statewide tickets when they go to the polls next month to elect governor, comptroller, attorney general and clerk of the Court of Appeals, a legislature, congressman and county officers.

Besides the two major parties, Democrat and Republican, which have filed their tickets, the Socialists and Communists have filed for all four of the state offices and the Labor party for three of the four posts.

The lists have all been placed in the hands of David C. Winebrenner, III, secretary of state, for certification to the boards of election supervisors of the various counties and in Baltimore city before being placed on the ballots for the general election.

The Labor party was given the right to file its ticket for governor, attorney general and comptroller by a decision of Willis R. Jones, assistant attorney general, after the first time limit set for filing. A second petition was presented and the trio of candidates allowed.

TWO FOREIGNERS ENGAGE IN FRAY AT KITZMILLER

One In Keyser Hospital, Said To Be Seriously Shot—The Other Is Being Held In Oakland Jail

Luiei CeGarco, Slavish miner, of Kitzmiller, is in a Keyser (W. Va.) hospital suffering from pistol shot wounds said to have been inflicted by Sandy Martinia, an Italian miner of the same town, in a drunken brawl at Kitzmiller on Saturday night. Martinia is being held in the Garrett County Jail pending the result of CeGarco's wounds.

The two men were boarders at the home of Robert Sellers in Kitzmiller, where, according to Sheriff William D. Casteel, when he was called to Kitzmiller to bring Martinia to jail here, he found a fifteen-gallon still, and this is said to have been the source of supply where the two men obtained their liquor early Saturday evening, culminating on Sunday morning in a free-for-all fight between CeGarco, Martinia and one or two others in which CeGarco received a bullet in his side, fired, it is alleged from the pistol of Martinia. Martinia claimed to the Sheriff that CeGarco had used a knife on him before he brought his revolver into play.

Following the shooting, CeGarco was immediately taken to the Bess Hospital at Keyser where upon examination, it was found that a bullet had entered his side but it could not be located at the time. His condition at this time is said to be satisfactory and that he will recover from his wound.

Martinia is said by those who know him to be a hard-working, honest individual and is not given to quarreling. He has a family consisting of his wife and several children who are living in Italy.

With the discovery of the still in the Sellers home, Mrs. Sellers was summoned to appear for trial on a charge of manufacturing and possessing contraband. Her husband, who has been away from Kitzmiller for some time, has disclaimed any knowledge of the still being in his home and has said that he intends to fight the charge lodged against his wife and himself.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"—

The question of a White Way for Oakland has again come up before the City Council, and its members are in favor of having the business section of Oakland well lighted. However, before they sign the contract they are giving the citizens of Oakland a chance to express their opinion at an adjourned meeting next Monday.

There is no good reason why Oakland should not have a White Way. A well lighted town makes a cheerful looking town, and everybody certainly wants Oakland to look cheerful.

The Republican has only one suggestion to make. Since the business section of Oakland is going to be well lighted by the sun in the daytime, and by 400-Watt bulbs at night, wouldn't it be a good idea to keep the streets clean? If the town is not able to hire a street cleaner, couldn't the merchants, when they sweep the sidewalks in front of their establishments each morning, instead of brushing the refuse into the street, gather it up and place it in a receptacle?

Dirt makes a poor reflector for light rays, but reflects quite a bit on the citizens of Oakland.

THE OUTLOOK

It is not necessary to state that the country has been going through an economic depression during the past year. It is a depression which is world wide and which attacked the United States long after it had laid low the other nations of the world. As a result, a great many people are as overly pessimistic as others were over-optimistic just before the stock market crash in October. They have now convinced themselves that we will never achieve prosperity again in this generation, and that things were never so bad before. All of which is, of course, "the bunk." It may take a little time to get back where we were, but there is no doubt that the signs pointing to improvement are increasing.

For instance, Uncle Sam's foreign trade made a sizeable gain in August over July, the first in many months. Commodity prices, with the exception of wheat, are showing signs of stability and improvement, and the usual seasonal improvement which comes with the autumn is at hand. The year 1931 barring unforseen developments will be better than the year 1930. So much for undue pessimism about the future.

Now it is equally erronious to believe that things were never so bad before. There have been many worse depressions in the past. Pessimism has been rife before even in this generation. For example: one of our exchanges in a middle western city of medium size has been going over its files for the winter of 1920-1921 and finds, according to its stories published then, that the problem of unemployment was even more acute then than it is today. It recalls the fact that the peculiarity of the situation then was that while labor was unemployed prices had not receded materially. Complaints were being made that local landlords were evicting tenants without giving them a fair chance to secure a job and catch up on the rent, and headlines disclosed the fact that bread lines and soup kitchens were numerous in the large cities, while wage reductions over the country were going on at a rate not prevalent now.

Now this was less than ten years ago and the people thought then that we would never get over the post war deflation. Yet between that date and the present we have enjoyed the greatest era of prosperity in the history of the country. Within a few months after these gloomy conditions were pictured, factories were running again and the unemployment problem vanished. Within a year business was running in high gear.

It is well to remember these things in a time when the pessimists once more can see no silver lining in the clouds.

Again and again this country has experienced a slump, and come back again stronger than ever. Since the hard times of 1920-21 was had a period of unprecedented business activity, of rising wages and of rapidly improving conditions for every element of our population but the farmer, who was harmed to such an extent by the deflation of 1920 and 1921, has never fully recovered. But old-timers remember when farm lands that sold for as low as $35 in the late nineties, commanded six times that price later on. When the price was low it was declared by many that it would never rise, when the price was high it was as confidently declared that it would never fall.

The normal condition of America is prosperity. And America will get back to normal.

LINKING UP OUR GOOD ROADS

(An editorial from the Piedmont Herald)

We have long advocated the connecting of Oakland and Kitzmiller by a hardsurfaced road and we rejoice with those communities in the completion of the project. As long as Kitzmiller, the second largest town in Garrett county, was without a hardsurfaced road to the county seat, we felt a hesitancy in urging the building of a good road from Bloomington to the crossroads where the Bloomington, Kitzmiller and Oakland roads converge. Now, however, we feel that the next project in this vicinity should be the building of the ten miles of road that will link this community with Kitzmiller, Deer Park, Mt. Lake Park and Oakland.

Such a road will not only provide a shorter route between Oakland and the Tri-Towns, with the resultant advantages to both communities, but will bring within forty minutes' reach of the Tri-Towns the splendid facilities for boating, fishing and camping which Deep Creek Lake affords. The completion of the Westernport-McCoole road and of this proposed road beyond Bloomington will greatly shorten the distance between Cumberland and Oakland and make these outdoor activities more easily accessible to the people of that city and vicinity.

The road will also give the people of the Kingwood-Morgantown section a more direct route to the East. The route will eventually extend through Oldtown, Paw Paw, Berkeley Springs and Martinsburg and on to Washington.

We believe the members of the Maryland State Roads Commission recognize these advantages and we hope they will make a completion of this ten mile stretch above Bloomington a part of next year's road building program.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

J. H. CARTER,
Resident County Agent,
Oakland, Maryland

How to Get Most out of Livestock Feed

Methods for making the limited amounts of feed available this year for livestock and dairy cows go as far as possible are described by J. A. Conover, Dairy specialist of the University of Maryland Extension Service.

"Unless there is sufficient silage for all cattle, feed it to the best milkers," says Mr. Conover, "and rough the dry cows and young stock through on coarse and weedy hay and oats or wheat straw." He also advises that the best hay be fed to the heavy producers.

If all hay and straw are run thru the silage cutter and dampened with molasses water, one quart of cane molasses to one gallon of water, it is stated, they will be more palatable, will go further, and will be entirely consumed.

It is emphasized that legume hay, especially alfalfa, will produce more milk and will go further, so that it is wise to invest in that kind of hay, if hay must be purchased. According to Mr. Conover, alfalfa hay is worth from $6.00 to $8.00 a ton more than non-legume hay for milk production.

Feeding of wheat in amounts up to one-third of the grain mixture is recommended as long as the price of wheat remains low in proportion to the prices of other grains. Comfortable housing of animals and providing them with water from which the chill has been removed during cold weather are urged as measures that may well be followed for the purpose of getting the maximum value from the feed used.

Among the grain rations suggested in which wheat is included are the following: Ground barley, 400 lbs., ground wheat 300 lbs., cottonseed meal, 200 lbs., linseed meal, 100 lbs. Another ration includes ground wheat, 300 lbs., ground oats, 400 lbs., ground corn and cob meal, 50 lbs., ground wheat, 250 lbs., 32% dairy feed, 450 lbs.

KEEP UP YOUR FRONT—

In the year of 1921 a Chicago newspaper requested Chicago business men to keep up their "front".

The article was not flippant; it was serious. The point made was good business. The psychology was sound. Business Chicago, the article argued, had a strong foundation laid on rock, its ribs and beams were steel; it had back walls and side walls and roof,—but a front was needed.

Just so today; right now a front is needed. Business men everywhere have let the psychological depression take hold of them and influence them. They have lost their jaunty manner, they have let the bright necktie stay in the drawer and they have let their shoes go rusty.

To build up that front and get out of this purely mental depression, business men must go home and "spruce up!" They should put on their best hat,—if they haven't a new one, they should go out and buy one. They should put on their best suit—if their best is getting shabby they should get a new one.

If one looks like he has just received an order—he will probably receive one. Moreover, they'll stimulate some other fellow to give you competition in cheerfulness and enthusiasm. Success breeds success.

Our whole country is founded on a rock. Our national business is sound. Keep up your front!

She had been in delicate health for a long time. In July she had a fall which resulted in a fractured hip. The illness following the fall terminated in a heart attack which caused her death at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning, October 5.

Mrs. Broadwater was born at Shade Mills, Md., on September 7, 1851. She was the daughter of the late Wm. and Sarah Neff Frost. The Frosts are one of the oldest families of this section of the country, having emigrated from England early in the 17th century. They came to Maryland from New England. The grand parents of Mrs. Broadwater, the late Meshach and Catherine Frost, were the founders of Frostburg, Md.

She was married at Shade Mills on May 20, 1880, to James S. Broadwater, who died twenty-five years ago this month. They lived in Grantsville during their entire lifetime. The Broadwater home has always been known for its hospitality.

She is survived by four children: Ethel, at home; Viola, teacher in the Grantsville school; Dr. Melvin F., dentist in the Edward Hines, Jr., Hospital, Hines, Ill.; Dr. T. Olin, dentist, of Grantsville; and by one brother, Charles W. Frost, of Shade Mills. Miss Viola Broadwater was teacher of music in the Oakland schools for two years.

Mrs. Broadwater was a member of the Methodist church and the Ladies' Aid Society.

The funeral service was held at the Methodist church on Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. A. C. Bell, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Archibald Moore, former superintendent of the Morgantown district, officiated. The pallbearers were J. U. Stanton, W. E. Stanton, Earl Stanton, Hayward Broadwater, H. C. Edwards, and E. B. Durst. Interment was in the family lot in the Grantsville cemetery.

The large number of sorrowing friends and the beautiful flowers bore testimony to the love and esteem in which she was held.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP---HIMSELF

When those cars from Kingwood passed through Oakland last Wednesday on their good will tour, it was almost a Homecoming event for Poky Slim Shaw and Scoop himself. Now we know what the President has to go through with when he shakes hands with the Army and Navy.

* * *

Maurice "Soup" Davis, of local baseball fame, takes credit for the Athletics winning the ball game on Monday afternoon. "Soup" was among the fans in the Rose Room of Bill Gibson's pool parlor listening to the game via the radio. It was the beginning of the ninth inning. Squire Gonder told "Soup" if he would run around the pool tables as if they composed the infield of a diamond and hit home plate, that the Athletics would make a home run and win the game. He did, and a minute later Foxx had hit the homer which won the game.

* * *

Be it said right here that if anybody wants to keep on the good side of "Soup", let him be careful when he talks about Roger Hornsby.

* * *

This Is Really True

Last week some fellow went into a store in Oakland and asked for three dozen cakes of yeast, and when he looked around and saw a couple of other customers nearby, he felt rather guilty and made the apology, "My old woman is going to run off a batch of bread."

* * *

If you'd ask me, I'd say it was a darn large family.

* * *

Well the speech is over, thank heavens. Now the only thing Scoop will have to worry about is getting out this column every week. You have all read the advertisements where a fellow, after ten lessons on how to make a speech, has held his audience spellbound. Scoop didn't send for them soon enough. He is only on the second lesson. When I rose to my feet, they all laughed, but after 12 minutes had passed—they were still laughing, and for all I know they're laughing yet.

The paper's full this week without this column, but it isn't because the force has been calling on the bootleggers.

Mr. Benjamin F. Schroyer, of Friendsville, has announced his candidacy for the House of Delegates to be one of our representatives in the next Legislature.

I have known Mr. Schroyer for more than 35 years. When a young man he was employed by me as manager of a lumber operation, which he managed for about 2 years to its completion in a profitable and satisfactory way. Mr. Schroyer then bought a farm which he owned and operated for a period of years, after which he sold the farm and came to Friendsville about 12 years ago where he engaged in the mercantile business. He now has a large general store and is one of our leading merchants; a large taxpayer and a good business man. He stays close to his business and has the respect and good will of those in the community who know him best, but as his acquaintance does not extend over the entire county and it will not be possible for him to see all of the voters prior to the election, I felt it a duty to publish this article in Mr. Schroyer's behalf, so that if any voters are undecided as to who our representative should be I feel that Mr. Schroyer would make us a representative who would do everything possible for the upbuilding of our county and State.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. McCULLOUGH.

PREMIUMS ANNOUNCED IN COUNTY POTATO SHOW

Exhibit to be Held in Show Room of E. S. Evans' Garage On October 24 and 25

TO GIVE $87 IN PRIZES

The premium list for the Garrett county potato show, to be held in the E. S. Evans show room, Oakland, on Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25, has been announced by John H. Carter, county agent, and shows a total of $87 in prizes.

"Prizes arc not being offered to compensate for expenses and trouble of making exhibits but to show appreciation to exhibitors who cooperate to help make the show a success," Mr. Carter said. "It is hoped that all potato growers in the county will attend the show and do all they can to promote the potato industry. There will be a specialist at the show each day who will discuss problems pertaining to potato growing."

There will be no entry fee, according to the premium list. Exhibits may be sent to the county agent and must be in his hands by noon, October 23.

All 4-H club boys regularly enrolled in the clubs, whose potatoes have passed certification requirements are eligible to compete in the certified seed class. There will be 10 prizes in this class ranging from $10 to $1. The basis of awards will be made on diseases, insect injury, condition of field, spraying or dusting record, written record, yield including cost of production, and the exhibit itself.

Any resident of Garrett county is eligible to compete in the open class. There wiil be four prizes in this class ranging from $4 to $1. In addition, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is offering a number of prizes, totaling $22, to members of the one first year potato club and the two second year potato clubs. The basis of award for these prizes will be based on the yield on one-half acre, the cost of production per bushel, and the exhibit.

Because of exceptional interest shown in the potato industry and the fact that potatoes were not ready to dig and exhibit at the Agricultural fair, it was deemed advisable to hold a potato show for educational purposes.

A banquet will be held Friday night by the Rotary club for the members of the Boys' potato clubs and their dads, at the William James hotel. All members are expected to be present at the banquet. F. P. Bomberger, of the State Department of Markets, will be the principal speaker. There will be other entertainment provided.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH WHEN ENGINE HITS TRUCK

Stuart Bowman Thrown on Running Board of Locomotive

Stuart M. Bowman, Oakland, driver of one of the trucks for the Imperial Ice Cream company, narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death last Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock when he attempted to cross the Western Maryland tracks about two miles north of Thomas, W. Va., and was hit by a locomotive.

The locomotive was traveling in the direction of Thomas and Bowman did not see it until he was on the crossing. He turned the truck abruptly to the left but not enough to swing it entirely clear of the tracks.

Bowman was thrown clear of the truck and landed on the running board along the side of the locomotive. He received a badly bruised right side, leg and arm, but no bones were broken. Lester Bittinger, driver of the Piedmont Grocery truck, brought the injured man to Oakland where he was attended by Dr. H. W. McComas.

The truck was entirely demolished but was insured, it is understood.

TESTS PROVE NEW FIRE EQUIPMENT TO BE O. K.

Both Trucks Exceed Required Number of Gallons Per Minutes

Oakland's two new fire trucks, the master series, type 75, and the type 99, which arrived last week, were given a severe test on Saturday afternoon near Crystal Spring, and were found to exceed expectations and promises, according to George Kerins, fire chief.

The type "75", triple combination, 750-gallon capacity truck, when put under test gave the following results:

At 120 lbs. pump pressure the rotary pump threw a fire stream of 785 gallons per minute, or 35 gallons more than guaranteed. At one-half capacity, at 200 lbs. pump pressure, 418 gallons per minute was recorded. At 250 lbs. pressure the pump threw a stream of 375 gallons per minute. If kept going for one hour at 120 lbs. pump pressure, the truck would throw 48,000 gallons of water.

The type "99", when tested at 120 lbs. pump pressure, threw a stream of 546 gallons per minute, or 46 gallons more than guaranteed. At one-half capacity, under 200 lbs. pressure, the pump threw 378 gallons per minute, and under 250 gallons pump pressure it threw 218 gallons per minute.

A representative of the American LaFrance company, from whom the trucks were purchased, superintended the tests. Members of the fire department were well pleased with the results, according to Mr. Kerins.

Fifth Annual Bowling League To Get Under Way Soon

The fifth annual series of contests between teams of the Oakland Bowling league will get under way about November 1, according to Joseph Hinebaugh, manager of the Recreation alleys.

The alleys are being scraped and resurfaced in preparation for the coming season and everything is expected to be in first class condition. There wiil be six teams in the league, the same as last year, with a captain for each team, in charge. The season will be divided into two rounds, the winner of each round playing at the end of the season for the League championship.

Bronze Tablet Erected for Evangelists

Through the efferts of Mrs. Shaffer and Mr. John I. Montgomery, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Senator A. D. Naylor, of Oakland, and J. A. Enlow, of Mt. Lake Park, and other contributors, a handsome memorial bronze tablet has been placed at the graves of Miss Jennie Smith and Miss Adelaid Sherman, in the cemetery at Oakland.

These two women were veterans of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad evangelists and national Women's Christian Temperance Union, were coworkers for many years and their untiring efforts won thousands of souls to Christ, the inscription on the tablet points out.

Miss Jennie Smith was born in Vienna, Ohio, in 1842, and died in Washington, D. C., in 1924. Miss Adelaid Sharman was born in Beston, Maine, in 1827, and died in Mt. Lake Park, in 1892.

OAKLAND TELEGRAMS IN 1883 WERE SENT THROUGH CRANBERRY, W. VA., NOW KNOWN AS TERRA ALTA

Records Discovered by John Murphy, Operator, Show Interesting Things About Oakland

A number of records of 1883 and 1884 of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company have been found by John Murphy, operator, recently transferred from the Oakland office to Terra Alta, and a number of interesting things relating to Oakland discovered.

Many of the messages sent through the Terra Alta office, then known as Cranberry, W. Va., are private ones sent by a number of Oakland people, but others were news dispatches, sent to the Baltimore American concerning Garrett county elections, etc.

That the messages were sent through Cranberry, W. Va., disproves the thought that Oakland had not been without a telegraph office since the Baltimore and Ohio tracks were laid in 1852 until the closing of the office a few weeks ago. All messages from Oakland at that time were sent through The Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company at Cranberry. There was no such organization known as the Western Union.

A dispatch sent In to the Baltimore American on November 7, 1883, concerning an election carried the following names: Republican candidates: A. F. Speicher and H. Wheeler Combs, house of delegates; W. P. Townshend, State's Attorney; David Wilson, county commissioner; D. Harrison Friend, Nathan Castcel, David Michaels, judges of the Orphans' court; Daniel Chisholm, county surveyor.

Democratic candidates: Eli Stanton, William D. Hoye, house of delegates; John W. Veitch, state's attorney; Moses R. Hamili, sheriff; Andrew Mullen, Wright Thayer, Thomas Browning, county commissioners; William H. Barnard, Nelson McGettigan and Amos Broadwater, Judges of the Orphans' court; John T. Mitchell, county surveyor.

A message was received from the Wheeling Intelligencer, Wheeling, W. Va., on November 14, 1883, asking for 500 words on the crime. The crime referred to was the execution of John Smith, negro, for the murder of Josiah Harden, which took place on the spot where Oakland High school now stands, and whose bones were uncovered last year in excavating for the recent addition.

A notice from the B. and O. offices under date of February, 10, 1880 makes a change in local classification of rates on ale, beer and porter.

From a dispatcher's train order book the name of J. A. Droege is found. He is at present president and general manager of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and was at that time an operator at Piedmont, W. Va.

Trains Nos. 3, 1, and other odd numbers ran east in 1883, and even numbers ran west, according to the order book. Freight trains between Grafton and Cumberland ran faster at that time than at present, the book also shows. Engins, however, were smaller and pulled shorter trains of cars.

SEVERAL ARE INJURED IN COLLISION ON SATURDAY

Playford Glotfelty Has Leg Broken—Others Shaken Up

Playford Glotfelty had his leg broken near the hip, and a number of others were badly bruised and shaken as a result of a collision between a Ford coupe owned by Dave Shuttlesworth and occupied by his brother Garrett, and a Chevrolet sedan, about one mile north of Oakland late Saturday night.

Edward Glotfelty received cuts about his knees, while Miss Foye, also an occupant of the Chevrolet, was unhurt. Shuttlesworth was badly bruised but no bones were broken.

The two cars collided with such force that both are complete wrecks. The Chevrolet, which was struck on the right side, resembles a roundhouse curve, according to people who saw it, while the right side of the Ford was mashed. A piece of the Ford front bumper pierced the right front steel rim due to the speed which both were traveling when they collided.

The two Glotfelty boys, sons of Samuel Glotfelty, McHenry, and Miss Foye were taken to their homes following the accident, and Shuttlesworth was taken to his brother's home in Oakland.

PERSON IS FOUND GUILTY OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Charges of Disturbing Public Worship Lodged Against Six

One person was found guilty of disorderly conduct, and one was acquitted at a hearing Tuesday afternoon before Justice W. A. Gonder. Both were said to have disturbed religious worship at Manadier Ridge church on July 7, H. C. Kiped, Pentecostal minister, made the charges.

John Bittinger was fined $5 and costs for his part in the affair while Stanley Stanton was acqultted, due to lack of incriminating evidence, Justice Gonder stated. It was brought out in the trial that Stanton and Bittinger were having difficulties of their own some distance from the church and that the first intimation the congregation had of any altercations was when some person entered the church and told about it. Several people were then said to have left the church, causing the disturbance.

Bittinger, prior to this incident, was said to have had words with the minister, in front of the church, and it was upon this evidence that his fine was imposed.

John Bittinger and five others are also scheduled for a hearing before Justice Gonder on Friday on the same charge, alleged to have taken place on September 4. The charges were brought by G. H. Custer, a member of the Manadier church. The five others involved include Fred Stein, Alfred Bittinger, Elmer Bittinger, Thomas Hoover, and Elbert Wilt.

Allegany 'Shoe Champion Wins State-wide Contest

Fred Hamilton, Cumberland, won the horseshoe pitching championship of Maryland for the second consecutive time, at the State-wide contest sponsored by the Sunpapers and the Playground Athletic league, held yesterday in Baltimore. Hamilton received a close call from Harry Fowler, Carroll county champion, in the semi-finals but when the score of the final game stood 48 all, he slipped on a ringer, winning the match.

James Sanders, Hutton, Garrett county champion, was defeated in the first round by John Souers, Riverside Park, Baltimore, by the scores 51-24, and 53-10.

Twenty-one of the twenty-three counties in Maryland were represented and Baltimore was represented by six contestants.

Girl Scouts Want Members

"It is a splendid organization," Miss Martha Engle, leader, said, "and every girl who has the opportunity of joining should do so."

At the present time the members of the troop are planning an overnight hike and are preparing for the celebration of National Girl Scout Week.

WHITE WAY PROPOSITION IS TABLED BY COUNCILMEN

Number of Citizens and Business Men Object to New Street Lighting Proposition

TO COME UP NEXT MARCH

The motion for a White Way for Oakland was tabled at the adjourned meetlng of the Mayor and Town Council, held Monday evening in the City hall. This was due to the number of citizens and business men who stated that they were opposed to the measure.

Only the Mayor and council members were present at the meeting on Monday, but the opinions of the business men had been heard throughout the week, and council decided to table the motion until March, 1931, when the town election will be held, at which time the question will be placed on the ballot, for adoption or rejection by the people as a whole.

The proposition called for the erection of 32 400-Watt bulbs on Cedar poles, along Second street, Alder street, and Thlrd street, in the business section of town, the cost of erection, fixtures, etc., to be borne by the Monongahela West Penn Public Service company. The lights were to be 75 feet apart along the streets, with four lights at the intersection of Second and Alder streets. The additional cost to the town would have been about $57 each month.

The decision on Monday was the second time the White Way question had been settled unfavorably, the motion having been before the council in July of 1927. Citizens opposed to the measure gave as their reasons the large investments already in streets, fire equipment, etc., and were favoring a reduction of taxes.

Those in favor of the White Way felt that the increased attractiveness of the town by the addition of the llghts would more than pay for the monthly expenses by the greater number of people attracted to the town.

Distinguished Flyers Land at Red House for Short Time

Two U. S. Navy planes landed for a short time Saturday at Red House, eight miles south of Oakland, for the purpose of taking on a supply of gasoline, after being forced down Thursday at Rowlesburg, W. Va., due to a shortage of fuel. One plane was slightly damaged in the forced landing, making it necessary to send to Washington for repair parts.

The planes, bearing Lieut. H. C. Rodd, U. S. N., who flew the first plane, the NC-4, across the Atlantic ocean; Lieut. C. D. Palmer, the oldest pilot in the U. S. navy and who flew the Shenandoah which cracked up in Ohio in 1925; Dr. C. B. Mirick, of the naval research department, who is a weli known inventor of important things in modern radio; and M. P. Hanson, who had charge of the radio on the Byrd expedition over the South pole, were enroute from Dayton, Ohio, to their base at Washington, D. C.

Legionaires Deny Truth of Statement in Baltimore Papers Regarding Convention

In view of the unfavorable impression created by articles appearing in Baltimore papers regarding the conduct of Legionalres whlle in Boston during their recent convention, members of the local post are attempting to correct the attitude of people reading them.

These articles were in most cases erroneous, according to Joseph M. Gonder, post commander, and other members who attended the convention. If true, it would be safe to surmise that the newly elected governor of Michigan and the Mayor of Detroit would have refrained from personally extending the Legion an invitation to be the guest of Detroit in 1931.

There were 70,000 Legionaires in line of march in a parade lasting from 10 a. m. to 8:30 p. m., witnessed by a gathering estimated by Boston newspapers at from 1,500,000 to 2,500,000.

The Chief of Police of Boston expressed to the convention hls appreciation of the splendid conduct of the Legionaires and attributed the rowdyism to what he termed a gang of hoodlums, Mr. Gonder stated.

Get ready for the Hallowe'en parade!

POLITICS IN REVIEW

By the Man In The Street

(From The Observer, Baltimore.)

Recent days have been none to happy for those at the Ritchie headquarters even though they are helped by two other organizations. One of the latter is the Non-Partisan Ritchie League, the other is the more or less mythical Ritchie Citizenship League, apparently appointed by His Excellency and having headquarters in the Southern Hotel from which point the Ritchie adulatory pamphlets are being distributed on a sixteen-to-one basis.

Brooke Lee is directing the fourth term campaign in person and has a big job. Some Democrats are none too fond of Lee and his ways and it is not apparent that the Lee management is any too popular. Howard Bruce, who has kindly consented to let his name be used as Lee's assistant, comes around occasionally to see what is going on but to date he has shown no signs of excitement over the contest. Some time back he gave out a statement in which he said that in his opinion Ritchie could not be elected to a fourth term. He has made no public announcement of a change of opinion even though as far back as several months the Ritchie ring organ was declaring that Mr. Bruce was "on the verge" of making such an announcement.

Demands for campaign contributions sent out from headquarters have not been meeting with satisfactory responses. Some of those to whom the appeal was sent have been reported as replying that they spent all their money in their primary contest and had none left for the State fight.

Indications are that the bulk of the campaign financing will fall on Howard Bland, Waldo Newcomer, Donald Symington, Dr. Hugh Young, and a few more who have become conspicuous in this contest for the head of the ticket. They are, no doubt, able to stand it, and besides, some help may be expected from the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment to which Howard Bruce has contributed $1,000 as shown by a report filed in Washington.

The Young Crusaders, the bon ton section of the wets, will not be counted on for much cash, but they will supply a great deal of the drum beating to be done for Ritchie in the last days of the battle. These bright young fellows have already accumulated the biggest collection of tomtoms ever seen in Maryland, it is reported, in exclusive circles. A calliope would probably be a welcome addition to their collection of noise producing instruments. However, at Ritchie G. H. Q., cash is wanted badly.

Furst Threat
Arouses Jacksonians

The threat of Frank A. Furst to keep the former McIntosh supporters in durance for a time, published in the Wet Blanket, official court gazette, on Saturday morning, stirred the political people as much as anything that has occurred since the closing days of the Curran campaign of 1927. The Jackson followers became red-headed and, seeing the effect of the story, the Ritchie local managers set about to undo the damage. They sent for the reporter who wrote the article and as a result of the interview with him the blame for giving out the Furst statement was put on Gilbert A. Dailey, who was then in the Mercy Hospital recovering from the effects of an automobile accident. According to the best information that can be had Dailey was visited by both Furst and his first lieutenant, Bob Ennis, on the day preceding the publication of the story stating that Jackson and other supporters of McIntosh would have to do penance before being restored to favor among the Ritchie people now in control of the Democratic party machinery.

The afternoon edition of the Wet Blanket, trying to modify the damage, on Saturday published an article containing a direct statement from Furst in which he said the hatchet was buried already and there was to be peace, but today there is no peace. For in fact, the Blanket has as yet published no retraction of the Saturday morning story in relation to Jackson and other early dissenters.

Then on Monday morning, to make matters worse, the Wet Blanket published an article based on an alleged anonymous letter which charged Ritchie with unduly favoring Catholics. This set the pot to boiling again and the reaction was not favorable to Ritchie, as it is recognized that no religious issue can be a benefit to him in this campaign. The whole business was disheartening to the Ritchie camp, although His Excellency is said to be convinced of his own invincibility.

Governor Starts
Real Fight

Next In interest to the Wet Blanket —Frank Furst doings of the weekend was the outbreak of the Governor on Tuesday night when speaking before the Ritchie Non-Partisan League. The Governor lost his temper and called Mayor Broening a hypocrite and added some cracks at the City Hall administration. This stirred up the fourth term shouters to a considerable degree and they were stepping lightly until the Mayor came back at His Excellency in his Hyattsville speech the next evening.

From the inception of the campaign the Governor has been threatening to "go after" the City Hall as a means of distracting attention from the long series of public scandals that has marred his own administration and the Ritchie adherents have been impatient for the heavy firing to begin.

One trouble that the Mayor's advisors have is that they cannot persuade him to use vigorous language. As indicated in his Hyattsville address he is trying to avoid hurting anyone's feelings, but those who understand the present situation best are of the opinion that the Ritchie machine cannot be broken down by means of polite words.

Broening Hands
Hot One to Ritchie

In his Hyattsville address, on Wednesday, Mayor Broening, as candidate for Governor, handed out some timely remarks and they evidently made the fourth term candidate squirm. Certainly, well informed people (Prof. Ames, of course, excepted), know that Police Commissioner Gaither in response to many complaints of his inactivity, let his police raid a few of the many speakeasies in Baltimore City several years ago, under the State law.

It is likewise a matter of general knowledge that Ritchie's most blatant lieutenant in Baltimore City went to the Governor and loudly complained that the raids would hurt "the party." Then Commissioner Gaither was summoned to the Governor's office for a talk after which he said he would make no more raids until the courts had acted on the cases already presented. If the courts did not convict then he would stop raiding. But the courts did convict and yet Gaither did not resume the raiding and has not yet resumed it.

On this statement of fact the public can easily fix the responsibility for a great deal that has been happening in Baltimore City despite the oleaginous speeches of the State's Attorney.

Had No Use For New Justices

It has not been so long that everybody has forgotten that a committee of the Criminal Justice Commission and a committee of the Bar Association presented to Ritchie a list of lawyers who would serve as police justices. But the Governor threw the list aside and to this day has not accepted the suggestions therein contained.

It was the same way when the Criminal Justice Commission made a survey of the police court system in some other cities. The suggestion was made that the district police courts be consolidated into a central system but the Governor opposed this vigorously. He liked best the present system of what he called "neighborhood courts." He wanted to continue his police magistrate system in Baltimore City as a part of his political machine. He has so kept it.

WHO'S BROKE?

New York statisticians figure that at the worst stage of the business depression from which the country is now emerging, consumption of commodities averaged only 10 per cent under the peak of the preceding boom.

Eastern business men commonly look upon the Western farmer as a pessimist. Yet a Western farmer can take a 10 per cent crop loss right on the chin, without even blinking, whereas numerous Eastern business men this year have been wringing their hands over a business recession that is fairly comparable to the farmers' 10 per cent crop loss. And it is their pessimism that has retarded complete recovery.

Hard times? This generation knows nothing about real hard times. Recent estimates place the year's investment in miniature golf courses at considerably more than two hundred million dollars, or more than the whole American iron and steel industry was worth only a few decades ago.

Most of these golf courses paid for themselves in the first few weeks of operation, which plainly means that the public has spent a great deal more than two hundred millioon dollars in 1930 for the privilege of indulging in a wholesome pastime. And the folk who have paid out this huge sum are not the idle rich. They are, for the most part, working people.

Forty years ago, the game of tiddly-winks, played at a table indoors, had as many devotees, proportionately, as miniature golf has today. A set of tiddly-winks could be bought for as little as a dime. A fine set could be had for a quarter. Yet many a family that wanted to play tiddly-winks did not do so, for the reason that it could not spare the dime or the quarter, the latter coin representing about a quarter of a day's wages.

A people that can spend hundreds of millions of dollars on a new fad in a single season is not exactly on its way over the hill to the poorhouse. A country that once had many a citizen too poor to spend a quarter for the privilege of playing tiddly-winks for the rest of his life, eventually reached a state of high prosperity. A country whose millions can spend thirty-five cents apiece for a few minutes of pee-wee golf, should be able to reach a similar state without any "eventually" about it.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Joseph Helbig's house on Quality Hill is ready for occupancy.

Messrs. William and Edward Spoerlein, Accident, left Oakland Tuesday for a visit of several months on the Pacific coast.

An Interesting Fact

ANNAPOLIS—CAPITAL OF THE UNITED STATES

The hearts of the Colonists must have beat with pardonable pride on the 26th day of November, 1783.

For weeks before that date we can imagine the prominent citizens of Annapolis meeting in conference at various homes, or in the tavern, discussing the best means of locating in that thriving town a new enterprise—one that would for all time come to place the name of their town on the lips of the citizens of the entire country. At least they must have arrived at the conclusion that a committee should be appointed composed of the "go-getters" of the community, in the nature of a legislative committee, to induce the Assembly to get behind their cherisbed proposition.

The committee was evidently well selected, for we read in Andrews that the Assembly acted with this group of citizens in urging upon the Congress of the Confederation that it make its permanent abode in Maryland. The resolution adopted by the legislative body set forth the superior claims of Annapolis, urging its advantages in the way of health, accesibility and as the possessor of many springs of excellent water.

The Assembly, in its desire to secure the honor sought, offered to present the "State House and Public Circle in the City of Annapolis (exclusive of school house, loan office, etc.), to the honorable Congress for their use." Even the Governor's Mansion was offered for the use of the President of the Congress and the Assembly further agreeing to build "thirteen dwelling houses and other buildings for the residences of the delegates of each of the thirteen Confederated states" at an expense "not exceeding thirty thousand pounds specie."

This persuasive resolution and generous offer, forwarded to the Maryland delegates in Congress, Daniel Carroll and James McHenry, who, no doubt added their eloquence in urging affirmative action, had the desired effect, at least, partially, for we find that the Congress decided, temporarily, to avail itself of the hospitality of the Free State.

Accordingly, Congress adjourned to meet at Annapolis, November 26, 1783, but it was not until December 13 that the necessary quorum was secured, nine states being represented.

It was during this session of Congress—on December 23, 1783, that George Washington, in the presence of the Governor and other state officers of Maryland, and certain military officers and ladies and gentlemen of high standing, resigned his office as Commander-in-Chief of the American Army.

Thus it was that Maryland shares equal honors with Pennsylvania, with which state she had been embrolled in a long drawn out bitter boundary dispute, in having been selected to have located within her borders the Capital of the United States,

MAYOR BROENING MAKES SEVERE ATTACK ON RITCHIE

Charges Present Democratic State Administration Has Destroyed Power of Senate

Charging that the present State administration has destroyed the power of the Senate, Mayor William F. Broening, Republican Gubernatorial candidate, made a severe attack upon his Democratic opponent during the tour through Carroll county, which recently ended.

The big meeting of this tour was at Westminster last week when the Mayor, together with his running mates, addressed six hundred people in the armory.

Returning to his office in Baltimore, the Mayor declared that his tour of the countles of the State is turning into a triumphant march for the Republican party and he predicted that he and his running mates will be returned victorious on November 4th.

The Westminster speech proved to be of such interest that the Mayor has received numerous requests to repeat it from time to time during the campaign. His speech was as follows:

"My distinguished opponent is resorting to an unworthy quibble in defending himself against the charge in the Republican platform that he is responsible for present concentration in his hands of the power to appoint State officials without confirmation by the Senate.

"If the Governor wishes to escape the charge that he actively promoted the concentration of power in his hands at the expense of the Senate, the people of Maryland will be interested to learn why he sponsored in the early days of his administration an act substituting for the law requiring the Police Board of Baltimore City to be appointed by the Governor by and with the advice of the Senate, a law whereby the Police Commissioner now owes his appointment solely to the Governor without power in the State of Maryland to pass upon his qualifications.

"If the Governor really believes that the Senate should have an opportunity to pass on his appointments, it will be interesting to hear him explain why the office of the State Employment Commissioner, created in his administration, is filled by him without submission of the appointment to the Senate.

"It will be borne in mind that this official is charged with administering the so-called merit system law in this State. Maryland, under the peculiar one-man government which has been established during the past decade, is the only State or city that I have ever heard of that entrusts the sole power of administering a so-called civil service system in the hands of a single individual who owes his appointment directly and exclusively to the head of the government. The personally appointed Employment Commissioner is in effect, really the Patronage Dispenser of the Governor, subject only to his will. In Baltimore City the civil service law is administered by a commission of three with required minority representation, and those commissioners, though appointed by the Mayor, are subject to confirmation by the City Council.

"And it would also be interesting to hear from the Governor some explanation as to why he sought and procured from the Legislature of 1920 an act creating a Central Purchasing Bureau, consisting of the leading officials of the State and yet reserved to himself as chairman of this Bureau, the sole power to appoint the Purchasing Agent without consultation with the other members of the Bureau or confirmation by the Senate or any other authority.

"There have been other similar changes, all with the same design.

"Before the advent of the present administration the Board of Public Works, consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer and the Comptroller, had the appointment of the State Auditor, the Insurance Commissioner and the Commissioner of Banking. Accordingly, since the reorganization which he sponsored in 1922, these three important offices of State Auditor, Insurance Commissioner and Commissioner of Banking are filled at the sole will of the Governor without reference to the opinion or wishes of the other members of the Board of Public Works and without submission of the names of his appointees to the Senate of Maryland or any other body.

"The Governor's complete confidence in his own judgment and his insistence that that judgment shall in no wise be influenced by the views of other responsible officials of the State, is well evidenced by that fact that although his own reorganization bill created an Advisory Council, composed of the heads of the most important State departments, that council has been called together by him only once since its creation nine years ago.

"When the present administration began, the Inspector of Tobacco received his appointment from the State Board of Agriculture; but consistent with the plan to vest the sole power of appointment in the Executive without the necessity of securing the approval of any other official, the Act of 1920 transferred the power to the Governor.

"In 1924 my opponent declined an opportunity to remedy this situation, or it was evidently greatly to his liking. In that year Senator Colgan introduced separate bills providing that the Commissioner of Banking, the Employment Commissioner, the members of the State Tax Commission, the Public Service Commission and the racing Commission, should be confirmed by the Senate. These bills passed both Houses of Legislature but were vetoed by the Governor.

"Similiar bills were introduced by Senator Colgan relating to the Accident Commission, the State Auditor, the Commissioner of Labor and Statistics, the Conservation Commissioner, and the Insurance Commissioner. These failed in the Legislature due to the strenuous opposition of the Governor.

"In 1927 the present executive was offered another opportunity to reestablish, in part at least, a democratic form of government in Maryland. The Senate passed Senator Colgan's bills providing that that body should confirm all appointments to the office of the Commissioner of Labor, State Auditor, Conservation Commissioner, Insurance Commissioner, Employment Commissioner and members of the State Board of Education, the Public Service Commission, the Racing Commission, the State Tax Commission and the State Industrial Accident Commission. After passing the Senate these bills were transmitted to the House of Delegates and referred by the Speaker to a committee of his own selection which reported all of them unfavorable. When independent members of the Governor's own party attempted to rescue these bills the Governor's friend, the speaker of the House and the present manager of the Governor's fourth-term campaign, Mr. E. Brooke Lee, left the Speaker's seat not only to attack these bills on the floor of the House, but to whip into line every vote under his control. As a result these measures were killed.

"My opponent's labored attempt to work of a righteous indignation over the plank in the Republican platform which exposes the scheme of his by which he established in Maryland a one-man government, will fail to impress the voters. The record of the past decade convicts him of a conscious and deliberate attempt so to revise the theory of our government as to gather into his own hands virtually the whole power of the state, in order to perpetuate his tenure in office. The evils and abuses, the corruptions and defalcations with which the people of Maryland have become familiar are the natural outcome of the practice of the theory which the Governor has fostered. The Governor cannot escape official responsibility for the consequences of this system which he foisted upon the state.

War Veteran Is Buried At Addison, Pa., On Saturday

The body of Edward Knox, 36, French and American World War veteran, who died Friday afternoon in Allegany Hospital, Cumberland, from injuries received when he was thrown from a logging truck near Bean's Cove, Pa., a short distance east of Cumberland, was taken to Addison, Pa., Saturday afternoon, where funeral services were held.

Knox, who served throughout the war from two years before America's entry into hostilities without injuries, was swept by the limb of an overhanging tree from a truck driven by Woodrow Bridges a distance of less than fifteen feet into the roadway, suffering a fractured skull and other injuries. The accident happened Friday morning on the Bean's Cove road near its intersection with the National Highway. He was taken to the hospital, where he died early in the afternoon. Fellow workmen said that he had been riding the load of mine props because he thought it more comfortable than in the cab of the truck.

Knox was engaged in logging operations with Woodrow Bridges, the driver of the truck, and Patrick Bridges, with whom he lived in Bean's Cove.

Knox was born in Bittinger, Garrett county, and was a son of the late Gerard and Cathrine Knox. He is survived by his divorced wife and one child, in Akron, O., three brothers, David, of Addison; Harry, of Great Farms, W. Va., and Louis Knox; and by three sisters, Mrs. Grover C. Tubbets, Charleroi, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Fulton, Farmington, W. Va., and Mrs. Edith Dye, Connellsville, Pa.

Before the United States entered the World War, Knox served in the Fourth French Army for two years. He then joined the American forces and served in Company 10, First A. S. M. Regiment, in the Air Service, with the rank of sergeant. He participated in the Somme, Aisne, St. Mihiel and other major engagements of the war, and was honorably discharged with two gold service bars.

Fifteen were present on the first overnight hike of the Oakland troop of Boy Scouts since the annual two weeks camping period in August, which was taken over the past week-end.

MT. LAKE PARK

The falling leaves make little sound but they certainly do clutter up the landscape. Be careful. The leaves and weeds are very dry and will burn quickly. Don't start any fires outside if there is the least possibility it will spread. The Oakland Fire Department is good, but it can't do the impossible.

"Dugie" is dead and buried. He belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Bushrod (Jack) Grimes. He was poisoned last Monday evening, and without showing any illness, died almost instantly after he reached the front porch of the Grimes cottage. He was a prime favorite of a great many people in the Park, particularly the children. He might challenge an adult while passing the home, but a child never. The contents of the stomach will be analyzed and a careful investigation made of the source of the poison. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Grimes were devoted to him, as he seemed to know that children loved him. As the English have it, it is not "sporting" to poison a dog.

Messrs. H. M. Weeks and E. O. Liller have recently purchased 17 and a fraction acres of coal of the Lipscomb Heirs, at their late sale. This coal lies in the Bethlhem settlement and is said to be a very fine quality of the Bakerstown seam. Work of opening a mine will begin at once and the owners will be ready for delivery within the next two weeks.

The citizens of this community are "blowing" themselves. Pockets are bulging with handkerchiefs. At times it reminds one of a chautauqua salute.

We are advised that Mr. H. V. Leighton has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new concrete bridge at Deer Park.

Mr. Walter Combs and family have moved into apartments in the I. O. O. F. Building.

Dr. Logan L. Carr lost a gold fountain pen, which he prized very highly, owing to its associations. If you find it call the Doctor on the phone.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay W. Hayden and son Willard have returned from Elk Mills, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Hayden's mother, Mrs. Mary Kay Borland, widow of Delaplain Borland and daughter of the late Robert Kay, founder of the textile works at Elk Mills, Md.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

Weddings to which no invitations are issucd are usually thc ones most talked about.

* * *

Sometime when the citizens of Oakland have nothing else to do they might take a trip to Davis, W. Va., in the evening and see their White Way over there. A town that was supposed to bc dead since the pulp mill stopped operations.

* * *

Somebody who was hot against the White Way proposition told Mayor Stemple that Oakland, with its water, gas and electricity, was twenty years ahead of the times already. Can anyone imagine Oakland equal with the times without those three neccssities?

* * *

Scoop is still in favor of a White Way.

* * *

Bet Dawson, one of the Gold Dust twins of Harned's drug store, said that if Scoop had been at the American Legion convention in Boston, he would have obtained enough material for this column for a full year. And after finding out who went—Mosc Sincell, alias Archibaldson; Joe Gonder, Mit Sincell, Ronald McIntire, Mike Liller, Scoop feels certain he could have uncovered enough stuff to last for a year and a half.

* * *

The newspapers gave a general idea of their shenanigans but the rest is left to ones imagination. And what an imagination thesc boys from Oakland have!

* * *

Since the world series is over 1. Romanus Rudy, Bet Dawson, Andy Gonder, Bill Gibson, Carl Brown, and a lot of others may be found at their places of business most any time.

Hallowe'en Is Almost Here

You know, Hallowe'en isn't so far off. You had better begin to make plans for the parade and dance, because they are going to be bigger and better than last year. The committees are sure working. Grover Stemple isn't expected to throw any monkey wrenches into the wheels, George Kerins keeps firing away, Singleton Townshcnd keeps things in plumb, R. R. Gilbert is blowing things up, Ralph Weber is making a lot of racket, Arthur Lawton is lighting the way for bigger things, Waiter Dawson is creating good will with his jokes, Emroy Bolden is keeping his ambulance in shape for emergencies, Russell Brown is tootin' around, Percy Frantz is lending his heavy voice to attract the people, and Mit Sincell is mapping out the line of parade and other details.

DON'T REGARD LIGHTLY "CHILDREN'S DISEASES"

Dr. R. H. Riley Says They Often Cause Dangerous After-Effects

As the frosty days come, and the children who have just entered school, spend more and more of the day indoors and in close association with each other, mothers are cautioned by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, to safeguard the youngsters from the infectious diseases—measles, chicken pox, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria—that begin to flare up as soon as the schools open.

"It is a mistake," Dr. Riley said, "to say they are only children's diseases and it is better to have them and have it over. Every one of these diseases carries with it the possibility of dangerous after-effects. Pneumonia often follows measles. Deafness in later life can often be traced back to some 'children's disease' in early childhood. Damaged hearts and kidney diseases often rusult from some of the same diseases.

"Accordingly, none of the 'children's diseases' should be regarded lightly, and every effort should be made to safeguard children against them. The majority of children's diseases are especially hard upon the younger children. During the last five years, 17,097 cases of measles have been reported to the State Bureau of Communicable Diseases from the counties. Of the total, 7,650—nearly half—occurred among children from 5 to 9; 4,602 or over one-fourth among the children under five; and 2,704 or one-sixth among the children from 10 to 14. The disease was more fatal to the youngest group—155 out of the total of 192 deaths, or over three-fourths, occurring among the children under five.

"Whooping cough is another disease that is always with us, and that is particularly dangerous to the younger children. From 1925 through 1929, we had 4,386 cases of whooping cough reported from the counties, with 1,637—over a third—occurring among children from 5 to 9; 606 among babies under a year old and 1,767 among children from 1 to 4, that is, 2,373 among the children under five, or considerably over half of the total at all ages. There were 409 deaths from whooping cough during the five year period, and of that number, 237, or nearly three-fifths, occurred among babies under a year old; 151 or over a third, among children from 1 to 4; and 18 among children from five to nine. A similar account could be given of practically every one of the children's diseases.

"Nearly all of these diseases begin with what seems to be 'just a cold' or 'digestive upset'. Children who have such symptoms should be watched carefully, should be kept home from school, and the doctor should be sent for if there is not prompt improvement. Some of our most serious outbreaks have resulted from what we call "missed" cases—that is cases that were apparently too light for the doctor to be called. In many instances the children continued to go to school, or to associate and play with other children. The result was a group of cases instead of the few that started the outbreak."

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

J. H. CARTER,

Forest Plantations Stand Drough Well

Farmers of the State who are contemplating planting trees on their property next spring should not be discouraged by the severe drought of the past summer, since most of the forest plantations in the various counties have come through very successfully, it is said by F. B. Trenk, specialist in forestry for the University of Maryland Extension Service, who has just returned from a tour of inspection of these young plantations. Particularly in the loblolly pine plantations of the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland sections of the State the survivals have been as great as during a normal wet season.

For example, a survival of 90 percent was recorded by Mr. Trenk on the farm of F. D. Stovell, of Talbot county, where the trees had been set out in furrows. On a farm in Carroline county where a 20,000 tree plantation had been set out and on a 10,000 tree plantation in Worcester county the survival was as high, if not higher.

On a 25,000 loblolly pine plantation in Dorchester county, where the trees were set out after the effect of the drought was apparent the survival of trees was 75 percent, which is considered sufficient by forestry officials to produce a full stand of timber.

Plantations of white and red pine in Harford county show losses of only 10 to 20 percent, considered unusually good since these trees ordinarily require a large amount of rainfall for good results.

Records by Mr. Trenk show that only two plantings were complete failures, one a short leaf pine plantation in Harford county, which was started for the purpose of growing Christmas trees and the other, a loblolly pine plantation where the trees were planted too late.

When such results as these can be obtained under as adverse conditions as were encountered this summer, farmers should not be discouraged in planting, Mr. Trenk declares.

New Feed Available For Livestock Owners

Maryland farmers who are looking for a substitute for hay are advised to investigate a new product, oatmeal mill run feed which, according to Dr. DeVoe Meade, specialist in animal husbandry for the University of Maryland Extension Service, seems to be a very satisfactory feed for livestock, being at least equivalent to timothy hay.

The new product, which has been on the market but a short time, is ground very coarsely and is being delivered to various points in the State in bag containers. It mixes readily with other feeds and can, therefore, be used to replace a large part of the hay in dairy and livestock rations. In the case of horses it may be used practically as the sole roughage.

Owing to the low cost and value of this feed, dairy and livestock farmers should make an effort to get in touch with their respective county agents who have samples of the product. Approximately 25 manufacturers of oat products are able to supply the new feed, it is said.

Street Being Improved

Grantsville's main thoroughfare (the National Highway) is being improved by having three-foot shoulders built on each side of the highway, work upon which was begun Monday. This improvement is being made by the State and the contractors are W. F. McCabe & Co.

Addition to School Building

The addition to the Grantsville high school is now under construction and rapid progress is being made by the contractors. There are to be four large class rooms, teachers' rest room and a locker room. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

The school is now experiencing the largest enrollment in its history. There are now 170 pupils on the roll in the elementary department and 111 in the high school. The high school has been confronted with a very serious problem as to the size of the classes, since there are 52 pupils in the freshman class. Due to this large enrollment it is necessary to make a longer day by shortening the noon hour to thirty minutes and by lengthening the school day to 4:10 p. m. All the teachers are heavily burdened with classes. The principal finds it necessary to handle as many pupil hours as his assistants, thus limiting the administrative and supervisory possibilities which are considered by school authorities to be more important as a principal's duty.

Hallowe'en Social

The Hallowe'en social of the school is epected to be a success. As compared with the donations last year, the patrons have given many more cakes, candy, pies, etc. A great many new patrons also contributed to the social.

The following persons have been apointed as chairmen of committees: Booth committee, Frank Getty; refreshment committee, Miss Margaret Leighton; decoration, Miss Leona Clark and Harley Spoerlein; advertising, Lona Bowser, Rose Miller, Margaret Mary Blocher and Rosella Younkin; entertainment, Miss Viola Broadwater, Miss Ruth Conley, Miss Mary Miller and Miss Emma Caulk; soliciting committee, Miss Fern Folk.

Personal Mention.

Miss Dorothy Edwards, who is attending the University at Morgantown, W. Va., spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Edwards.

Dr. Melvin F. Broadwater, dentist at Edward Hines, Jr., hospital, Hines, Ill., returned home after having attended the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Marian Frost Broadwater.

LOCAL TOURISTS ASKED TO PROTECT FORESTS

October Tide of Motorists Are Remided That Dry Forests Are So Much Tinder

October's tide of tourists who travel mountain highways in unusual numbers, are reminded today that the privilege of enjoying the autumn beauty of the forests carries with it an obligation to be careful with fire in the woods.

"The results of carelessness with fire in or near the forests were so apparent during the dry season of the past spring and summer that it is imperative to use the utmost care so as to prevent forest fires," District Forest Fire Warden H. C. Buckingham said.

"Forest fires not only cause great commercial loss of growing timber but impair scenic values, destroy recreational opportunities, and have a direct effect upon hunting, fishing and stream flow.

"Forest fires injure live trees and seriously retard their growth. In Maryland large trees that are not completely killed by one fire are gradually destroyed by repeated fires. Trees injured and weakened by fires are subject to attacks of insect and disease. Fire injury results in a reduced rate of growth, for the killing of any part of a tree whether crown, stem, or root system, reduces the amount of nourishment which the tree can take up and use.

"Forest fires kill small seedlings and sprouts. Any fire that burns the decaying leaves will kill little trees. Repeated burnings influence forest reproduction through their effect on the soil and its cover. The forest can only be perpetuated by a succession of little trees replacing the larger ones.

"The effect of forest fires on hunting cannot be reckoned by the nests destroyed or the number of birds or other wild life killed at the time or driven from the ground where the fires burn. It is far more reaching than that, for forest fires destroy the opportunity for game birds and animals to survive and multiply.

"Fish cannot survive if the natural conditions under which they live are seriously disturbed. Every forest fire can make the water of the streams muddy and warm. Many formerly beautiful streams have been injured in this way so that fish cannot live in them."

School Notes.

The soccer and fieldball teams of the local school motored to Kitzmiller last week and played the Kitzmiller teams with the following resultant scores: Fieldball, 14 to 2 in favor of Accident; soccer, 16-0 in favor of Kitzmiller. So far the local fieldball team has won all the games played except that with Grantsville, where the score tied.

The Home Economics Club organized recently with the following officers: President, Blanche Brenncman; vice-president, Olive Frickey; secretary, Kathryn Richer; treasurer, Margaret Fratz.

The cattle judging team of the A. H. S., composed of Elbert Buckel and Wm. Harmon, with Leonard Haenftling, alternate, will leave Accident for Frederick next Thursday where they will take part in the judging contest on Friday, the 24th. They will attend the banquet of the F. F. A. at the Francis Scott Key Hotel on the evening previous. Everett Weitzel, who is now president of the State F. F. A., will preside at the banquet at which time officers for the coming year will be elected.

Causes for absence of pupils from the school during the month of September have been tabulated and are as follows: To help dig potatoes, 43; to help with housework, 12; illness, 11; to help fill silos, 11; to cut corn, 6; threshing, 6; picking apples, 4; absence of parents from home, 3; missed the bus, 2; death in family, 1; having eyes examined, 1; dental work, 1; total, 101.

Some absences are due to causes which are unavoidable. Others perhaps could be avoided if parents and pupils considered the importance of regular attendance at school. Just one absence means "a link left out of the chain." The faculty of the school appreciates so much perfect attendance of all pupils. Wonder if it would be possible to greatly reduce the absences during the balance of the term in this school year. Think it over!

Accident Chautauqua.

The United Chautauqua Association will conduct a chautauqua in Accident November 7 to 10. The program this year promises to be exceptionally good. Plan now to attend.

His injuries consist of a fracture of his arm and several ribs. He was also badly bruised and was confined to his bed several days. His condition is now much improved and he hopes to be back in the postoffice in a few days. He was attended by Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft, of Accident.

GRANTSVILLE DEFEATS OAKLAND HIGH BOOTERS

Fieldball Girls Are Victorious —Other O. H. News

With several changes in the line-up of the Oakland Soccer team a good fight was put up on Monday afternoon at the Fair Grounds against the Grantsville team, last year's county champions. Grantsville won 2 to 1.

Arthur Lawton, James Nordeck and Charles Davis, playing their first game, fought well for Oakland, with the veterans F. Warnick, K. Graves, R. Glotfelty, D. Porter, and Ed. Maroney, keeping up their reputation. Oakland kept the ball in hostile territory during three-fourths of the time but the players could not place it through the uprights. Oakland's one point came from the educated toe of Richard Glotfelty who scored on a free kick in the second period.

Accident will be met at Accident on October 20, and the last home game will be played with Friendsville on October 27, at the Fair Grounds.

The Oakland girls were victorious in Fieldball Monday when they defeated Grantsville 8 to 2. The superior playing of Marie Helbig and the spirit of the whole team led the Oaklanders to victory.

Fieldball is gaining in popularity and it is thought that playing apparatus, new uniforms, etc., are being obtained. The backing of the entire school in these two sports is urged.

Committee to Announce Yard and Garden Contest Winners Soon

Prize winners in the Oakland Yard and Garden contest will be announced within a short time, according to a member of the Oakland Civic Club, under whose auspices the contest was held.

The Civic Club is asking that the community be patient for a few weeks longer, and states that the interest shown and the improvements made are very incouraging to all home people.

The committee has been handicapped on account of sickness and other affairs, which have prevented their meeting together and awarding the prizes to those deserving to win.

Shrubs for Spring Beauty to be Planted This Fall

There are many reasons for setting out shrubs in the fall instead of waiting until spring, according to Mrs. A. L. Lee, chairman of the local Yard and Garden Contest Committee. The one reason, however, that is most convincing—the one that changes fanciful musing to eager activity—is the pleasant anticipation of the picturesque garden that will be yours next year.

Shrubs are the backbone of the planting so give them first consideration when you plan the development of your outdoor living room.

Can you imagine spring coming and going without Lilacs to cast their spell over your garden? If you haven't several kinds of this gracious old friend, plant them now. The Lilac (Syringa) season is all too short, but by proper selection of varieties you can extend their blooming period several weeks.

Most familiar of all is the ever-popular Syringa vulgaris with its lovely clusters of sweet scented purple flowers. Syringa vulgaris alba is a sister variety that grows slenderly upright and has blooms of white instead of purple.

Closely following are the Chinese and Persian varieties. Syringa persica and Syringa chinensis(the latter is also known as Syringa rothomagensis, and Rouen Lilac) both have unusually large plumes of exquisite perfumed blossoms.

Syringa villosa is a later flowering type, as well as Syringa josikaea, which forms a large bush with rather small, faintly scented blooms of heliotrope color.

The common Lilac is perfectly hardy and does well under the most unfavorable conditions. Of course, if it is given plenty of sun and it is planted in good soil it shows its appreciation with increased beauty. The other varieties, however, need a better soil in order to make a successful start, and they like an occasional feeding of bone meal or manure.

Another shrub that will be a charming feature in your planting is the Flowering Almond. Like the Lilacs, the Flowering Almond is also very hardy and forms a very pretty dwarf bush. Early in the spring, even before the leaves have dared to venture forth, the brave little flowers join the spring symphony of color. The blossoms put one in mind of roses, except that they are smaller and snuggle close to the branches.

Flowering Almonds can be had with either delicate pink or pretty white flowers, and for early bloom in the shrub border, you will find it especially valuable.

A shrub that will add still another color to the border is Golden Bell (Forsythia). Its flowers also appear before the leaves, and their sunshiny golden color seems to light up the whole garden. The earliest blooming member of the family is Forsythia intermedia. Forsythia suspensa has long, slender, trailing branches and is adapted to foreground filling, while the tallest grower (Forsythia fortunei) makes an excellent tall hedge.

Surely the longing for an abundance of spring loveliness in the garden is reason enough to plant some of these interesting shrubs this fall!

FORMER SENATOR JOHN W. M'CULLOUGH ENDORSES CANDIDACY OF B. F. SCHROYER FOR THE LEGISLATURE

To the Voters and Taxpayers of Garrett County:—

Mr. Benjamin F. Schroyer, of Friendsville, has announced his candidacy for the House of Delegates to be one of our representatives in the next Legislature.

I have known Mr. Schroyer for more than 35 years. When a young man he was employed by me as manager of a lumber operation, which he managed for about 2 years to its completion in a profitable and satisfactory way. Mr. Schroyer then bought a farm which he owned and operated for a period of years, after which he sold the farm and came to Friendsville about 12 years ago where he engaged in the mercantile business. He now has a large general store and is one of our leading merchants; a large taxpayer and a good business man. He stays close to his business and has the respect and good will of those in the community who know him best, but as his acquaintance does not extend over the entire county and it will not be possible for him to see all of the voters prior to the election, I felt it a duty to publish this article in Mr. Schroyer's behalf, so that if any voters are undecided as to who our representative should be I feel that Mr. Schroyer would make us a representative who would do everything possible for the upbuilding of our county and State.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. McCULLOUGH.

Widow Awarded $5,000 by State Accident Industrial Commission

Under a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission rendered during the past week, Mrs. Mintie Evans, of near Vindex, Garrett county, was awarded the sum of five thousand dollars, payable at the rate of $12.43 per week for the perlod of 402 1-3 weeks, as compensation due her on account of the death of her husband, Peter A. Evans, who died in February as the result of an injury sustalned in the mine of the Manor Coal Company.

The insurer, State Accident Fund, contested the case on the question of dependency on account of the fact that there was no record evidence of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Evans. At the hearing it developed that the minister who married the couple near Keyser forty-two years ago had failed to return his certificate showing performance of the ceremony and the marriage certificate given by him to Mrs. Williams had been lost or destroyed. However, testimony of witnesses was produced who knew of the marriage, although none had witnessed it, and of the married life of the couple and the fact of the marriage was thus established to the satisfaction of the Commission. Attorney Walter W. Dawson, of Oakland, represented Mrs. Evans in the proceedings.

Caught After Evading Arrest for Three Years

After a search of about three years, Nelson Wilt, of Bear Hill, was arrested Friday by Sheriff Casteel and deputies. Wilt was indicted by the Court in 1927 on a moonshine charge but evaded arrest and he has been sought since that time. He posted $750 for his appearance at the December Term of Court.

Arrested Following Chase

Wade Brotemarkle was arrested last Friday by Richard West, deputy, after a chase which led to King's Hill, about four miles north of Oakland. Brotemarkle was loitering around the jail several days ago and it was thought that an attempt was being made to smuggle liquor in to the prisoners. When Deputy West gave chase he escaped at King's Hill by abandoning his car and fleeing to the woods. He returned to the vicinity of the jail on last Friday and the chase was resumed this time resulting successfully. At a hearing before Justice W. A. Gonder Brotemarkle was fined $5 and costs for having no brakes, and $25 and costs for reckless driving. No federal charge or charge of resisting arrest were lodged against the man.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES CITE ISSUES OF POLITICAL CAMPAIGN AT MEETING IN OAKLAND MONDAY EVENING

Mayor Broening, Gubernatorial Candidate, D. A. Robb and Congressman Zihlman Addressed Garrett County Voters

ROBB POINTS OUT FACTS

Speaking against the practice of long continuance in office for a high public executive and the evils arising therefrom; making a plea for humanitarian legislation and keeping the public school system of the counties out of politics, Mayor Wm. F. Broening, of Baltimore, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland, concluded his campaign in Garrett county at the Maryland Theatre, Oakland, Monday night, following a whirlwind campaign to every section of the county during the day.

On the tour of the county the Mayor was accompanied by Mr. Robb, candidate for attorney general; W. Newton Jackson, candidate for State Comptroller; Dr. Charles S. Warner, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals; Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman; nearly all the candidates for local offices; the Crellin Boys' Band and members of the Republican County Committee. The party was piloted through the county by Sheriff W. D. Casteel.

At the various stops made during the day interested crowds awaited the coming of the candidates and listened with attention while the matters uppermost in the minds of the voters were being discussed by the speakers.

In his Oakland address, Mayor Broening dwelt at some length upon the natural beauties which confronted the party at every turn in the highway as they were journeying between points; to the generosity and the intelligence of the people with whom he had come in contact during the day and made a plea for the education of the children so that when they arrive at the self-supporting age they may be equipped to face the problems of life.

"Executives, after a long continuance in office, first become arrogant, then indifferent and then careless," Mayor Broening said, "and evils arising from this carelessness are bound to creep out. But Governor Ritchie wouldn't even listen to the pleas of those within his own party against the long continuance, hence the evil of theft from the various departments of the State resulted with no check at hand to detect them until the sums stolen had become staggering."

Mayor Broening pointed out how the power had slowly been taken from the Senate in a number of appointments that the Governor was now making without official sanction of that body. He compared the school system of Baltimore City, where politics plays no part, to the school system of the counties where politics, he said, was apparent on every hand.

In concluding his speech Mayor Broening touched on the need for humanitarian legislation such as making provision for old age, the mentally deficient, the crippled, the preservation of the family as an institution, and any measures for the advancement of the people.

Robb Points Out Facts.

David A. Robb, Republican candidate for Attorney General, then brought out a number of interesting points on the appropriation of funds, the State Roads scandal, the dismissal of Daniel Carroll, the Crain Highway celebration, the tax question, the state school system and the State payroll.

Taking as his authority the Maryland Bill of Rights, which states that rotation in office is a good thing, and that long continuance in office is a dangerous thing, Mr. Robb urged a change in State administration. Within the memory of every school child in Maryland at the present time there had been no other governor except Ritchie, Mr. Robb pointed out.

Answering the charge of William S. Gordy that the Republicans were conducting a "whispering campaign," Mr. Robb said that the Baltimore papers were not giving to the people of the state the knowledge of the things that are openly being said and proven. On the other hand, he said, the papers, especially the Baltimore Sun, are suppressing everything of any prominence and putting in the trivial matters.

"I am not denoucing the Democratic party as such," Mr. Robb said, "but I am denouncing the little band in power in the State. During the administration of all the governors of Maryland, with the exception of Ritchie, there has been only one public official indicted for misuse of funds. During the present administration it would be hard to count them.

"And why was Dan Carroll fired by the governor when he discovered a shortage of $376,000 in the State Roads Commission funds?" asked Mr. Robb. "Where did the supplies amounting to $2,000,000 which were turned over to the State by the U. S. government following the World War disappear? Who stole $6,000 from the House of Correction when all the prisoners were locked in their ceils? Why was $20,000 spent on the Crain Highway celebration?

"It took 150 years to raise the taxes of Maryland to $12,000,000. Since 1919 when Governor Ritchie was elected the taxes have been increased to $31,000,000. Since 1919 the State payroll, of appointees alone, has increased from $1,600,000 to $4,700,000."

FOURTEEN NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO GIRL SCOUTS

National Girl Scout Week to be Celebrated Next Week

Fourteen new members were received into the Girl Scouts at a special meeting of that organization held Tuesday evening in the K. of P. hall, and they have already begun work on their Tenderfoot tests.

All of the charter members have passed their Tenderfoot tests and Annabel Stemple, having passed her elementary signaling last week, is now the only Second class girl scout in the troop.

National Girl Scout Week will be celebrated next week when an active program has been planned. Sunday the girls will attend the Lutheran church in a body. Monday is girl scout's day at home, while on Tuesday every scout is required to perform some good deed at school.

A special good turn for ones community is the requirement for Wednesday. A tea for all mothers and members of the Oakland Civic club, sponsors of the troop, will be held in the girl scout hall on Thursday. Friday will be known as health day, and on Saturday each girl scout is supposed to visit a friend who is ill, or who needs companionship.

Brother of Mrs. J. E. Harned Injured at Cumberland

Douglas H. Bauer, 69, of Cumberland, brother of Mrs. Jos. E. Harned, of Oakland, suffered a fractured left leg and right shoulder when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Green street in Cumberland Tuesday evening at 7:15 o'clock. It is said that the driver of the car which caused Mr. Bauer's injuries had swerved his machine to avoid striking another car. Mr. Bauer is now a patient in Memorial Hospital where he is resting comfortably and is being attended by staff physicians.

To Celebrate Anniversary Of Ordination of Pastor

The congregation of St. Mark's Lutheran church will celebrate with a special service the fifteenth anniversary of the ordination of their pastor, Rev. C. A. Shilke, this evening at 7:30 o'clock. The address will be made by Rev. C. G. Aurand, Wheeling, president of the West Virginia Synod. After the formal service a reception will be held in the Sunday School room when greetings will be brought from visiting ministers and a short program conducted. Refreshments wil be served.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY ON HALLOWE'EN WILL NOT BE TOLERATED THIS YEAR, MAYOR STEMPLE WARNS

The practice of youths and older persons who intentionally destroy property and raise unnecessary disturbances within the city limits of Oakland during Hallowe'en will be stopped this year, according to Mayor Grover Stemple, who is giving warning that any one found doing this will be persecuted to the full extent of the law.

The Mayor and Town Council, in cooperation with the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band and the Volunteer Fire department, have ordered the closing of Second street from Green to Railroad street, on Friday evening, October 31, Mr. Stemple stated, and all celebrating is to be confined to this area, and should be carried on in a safe and sane manner.

"In former years it has been the custom of some people to destroy furniture and to carry away various articles. This is to warn all persons who have been guilty of these acts that these violations of the law will be in no respect tolerated. Persons guilty of breaking the law will be prosecuted to the fullest extent," Mayor Stemple concluded.

POLITICS IN REVIEW

By the Man In The Street

(From The Observer, Baltimore)

Not being prophets we refrain from making election forecasts at this time but we must refer to the new registration completed this week in the city. This registration, considering the circumstances, is heavy.

For weeks we have been hearing the political sharps say that a light registration would be favorable to the Ritchie machine and that a heavy registration would, of course, mean that Ritchie might be upset in the city.

The registration was heavy in 1928 when Hoover carried Maryland by 80,000.

The affiliation means that the Democrats are heavily preponderant when there is no party dissatisfaction. But there is now plenty of party dissatisfaction. Apparently it is not lessening in the city no matter what the politicians say.

The force with which women went to the registration offices on the last two registration days does not seem good for the Ritchie machine, as the prediction has been made that many women heretofore supporting the Governor would turn against him for reasons of their own.

Women are very reticent about stating their reasons for turning against the Governor after supporting him twice. But we have been hearing the murmur for weeks.

The Ritchie campaign managers are talking of raising a campaign fund of $123,000. This is a very liberal sum for so small a state as Maryland. The demand for such a large amount indicates that the talk of a walkover by the Ritchie people is all tommyrot.

The situation was never more full of uncertainties.

The Ritchie people make as big a display as they can of buttons and pasters. It was the same thing in the Smith campaign of 1928. Smith had the buttons and the noise.

In some of the counties it is predicted that the vote will be cast closely along the lines of the Presidential contest. Arguments against Smith are now applied to the Ritchie fourth term proposition. This is true to a larger extent in the counties than in the city.

Mayor Broening continues his soft pedal tactics. His advisers do not like it. They think he should speak right out—use vigorous language such as was common in the old days prior to automobiles and radio. But the Mayor continues to think that he can get them readily by kindness.

In Montgomery county the other day State Chairman Galen L. Tait made a speech that had some edge to it. Perhaps it would be a good idea to put him on the stump in Baltimore City and let him cut loose.

Anyway, in 1915 Ovington E. Weller, G. O. P. candidate for Governor, made only one speech. That was in Charles county and related to the tariff on oats. He thought he could make a better campaign without speech making. And he came very near winning over noisy Democrats. That is worth remembering before betting on the election this year.

Brooke Lee Looming
As Ritchie Successor

The naming of William P. Lane, Jr., as successor to the late Thomas H. Robinson as Attorney General on the Ritchie ticket has emphasized the growing dominance of Brooke Lee as a figure in what was not so long ago the Democratic party in Maryland. Lane, although not pushing himself for the place on the ticket, was pushed by Lee. Ritchie had the last say as the present party dictator and he accepted the Lee candidate.

Looking favorably on the honor were, among others, Clarence W. Miles, recently adopted by Baltimore from the Eastern Shore, and Robert R. Carman, of Baltimore, a former resident of Harford county, the home of the late Mr. Robinson. Mr. Miles has been considered a member of the Lee camp while Mr. Carman, when named as United States Attorney several years past as the successor to Samuel K. Dennis, had the backing of the John Walter Smith element of the party.

Mr. Lane, however, is supposed to be able to make a larger contribution to the party chest than might either of the others mentioned, as in Western Maryland he is accounted a banker as well as a lawyer. And in these times the collectors for the campaign chest are in need of as many and as large contributors as can be found.

But back of the latest development in the camp of the Ritchie people who now have the Maryland Democracy by the throat, is the fact that Lee has been steadily climbing toward his goal of State boss of the party. He it was who made a journey to the counties last winter to head off the McIntosh candidacy for Governor and he it was who constituted the backbone of the Ritchie support. Lee was for Ritchie for a fourth term from the first and had his way even though he was not able to persuade State Comptroller Gordy off the slate and substitute a candidate of his making.

The important thing is that when a break in the old ticket came about it was Lee who filled the vacancy and the Baltimore supporters of the Ritchie ticket now have to swallow whatever dose Lee gives them. Some of them will not like it. In fact some of them are already letting it be known that they do not like it. They remember how rough Lee was as the Speaker of the last session of the House of Delegates and they fear that as State boss he will be even rougher.

It is hardly a secret that Lee has been trying to get his fingers into Baltimore City politics just as he has tried to get his fingers into Baltimore county politics. So it may be that if Ritchie should win the election Lee will have an important say in the selection of the candidate for Mayor to be put up by what will then be remaining of the Democratic party in the city.

Thus to many it may appear that a vote for Ritchie's fourth term will also be a vote for Lee as State boss as well as for Bob Ennis as city boss, and we all know pretty well what these two politicians want.

Howard Jackson, Billy Curran, Eddie Gross, and all the others may find themselves in such a position that they will after next month have to take orders from Lee and Ennis or find themselves kept away from the pie counter.

Suspect A Move
For Ritchie Campaign

Recently a letter was sent out by one of the women officials of the University of Maryland inviting the presidents of the various women's clubs throughout Maryland to attend a ground breaking or corner stone laying or something of the sort for a girls dormitory at that institution. The invitation asked that a list of the membership of each club should also be forwarded so that all might be invited.

This request for the lists of members aroused suspicion among the Governor's opponents that the names would be used to distribute Ritchie propaganda just as other departments of the State Government have been used. So we understand that the lists of members will not be sent as requested and on top of that we hear that the ceremony has now been postponed—until after the election.

Possibly the high officials of the University realized that they might be brought into another free sandwich and toy balloon affair for the benefit of a candidate.

Road Commission
Helping the Governor

Although Professor Ames' oleaginous committee has announced the publication of 16 pamphlets designed to let the public know more about the marvelous achievements of His Excellency, only twelve have as yet come to hand and among the missing is that on "Ritchie and State Roads." Looking around for the cause of the delay we find that the State Roads Commission is hurrying to complete a report of its activities since it took over the work from the hands of the commission ousted by the Governor at the beginning of 1929 in an effort to save his own face and shift responsibility.

This report, it appears, is to be published before the election although it will not be possible to have the figures to the close of the State's fiscal year which ends on September 30. There would seem to be no justification for rushing through a report that must be incomplete. But although no report was presented last year the work is now being rushed through to help the Governor's campaign which must be getting desperate indeed.

Of course those who know about Maryland affairs in recent years will not be surprised at the Governor's continued use of the roads department as a part of his political machine.

What we ask, would, the public think of Mayor Broening if he required an important department of the city government to rush through a report in advance of the proper date in orded to help his candidacy for the Governorship? Most people would say he should be kicked out of office forthwith, it seems to us. But to Ritchie the roads are the same as judgeships—material for political advantage.

Hallowe'en Suggestions

Suggestive Menus:

1. Jack O'Lantern salad, gingerbread brownies, coffee, cocoa or cider.
2. Witch salad, nut bread sandwiches, (cream cheese filling) cider.
3. Taffy apples, nuts, doughnuts, cider.
4. Pumpkin tarts, nuts, apples, coffee, cocoa or cider.

Witch Salad

Mix one cup of chopped apples, one cup chopped celery, one-half cup chopped dates and moisten well with mayonnaise. Arrange a mound of this mixture in the center of nests of shredded lettuce.

Over each invert a half peach, rounded side up. On each peach make a face, using whole cloves for eyes and nose and a narrow strip of canned pimento for the mouth. Serves eight.

Taffy Apples

One can of corn syrup, 1 pound of sugar, ¼ pound of butter; let this boil until it spins a thread. Remove from stove. Take small sticks as for lolliepops, stick into the apples, then dip the apples into the syrup. They taste truly yummy!

Hot chocolate or cocoa topped with marshmallows wearing funny faces made with chocolate icing are attractive.

To make pumpkin tarts fill individual pastry shells with your favorite pumpkin pie filling.

Talisman cakes, which are cakes cut out in symbolic forms as horseshoes, shamrocks, brooms and rabbit feet, make a pleasing cake variation for Hallowe'en.

WHY WAS DAN CARROLL DISMISSED FROM THE STATE SERVICE?

Mayor Broening has done the citizens of Maryland a real service in asking Governor Ritchie why he dismissed Daniel H. Carroll from his position in the State Auditing Department after he had discovered and made known the fact that money was stolen from the State Roads Department. This is a question thousands of the people of this State would like to see answered and many of them are of the opinion that the Governor is not in a position to offer a valid excuse. The residents of every section of the State are interested. The residents of Garrett county are deeply interested, for many of them know and remember Mr. Carroll as an excellent gentleman. It was the money of the people of Garrett county that was stolen and they have a right as citizens to know why this action was taken against the man who discovered the thefts.

The challenge of Mayor Broening to the Governor to show his sincerity in the subject of public service by reinstating Mr. Carroll has set the citizens thinking more seriously than ever about the dismissal of a State employe who discovered that the people's money was being stolen and made the information public.

And people of Garrett county, you must remember that it was your money—your property—that was unlawfully taken from the funds of the State Roads Commission, and also remember that Mr. Carroll was punished for discovering the theft. A rather unusual proccdure on the part of the head of the State government.

The Mayor gave expression to this opinion and at the same time voiced the opinion of many when he said Mr. Carroll was summarily punished by the Governor for an act of good citizenship and good public service. A graet many also agree with him when he said that he has yet to hear a citizen of Maryland commend this act on the part of the Governor and that he has heard it very gencrally condemned.

The public is given credit for soon forgetting what happens, but these things are not being forgotten so soon. When hundreds of thousands of dollars are stolen from the State's funds and the man who discovers the thefts is fired following his disclosures, the people have every right to refuse to forget.

Mayor Broening is to be commended for putting the question to the Governor, and thousands of citizens of Maryland will be interested in the answer of the State's executive.

DON'T DESTROY

The time is past when Hallowe'en means the destruction of a lot of property, and those who attempt it this year in Oakland may sing their songs in a different key when they find themselves up in that institution above the court house—the one with bars over the windows.

Mayor Stemple has given warning that those kind of "funmakers" will be prosecuted, and he will sce that his proclamation is carried out. This doesn't mean that there will be no fun. There will be plentey of it, but it will be carried on in a designated area. There are any number of ways of making fun without causing the destruction of a single piece of property, without stealing a gate or road wagon, tearing up a pair of steps, and up-ending a corn crib, or what have you.

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE IT

Newspapers have within the past few days bcen carrying stories of the severity of the cold wave. In Erie, Pa., Buffalo, N. Y., and nearby points, snow to the depth of four feet has fallen, paralyzing traffic and causing a food shortage.

Motorists were caught by the thousands in the mid-west and northwest, some of them frozen to death, in the cold wave and storm which swept that area. Distinct earthquake shocks were felt in New Orleans a few days ago.

And what happens in Garrett county? A little cold, yes, but sunshine each day, and wonderful fall weather. Where else, in these United States can one be assured throughout the entire year of such wonderful climate and weather, as right here in the mountains, a place where people who do not know and who have never been here think it is unbearable.

Garrett county is a good place in which to live. Tell others that it is and bring them here to find out for themselves. What is the advantage of basking in the hot Florida sun for a year or so, and then having ones life snuffed out by getting caught in one of their usual number of hurricanes?

CONTROL OF CONGRESS IS THE BIG ISSUE

Speaker Longworth has been doing a little talking. His reports lead him to believe that a number of Republican Congressional districts may be lost. He doesn't see any upheaval, but he does fear that in certain industrial regions, because of unemployment, there will be a reduced Republican vote. The question that is causing the greatest trouble in a few States—Massachusetts and Ohio he specifically mentions—is prohibition. In his own State of Ohio canvasses reveal a growing strength for the Democratic candidate for Senator who is opposed to the 18th Amendment.

The prize that both parties are striving for is the control of Congress. This fact every Republican citizen of Pennsylvania and of our sister States of New Jersey and Delaware should fully realize. There is need here in the East to elect every candidate for both Senate and House possible to offset Democratic gains that may be recorded in the border and Mid-West Commonwealth. Mr. Longworth is not of the opinion that the Democrats can carry either the House or the Senate, but there is danger that the Republican majority in each will be cut down. Should that majority in the House be small, there would be opportunities for Democrats and Independents of the Norris persuasion to combine, as has been the case in the Senate, to hamper the policies of the Hoover Administration. A hostile or deadlocked Congress or one with a commanding alliance sufficient to block legislation would be inimical to progress buildlng. Business is climbing the hill, slowly but surely. The less disturbanco there is in Washington the quicker the top will be reached.

Such is the thought that Republican voters should bear steadily in mind. Mr. Morrow should be elected to the Senate in New Jersey. Mr. Hastings should be elected in Delaware. Prohibition can not become much of a factor in the former State because both candidates want a change. It is a factor in Delaware, but Mr. Hastings, who is in accord with the administration, deserves his full party support regardless of the wet and dry controversy. There is belief that in December the President's Law Enforcement Commission will render a special report on prohibition. Should it do so, and should it offer practical suggestions, the Congressional atmosphere ought to be clarified to a considerable extent.

Here in Pennsylvania there is no wet and dry question of moment save that which attaches to the Governorship. There is an uprising, but it pertains largely to the candidacy of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Hemphill. The revolt of the Republican ward leaders in Philadelphia is distinctly confined to opposition to Pinchot. The campaign of the Liberal Party has precisely the same limitations. The Governorship has no bearing whatever on Republican policies in Washington. But the Senatorship and the Congressional districts do have such bearings.

We repeat that the great issue is the contral of Congress. All else belongs to the sideshow.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Interesting Fact

THE FRANCHISE.

The right of franchise is a sacred privilege which, when intelligently and conscientiously exercised, tends to insure righteous government and protection to our republican institutions, but it carries with it grave responsibilities.

Article I of our Constitution provides that every citizen of Maryland of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has been a resident of the State for one year, and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of any county in which he may offer to vote, for six months next preceding the election, shall be entitled to vote, etc. Originally the word "citizen" was qualified by two words, "white" and "male." But the former became inoperative under the 15th Amendment and the latter under the Nineteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States. There is a limitation, however, under Section 2 of the Article which provides that "No person above the age of twenty-one years, convicted of larceny or other infamous crime, unless pardoned by the Governor, shall never thereafter be entitled to vote at any election in this State; and no person under guardianship, as a lunatic, or as a person non compos mentis, shall be entitled to vote."

However, the qualifications of a voters were not always as democratic as under our present Constitution. In 1669, Charles Calvert determined to limit the suffrage to such freemen as owned at least fifty acres of land or personal property to the value of about three hundred dollars in modern currency. This deliberate attempt to extend the powers of the aristocracy and curb the elective power of the masses is not surprising, for it is entirely natural to presume that the early rulers of Maryland brought with them to the New World some of the aristocratic teachings of the Old World.

It is interesting to note that a century later, when the election was held in connection with the Constitution of 1776, those disqualified to vote in the respective counties were freemen of twenty-one years and over, who had fifty acres of land in freehold or property to the value of fifty pounds.

It was not until twenty-five years later that this undemocratic voting qualification was abolished. Following the election of Thomas Jefferson as President (made possible, by the way, by the votes of the representatives from Maryland), an amendment to the State Constitution in 1801 gave the suffrage to "every free white male citizen of the State, and no other, above twenty-one years of age," etc. At the same time the ballot was substituted for the viva voce precedure. Thus the direct influence of the wealthy in government was eliminated.

Following the closing of the provost marshal's office in Baltimore in the beginning of 1866, and the proclamation by the President on April 2 of that year that the "rebellion" was at an end, it followed that those who had raised themselves to power by fraud or force, must devise some means to hold that power. Being no longer able to appeal to the military, they attempted to restrict the franchise. In fact, prior to that time, in 1865, about two-thirds of the voters of the State were disqualified under the prescribed forms of registration.

In 1870 the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was adopted, providing that "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude." Thus the negro, only removed from slavery by a few years, was given the right to vote.

But still universal suffrage was not to be. It was not until fifty years later that the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution was adopted which provided that "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied by the United States or any State on account of sex."

So it is that all citizens of the United States, properly qualified and not within the prohibited classes, are entitled to vote.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

J. H. CARTER,

Orchard Irrigation Proves Successful

Judging from the results obtained by a number of Maryland growers, in the use of irrigation this season, it is highly probable that some irrigation equipment will be kept in readniess at all timcs during future growing scasons. However, as yet, it is pointed out by A. F. Vierheller, Specialist in Horticultura for the University of Maryland Extension Service, orchard irrigation is not recommended as a general orchard practice in the East, although in time it may be. The past summer with its destructive drought gave growers a chance to try various schemes of irrigation. Some Maryland orchards were irrigated by the furrow method, using one shallow furrow along each side of the tree row. On the other hand, some growers watered their trees by circular furrows under the trees, and still others applied water to their orchards by directing a stream from a hose against the trunk, leading this water out beyond the tree spread by radial furrows. In many cases from 150 to 1,000 gallons of water per tree were applied at a time, and weekly applications per tree were made where possible.

In several instances stationary spray lines were used by the grower with excellent results in fruit and tree growth. In fact, the experiments in irrigation in the majority of cases were encouraging, it is said.

Maryland 4-H Judging Team Wins At Dairy Exposition

Maryland 4-H Club boys won first place in the dairy cattle judging contest held in connection with the National Dairy Exposition at St. Louis, from October 13 to 18. The winning team was composed of William Chilcoat and James Johiston, Baltimore county, and Charles Clark and David Joesting, Harford county. Horace B. Derrick, County Agent of Baltimore county, served as coach of the team. Mr. Derrick with H. C. Barker, J. A. Conover and E. G. Jenkins of the University of Maryland Extension Service, accompanied the team to the Exposition.

Teams of 4-H boys from 26 states competed in this contest. Second place was won by Minnesota; Iowa was third. Nebraska was fourth and Ohio, fifth. Charles Clark, of Maryland, took seventh place in the contest for individual honors among all contestants.

By winning this national contest, the Maryland team becomes eligible to represent this county in any international contest that may be held during the coming year. This is the fourth time that such an honor has been won by a team from this State. In past years, three teams from Maryland have been sent abroad to compete in international contests.

The Maryland dairy demonstration team composed of Ward McGraw and Gerald Ensor, both of Baltimore county, won seventh place in competition with teams from 31 states.

Oakland High School News

The O. H. S. Soccer team went to Accident on Monday afternoon and came back with a victory earned at the expense of the Accident High school team. Even against Mr. Speicher's old High school our team showed no mercy, and all the scoring was done by O. H. S.

A field goal by Maroney and one by Graves during the first half were the only points made. This makes the second game of the year won against Accident, and gives us a clear slate against them. Played on a very cold, windy afternoon both teams seemed to be at a disadvantage and could not play their bast.

The last home game of the season will be Monday, October 27, against Friendsville. The teams go to Kitzmiller on Wednesday, October 29.

The girls also played Monday but lost by the score of 8-2.

Jessie P. Snow of the Maryland Branch of the Educational department of the League of Nations Association delivered a very interesting speech to the Juniors and Seniors Tuesday morning. Her talk was on the League of Nations, what it is and what it is doing for the nation.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

Scoop has a cold in his head, at least that's what everybody says it is. The boss editor asked me what was the matter and I said I had a cold or something in my head. He said it must be a cold then.

According to The Republican last week Samuel Wood was hit by a flying ship, instead of a flying chip. Merely a typographical error which might have been a lot worse.

* * *

Col. Bell was surprised this week to receive a package from up north and couldn't figure what it was until Scoop went over to his stomping ground for a conference. It was a picture taken on a recent hunt, and somebody had it in for Paul Naylor when they sent it. It shows the first part of the hunting firm of Naylor and Weber when the party of the first part didn't nail 'er as he expected.

Please turn over to get the full benefit of the photo, or if that is too much effort just turn the paper north by northeast. Since the trip to Swanton the firm has used no high powered firearms.

Just Missed Him!

If what David A. Robb said about the misappropriation of state funds and the strange loss of sums of money in the House of Correction, State Roads commission, etc., is true, then Ritchie should be able to live up to his name, by striking the "ie" off the end of it.

* * *

Col. Bell got busy on some pictures this week for Scoop. He found Roland Gilbert, one of the head men in the Hallowe'en celebration and got him to dress up like he would appear on next Friday night and he kindly consented.

Grover "Monk" Stemple has issued a proclamation stating that anyone seen on the street in the following condition will have his bottle taken away, emptied, filled with buttermilk and restored, with nipple attached. He will also be given a list of all the bootleggers of the vicinity with instructions to mark with "X" the one with whom he deals. (The list promises to be a long one.)

Only in this way can a check-up be made to find out which one is doing all the business, so that Circuit Court Judge can help him make up his income tax next March. Judges are so considerate in that respect!

* * *

In order to be certain that no names are omitted from the list all bootleggers should send in their names to Scoop right away. Assumed names not received. Information will be kept strictly confidential and told only to two parties—the Republicans and Democrats.

SEASONAL SICKNESS LESS BUT TYYPHOID INCREASES

Drought Conditions and Excessive Heat Given as Causes

In spite of the drought, the excessive heat and generally unfavorable summer, the records of the State Department of Health show that there were nearly 1500 fewer cases of communicable diseases reported during June, July, August and September of this year than during the same months of 1929. The total number of cases of communicable diseases reported during the four months was 7,335, in comparison with 8,818 during the corresponding season of 1929. The decreases occurred principally in the so-called children's diseases, notably in whooping cough, of which 657 cases were reported in comparison with 1,419 during the corresponding months of 1929; scarlet fever, of which 338 cases were reported in contrast with 615 during the summer of 1929; mumps, of which 132 cases were reported during the current season, and 815 during the summer of 1929; and diphtheria, with 191 cases in comparison with 237 during the corresponding period of last year.

On the other hand, there was a marked increase in typhoid fever, of which nearly twice as many cases were reported during June, July, Auguest and September of the current year in comparison with the number reported during the same period of 1929—561 cases this year and 285 during the summer of 1929. Of the 561 cases, 477 were reported from the counties and 84 from Baltimore City. Of the 285 reported during the same period in 1929, 231 were reported from the counties and 54 from Baltimore City. The increase was largely due to outbreaks in Wicomico county, which were traced to carriers living or working on dairy farms or employed in connection with public dairies. Each of the outbreaks occurred among persons using unpasteurized milk from the dairies with which the carriers were associated.

The typhoid outbreaks have constituted the principal blot on the records of communicable diseases since the first of the year. During the nine months ending on September 30, a total of 25,077 cases of communicable diseases were reported in the State, in comparison with 53,630 during the corresponding period of 1929 and 41,679 during the same period of 1928. Influenza was responsible for the high total in 1929 and measles for that of 1928.

Of the nine months during the current year, September had the best record with 1,651 cases of communicable diseases reported, and March the least favorable, with 3,924 cases reported.

MT. LAKE PARK

When there is an element of self-interest, it is rather easy to be a booster of the community in which we live. Therefore, the good things said about the home town by a resident, are usually taken with a grain of salt. But when the casual visitor praises a community without stint, and there is no possibility of his having an axe to grind, we can well take it that he is expressing an honest opinion. To illustrate: A visitor from Lexington, Ky., together with his wife, spent several weeks here, the guests of relatives. He is a man of wide experience, conducting a profitable business in his home town. He was a frequent visitor in Oakland and took long drives over most of the paved roads in Garrett county and the neighboring states. When asked his opinion of this mountain top, he first referred to Oakland, saying that it had the appearance of being much larger than its population indicated; that its stores were far above the average, and that the merchants were very courteous and seemed anxious to please. Having occasion to visit a dentist while here, he remarked that if he lived within a hundred miles of Oakland, this same dentist would be favored with whatever work he was compelled to have done. He praised the scenery, saying that no matter how frequently he traveled the roads, they never grew monotonous. But, he added, "No one seems willing to advertise the advantages of Garrett county." Take this for what it is worth.

Miss Verna Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Calhoun, of the Park, and a graduate of Oakland High School and the Business Training school of Uniontown, Pa., now employed as bookkeeper of Standard Brands, Inc., accompanied by Miss Kuhn and Mr. Craig, of Uniontown, Pa., spent Sunday with home folks.

The marriegt of Miss Margaret McLane Wilson to Mr. William Brewer Fleharty, took place in Washington, D. C., last Friday, according to announcements received here. The c is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wilson and a niece of Miss Katherine McLane, of Wheeling.

Miss Helen Grimes, of Pittsburgh, former member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, spent the week-end here. Miss Grimes came for the Regional Conference meeting at Addison last week.

SERVICES FOR ARMISTICE DAY PLANNED BY LEGION

Community Program to be Held In Maryland Theatre at 2:30

Plans for a community program in Oakland on Tuesday, November 11, Armistice Day, were announced yesterday by Joseph M. Gonder, post commander of the Legion.

The speaker for the occasion has not been announced but Delbert Davis, who has this in charge, states that a prominent out of town person will be engaged if at all possible. It was at first thought that Judge A. G. Hughes, of Kingwood, would be here, but he has found it impossible, and attempts are now being made to communicate with speakers in Morgantown, W. Va., Cumberland and Hagerstown, Md.

The program will begin at 2:30 in the Maryland theatre. There will be some community singing, some vocal solos, selections by the Boys' Band, and other entertainment.

Banks will be closed all day on November 11, and stores and other business houses will be closed from 12 o'clock noon.

The legion is sponsoring a picture at the Maryland theatre on November 10th and 11th. The show is "Safety in Numbers," and stars Buddy Rogers. Admission will be .15 and 50 cents.

The Legion has accepted an invitation extended by Rev. W. B. Brock, to attend services at 11 a. m. on Sunday, November 9, at the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church. All members of the Legion and interested ex-service men are urged to attend.

STATE ADDS 14,610 ACRES TO ITS FOREST RESERVES

Purchases Made Possible in Five Counties by $60,000 Appropriated by Legislature

The addition of 14,610 acres of timber land to Maryland's forest reserves was announced yesterday by F. W. Besley, State Forester. The purchase was made yesterday by a special appropriation by the Legislature.

The tracts are in Garrett, Prince George's, Charles, Baltimore, and Howard counties and will bring the total acreage under State control to 25,397 acres. Most of the new forest land already has been acquired and the purchase of the remaining approved, Mr. Besley said.

The last Legislature passed an appropriation of $50,000 for the acquisition of forest land and a request for a similar amount will be made at the next meeting of the body, the forester said.

"SAVE-A-LIFE" CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN ON NOVEMBER 1

Third Annual Free Car Inspection Period Will Continue Throughout Entire Month

INSPECTION COMPULSORY

Brakes, lights, horns, steering mechanism, windshield wipers, rear view mirrors, license tags and operators' license tags will form the salient points of the third annual "Save-a-Life-Campaign", which will be held in Maryland, November 1 to 30 inclusive. It has been announced.

According to an announcement by E. Austin Baughman, commissioner of motor vehicles, the campaign is intended to reduce traffic accidents, and the inspection period has officially been proclaimed by the governor.

E. S. Evans garage, Central garage, Sharps Motor company and Treacy's garage have filed application to give the free car inspection to motorists, in Oakland and vicinity.

The campaign is directed against reckless driving and mechanical defects which are apt to develop in cars and trucks under service conditions, and which are held to be one of the major causes of motor vehicle accidents.

Every automobile and truck in the state must be inspected by a competent mechanic in a service station appointed by the state, and if found to be unsafe, or to have mechanical defects, it must be put in safe condition before the official inspection sticker will be affixed to the windshield.

Stickers will be issued to all cars found in good condition or after having been put in good condition. Every motor vehicle owner or operator will have to show evidence that his car has been inspected before he can obtain his license tag for the year 1931.

The inspection is compulsory under the provisions of Chapter 259 of the General Assembly of 1929, which authorizes the commissioner of motor vehicles to require the inspection of the safety factors of all automobiles.

During the first year of the inspection 1003 cars were inspected in Oakland and vicinity and 63 percent were found to pass inspection without any repair work. Last year 1408 cars were inspected in Oakland and it was estimated that from 60 to 75 percent were in good condition when inspected.

WOMEN'S DRY ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE AND ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SUPPORT REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET

Denounce Governor Ritchie And Efforts To Secure Fourth Term As Chief Executive of State

PLATFORM BASIS OF ACTION

Prohibition in Maryland became more of an issue in the State campaign than ever Tuesday with the United Democratic Women Enforcement League of Maryland urging the election as governor of Mayor William F. Broening, Republican nominee, and the State Anti-Saloon League sending out letters favoring the Republican ticket.

The Anti-Saloon League letter to voters does not actually mention the name of Broening, who is running on a platform favoring law enforcement, in contrast to the unqualifiedly wet Democratic plank, but the inference is drawn by most readers was that he was favored over Governor Albert C. Ritchie, seeking a fourth term.

"We do not think you need any information from us regarding the governorship, as you, no doubt, know the standing of both men in private and public life," says the Anto-Saloon letter, signed by George W. Crabbe, State Superintendent.

Support Broening

There is no question about the endorsement of the dry Democratic women, holding a semi-annual meeting in Baltimore. In a resolution approving the Republican standard bearer, they also voted their support to Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in his present Methodist Church fight, and to Representative T. Alan Goldsborough, seeking re-election to Congress from the First District of Maryland as a Democrat.

Presiding was Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, of Chevy Chase, head of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League. About a hundred women drys from various sections attended. Mrs. Nicholson, long prominent in State dry prohibition counsels, threatened to run for Governor this year as a dry independent candidate.

For attorney general, David A. Robb; for clerk of the Court of Appeals, Charles S. Warner; for Comptroller, W. Newton Jackson; for Congress, Second District, Linwood L. Clark; and from the Fourth District W. O. Atwood. All are Republicans.

The resolutions endorsing the Republican nominee for Governor read:

"Because the Republican party in Maryland has gone on record for law enforcement and has a strong dry plank in its platform, and its candidate for Governor, Mayor Broening, promises he will stand firmly on his party's platform, regardless of his position in the past.

"And because our own party, the Democratic party in Maryland, has gone on record for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution, and our candidate for Governor, Albert C. Ritchie, is running on a dripping wet platform, for a fourth term in violation of our bill of rights.

Will Fight Ritchie

"Be it resolved, That the United Democratic Women's Law Enforcement Clubs, by their delegates in convention assembled, pledge their united support to Mayor Broening and work for his election, using every means at our command to defeat Governor Ritchie and his mad ambition to succeed himself for a fourth term in violation of our State Constitution."

Denounce Governor

Black and yellow cards which were handed out to the delegates were even stronger in their denunciation of Governor Ritchie. They read:

"The Free State of Maryland. Maryland the free state for a perpetual Governor; for the nullication of National and State laws; for Philadelphia to grab and enjoy Maryland's water power; for bootleggers; for race touts; for denizens of the underworld; for graft from good roads, bootleggers, race track bookmakers and lottery. Maryland, Oh, My Maryland!"

Rev. C. A. Shilke returned from Charleston, W. Va., Monday evening after preaching Sunday morning and evening in Trinity Lutheran church. This was part of a general exchange of pulpits of the Lutheran Synod of West Virginia celebrating Stewardship Sunday. Rev. C. A. Portz, of Wheeling, filled the local Lutheran pulpit.

Smythe Case Not Prosecuted In West Virginia Court

Earl R. Smythe, Jr., Morgantown, W. Va., who was indicted by the Monongahela county circuit court grand jury recently on a charge of contributing to a minor's delinquency, was allowed to give bond of $500 for continuance of his case to the next term of court. His case was not prosecuted.

On Wednesday, October 1, Smythe and Dorothy Bigelow, 13 years old, came to Oakland and were married. The girl was placed in a home for girls in Wheeling, W. Va., shortly after, and Smythe placed under arrest.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION TO GET STARTED AT 7:00

Everything Is In Readiness for Third Annual Event and Big Mummers' Parade

MANY PRIZES ON DISPLAY

Everything is in readiness for the third Annual Hallowe'en celebration which will get under way tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock with a mammoth mummers' parade, after which there will be amusements of all kinds, awarding of prizes, concessions, dancing and merrymaking.

The celebration is being held under the joint auspices of the Gilbert-Brown Boys' Band and the Oakland Volunteer Fire department, and committees have been busy completing arrangements for the past several weeks, according to R. R. Gilbert, a member of the committee.

There will be at least two bands in the parade, several fire departments and a number of attractions and costumed people. Over 60 prizes have been donated by Oakland merchants and will be given away after the parade and at the dance, to be given in Fraley's hall. All those entering the parade are requested to be on Oak street promptly. The parade will start exactly at 7 o'clock and will traverse Oak, Third, Pennington or Crook, and Second streets into the heart of the festivities between Liberty and Alder streets, which will be roped off for the occasion.

In addition to the various awards for costumes $100 in gold will be given away. There will be a masked dance in Fraley's hall beginning at 9 o'clock. The Marylanders will furnish the music.

The area marked off for the celebration will be gaily lighted with large, white bulbs in the center of the street.

A large number of the prizes are now on display in the windows of the West Maryland Power company. In addition to those announced last week Dessie's Beauty Shop will give a marcel wave to the most elaborate lady.

Jones, chairman; H. A. Loraditch, vice-chairman; G. J. Altstetter, A. D. Naylor, Dr. W. W. Grant, and George Hanst, scoutmaster.

The regular weekly meeting of the scouts, on account of Hallowe'en falling on that night, will be held Monday, November 3, the scoutmaster announced. The monthly inspection will be held on the Friday following.

Chicken House and Fifty Chickens Consumed by Flames

The chicken house and 50 chickens, owned by Paul Mitchell, about one-half mile north of Oakland, on route 37, were entirely consumed by flames about 4 o'clock last Friday morning.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire department was called but the building was too far gone to attempt to save it. The firemen, however, extinguished a pile of coal near by which had caught from the flames.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

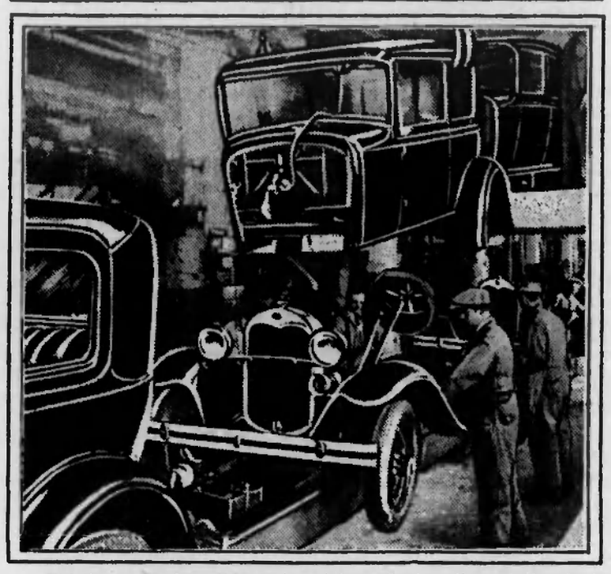
Final Step in Assembly of Ford Cars



This is a scene from the moving picture of a tour through the plants of the Ford Motor Company, one of the features of the Ford road show. The picture shows the final assembly line on which the Ford is put together part by part as it moves slowly forward until at the end of the line the completed car is driven away under its own power. Parts are served the workmen by conveyors. Each part is timed to arrive at precisely the right moment. In this illustration the chassis of the car in the foreground has been completed and a body is being lowered by a crane from a balcony.

Free Ford Show To Be Held In Morgantown

Residents of Oakland and this county will have an opportunity to "visit" the great plant of the Ford Motor Company through the medium of a sound motion picture to be exhibited in Morgantown next week, Charles Reckard, manager of the local Ford agency, announced today.

The movie will be a part of a Ford show to be held beginning October 31 and continuing through November 1, in a large tent on South High and Simpson streets, Morgantown, W. Va. The show will be open to the public free of charge from 9 a. m., to 10 p. m. of each day.

Those who visit the show will be able to learn not only how the Ford automobile is manufactured in quantity production, but to obtain some idea of the vastness of the Ford enterprises, Harvey Gortner, of the Motor Service Co., Grantsville, pointed out. They will see how coal and iron are obtained from Ford-owned mines and transported to the plants in Dearborn, Mich., in Ford-owned railroad cars; how lumber is cut in the Ford forests and carried in Ford lake ships; and how in the manufacture of the car various by-products are utilized for making fertilizer, charcoal briquets, chemicals and other things.

Besides the motion picture, the show will include a number of special exhibits revealing step by step how various parts of the car are made, a cutaway truck chasis, and a Tudor body cut in half to reveal the details of its construction.

A feature of the show will be a display of the full line of Ford passenger and commercial cars.

Arrangements for the show were made by the local dealer in cooperation with Ford dealers in nearby towns and the Pittsburgh branch of the Ford Motor Company.

PLAN AN EMPTY ONE

In declaring that the appointment of a Drought Relief Commission in this State is nothing but a political gesture on the part of the Governor, Mayor William F. Broening, of Baltimore, the Republican Gubernatorial candidate, has voiced the opinion held by many persons who have been giving this subject their attention. Many farmers in various parts of the State have been made the victims of the unprecedented drought and if their predicament is being used as a means of helping the Governor to satisfy his apparent craving for political power it is something to which they should give their most careful thought. The misfortune which has overcome them is a serious one that requires relief just as soon as it is humanely possible to bring it about.

Mayor Broening calls the Governor's plan an empty one. We want to know what it has done for the benefit of the farmers of Maryland. Has the commission named by the Governor brought them any relief? And, as Mayor Broening asks, what is the program of the commission?

Maryland farmers, who have suffered enough through the drought and other troubles, including high taxes, will indignantly oppose having their misfortunes used as a political expedient by the Governor or anyone else. And in this they are absolutely right. They have a serious problem before them and want relief, not a hollow gesture.

An Able, Well Known and Experienced Lawyer of Oakland Gives Mr. Walter W. Dawson His Unqualified Endorsement for the Office He Seeks, That of State's Attorney, Contending That "Experience" is Not the Prime Essential Qualification Necessary.

To the Editor of The Republican.

About the sole objection urged to the election of Walter W. Dawson, Esq., the Republican candidate for State's Attorney, is lack of experience. Experience by no means is the big essential in the successful conduct of this office.

A fair knowledge of the criminal law, coupled with energy, industry, integrity and a sincere desire and determination to honestly, fairly and promptly enforce all the laws of the land is much more essential, in the opinon of the writer, than "experience."

Mr. Dawson possesses all these latter qualifications and if he is elected the duties of the office, in my opinion, will be promptly and properly cared for.

Very truly yours,
F. A. THAYER.

"A Taxpayer" Pays a Deserved Compliment To Mr. George D. Browning, County Commissioner, Who Seeks Reelection, and Urges All To Cast Their Ballots For Him, So That the County Will Have At Least One Man Experienced In The Affairs of the Office To Administer the Public Business.

To the Editor of The Republican.

What kind of a "mess" would our county affairs be in, six months hence, let us say, if, by some wild chance, we should elect as County Commissioners three men inexperienced in this position? May kind fate forbid! We know that election will come and go and the clerk to the commissioners will be one with no experience in his office. To be sure, this candidate is a splendid, capable man. But he just doesn't know what has gone on in the Commissioners' office in past years. He isn't acquainted with the records. Naturally, he'll be at sea for a time unless he has some one to help him get his bearings.

No matter what fine men, what clever men, what wise men, the three "new" Commissioners might be, they would, nevertheless, get into pretty much of a muddle—this "brand-new" clerk and this "brand-new" Board. If there should be no experienced person to pilot them in the days when they were "getting on" to the swing of the Garrett County boat, it would surely rock if it did not capsize.

Of course, the law that makes such a situation possible is supremely stupid. There ought always to be a "hold-over" member on the Board of County Commissioners. Just now, however, we can't help the law. But we can help ourselves by voting for Mr. George D. Browning. With the list of candidates what it is, Mr. Browning is the only man who has the experience which will save us from confusion in administration of county affairs.

Mr. Browning does know Garrett county business well. He knows the condition of every road and bridge in the county, the policies of the State Roads Commission, how to get Garrett county's share of State appropriations, and so on and on. When, for instance, a poor relief case or a case concerning assessment arises, a commissioner who served in a term just past would probably remember whether this case had come up before and could indicate—approximately, at least—where in the "books" it is recorded. With no such help, an entirely inexperienced commission would find itself confronted with so many problems—even old ones appearing new—that to decide anything, accomplish anything, would be extremely difficult.

Another practical consideration in Mr. Browning's favor is that he would be accessible at almost any time to every taxpayer wishing to transact business through the Commissioners' office. Of course, all the Commissioners ought not to reside in proximity to the Court House, but to have just one Commissioner close at hand is a great convenience to people living at a distance. When a person has other business at the county seat it is often a great saving of time and travel to be able to look up a Commissioner and attend to a matter handled by the county board without having to make a special trip for that purpose.

If there were no other reasons for voting for the experienced Commissioner next Tuesday—and his many friends can think of others a plenty—these two are enough to make a person with a "head for business" cast a vote for George D. Browning.

Very truly yours,
A TAXPAYER.

False Statements Concerning the Republican Candidate, Guy O. Yutzy, for Sheriff, Draws the Fire of this Contributor who Knows Whereof He Speaks.

To the Editor of The Republican.

In the last few weeks much has been said around Garrett county about the contest over the office of Sheriff, and a number of statements which I absolutely know to be false have been scattered about the Republican candidate, Guy O. Yutzy. I feel that I should say something in his behalf.

I have known Mr. Yutzy for a number of years and have been in a position to know his personal habits as well as his public life. To my way of thinking he has always acted the part of a gentleman, has been honest and straightforward and attentive to his work. He has been a member of the Lutheran church for many years and not so long ago was president of the Brotherhood of the Oakland church. He has taken an active part in things of that kind and I have been surprised at the way he has been misrepresented.

During the time he was Sheriff before he was careful and attentive to the duties of his office. Frequently I have heard the attorneys in Oakland say that he was one of the best Sheriffs the county has had; that when papers were given him for service he could always be depended upon to attend to the business at once, and that nothing pertaining to his duties was neglected.

He was on the job when it came to the enforcement of low and the arrest of offenders and has been highly commended for this by other officers with whom he worked. He was well regarded by the Judges of our Court and likewise commended by them for his standing as an officer of the law, and his promptness in carrying out the duties which fell to him.

As the owner of a farm property in District No. 8 and accordingly a taxpayer, Mr. Yutzy is interested in keeping down expenses in the county and can be depended upon to perform the duties of Sheriff at the least possible cost to the county, consistent with a due and proper exercise of his duties and the protection of the people and their property.

In addition to his qualifications for the office of Sheriff, Mr. Yutzy is a good neighbor, a friend who is always willing to go out of his way to do a favor and to render a service and can be depended upon to assist in any worthy enterprise when called upon.

I am confident that If Mr. Yutzy is elected Sheriff on next Tuesday he will render efficient and honest service and can at all times be depended upon to faithfully perform the duties of his office. I take pleasure in commending him to my fellow Garrett Countians.

Respectfully yours,
A TAXPAYER.

Oakland High School News

The O. H. S. Boys won from Friendsville on Monday afternoon to the tune of 8-0. It was the second shut-out our team has registered in the county league this year, the other one being against Accident. The game was marked by the excellent passwork of the "Three Musketeers," Edward Maroney, Don Porter and Kenneth Graves, and by a noticeable lack of teamwork on the part of the opposition. A field goal by Maroney, two by Graves, and one on a poor play by the F. H. S. goalie accounted for the score.

Our team has lost a strong player in Maurice Butler, who is out on the order of a physician. Fullback in soccer, guard in basketball, shot put on the track field team, and first base on the Garrett County Champion Baseball team for two years, leaves an opening that will be hard to fill.

The last game of the season will be played next Wednesday at Grantsville.

The girls played Friendsville also on Monday and put up a very strong fight. But luck was against us and we lost by the score of 8-6.

Kitzmiller soccerites defeated the Oakland team 8 to 0 at Kitzmiller yesterday afternoon. Oakland couldn't seem to get going in the first half and Kitzmiller scored three goals. The defense tightened in the second half, however, only allowing one goal to slip through. Richard Glotfelty played best for Oakland.

The girls' fieldball team was defeated by the Kitzmiller girls 10 to 0.

EXAMINE 5,500 CHILDREN DURING LAST 9 MONTHS

2,168 Under Five Years and 3,357 From Five to Seven Years

Over 5,500 children were examined at the child health conferences held during the nine months ending on September 39, under the joint auspices of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene and the county departments of health. Of the total, 2,168 were under five years old, and 3,357 were from five to seven and were in the group getting ready for admission to school.

For the benefit of these prospective first-graders, special conferences were held during the spring and summer months, in order that handicapping conditions that would interfere with the health and success of the children at school, could be pointed out to the parents and corrections made before the children started in to school. Through the courtesy of the Department of Education, many of the conferences were held in the school buildings.

Special attention was given by the examining physicians to weight, posture. the heart, lungs, nose, throat, teeth, vision, and hearing, because of their important bearing upon the general health of the children and their freedom from, or susceptibility to, disease. Conditions that needed to be corrected were pointed out and the parents were urged to take the children to the family doctor or dentist for the necessary care.

Of the 3,357 children eligible for admission to school, examined, 2,911 were white, and 446 were colored. Over one-third of the children—1,229—white, 1,129 and colored, 100, were underweight. Three-fifths—2,060—white, 1,814 and colored, 246, needed dental attention. Unfavorable throat conditions, resulting from enlarged or infected tonsils, were observed in 1,541; white, 1,385, and colored, 156. Adenoids were present in 326; white, 312, and colored, 14, and among them were 182 mouth breathers, 156 white, and 26 colored.

Unfavorable conditions of the heart were observed in 68 white and 10 colored; and of the lungs in 41 white and 13 colored. Vision was defective in 72 white and 6 colored, and hearing in 43 white and 1 colored. Faulty posture was noted in 194, of whom 182 were white and 12 colored; mental retardation in 17 white and 4 colored, and nearly half of the children—1,353 white and 281 colored—had not been vaccinated against smallpox, and the parents were notified that in accordance with the Maryland Law, the children could not be enrolled in school until this had been done.

Provision is made in the fall and winter schedules, for the child health conferences for babies and preschool children, of which has been announced by Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene for at least one conference each month in every county.

STATE URGED TO ERECT TWO HOMES FOR AGED

One in Western Maryland and Another on Eastern Shore to Supplant Present Almshouses

At a meeting in Frederick last Thursday, plans were outlined for two proposed homes for the aged, one for the Eastern Shore and one in Western-Maryland, to be State institutions and will supplant a number of county homes, poor farms or almshouses in the various counties.

The discussion was held by the Maryland Almshouse Commission, of which Mrs. A. M. Lichenstein of Cumberland is a member.

Seek Legislative Act

It was recommended the State Legislature be asked to provide for their location and construction at its session this January. The matter of caring for the indigent, especially the aged and helpless was discussed, and plans for such a type of buildings were outlined by Major Howard W. Cutler, architect.

It was shown that Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties make provision for care of their infirmed and indigent, but Garrett, Charles, Howard and Calvert counties do not have poor houses or county homes.

Miss Lavina Engle, of Montgomery county, said the establishment of the proposed homes, would not interfere with old age pensions.

The commissioners in each county will be asked to give their views and approval to the movement. Five counties are said to favor the plan.

These institutions would be arranged to take care of approximately 700 inmates, with an infirmary, and each county would pay for support of its own inmates.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP--HIMSELF

Members of the Amalgamated Socicty for the Prevention of Work have given Scoop the information that if Broening and his associates are elected on Tuesday that the Amalgamated President, Slim Shaw, the Boss Editor, and Emroy Bolden, have promised to lead an entircly new Corn Paradc early Wednesday morning. Emroy said he was going to be in a parade anyway, win, lose or draw—that elections were special occasions and had to be treated in a special way.

The entertainment consisted of a piano solo by Bill Gibson, accompanied by Reeves Blandford, vocal.

It's a good thing they don't make pianos with extra loud pedals.

Read The Republican

This happened B. T. D. (before the drought). Bob Stewart found himself and one lady passenger alone on the bus one afternoon driving along Deep Creek Lake when a heavy downpour of rain set in. Addressing the lady by way of conversation he remarked: "It looks like the flood."

"Like what?" the girl inquired.

"Like the flood. You've read of the flood and how the ark landed on Mt. Ararat, haven't you?"

"No sir, I haven't seen a Republican for this week," she confessed.

Right after that editorial last week on such nice, delightful fall weather in Garrett county, it would have to get rainy and cold!

* * *

After hearing all the political speeches from both sides of the fence Scoop is convinced that something ought to be done about something.

* * *

This weather is bringing out the overcoat from the closets and places where they have been since last May. I suppose now, the moth who spent the summer in my overcoat will spend the winter in my bathing suit.

* * *

There's been enough said in reference to this Hallowe'en performance tomorrow evening to let everyone know that something will be missed if they stay away from Oakland.

You'll see things in the parade you never saw before, and probably will never see again, and there will be plenty of other things on hand.

Col. Bell is going to be there to get some snaps for next week's publication. Better subscribe this week and keep yourself awake at nights, or if you're already in that condition, read Scoop's column and you're bound to get ten hours with Morpheus every day.

* * *

The Republican has the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper in Oakland. And speaking of circulation managers, Scoop knows three in this town who are experts, Drs. McComas, Hinebaugh and Broadwater.

* * *

Lizzie Tish, the office girl, happened to catch Scoop this week when he was in a slightly stooped position, and she remarked that I had worn a hole in my trousers, notwithstanding. Well, I'd like to see somebody run a typewriter in any other than a sitting position. And anyway the thin spot was over my pocket in which I keep all my dough—If the boss editor was writing this he would add, "Boy, when he says keep, he means keep."

* * *

But I'll leave it up to my friends whether or not the Boss has the right idea.

Einstein, who knows so much about space, might devote a little of his time to finding some of it for parking in Oakland on Saturday night.

B. F. SCHROYER

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES

Asks the Support of Voters

To the Voters of Garrett County:—

On Tuesday, November 4th, you will be called on to choose your candidates to fill the various offices. I am a candidate for the House of Delegates for Garrett county.

I have seen a number of people in Garrett county personally and presented my candidacy, but it is impossible for me to see everybody on account of the great number of voters in Garrett county located in so many different places. I take this opportunity of writing you, asking you to give me your support, and also giving you a slight history of my life. As I am not acquainted all over Garrett county I feel it my duty to give you a little sketch of my life and business career.

You no doubt have seen in one of the county papers what our ex-Senator, J. W. McCullough, has to say about me, for which I thank him very much. He should know, as I have been in his employ and have been in close connection with him ever since I was a boy.

I was born and reared in Garrett county and have always been a citizen of the county; have been a taxpayer for thirty-five years and I am at present a heavy taxpayer in Garrett county. I have an interest in the taxpayers of Garrett county in regard to their taxes and welfare of the county.

As to my vocation in life: I started out early in life as a laborer. About thirty-five years ago I purchased a farm and operated it for about twenty-two years very successfully, and I know all that it means to a farmer and to the housewife, and the burdens and the load they have to carry. About twelve years ago I bought a store and property in Friendsville, Md., and have been operating one of the largest general mercantile stores in that end of Garrett county. I have served the farmers and all classes of people in the most economic way in my surroundirg districts in a very satisfactory manner, and my business shows that I have a host of patrons and friends. In all my vocations of life I will say that I have been successful.

I am also a firm believer in all moral and religious rights. I am opposed to the enactment by the Legislature of any bond bill for Garrett county unless the same carries with it provisions for a vote by the citizens of the county, and will neither introduce or favor such a measure without a referendum. I believe that measures of this kind should be submitted to you for your consideration and approval or rejection. Instead of adding to the tax burden it should be reduced whenever possible consistent with the welfare of the county. Should any measure be offered or proposed to exempt any corporation, company or individual from it or his fair share of taxation, I shall oppose the same to its limits. No partiality should or will be shown.

I will oppose any effort to repeal or modify the local option law adopted by the people of this county and will favor a State-wide enforcement measure under the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. This I believe is in accord with the people of the county and your representative should carry out your wishes.

Good roads constitute one of the greatest needs of this county. I do not believe that we have secured all that is due us in this regard and shall do my utmost to get from the State additional appropriations for this purpose. All sections of the county should be connected by hard-surfacer roads.

If elected, I pledge to you my best efforts in behalf of all the people of Garrett county and shall welcome at all times a free expression of your views so that I may best serve you in the House of Delegates.

I respectfully solicit your support at the general election.

Respectfully yours,

BENJAMIN F. SCHROYER,
Candidate for House of Delegates.

Lesson for November 2

SIMON PETER, FROM WEAKNESS TO STRENGTH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-29; Luke 22:31-34; John 18:25-27; 21:15-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Weak Man Becomes Strong.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Weak Man Becomes Strong.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How a Weak Man Became Strong.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Christ Gives Strength.

I. Peter Confessing Christ (Mark 8:27-29).

The time was near at hand when Christ should make the supreme offering of himself for sins on the cross. Knowing the tragic experience through which the disciples would pass because of it, he sought to prepare them for it by leading them into the apprehension of the cardinal doctrines of the Christian faith such as: the integrity of his person, atoning death, resurrection, and second coming.

Peter's confession was provoked by two questions of Jesus.

1. "Whom do men say that I am?"

Opinions differed, but all recognized him to be a teacher or a prophet with more than human authority and power.

2. "Whom say ye that I am?"

Jesus persistently claimed to be the very Son of God. He would have his disciples to possess a personal and experiential knowledge of himself as to being God manifest in the flesh.

II. Christ Warning Peter (Luke 22:31-34).

1. He told him of Satan's desire concerning him (v. 31). Satan is constantly striving to destroy men.

2. Christ's prayer for Peter (v 32).

He prayed that Peter's faith fail not, not that he should escape the siftings.

3. Peter's confidence (v. 33).

His fall began when he refused to listen to Christ's words about the cross. Believers begin to weaken when they no longer desire to hear about Christ crucified.

4. Denial announced (v. 34).

This was to take place three times before the crowing of the cock.

III. Peter Denying His Lord (John 18:25, 27).

1. Before the servant maid (vv. 15-18).

Peter blundered in attempting to follow Jesus at this time (John 13:36). Presumptuous boldness frequently leads into embarrassing positions. Under the taunt of the Jewish maid he openly denied the Lord.

2. Before the servants and officers (v. 25).

Peter was now warming himself at the enemy's fire. When questioned, he denied his relation to the Lord. Separation from everything that is opposed to the Lord is necessary in order to have a clear testimony (II Cor. 6:14-18).

3. Before the kinsman of Malchus (v. 26).

This man had seen Peter with Jesus in Gethsemane (v. 10) when Peter rashly cut off the ear of Malchus. He put the question straight to Peter, "Did I not see thee in the garden with him?" At the utterance of the third denial, the cock crew, reminding Peter of Christ's warning (Mark 14:72).

IV. Peter's Restoration (John 21:15-17).

Peter had thrice denied his Lord. Therefore, before his reinstatement in the Lord's service he must thrice confess his love for Jesus. In this reinstatement and commission of Peter is set forth the motive and nature of the service which has Christ's approval in all times. Love for Christ, not primarily love for the sheep, proves the genuine shepherd.

1. "Feed my lambs."

The word "feed" as well as "lambs" signifies that the work here enjoined is that of nurturing babes in Christ.

2. "Feed my sheep."

The word here means to feed, guide, correct, and lead the maturer classes of Christians. It carries with it not alone responsibility of feeding, but corrective discipline. Failure will inevitably follow if this be attempted without love.

3. "Feed my sheep."

This doubtless relates to the care of aged Christians. The word "feed" returns somewhat to the meaning as in the first instance where he says, "Feed my lambs," so that the minister's responsibility to care for the aged is equivalent to that of the young. Peter was to express devotion to Christ by a martyr's death.

In God's Husbandry

Heart troubles in God's husbandry are not wounds, but the putting in of the spade before planting the seeds.—H. W. Beecher.

When Testimony Has Weight

When a man lives up to what he preaches, then his testimony has weight.—Dwight L. Moody.

Line of Least Resistance

Taking the line of least resistance is what makes rivers—and some men crooked.—Charchmas.

Walter H. Haenftling

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

TO THE VOTERS OF GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

As the campaign is drawing near to a close the writer desires to say a word in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Walter H. Henftling, candidate for Sheriff of Garrett County. Mr. Haenftling has made a strong campaign; has seen as many of the voters as possible in a county as large as Garrett and will continue to visit and place his candidacy before the people up and until election day on November the 4th, next.

Mr. Haenftling from the outset has invited the voters to investigate his past record and also his ability to make a good Sheriff.

The writer has known him for a number of years and has had an opportunity to observe him as a merchant and as a farmer, and has been impressed with his industry and perseverance. He made a good merchant and a good farmer, and when his country called him to the colors he promptly answered and made a good soldier. He was engaged in five different major battles in France and bared his breast to the enemy on Flanders Fields for peace and for his Country.

Remember him on election day and you will find that he is not only a good merchant, farmer and soldier, but a good Sheriff and will perform the duties and obligations of the office with fidelity and courage.

Respectfully,
A VOTER.

House Party

Misses Dora Schlossnagle, Hildegarde Miller, Louisa Harmon and George Miller just returned from attending State Teachers' Meeting at Baltimore. They were the guests of the former principal of Accident High school and his wife, Prof. and Mrs. A. A. LaMar, Jr., at their home, "Exmoor", at Sandy Spring, Md. Miss Elma Georg, a student of the Marjorie Webster School of Physical Education, Washington, D. C., was also a member of the house party. Saturday was spent at Washington and Mt. Vernon.

Wedding

Announcement has been reecived of the wedding of Mr. Alexander Von Schlichten and Miss Louise Rouse, on October 16. Mr. Von Schlichten is a nephew of Fred and William Miller at whose home he visited quite often and is a young man well known here among the younger set. His home is in New York but for the past two years has been a Missionary in British India. Miss Rouse was at home at York, Pa., until just recently she sailed for India where she and Mr. Von Schlichten were united in marriage. Their many friends join in sending congratulations to the newly wedded couple.

Funeral of Mrs. Lemuel Savage

Mrs. Lemuel Savage died Saturday, November 25, after being ill for some time with pneumonia. She was a lifelong member of the Progressive Brethren church and most of her life was spent in this community. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Milton, John, and Walter, of Accident; Mrs. Walter DeWitt, Sang Run; and Mrs. Sara Holtschneider, of Deer Park; also by several grandchildren and a host of friends and relatives. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Sang Run by Rev. Simon Snyder. Interment at Sang Run.

School Notes

All of the teachers of the Accident school except Prof. Scrogum and Miss Custer, who attended the State Teachers' Convention at Baltimore last week returned Sunday night.

The Banner for attendance for the Grammar schools in the county was presented to the Accident school for the first month. Miss Miller's room had the highest attendance, 99.3%. All of the teachers in Accident Grammar school, and I am sure the pupils too, desire to keep the banner all the year and not allow any other school in the county to have it. But in order to do this parents must cooperate with the teachers and the school and not keep the children out for any other cause than sickness or other unavoidable absence.

The Junior class of A. H. S. will give a Hallowe'en party Thursday night for the High school faculty. The evening will be spent with games and refreshments will be served.

Seven of the ten prizes awarded in the 4-H Certified Seed Potato Club were captured by the boys in A. H. S.

The Grammar school will have a Hallowe'en parade Friday evening of this week.

Funeral of Mrs. Kate Beeghley

Mrs. Kate Beeghley, aged 72 years, died Saturday, October 25, after having been bedfast for almost two years. She was a life-long member of the Church of the Brethren, and spent all her life in this vicinity. She is survived by one daughter, Grace, at home; and two sons, William and Urner, of Spokane, Wash.; also a lot of other relatives. Funeral services were conducted in the Church of the Brethren, Accident, Tuesday afternoon with Wm. Rummel, of Johnstown, Pa., officiating. Interment in Accident Brethren cemetery.

Englehart of Accident was solemnized Tuesday, October 21, at 8 o'clock at the First Evangelical church in Houston, with Rev. D. Baltzer reading the service. Attendants for the bride were: Miss Mary Alice Yarborough, maid of honor; Mrs. Donald Gould, matron of honor; Misses Beatrice Dentler and Evelyn Metzler, bridesmaids; and Miss Jayne Marlis Kirby, flower girl. Mr. Henry Townsend served the groom as best man, and Messrs. Chaster Godby, Wm. Edwards, B. A. Hockmuth, and Donald Gould as groomsmen and ushers. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the church ceremony with the Misses Yaraborough and Dentler presiding at the cake and Mesdames Geo. Dentler and A. F. Metzler assisting in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Hockmuth entertained Monday night with a buffet supper following the rehearsal for the wedding. Green and white tints featured the bridal motif in the adornment of the rooms and table.

Mr. and Mrs. Englehart left for Pensacola, Fla., where they will spend a short honeymoon. The groom was reared in this comunity, and has a host of friends here who join in sending congratulations.

RITCHIE RE-ELECTED AS FOURTH TERM GOVERNOR

Is Hard Pressed In All Counties, But Carries Baltimore City By More Than 65,000

LEWIS DEFEATS ZIHLMAN

Although hard pressed in the counties of Maryland, Governor Ritchie on Tuesday carried Baltimore city by the largest majority ever received by any candidate running at the top of the ticket in a State wide race to be re-elected Chief Executive of Maryland for his fourth consecutive term.

Governor Ritchie was elected by a greater majority than he received four years ago when his majority represented a highwater mark for a gubernatorial candidate. Governor Ritchie did better in Baltimore city than anyone had anticipated, with a majority of 68,414. At the same time his failure to attract greater support in the counties also caused surprise. In 588 out of 636 county precincts the Governor's majority was only 479.

Lewis' Victory A Surprise

One of the most surprising victories Tuesday was that of David J. Lewis, Democrat, who repeated his past three performances of obtaining a majority in the strongly intrenched Republican Western Maryland Congressional district. Mr. Lewis was elected by a safe majority over his opponent Fred. N. Zihlman.

Lane Beats Robb by 80,000

Despite the huge Ritchie majority, it was the smallest registered of the four state-wide offices. W. Preston Lane, Jr., Hagerstown publisher, polled the greatest plurality. He scored an 80,000 victory over his dry Republican opponent for the attorney generalship, David A. Robb, of Cumberland.

William S. Gordy, Jr., re-elected as state comptroller, also ran up a majority greater than that of the party chief, in polling more than 75,000 in excess of his Republican opponent and fellow townsman, William N. Jackson. James A. Young overwhelmingly named to succeed himself as clerk of the court of appeals, also won more than 75,000 votes over his Republican opponent, Dr. Charles S. Warner.

MEETINGS TO BE HELD BY MAPLE SUGAR PRODUCERS

To Discuss Possibilities of Furthering Industry in County

The time is drawing near for the annual meeting of the Garrett County Maple Products Association, according to John H. Carter, County Agent, and maple sugar and maple syrup producers would discuss with one another and consider the merits and demerits of the association formed last year.

In order that every maple syrup producer may have an opportunity to express his or her opinion for promoting a maple syrup industry in the county a series of meetings will be held as follows:

Ryan's Glade Grange Hall, Monday evening, November 17, at 7:30; Bittinger school house, Tuesday evening, November 18, 7:30; Grantsville High School, Wednesday evening, November 19, 8:00 o'clock.

Mr. F. B. Trenk, extension forester, will be present at each of these meetings and will lead the discussion.

The aim of the meetings, Mr. Carter stated, will be to discuss the possibilities of promoting the maple syrup industry of Garrett county to a higher level, thereby making it more profitable to the producers.

Lunch was served by the Morgantown brotherhood. The evening service was nddressed by Mr. C. H. Lehmann, of Pittsburgh, Pa., on "Something to do for our men in our Brotherhoods."

The next meeting of this group will be held at Clarksburg Sunday afternoon and evening, April 19.

BEAR HILL RESIDENT IS HELD IN SHOOTING FRAY

Cletis Wilt, Accused of Crime, To Be Given Hearing Friday

Cletis Wilt, Bear Hill, near Bittinger, this county, is under arrest and in the Garrett County Jail on a charge of shooting a companion, Russell H. Bittinger, and seriously wounding him, on Thursday of last week. The accused will be given a hearing Friday before W. A. Gonder, Justice of the Peace, on the charge lodged against him.

It is alleged that Wilt shot Bittinger with a twenty-two calibre rifle, the bullet taking effect near the right temple and passing across the front of his head emerged on the left side.

What caused the shooting is unknown, but will likely be brought out at the preliminary hearing, as it is understood that the young men were good friends prior to the occurrence.

FATAL CRASH ENDS PLANS FOR WEDDING AT OAKLAND

Prospective Bridegroom is Killed When Auto and Moving Van Collide Near Red House

BRIDE-ELECT IS INJURED

A prospective marriage ended in a sad tragedy just south of Red House in Garrett county early Saturday evening when Aldah Williams, 40, of Buckhannon, West Va., was instantly killed and his fiancee, Miss Gertrude Conrad, 24, a registered nurse of St. Cloud, Minn., was painfully injured when the Hudson coupe being driven by the dead man collided with a large van, bound for Charleston, West Va. The couple were on their way to Oakland to be married when the accident occurred.

Corporal C. W. Hissem, of the West Virginia State constabulary, stationed at Keyser, arrived at the scene of the wreck a few minutes later in a bus and found the coupe overturned and the van crosswise of the road.

Williams Killed Instantly

Williams was killed instantly, his face and a portion of his head being reduced to a pulp when he was caught in the wreckage of the car. The young woman, suffering from head injuries and shock, was brought to Oakland where medical attention was rendered. She was later taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by Dr. McComas, where she is reported to be recovering from the injuries she sustained and the shock to her system.

Herbert Johnson, negro, of Charleston, W. Va., driver of the van, said that Williams was speeding and that the car ran into his vehicle. This was the statement of Jackson to Justice Gonder, who went to Red House with other officials to investigate the accident. Corporal Hissem and others said that Williams had been traveling at a high rate of speed.

Jackson, following the official investigation, was lodged in the Garrett County Jail for having no chauffeur's license or registration card, and will be detained until such time as Miss Conrad may be able to appear and give an account of the accident.

The Hudson car is a complete wreck, the top and body of the machine having been almost completely stripped from the chassis, while the van is also badly damaged.

Williams is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Williams, of Buckhannon, a brother and sister and other relatives.

The remains of the dead man were taken to Buckhannon from Oakland early Sunday morning after they had been prepared for burial at the Bolden undertaking establishment, and the funeral was held Tuesday at Buckhannon.

REPUBLICAN MAJORITY CAST IN GARRETT COUNTY

Only One Democrat Elected To County Position as Garrett Remains Faithful to G. O. P.

ZIHLMAN LOSES TO LEWIS

Garrett county held faithful to the Republican party in all except one instance for county offices, and on Tuesday elected three Republican delegates, a state's attorney, three commissioners, treasurer, register of wills and three judges of the orphans' court, besides a state senator, clerk to the Circuit court, clerk to the board of county commissioners, and county surveyor, who were unopposed by the Democratic party.

The only Democrat to register a victory was Walter H. Haenftling, of Accident, who defeated Guy O. Yutzy for sheriff, by a safe margin.

Garrett county also carried a safe majority for Mayor W. F. Broening, gubernatorial Republican candidate and other Republican state candidates but the totals were negligible when stacked up against the Democratic majority registered at the polls in Baltimore City.

Voting Was Strong

Voting was strong throughout the entire county, practically 75 percent of the people casting their ballots, despite the inclement weather.

Zihlman lost Garrett county by 30 votes in the official tabulation.

The total number of votes cast was over 5300. A complete tabulation of the returns for Garrett county by precincts will be found on page eight of this issue.

COMMISSIONER ORENDORF AND DAUGHTER IN WRECK

Ran Into Rear of Automobile at Weber Saturday Night

Mr. Daniel Orendorf, County Commissioner, and his daughter, Mrs. E. C. Bay, were injured, the latter seriously, Saturday night, when the Chevrolet coupe in which they were returning to their home two miles south of Oakland, collided with the rear of another car at a point on Route 37, near Weber.

Mrs. Bay was thrown through the winshield of the car by reason of the impact and sustained numerous cuts and bruises, in addition to a painful injury to her side. Mr. Orendorf was cut on his forehead and was considerably bruised about his chest, but no bones were broken.

Mr. Orendorf stated that he was unable to see the automobile in front of him and that it carried no tail light. The car had been parked at the Weber greenhouses earlier in the evening and when the driver entered the machine to start it the starting mechanism refused to work and the automobile was allowed to drift down the roadway toward the point where the accident occurred. It stopped shortly before Mr. Orendorf reached the point in his machine and an effort was being made to start it when the collision took place.

The right side of Mr. Orendorf's car was badly damaged and the steering apparatus and windshield were demolished.

AGED COUPLE VOTES FOR REPUBLICANS AS USUAL

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nethkin, of Oakland, aged 84 and 79 respectively, cast their usual Republican ballot at the polls of District 14, on Tuesday, as has been their usual custom at elections for a number of years. The couple have been married for 57 years.

Mr. Nethkin, who is a Civil War veteran, cast his first vote for president for Abraham Lincoln, at the age of 15 (he must have been a ringer) and says he hasn't missed an election since that time. He has always voted the straight Republican ticket.

COUNCIL DECIDES TOWN MUST HAVE RESERVE WELL

Will Continue Drilling—Third Street Between Alder and Green Will Be Widened

J. W. WHORTON RESIGNS

Decision to continue drilling for a well for the town, to augment the present supply when necessary, and to finish the shoulders on Third street this year, and also widen the street by embodying part of the sidewalk, were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council held Monday evening.

Drillers last week reached a depth of 76 feet when they struck solid rock. By testing at this depth, it was found that the water would not hold up in sufficient quantities to make it practical for town use, and council decided that the city should have a good reserve well, and that the drilling should be continued.

Mr. Jenkins, well driller of Kingwood, W. Va., will commence work either today or tomorrow and is willing to go any depth desired by the city council, according to Grover Stemple, mayor.

In building shoulders on Third street between Alder and Green streets, it was decided to narrow the sidewalk on the west side of the street by a distance of three feet, and add this to the width of the highway, making it more convenient for parking. The shoulders will be completed this year and will make the street improved from curb to curb.

Whorton Resigns

A letter was received by the Council from J. W. Whorton, announcing his resignation as a member of the organization. The resignation was accepted. In case of a vacancy in the council, a successor shall be appointed by that organization, according to the constitution of the city. No appointment has been made as yet, it was stated.

Lee R. Mason has been acting as city policeman in the absence of B. B. Nethkin, who remains ill at his home. The passing of the monthly bills occupied the remainder of the meeting. The next session will be held on Monday, December 1.

FORCED LANDINGS DO NOT ALWAYS TURN OUT BADLY

Forced landings do not always turn out so disastrously for aviators as can be attested by James Dodge, of Oakland, who was able to spend an evening at his home when the U. S. army plane, in which he was a passenger, was compelled to land at Altamont Tuesday afternoon due to storm conditions.

James, who is n student flyer in the Army Air service, in company with Major M. F. Davis, was on his way from Cincinnati, Ohio, to Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., where he is stationed, when rain and other storm conditions compelled the pilot to seek a landing rather than chance wrecking of bis plane. He brought the plane to earth in a field at Altamont.

From that point Major Davis and Dodge came to Oakland, Major Davis spending the night nt the William-James hotel, and Dodge spending the night with his home folk.

The two left Wednesday afternoon to continue their journey to Washington.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM HOUSE AT WASHINGTON AND TIE IN U. S. SENATE IS INDICATED BY NATIONAL RETURNS

RESULT OF VOTE IN KENTUCKY IS EXPECTED TO ASSURE UPSET IN LOWER BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT

Roosevelt and Pinchot Emerge As Leading Political Personalities As Result of Their Overwhelming Triumphs In New York and Pennsylvania

Washington, November 5.—Belated returns from yesterday's Congressional and Gubernatorial elections serve to emphasize the sweep of the Democratic victory and the discomfiture of the party in power.

It now appears that the Democrats have made a net gain of nine votes in the Senate to tie the standing of the two parties in that body, even if the one Farmer-Laborite Senator continues to affiliate for organization purposes with the Republicans.

Vote In Kentucky May Decide

It also appears that the Democrats will have a slender majority in the House of Representatives if the gains they expect to make in Kentucky materialize or if they get a fair break in ten or twelve other doubtful districts.

All of which means that the Republican regime has suffered a severe setback at the hands of the country at large. It is difficult to recall a more decisive political turnover in any two-year period in the nation's history.

White House Remains Silent

The outcome of the battle of ballots has left the White House uncomfortable, but silent. Appeals inspired in that quarter and voiced by every member of the Hoover administration for a Congress that would support the President have failed. There seemed to be little or nothing left for Administration spokesmen to say.

Semi-final returns in every State won by the Democrats increased rather than decreased the vote as indicated last night. The Roosevelt majority in New York has passed the 700,000 mark. That of Lewis in Illinois is better than 600,000.

Massachusetts has elected the Democratic Coolidge to the Senate by a comfortable margin, and he seems to have carried the State ticket along with him. Bulkley, Democratic candidate for the Senate in Ohio, will have a majority in excess of 125,000 and White, his running mate for Governor, may win by 100,000.

Kentucky Seat in Doubt

Kansas has elected a Democratic Senator, as has Colorado, West Virginia, Oklahoma, South Dakota and perhaps Kentucky and Minnesota. Rhode Island and Delaware, the Vermont and Utah campaign, remained loyal to the Republican standard.

Results of the fight in Kentucky, where a tabulation of the returns was delayed twenty-four hours under a State law which prevents counting from starting until the day after the election, appeared early this evening to give the State to Logan, the Democratic candidate for the Senate, against Robinson, Republican incumbent.

The partial returns available pointed to a Democratic victory of perhaps 50,000, which may carry with it four or five seats in the House. Democratic leaders in Washington are counting heavily upon such a gain to control the next House.

Claim Gain of 50 House Seats

Democratic National Committee headquarters claim a gain of fifty votes in the House, without Kentucky. They need fifty-three to overcome the present Republican majority. If Kentucky fails these leaders believe the additional votes to assure a Democratic domination will be picked up elsewhere.

There seemed tonight no possibility of absolute Democratic control of the Senate. But a stand-off between the two elements appeared more than probable. An unprecedented situation would ensue if a tie vote should eventuate when the new Senate is organized.

The Republicans still would have an apparent advantage in the Vice-President, who might by consent or otherwise be permitted to cast the deciding vote in order to avoid a hopeless impasse.

Two Personalities Emerge

Out of results two striking political personalities emerge. The one is Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic Governor of New York, who has been reelected by a majority that has stunned the Republicans in his State. The other is Gifford Pinchot, the Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvnnia, who triumphed over the most formidable combination of Democrats, wet Republicnns and bolting organization lenders that can be recalled in American politics.

This would seem to mean that both these Governors are to be heard from in the future. If Governor Roosevelt had won by a narrow mnrgin in New York his victory might have been claimed by Tammany Hall, which would not have increased the New Yorker's prestige as a Democratic Presidential possibility.

Upstate Vote Sets Record

But if New York City had given him no majority at all, Mr. Roosevelt still would have won by reason of his striking vote in upstate New York, a vote unmatched by that of no other Democratic candidate in modern times. All of which observers agree, is bound to fasten the eyes of many Democratic States upon Mr. Roosevelt during the next two years.

Similarly, Governor-elect Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, becomes an important political potentiality. Candid Republican leaders no longer discount the Pennsylvanian. He has a record of success and independence, in the face of overwhelming odds, unequaled by any other Republican who figured in the balloting.

Pinchot Looms As Hoover Rival

Because of his avowed dryness, because of his liberal policies, and because of the enemies he has made, Mr. Pinchot stands today as the most conspicuous possible competitor of President Hover in the Republican party.

The Pinchot victory probably was the only party success in this campaign which the White House found distasteful. But there were many defeats in individual instances which brought grief to the Administration.

Hoover Friend Defeated

That of Senator Henry Allen, of Kansas, was probably the most melancholy incident of the campaign from a Presidential campaign. He had been appointed to the Senate largely to gratify the President. In the Senate he had served as the acknowledged White House spokesman. During his recent convalescence, Senator Allen spent a week at the Executive Mansion as the President's personal guest.

These facts bring the Senator's defeat very close home to Mr. Hoover. Also B. Carroll Reese, running to succeed himself from the first Tennessee district, was defeated. He is the only candidate for the House who had a personal indorsement of the President.

The Ohio result also has depressed the White House group. That is the home State of Postmaster-General Brown. He is the accepted political genius of the Administration. From that State also the President selected his national chairman, Senator Fess. The combined efforts of these two men could not stem the Democratic tide.

Community Council to Meet

Delbert Davis, president of the Oakland Community Council of Religious Education is calling n meeting of that body to meet in the First National Bank building this evening at 7:30 o'clock to consider the holding of an annual community training school. The proposed dntes are Dec. 7 to 12.

THOMAS, THE HONEST DOUBTER

LESSON TEXT—John 11:14-16; 14:5-8; 20:24-29; 21:1, 2.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Thomas answered and said unto him, My Lord and my God.

PRIMARY TOPIC — Learning to Trust Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Thomas, the Man Who Wanted to Be Sure.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Learning to Trust Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Value and Peril of Doubt.

The name Thomas means "a twin." His alternate name, Didymus, means the same. From the linking of his name with Matthew in the listing of the disciples, it is commonly inferred that Thomas was a twin brother of Matthew.

Thomas is constantly presented in the Scriptures as a man of skeptical mind, yet of unquestioned character. He was an honest doubter. The Lord is not displeased when men put him to the test. No honest skeptic has ever been left in darkness. The truth of Christ's declaration still obtains, "If any man will do his will, he shall know" (John 7:17).

I. The Fidelity of Thomas (John 11:14 16).

When Lazarus, the beloved brother in the Bethany home, was sick, the distressed sisters, Mary and Martha, sent for Jesus because they had come to know him as more than a mere man. Jesus, after a strange delay, went to Bethany. He knew, and apparently the disciples knew, that going to Judea at this time meant death. His mission in going unto Judea was twofold: to strengthen the faith of the disciples (vv. 11-15), and to restore to these sisters their dead brother.

Jesus fearlessly discharged his duty, though his life had been threatened. He plainly declared that Lazarus was dead. Thomas was skeptical as to Jesus' ability to raise Lazarus from the dead. In spite of this fact, his loyalty moved him to cast his lot with Jesus.

II. Jesus, the Way to the Father's House (John 14:5-8).

Jesus asked the disciples to trust in him even as they trusted in God, assuring them that he was going to the Father's house and would come back and escort them to heaven. Christ asserted that he is:

1. The Way to God (v. 6).

Jesus is more than a mere guide to the Father's house or a teacher. He is the way itself.

2. The Truth (v. 6).

He is not merely the teacher of truth, but he is the truth incarnate. In him we have the truth about man, what he is and what he ought to be and what he shall be in the future. In him especially we have the truth about God. Only as Christ reveals God can men know him (John 1:18).

3. The Life (v. 6).

Christ is not merely the giver of life. He is the very essence of life.

III. Thomas Makes Absolute Demands (John 20:24-29).

1. Jesus manifests himself to the disciples, Thomas being absent (vv. 24, 25).

He was absent at Jesus' first appearance after the resurrection, just why, we may never know. His absence deprived him of a vision of the Lord. Absence from the assembly of believers always occasions loss. The other disciples went to Thomas with the glad news of the resurrection, but he did not believe their testimony. His stubborn disbelief was such that he doggedly declared that unless he saw the nail prints and put his finger therein and thrust his hand into the Lord's side he would not believe.

2. Jesus manifests himself to the disciples, Thomas being present (vv. 26-29).

Observe:

(1) The Lord's kindness to those who have difficulties (vv. 26, 27).

Thomas deserved rebuke, but the Lord quietly supplied the evidence demanded.

(2) The Lord reveals himself to Thomas (vv. 27, 28).

Upon this revelation of himself Thomas was transformed from a doubter to a confessor.

3. The superior blessing of believing without sight (v. 29).

Having patiently furnished Thomas with tangible evidence of his resurrection, Jesus instructed him that to believe in him without such tangible evidence as he demanded was a higher and better state of mind than his.

IV. Jesus Reveals Himself After the Resurrection (John 21:1, 2).

Thomas had learned his lesson. He was on hand the next time the Lord revealed himself.

Autumn Salad

One level tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup boiling water, 1 cup sweet clder, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup cut raw cranberries.

Soak gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes and then dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar and salt, stirring thoroughly. Add lemon juice and cider and continue stirring. Allow mixture to cool and when starting to congeal fold in cut raw cranberries. Rinse individual molds in cold water and fill with salad. Place molds in refrigerator to chill. When salad is firm unmold on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise. Or this salad may be unmolded and used as a garnish for the roast fowl. Instead of raw cranberries, dates or figs may be used.

Banbury Turnovers

One cup seedless raisins, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup chopped walnuts, 1 lemon, juice and rind.

Sift sugar with flour and stir into slightly beaten egg. Add raisins, nuts and lemon. Roll out plain or puff paste to a sheet ⅛ inch thick. Cut into squares or circles about 4 inches across. Put 2 teaspoons of the filling mixture on each plece. Moisten the edge with cold water half way around. Fold over in the center, pressing the edges closely together to prevent leaking of juice. Bake in a quick oven (400 degrees F.) until brown.

Cheese Cakes

One and one-half cups smooth cottage cheese, ⅛ cup sugar, 2 eggs, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons cream.

If the cheese is not fine and smooth, press it through a strainer. Mix together cheese, cream and lemon rind; then add eggs well beaten. Line small tins with paste and nearly fill them with cheese-cake mixture. Place in a hot oven to brown the crust, after which reduce the heat and finish baking in a slow oven or moderate (325 degrees F.) It will take about half an hour.

Date Caramel Cream

One and three-fourth cups scalded milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ cup (¼ package) sliced dates, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ cup cold milk, 1 egg or 2 egg yolks, ¼ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup nut meats (may be omitted).

Add the sliced dates to the scalded milk in the top of a double boiler. Mix cornstarch and salt with cold milk, stir the paste into the scalded milk. Continue to stir until the mixture has thickened. Cover tightly and cook ten minutes. Beat the egg slightly; add sugar, and combine with cornstarch mixture one minute before it is removed from the flame. Add the vanilla and nuts. Cool slightly. Pour into individual serving dishes. Chill thoroughly. Serve with plain or whipped cream. If a molded dessert is desired, increase the cornstarch to 3 tablespoons, and pour the pudding into individual molds which have been rinsed in cold water.

Baked Date Pudding

One cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup (½ pkg.) sliced dates, ½ cup nut meats, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt. Mix the sliced dates and chopped nuts through the flour with the finger tips. Beat the egg; continue beating while adding the sugar gradually. Stir in the milk and vanilla. Add the dry ingredients, dates and nuts. Mix thoroughly.

Spread the mixture over the surface of a well-oiled or greased shallow baking pan to form a layer about one inch thick. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Cut in squares when cold and serve with whipped cream or a tiny ball of vanilla ice cream.

Date Bread Pudding

Two cups scalded milk, 1 cup stale bread crumbs, 2 egg yolks (or one whole egg), 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup (¼ pkg.) sliced dates.

Prepare the bread by crumbing pieces from a stale loaf; never use oven dried bread crumbs for a delicate bread pudding. Soak the crumbs in the scalded milk while beating the eggs slightly. Add the sugar and salt to the eggs and enough of the scalded milk to dissolve the sugar. Pour the egg and sugar mixture into the remainder of the scalded milk. Add the dates and vanilla.

Pour into a lightly buttered baking dish or into individual custard cups set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven until firm, about 45 minutes. Serve with hard sauce, lemon sauce, or cream (plain or whipped). Or cover the top with halved marshmallows and return to the oven until they are puffed and brown.

NOVEMBER

No shade, no shine, no butterflies, no bees,
No fruits, no flowers, no leaves, no birds—
November.

—Thomas Hood.

The whimsical poet tells the truth about November ln these clever lines, but not all the truth. He perceives the motif of the month and straightway proceeds to exaggerate the same—a privilege which belongs to all poets, and ls assumed by some who are not.

Every month of the twelve has lts characteristics and November an individuality of lts own. The vivid and varied color scheme of mid-autumn gives place to a study in gray monotony. The trees are leafless and they stand sharply silhouetted against skies that are leaden and bleak. The wind rustles amidst the fallen leaves as if searching for something it has lost and the fitful gusts scatter promiscuously the leafy heaps of brown and buff. There are hints not vague, but broad, that winter is near at hand and snow may fall any day.

There is a sombre charm ln November days and nights. The air is often crisp and invites the pedestrian to fill his lungs to their peak with deep breaths and pure. The landscape is alluring, even in its undressed effect. Rarely there is a sunset of such weird beauty as would have moved John Ruskin to exclaim, "It was well worth seeing." The twilight comes early and deepens quickly into night. The constellations keep pace with the calendar and shortly after the evening meal mighty Orion makes his appearance and begins his triumphant march across the heavens.

The insignia of November is the fodder shock, the pumpkin and the turkey gobbler strutting to his doom. History and romance meet and mingle ln this month, mellow with the memories of those days when America was young. It is easy now to see things at night. In the frosty twilight the rows of serried corn-shocks resemble a village of Indian tepees and in fancy one sees the shadowy forms of warriors, their women and children moving to and fro beneath the light of a harvest moon.

The time of the frying of doughnuts has come, the making of mlncemeat and the baking of pies; the cranberry sauce blushes furiously for they are grinding knives in anticipation of Thanksgiving "out at Aunt Mary's."

RAISING OF CHILDREN IS A HAZARDOUS OCCUPATION

State Department of Health Brings Out Startling Facts

A study made recently by the State Department of Health of 2,386 deaths that occurred in Maryland last year, in connection with what has been described as a particularly hazardous occupation, has brought out some startling facts. For instance, it was shown that 485, or one-fifth occurred during the first day on the job; 381 from the first to the seventh day; 283 from then until the end of the month, making a total of 1,149, or 48 percent—nearly half of the total during the year—during the first thirty days.

Inquiry into the causes showed that a large percentage of the deaths during the first thirty days—a total of 989— was due to some weakness that made it impossible for the individuals to stay on the job. Pneumonia carried off 477 of the total during the year, but only 52 of these occurred during the first thirty days. Digestive diseases were responsible for 386, but only 30 of these occurred during the first month.

In regard to these deaths, all of which occurred among children under a year old, Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene said, "When we realize that there were 2,386 infant deaths in the State, last year, that nearly half of them—1,149— occurred within thirty days after birth, we have to agree with the sanitarian who said "The business of being a baby is a most hazardous occupation."

"Unless we have looked very carefully into the causes of infant deaths, we are inclined to say off hand that most of them are due to the digestive diseases or pneumonia. But when we check back we find that nearly half of the deaths during the first year of life and over four-fifths of those during the first month of life are due to congenital weakness or injury at birth, or to some physical defect and that these causes are responsible for more infant deaths each year than the digestive diseases, pneumonia and other infectious diseases combined, we realize that we are facing a problem that cannot be solved after the baby arrives, but one that goes back to the period before the baby starts in on that critical first day's job. We realize that to benefit the baby we have to start with the mother. We have to see that she has the right sort of care before the baby comes, that she has the kind of nourishment that will keep her strong and that will help to build a strong, healthy baby. All of these things are included in what we call prenatal care, which every expectant mother should have and which safeguards both mother and baby."

THE HOUSE TO HOUSE MAN

By AD VICE

A house to house salesman called at the homes of a number of housewives in Oakland a few days ago—October 28, to be exact. His sales talk must have been good or the article for sale well known, because he took a number of orders. He also collected $1.50 as a deposit for the goods, the balance to be paid when the goods arrived.

On the customers' slips he credited them with $1.50. On duplicate slips which he sent to the office in Cumberland, he stated that the customers would send the $1.50 deposit direct to the company. This salesman, of course, pocketed the money.

A visit the other day from an executive of the company, who was seeking an explanation of these rather unusual transactions, disclosed the fact that the salesman was being sought with a possible criminal action being brought against him.

It happened in this instance that the firm with which he was connected had him bonded in the sum of $500 and that the deposits made by Oakland women who can buy the same article in Oakland at the same price, would not be lost to them.

But practically every day there are other instances where these deposits are made to canvassers whom nobody knows to be reliable and who never has the goods shipped as ordered.

The thing to do, if we may suggest it, is that when a salesman competing with the home merchant, calls and endeavors to sell you something you can get right at your door, use the broom and shut the door—with the salesman on the outside. That's the safest plan for you and for the welfare of the community at large.

Community pride and good business principles should dictate the policy of buying at home.

TABLELAND ASSOCIATION HOLDS CONFERENCE HERE

Executive Board Confers With Pittsburgh Representatives on Development of Counties

TO BUILD UP MEMBERSHIP

The Executive Board of the recently created Allegheny Tableland Association met with representatives from the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Commission yesterday afternoon at the William-James hotel, Oakland, and worked out preliminary plans for joint cooperation of various organizations looking to the future development of the mountain region.

The tentative plan proposes an organization within this region that will work with the agricultural program in assisting farmers to sell their surplus products on the Pittsburgh market; second, with the cooperation of Pittsburgh interests, the tableland association will advertise the entire region and plan for events next summer in order to attract thousands of tourists to all points of interest within the eight counties composing the Allegheny Tableland Region. These counties are: Fayette and Somerset in Pennsylvania; Garrett in Maryland; Mineral, Grant, Tucker, Preston and Monongalia in West Virginia.

The meeting was the outgrowth of the farm-city conference at Mt. Lake Park August 30 and the inter-county conference at Addison, Pa., October 15. The plan calls for a long time program not based upon immediate results, and means patience, hard work, faith and tenacity of purpose. Helping in this effort are the Agricultural Extension Services of three states; the State Department of Agriculture at Charleston, W. Va.; the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Commission with the Bureau of Economics of the University of Pittsburgh.

In the Pittsburgh metropolitan area as recently mapped there are 2,700,000 people. At least one million of these are traveling places six months in the year. The Allegheny Tableland Association is aiming to bring a big part of these million people to these mountains.

"It can be done", and is going to be done, was the sentiment expressed at the meeting yesterday. In order to do it some action must take place within the tableland area. This, the committee says, will not happen by wishing it to happen, but will result quickly enough by the one hundred percent cooperation of every organization, club, society, and business firm within the area. It is necessary to build up an association of large membership and the Executive Board yesterday made plans to begin a membership drive at once and lasting one month. The campaign for membership will begin at the home of the President of the Association, Mr. L. F. Everhart, of Terra Alta, and meetings will follow in every one of the eight counties for a period of a month.

At the meeting in the William-James hotel yesterday were: President, L. F. Everhart, Terra Alta; secretary-treasurer, Bushrod "Jack" Grimes, Mt. Lake Park; vice-presidents, Delbert Davis, Oakland; Mrs. J. O. Lantz, Hartmonsville, W. Va.; L. O. Winters, Gormania, W. Va.; Mrs. Bessie L. Stemple, Aurora, W. Va.; J. B. Watson, Confluence, Pa.; B. F. McNutt, Somerfield, Pa. composing the Executive committee. From Pittsburgh came Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Commission; Frank H. Shaffer of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce; James Shuman of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette. From Charleston, W. Va., came Ross W. Johnston of the Department of Agriculture; F. J. Reed, County Agent of Preston county, and Russell R. Gist, from the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University. The next meeting of the Executive Board will be at the William-James hotel on Wednesday, December 17.

5175 PUPILS ENROLLED LAST YEAR IN GARRETT

Report of Board of Education Gives Expenditures for 1929-30

That there were 5,175 pupils [illegible] in Garrett county schools with the cost per pupil set at $70.37, on a general average, is shown in the annual report of the Board of Education, this county, for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1929, just recently sent in to the State Department. The cost per pupil varied in the one-teacher, two-teacher, high schools, etc., from $49.04 in the two-teacher schools to $121.11 in the high schools. This is less than $5 higher than last year.

The schools were open for 186 days last year as compared with 176 days during 1922-23, and 189 for 1928-29. In 1922-23 there were only 18 first grade certificated teachers, as compared with 144 for 1929-30, with no second grade and no third grade teachers.

One school was closed during the year by consolidation, so that at present there are in the county 98 one-teacher, 10 two-teacher, 8 elementary schools with three or more teachers including the principal, 6 high schools, or a total of 122. This shows a decrease in the one-teacher schools, with an increase in the elementary schools.

The cost of teachers for 1929-30 was $219,508.24, which is $16,700.92 less than last year. The equalization fund, received from the State, has increased approximately $1,000.

The total receipts showed a total of $424,003.01, while the expenditures amounted to $421,869.85, leaving a balance of $2,133.06.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD

Estimated That Approximately 500 Persons Took Part in Mammoth Mummers' Parade

MANY NOVEL ATTRACTION

Despite the cool weather prevailing, a crowd estimated at about 2500 witnessed the mummers' parade and Hallowe'en celebration in Oakland on last Friday evening, held under the joint auspices of the Gilbert-Brown Boys' band and the Volunteer Fire Department.

A parade of approximately 500 persons, said to have been equal to the colorful and elaborate procession of last year, got under way shortly after 7:00 o'clock and marched almost the entire length of Third and Second streets before finally disbanding in the heart of town where the fun really began and where the prizes offered by residents and business men of the town were awarded.

The costumes worn by the paraders ran from the grotesque and ridiculous to the elaborate and extremely handsome, and there were several extra attractions in the procession.

The awards were made in front of the Monongahela West Penn office on Second street immediately after the parade and more than sixty prizes were given away.

From nine until one o'clock a dance was held in Fraley's Hall, the Marylanders furnishing the music.

That approximately only $30 would be cleared by the two organizations was announced by Alva Gortner, a member of the executive committee.

Monthly Inspection and Contests Scheduled For Scout Meeting

The monthly inspection and a contest among patrols for efficiency in knot tieing, first aid and signaling will occupy the time at the regular meeting of the Oakland Scout troop on Friday evening. Each patrol will vie for honors in these contests and inspection, and the winning patrol will be given special credit in the three-months period of competition.

Re-registration papers have been received from headquarters and must be filled out before the first of the year. All Scouts who have been active during the past year will be re-registered as members of the troop embarking on its seventh consecutive year of existence.

Junior Broadwater asked to become a member of the troop at the last meeting. He will be enrolled as a Tenderfoot as soon as his entrance tests have been passed.

Young Peoples Leagues Enjoy Hallowe'en Social

More than one hundred and twenty-five young people representing the young people's leagues of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and the Lutheran churches of Oakland, enjoyed a fine Hallowe'en social in the basement of the Lutheran church last Thursday evening. A committee of the Lutheran church directed the games.

Prizes were awarded to Miss Betty Broadwater for being the most elaborately dressed person, to Miss Virginia Fraley for the best imitation, representing a school girl carrying a doll; to Miss Catherine Williams, the most elaborately dressed Junior, and to Miss Catherine Menhorn for the most comical representation of "Maggie."

The president of each of the leagues responded with greetings. After refreshments were served Rev. Shilke dismissed the group with prayer.

G. O. P. LOSES 3 VOTES!

Republican majority was cut down by three votes Tuesday afternoon because three young women of Hopemont, voters in this county, were unable to reach Oakland because of an automobile collision on the one-way bridge just east of Hopemont.

The Chevrolet sedan owned by Albert Markley and driven by his son, attempted to pass an Oldsmobile car, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Shaw and Dorothy Sembower, of Terra Alta, on the bridge.

It is said that two cars once passed on this bridge but when they said just once they meant just once.

Occupants of both cars were bruised and shaken and several received slight cuts about the face and hands. No one was injured seriously but the cars were badly damaged.

For this reason Governor Ritchie's majority is three more than it ought to be.

Slightly Injured at Mine

Paul Graham, miner, at Freeport, was slightly injured last Thursday when a piece of the cutting machine fell, striking him in the face. An examination by a local physician showed no bones were broken. The man resumed work on Saturday.

Civic Club Holds Meeting

An interesting and entertaining meeting of the Oakland Civic Club was held Tuesday, October 28, at the home of the president, Miss Lottie M. Loar, with 18 members and two guests present.

Miss Alma Scherr, a member of the Morgantown (W. Va.) club spoke of the many phases of their work in the West Virginia city, one of their accomplishments being the founding of the hospital in that town.

"What are Federated Clubs Working For?" was presented in an interesting way by Mrs. James Willison, and the subject was later opened for general discussion.

WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED IN YARD-GARDEN CONTEST

Awards Are Made in Three Main Divisions and A Number are Given Awards of Merit

JUDGES MAKE STATEMENT

Winners in the Oakland Yard and Garden contest were announced yesterday by the judges in the three divisions, the children's garden, adult garden, and adult yard improvement. They are as follows:

Children's garden, Ralph Kahl, 1st, $2.50.

Garden, Gordon McRobie, 1st, $5; Theresa Welling, 2nd, $2.50.

Yard Improvement, Mrs. Julius Littman, 1st, $5; Mrs. Albert Markley, 2nd, $2.50.

Awards of Merit—Mr. John Faherty, Mrs. N. I. Broadwater, Mrs. B. I. Gonder, Miss Ora Bush, Dr. Archibald Moore, Byron Besse, Mrs. C. H. O'Brien, Mrs. Nellie Maffett, Mrs. Walter Hardesty.

Honorable Mention—Harold Dawson, Delbert Davis, Mrs. Mary Mitchell, and James Bell.

In making the selections the judges had the following to say:

"In transmitting the results of the scoring in the 1930 Yard and Garden contest the undersigned desire to state:

"That owing to the unusual weather conditions during almost the entire growing season the results herein do not reflect the civic pride of the citizens of Oakland who entered the contest.

"A survey of the city at the beginning of the endeavor revealed manifest intense interest, notably among those theretofore apparently uninterested in the development of the aesthetic in civic life. The start was propitious, indicating that interest would grow as the contest proceeded. Then at the height of the growing season came the nation-wide devastating drought accompanied by searing high temperatures with the curtailment by the authorities of the use of city water. Flower and vegetable gardens withered and died; lawns took on the appearance of burned areas. Then followed a killing frost. Seemingly nature had conspired to defeat the purposes of the contest. Those who had entered with high hopes and worthy civic pride gave up in despair, discouraged and disheartened.

"The number of entrants and the interest shown, in the opinion of the undersigned fully justifies your club in continuing its efforts along these lines for another year with every prospect, weather conditions being favorable, for the permanent success of this most desirable element in civic life.

The Judges.

TERRA ALTA MAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE MISHAP

Five Others Are Injured in Collision, But None Critically

Frank Sypolt, 26, of Terra Alta, W. Va., was instantly killed near Greer, Monongalia county, Saturday evening when an automobile which he was driving collided with another driven by Preston Davis, 20, of Masontown.

Five others in the two cars were injured, none critically. Roy Sypolt, brother of the victim, had severe head injuries, Fred Burch, 44, Kingwood, third passenger in the death car, escaped with cuts and bruises as did alson Davis and his two companions, Agnes White and Dora Feathers, both of Morgantown.

State Trooper Donaldson commented that Sypolt must have been driving at a terrific rate of speed. One side of the Ford touring car was stripped off, as was the case with the Davis car, a Ford sedan. The distance the Sypolt car traveled after the collision was another factor indicating excessive speed.

The victim was married and lived in Terra Alta. He was employed at Hopemont as a truck driver and was the son of Walter Sypolt, of Kingwood. Besides his father he is survived by his widow and a small daughter; three brothers, Clyde and Charles, of Terra Alta, and Robert, of Dellslow.

Funeral services were held from the residence Tuesday afternoon with interment in the Terra Alta cemetery. The report of one of the State troopers stated the Sypolt brothers and Burch had been drinking.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

Scoop doesn't know how Lee Shaffer feels about it, but Scoop wants it understood that Lee wasn't being given away on Hallowe'en for the best gypsy costume, regardless of how it was stated in the paper.

* * *

Somebody who saw those twin Chic Sale houses coming down the street in the parade exclaimed excitedly, "Here come the Ku Kluxers." But that was before they read the signs.

* * *

Hollering for silence at the Hallowe'en dance so they could announce the winners of the gold awards was just like wishing for the moon or asking for a Democratic majority in Garrett county.

* * *

And when people talk about the "younger" generation drinking themselves to death or going to the proverbial dogs, they ought to stop a minute and cast their eyes on the middle aged, for instance when a Hallowe'en dance is being held.

Children and young people are said to be great imitators but they will have to go some to keep up with their parents. Their stomachs don't hold enough.

Anyhow, a good time must have been had by all.

Down In Texas

Down in Kerville, Texas, the editor of a local paper advertised a "Cuss-The Editor" week, inviting anyone desiring to do so to write an article cussing out the editor, which he agreed to publish. His only requirement was that the writer sign his name. He got the following:

Dear Sir:

"You ain't so gol darn smart that you can ketch me with your tricks. I may be a darn fool but I know better than to get in jail for writing a cussing letter thru the males.

"In the first place a week ain't long enough to cuss an editor. And in the 2nd place I can't write like I can cuss.

"I get mad every time I see your darn paper and would quit but the ole woman would want a telofone put in and it costs too darn much.

"What for you put it in the paper about my boy gettin throd in jail? He didn't do nothing and you know it. He was Kew Klucked.

"And that time I had a fight with my neighbor he didn't lick me like you said he did. You are lying? (;;.*?@!) You know what I mean, that's the way yo editors cuss.

"You darn editurs are all alike, you prints the bad news and leave out the rest. You sure didnt say anything when my dotter ran off and got married nor when I bot my new car. No, I guess not.

"If there is an open season for editurs, let me know and I will be wateing for you."

* * *

All of which reminds Scoop that he hasn't held any contest for some time, and it might be well to hold a "Cuss-Scoop Week," during the next month. If there is anything anybody wants to get off his chest, let him write it in to Scoop.

* * *

Scoop overheard somebody say last night, "Boy, Scoop ought to have plenty of stuff this week." Well he does but is going to save it for future reference.

LIBERTY OF DISCUSSION AT GOODWILL CONGRESS

"A great crisis faces America in its international relationships," declared Dr. Fred B. Smith, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the World Alliance for International Friendship in announcing the International Goodwill Congress to be held in Washington November 10, 11, and 12.

"The opponents of the Reduction of Armament and the World Court are making a strenuous fight in the political field and through general publicity methods, in order to create feeling against them. To have these measures go down in defeat at this time would be disheartening to the friends of international goodwill in every land.

"The Congress of the World Alliance will major on these two great questions. Leaders in the world of religion, education, industry, journalism, and social welfare, will discuss their various aspects. The Congress will be addressed by outstanding authorities. An invitation to attend this Congress is extended to all friends of international goodwill — representatives of city, town, and community religious organizations, to representatives of Church Boards, and affiliated organizations, to representatives of civic, social and fraternal bodies.

"The utmost liberty of utterance at the Congress is encouraged. The program is planned not only to present the conditions throughout the world, but to promote constructive methods for developing international goodwill. The officers and Executive Committee of the World Alliance do not expect to be in complete agreement in all cases with all the views expressed at the Congress but they accord the largest liberty to all."

WORLD ALLIANCE ORGANIZED IN THIRTY-TWO NATIONS

The World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches, under whose auspices the Goodwill Congress is to be held in Washington, November 10, 11, and 12, is organized in thirty-two different countries, the meeting in Washington being held under the direction of the American Committee, of which Dr. William P. Merrill of New York is Chairman, Dr. H. A. Atkinson, General Secretary, and Dr. Fred B. Smith, Chairman of the Executive Committee.

The Alliance welcomes to its membership men and women of all religious faiths and political affiliations. It is the belief of the World Alliance that the task of transforming the world from a militaristic philosophy to one of goodwill and peaceful methods is essentially a moral issue, and not one of machinery primarily. The friends of this ideal are enlisted in this service and accorded the utmost liberty of expression of their particular views in reference to method of securing world peace.

CAN YOU DISPLAY CLEAN TEETH WHEN YOU SMILE?

Health Department Points Out What Smile Should Disclose

When you obey the request to "Smile, please!" can you do so with a feeling that you are displaying sound, clean, well cared for teeth?

Asking this question, Dr. Richard C. Leonard, Chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene, Maryland State Department of Health, pointed out that a smile or any disclosing of the teeth should properly reveal these three facts:

"First, strong, sound, well shaped teeth, made so by a strict adherence to correct diet. The strength and beauty of the teeth is in no small part due to the inclusion in the diet of green leafy vegetables, milk and fruits. Diet first affects the structure of the teeth before a child's birth. A mother's diet while pregnant and while nursing a child should include sufficient lime-bearing foods to furnish both herself and the child with tooth structure materials. During childhood the parents must see that such a diet is observed. Even in adult life dental disorders may be avoided by proper diet.

"Second, a smile should reveal clean teeth. Sound teeth may decay if allowed to go dirty. Weak-structured teeth are fairly certain to decay if not kept clean. To this vitally important reason for mouth cleanliness must be added the truth that a smile disclosing unclean teeth loses its charm. Clean teeth should be felt to be a matter of common decency.

"Finally, a smile should disclose proper dental care of the teeth. In spite of diet and cleanliness certain other conditions may cause the teeth to decay. Regular visits should be paid the family dentist for examination and the correction of any defects found. Fillings in teeth or even the extraction of teeth is not necessarily a sign of poor teeth nor of negligence. Rather, small filling may be considered as proof of a proper attitude toward, and an appreciation of, one's teeth. Visit your competent family dentist at least twice yearly.

"Follow these instructions and you will not hesitate when asked to 'Smile, please!'"

Specialist Warns About Watering Evergreens

If residents of the States are interested in seeing that their evergreens get through the winter it will be necessary, in many cases, to furnish these trees with a good supply of water before heavy freezing weather, according to W. R. Ballard, specialist in vegetable and landscape gardening for the University of Maryland Extension Service. The arbor vitae has been hit particularly hard, it is said.

To make matters worse, it is pointed out, during very dry seasons the red spider always thrives and adds to the general destruction by sucking the sap from the tree and devitalizing it.

In view of the situation, therefore, it would be wise, provided that hard rains do not arrive before heavy freezing weather, to give the trees a thorough soaking at least once.

In addition to the application of water, Mr. Ballard suggests mulching, particularly around such broad-leaf evergreens as the azalea, rhododendron and mountain laurel.

Maryland to Participate in 4-H Broadcasting Program

Maryland has been chosen this month to cooperate with the United States Department of Agriculture in broadcasting the 4-H club program on November 8, from 12:45 to 1:15, E. S. T. Each month different states are put on the program, and Maryland was chosen for November.

A Maryland 4-H club boy and girl will give talks on Maryland's achievements, and Dr. R. A. Penrson, president of the University of Maryland, will speak. Hon. A. M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, is also listed on the program. Selections will be played by the U. S. Marine band.

This month's program is known as achievement day, and is in recognition of the successful efforts of 4-H club members during this year.

SUPPORTING THE PRESIDENT

The office of the president of the United States represents the dignity and glory of America's past, the responsibilities of the present and the hope of the future. America's president is at once king and premier. He is the active ruler of a nation, yet about his person cling all the traditions, national aspirations and patriotic sentiments that surround a monarchial figurehead. In showing deference, respect and loyalty to their president, then, Americans are simply expressing their renewed faith in the institutions of their government, their pride in the nation's past and their hopes for its future.

Plainly, therefore, partisan bitterness should never be allowed to muddy the office of the president. Healthy political opposition to the party in power is a wholesome condition for the nation: but when opposition takes the form of personal abuse of the president, it ceases to perform a useful function and moves into dangerous ground.

When an opposition party deliberately manufactures personal misrepresentation of the president and invents stories as the basis for amusive criticism, it is undermining the pople's respect for their government and its institutions.

The exception only proves the rule that presidents gather a superhuman strength to live up to their high office and deserve the respect and tribute which the people render. Presidents devote themselves to their duties so wholeheartedly that their health soon becomes a matter of concern. President Hoover is maintaining, and even improving his physical condition, but the worries of his office are turning his gray hairs white.

A president's personality should be, and usually is, dwarfed by the magnitude of his office. Citizens do obeisance, not so much to the individual as to the office. This attitude on the part of the public is matched by a self-abnegation on the part of the president. Although he maintains his individuality, he loses his individualism. He becomes a puppet in the hands of fate.

In a real and intimate sense he becomes a servant of the people, whose time is never his own. Again and again the president may retire to his camp for a week-end of well-earned relaxation only to plunge into a fresh problem that requires his immediate attention.

A nation's choice pays a heavy price for being president. Nobody has better expressed this thought than Calvin Coolidge in his post-presidential writings. It is a painful process to tear up by the roots all the ingrained thoughts of self, and completely efface one's individualism in sacrifices to the country's welfare. Is it asking too much in return of the citizen to support the man in the White House during his incumbency—not, mind you, to agree with him always, but to show him the deference due his office?

Cities are no longer isolated; modern quick communication has welded the various units of a State into a composite whole.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS-ON NOV. 11

Membership Drive For Humanitarian Organization to Continue Until Thanksgiving

COUNTY'S QUOTA IS 400

District chairmen who will be in charge of the annual Red Cross roll call in Garrett county which will begin on Armistice Day and continue until November 30 (Thanksgiving Day), have been announced by Mrs. E. Z. Tower, county chairman.

They include Mrs. Joseph Fahey, Grantsville; Mrs. Samuel Cole, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Lester Yutzy, Crellin; Mrs. H. V. Leighton, Loch Lynn; Mrs. F. R. Utterback, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. J. E. Helbig, Deer Park; Miss Nina B. Peck, Accident; Miss Nezzie Friend, Selbysport; Mrs. R. R. Gilbert, Mrs. Franklin E. Rathbun, Mrs. S. D. Whipkey, Mrs. Paul Naylor, Mrs. Arthur Naylor, Mrs. Nanienne Offutt, Mrs. D. S. Davis, Mrs. Ernest Shirer, Mrs. D. Edward Offtut, Mrs. Ernest Liller, and Mrs. Hugh Teats, Oakland.

The quota for Garrett county this year is 400. Last year approximately 300 enrolled. The following article, written by an Oakland woman on the work that the Red Cross is doing, shows where each dollar goes.

"The most powerful organization for relief of human suffering, everybody knows, is the Red Cross. In "hard times" such as we are experiencing now it is difficult to raise money. When there is unemployment, however, and there is a great deal of suffering even among people who would work if they could get jobs, the demands made upon the Red Cross are greatest.

"Right here in Garrett county we know of people who, because of the drought and of lack of work, will not have enough to eat and to wear this winter. IF it gets the money the Red Cross can and will do a great deal toward making the winter bearable for unfortunate individuals.

"The Garrett County Chapter of the Red Cross now has, the treasurer reports, just $4.10 in the bank. During the past year demands on the treasury were heavy. Through inspection of school children by the county health nurses, it was discovered that sixteen children in various sections were greatly handicapped by poor eyesight, but their parents absolutely could not afford to buy glasses needed to correct defective vision. With Red Cross funds these children were taken to Cumberland, where—without pay—Dr. Sharrett examined their eyes. Red Cross funds were drawn upon to buy glasses, and now we have scattered about the county sixteen children who are enjoying the "gift" of sight for the first time. One little fellow, when he put on his "Red Cross" glasses, was overjoyed at being able from his schoolroom seat to see the blackboard which before had appeared only as a mist before his eyes.

"Some Garrett county children, too, were found whose systems were being poisoned by diseased tonsils, whose development would never be normal unless the offending tonsils were removed. The parents of these children could not bear the expense of tonsilectomy. Again Dr. Sharrett offered his services as a surgeon free. Red Cross funds paid traveling expenses and hospital fees, and we have in various parts of Garrett county children free to grow up healthy and strong.

"With relief of suffering among miners without work—of which we shall give details next week—what remains of last year's Red Cross funds wouldn't buy a five dollar bill. We all know how much suffering there is sure to be this winter right here, if there is not a large fund upon which to draw to meet the great number of emergencies bound to arise.

"To be sure, this is a time when we squeeze every dollar hard before we let it go. But yet, this, too, is a time when poverty is really pinching. Certainly those of us who are able to scrape up a dollar or more ought not to delay in joining the Red Cross.

"From Armistice Day, November eleventh, to Thanksgiving Day, is the period of the "Red Cross Drive". Significant are these two dates. Armistice Day brings up thoughts of soldiers who gave up everything—even life itself—because they believed they were helping humanity. If our soldiers could make such sacrifices, every one of us can give at least a dollar to make the world freer from suffering now and here. Thanksgiving Day brings forth a feeling of gratitude for what we have. Let every one of us extend his thanks for his own blessings by handing out to the Red Cross at least a dollar bill."

MT. LAKE PARK

While we dislike that Salt River trip, yet we hope the late occupants left the place in a habitable condition. But our stay there will be short.

Some one has been opening the valve on the reserve water tank at the Park, permitting the water to escape. This has happened several times, always at night. A short time ago, several parts of the engine, used for pumping, were carried away, necessitating the purchase and installation of new equipment before starting the pumps. At this particular time, the acts are especially reprehensible. We trust the suspicion as to the guilty party may be verified, and that prosecution will follow.

We understand that Mr. H. V. Leighton has sold his farm near Loch Lynn to Mr. B. F. Shaffer, who took possession the first of this month.

Mrs. William Thompson Burch has as her guest Mrs. Kemp, of Washington. They motored here from Washington where Mrs. Burch has been for several weeks, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Neil McCord.

Mr. and Mrs. John Piffer, Cleveland, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Murphy.

Miss Vivian Clary, a student of the Mountain State Business College, at Parkersburg, was the week-end guest of her mother, Mrs. Alma Bell.

Mrs. Daisy B. Hicks and son, Robert, have closed their cottage and returned to their home in Moundsville, W. Va.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Pope, mother of Mrs. E. E. Friend, who died this week, was held Wednesday from her late residence. Rev. Middaugh officiated. Interment was made in the family burial grounds near Grantsville.

Mr. Will Landon was a recent business visitor in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. MacClelland Clayton motored to Fairmont today for a visit to the mother of Mrs. Clayton.

Mrs. John Brenneman, who has been spending several weeks in Cumberland, returned to the Park to cast her vote.

Preaching in the U. B. church Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. Jessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Jacobs, who have been the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Traver, motored to Clarksburg to vote.

Dr. Sam Lee was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Ida Lee. Dr. Lee is superintendent of the County Tubercular Hospital at Greenville, S. C.

Mr. E. O. Fouch was recently called to Hagerstown by the fatal illness of his brother.

The burning of a cross, accompanied by three explosions, near the depot, presumably by the K. K. K., attracted attention of the residents of the Park a few evenings ago.

Mr. W. C. Dunnington has gone to Pittsburgh to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. William Grimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCutcheon, who motored here last Saturday from their home in New York, returned there Tuesday, accompanied by their son, who has been the guest for several weeks of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Oswell.

Several vacant houses in the Park have been broken and entered by unknown parties during the past week. We need an all-time officer.

Surprise Party Held

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beckman entertained their son with a surprise party Monday evening. Those present included Joy Griffith, Daisy Upole, Paul Riley, Elwood Riley, Dortha Riley, Roy Durst, Ray Durst, Annie Durst, Maxine Friend, William Friend, Ada Wensell, Mrs. Ernest Friend, Mrs. Oma Bernard, Stanley Bernard, Ralph Bernard, Mrs. Dice Spiker, William Spiker, Virginia DeBerry, William DeBerry, Alma White, Eleanor White, Geraldine Feathers, Lloyd Garlitz, Alice Garlitz, John Garlitz, Harold White, George White, Eloise and Joan Griffith, Beulah Friend, Kenneth Beckman, Rev. Beckman, Hazel Garlet, Mr. William Beckman.

The evening was spent in playing games.

To Discuss Child Health and Protection

The White House conferenee on Child Health and Protection will meet in Washington, D. C., during November. Valuable information has been collected by experts and research workers for this convention. President Hoover will speak to the conference on a coast to coast radio hookup, at 9 p. m. on Wednesday, November 19, E. S. T.

Secretary Wilbur, chairman of the conference, sums up the results in a hook-up, known as the Farm and Home Hour, on Saturday, November 22, at 12:45 p. m., E. S. T.

Some great interest or group of interests may soon decide to establish a foundation to make a new and thorough study of seasonal employment.

ELECTRIC LINE AT DEEP CREEK LAKE BEING BUILT

McHenry, Thayerville and All Property Owners Along Route 37 to be Benefited

BUILDING BOOM EXPECTED

That McHenry, Thayerville, and all property owners along the west side of Deep Creek Lake along route 37, would have the advantages of electricity by December 1 was assured by Mr. F. E. Corliss, local representative for the Associated Gas and Electric company, yesterday. When the electric current is turned into the wires at that time it will be the realization of a desire for which people have been seeking for three years.

Many of the poles are already in position and the cross bars and wires will be placed within the next two weeks, it was stated. The new line will connect with the line from the power house at Sines, at the junction of route 37 with the dirt road to Hoyes, near Accident, and will follow route 37 southward to Thayerville, a distance of 7½ miles.

The property owners along this route and a number of people of Oakland and vicinity, by subscription, raised the amount necessary to purchase and erect the poles, while the Associated Maryland Electric Power corporation is furnishing the wire and making all connections, also assuming responsibility for the upkeep and continuance of electric service. An extension line will also run westward from the Deep Creek bridge for several hundred yards and furnish power to consumers on the lots formerly owned by George E. Sloan. It is predicted that within a year or so extension lines will also be erected along the Meadow Mountain road and other points along the lake.

Forty customers will be served by the new line, and the minimum rate will be $1.50 per month. In explaining why it was necessary for property owners to purchase and erect the poles, Mr. Corliss stated that the public service commission would not permit the outlay of so great an amount of money that the company could not receive a profit of two percent on its investment. This is what delayed the erection of the line two years ago, he said. With the small number of consumers it would have been necessary to charge a minimum monthly rate of $8 or $10, had the company assumed the entire expense of extending the line.

With the addition of electric facilities along the shores of Deep Creek Lake, it is fully expected that many more cottages will be erected there during the next few years, and that business will as a natural consequence increase materially, not only for Oakland people but those of the entire county.

Driver Jumps to Safety as Train Hits Truck

A Ford truck owned by L. Weingold, and driven by Charles Sisler, was wrecked on the Baltimore and Ohio crossing on Second street about 10:30 o'clock this morning, when it collided with a westbound freight.

The driver, seeing it was impossible to get the car off the crossing before the crash, jumped from the car and was unhurt. Sisler is being held on charges of not having the proper driving license, and for reckless driving. The railroad was observing its usual precautions, according to State patrolman Crist.

Negro Released Upon Payment of Fine

Herbert B. Jackson, negro, who was being held in the county jail following the automobile accident in which Aldah Williams was killed and Miss Gertrude Conrad seriously injured, was given a hearing on Monday before Justice Gonder and fined $10 and costs for having no registration card and no license in his possession. No other charges were preferred. The fine and costs were paid and Jackson was released.

Wilt Fined for Common Assault

Cletis Wilt, Bear Hill, near Bittinger, was fined $10 and costs Monday before Justice Gonder on charges of common assault upon Russell H. Bittinger.

There was not sufficient evidence to substantiate the charge that Wilt had shot and seriously wounded Bittinger with a .22 calibre rifle.

TO OBSERVE MEN'S NIGHT IN CHURCHES OF OAKLAND

Union Service Scheduled For St. Mark's Sunday Evening

Men's night in the churches of Oakland will be observed on Sunday evening when the men of the four protestant churches will join for special services in St. Mark's Lutheran church to hear Mr. Bert Dann, of Elkins, W. Va., an outstanding and Christian layman.

Mr. Dann is interested in men's work in the churches and has addressed many congregations in the Presbyteries of West Virginia.

The service will begin at 7:30, and all men of the community are invited to hear Mr. Dann. Two hundred or more are expected to be present at this service.

REV. BROCK ADDRESSES LEGIONAIRES ON SUNDAY

Tells Members "Ex-Service Man" Implies an Unpleasant and Untrue Insinuation

CHANGES EX- TO EXTRA-

"The name 'ex-service men,' in my opinion, carries an unpleasant and untrue insinuation," stated Rev. W. B. Brock, in his address to members of the American Legion in Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday morning. "The implication is that you used to serve your country and now you do not; that you used to be workers and now are shirkers.

"It is not true that you stopped serving your country when you stepped out of your uniform. There are black sheep in every fold, of course, but taking them as a whole there is no finer, more useful, more patriotic group of men in America than the members of the American Legion—popularly, but falsely, misnamed "Ex-Service Men."

"Let us make a slight change in that word; let us call you "Extra-Service Men.' May you be loyal followers of Him who 'came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many.'"

Approximately 30 members of Proctor Kildow Post were present in a body to hear Rev. Brock's message. Reeves Blandford rendered a vocal solo appropriate to the occasion.

"Only in service to others does man find his most exquisite joy, his most enduring satisfaction", Rev. Brock continued. "Selfishness is always self-destruction. You know the reason why the Dead Sea is dead—because it is always receiving and never giving out.

"Sir James Barrie says, 'Those who bring sunshine into the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.'

"Every personal contact, however momentary, that we make in the crowded ways of life is our divinely-given opportunity to play the role of the Good Samaritan, to serve our fellowmen, to follow the example of Job who could say, 'I was eyes to the blind and feet was I to the lame; I was a father to the needy, and the cause of him that I knew not I searched out. Yea, by the light of my countenance I upheld many.'

"Don't build all your castles in Spain. Build a house of friendship by the side of the road, here in your own town.

"Use your influence with your national organization that all together you may cooperate in the upbuilding of a nobler and greater America, in which the prophet's vision shall become a reality—'Salvation shall be thy walls and bulwarks, and thy gates Pralse; I will make thine officers Peace and thy rulers Righteousness.'

"And once more lend a helping hand across the sea to the veterans you once fought for a common cause. Now, in a nobler cause, unite with them forever to outlaw and abolish war; for unless you abolish war, it will abolish you and your children. It will annihilate mankind. It is the aren enemy, and we must destroy it, or it will destroy us.

"Out of the ruins of the old world we must build the new world, the Kingdom of God on earth, whose law is service, whose motive is love, whose ideal is brotherhood, whose method is the Golden Rule, whose purpose is fulness of life for all, whose sovereign it the Prince of Peace."

LOCH LYNN HOTEL SITE BEING TRANSFORMED INTO LARGEST POULTRY RAISING FARM IN THE COUNTY

Messrs. Harry Paugh and Blair Simmons Are Now Installing Latest Improvements

ALREADY HAVE 1500 HENS

From billiard balls to hen eggs, from duck pins to chicken pens, from a swimming pool to an incubator, from a spectator's gallery to a roost for White Leghorns, from the old Loch Lynn Hotel recreation building to the Park View Hatchery and Poultry Farm—that is the transformation that has taken place within the past summer in Loch Lynn, which is nothing more than the beginning of Garrett county's largest egg manufacturing concern, under the management of Harry Paugh and Blair Simmons.

And that they are going to make a big success of the project seems certain after seeing the activity in completing all the improvements which have been planned, before the approach of winter.

When the two managers purchased the property on May 17, it was an abandoned recreation building, frequented at one time by society's best. Now the building contains 750 ladies, who ought to be rated as top-notchers in Leghorn society, from the looks of them, and before the winter sets in there will be 750 more to keep them company, whose pedigree should be just as high. Eventually on the two floors. 3,000 will be taken care of.

With already more than $4,000 invested, Messrs. Paugh and Simmons are planning to continue until they have an investment of approximately $10,000.

Improvements being installed at present are electric lighting facilities, a mammoth incubator, an automatic water system with sanitary fountains, the most up-to-date and sanitary roosts available, and enough pens to take care of the 1,500 chicks which were hatched in May and June, and which are just now beginning to lay with a little regularity. Nests are also to be built, one for every ten hens. Right now the hens aren't very particular where they put their eggs, but they'll have all winter to learn.

Within 60 days Mr. Paugh estimated that he would be getting over 500 eggs per day, and by February or March he predicted that he would be getting 1,000. A carload of feed was unloaded last week, which is expected to last for about four months.

When all repairs and improvements have been completed, there will be two complete floors, 70 by 90 feet, and a basement. The basement, at one time the swimming pool, will house the incubator, while the two main floors will house the chickens.

Garrett county is well adapted to raising of pullets, according to a number of poultry men. Cool nights during the summer months are said to make it ideal for late hatchings, and this was verified by the attempts of the two managers this summer when they successfully raised 1,500 after the latter part of May.

The Park View Hatchery is already three times as large as any poultry farm in this section. They are planning on increasing the number of their hens to 3,000, and it looks like a very successful enterprise. But wouldn't you hate to gather the eggs?

WILL HOLD LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL HERE

Third Annual Session to Begin On Sunday, December 7

The Oakland community council of religious education at its last meeting authorized and planned for the holding of its third annual leadership training school December 7 to 12 inclusive.

The school will be held in St. Mark's Lutheran church. Courses for credit will be offered in three subjects. Story telling to juniors and primary children will be taught by Miss Lillian McCormick, of Baltimore; Church school administration, including general management and conducting of a bible school will be taught by Rev. John Wood, D. D., of Keyser, W. Va., a man who has devoted much of his ministry to the general work of church administration; and a course in old Testament will be offered by a competent teacher.

Anyone who desires a better working knowledge of Christian principles and ideals is invited to attend this school. At least 100 are expected to enroll. A fee of one dollar will again be charged for registration, to help defray expenses.

Water Supply Is Lower Than At Any Time This Summer

The water supply in Oakland is lower than at any time during the summer drought, according to H. P. Stuck, member of the water committee of the Mayor and Town Council, and unless extreme care is taken by the citizens to conserve until the new well is completed or until heavy rains come, some drastic action may have to be taken, he said.

The water in the reservoir at present is dangerously close to the fire reserve level. The well driller from Kingwood, W. Va., Mr. Jenkins, completed setting up his machine yesterday and is ready to go as deep as the council desires. The well is now over 75 feet deep.

LARGE CROWD IS PRESENT FOR ARMISTICE PROGRAM

E. J. Ryan, Cumberland Attorney, Makes Main Address

An address by E. J. Ryan, attorney, of Cumberland, and program at the Maryland theatre, featured the Armistice Day celebration in Oakland on Tuesday, November 11. The Maryland theatre was packed for the observance of the signing of the paper which terminated the World War.

Mr. Ryan, in his address, stressed the legislation program which the legion had been carrying out for all ex-service men, and the proper observance of Armistice day.

Delbert Davis, chairman of the program committee, spoke briefly on the idea of educating children to love peace instead of war. "Permanent peace rests with the coming generation, not with members of the legion," he said.

The following program was carried out: invocation by Rev. J. D. Dawson; solo, Reeves Blandford; selection, O. H. S. Glee club; reading, Mrs. M. C. Hinebaugh; a number of songs by the audience; two marches by the Boys' Band, and benediction by Rev. Trimble. Mr. Wade Hinebaugh led the singing, with William Gibson accompanying on the piano. Miss Monna Bland accompanied the glee club in its selection.

The day was observed in Oakland by a half holiday at all places of business.

Wins Ninth Place In State Corn Judging Contest

Hagan Frazee, student in the agriculture department of Oakland high school, won ninth place in the State corn judging contest at Frederick on October 24, it has just been announced. There were fifty boys in the contest, representing 25 high school agriculture departments of Maryland.

The contest was held in connection with the Frederick Fair. Hagan Frazee and Darrel Martin represented the local school as the fifth anuual corn judging team.

FORMER SHINE PARLOR, WITH HISTORY, BEING MOVED

One of Oakland's older buildings is being taken for a ride, but it isn't the first time, according to the memory of some of the older residents of the community.

The building, owned by Ed Offutt, fronting on Railroad street, last occupied by Calvin Menhorn and designated as a shoe shine parlor, was purchased by Eugene Baumgartner, and is being moved to its new location on Third street, in rear of the Hart building, by D. L. Swartzentruber.

The building was originally erected on the southeast corner of the lot where the First National Bank building now stands and was used as a law office by Gilmor S. Hamill, the dean of the Garrett county barristers. The building got its first trip in 1902 when the bank building was constructed, and was moved to Railroad street by the father of the man who is now engaged in returning it to the center of town. The moving will take several days.

REV. TRIMBLE TO PREACH THANKSGIVING SERMON

Annual Union Meeting Will Be Held in St. Paul's Church

The annual Union Thanksgivlng service will be held for Oakland and the surrounding community in St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church on Thanksgivlng morning, November 27, at ten o'clock.

The pastors of the local churches will conduct the services. Rev. D. C. Trimble, newly appointed rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, will preach the sermon.

The offering at the service will be devoted as in former years as an emergency fund for the poor, to be expended by the public health nurse.

WOLF DEN COAL TIPPLE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Believed to be Most Up-To-Date Structure of its Kind in This Part of the County

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, entirely destroyed the mining tipple of the Wolf Den Coal company, at Shallmar, near Kitzmiller, early Wednesday morning.

The Wolf Den tipple was one of the most up-to-date structures of its kind in this section of the country, and the loss is estimated at approximately $50,000.

Three hundred men were temporarily thrown out of work. A temporary tipple will be erected, but it is estimated that it will be several months before the normal number of men will be employed. A large number of the employes at the mine were from Kitzmiller, who have no other means of livelihood.

Whorton Resigns—Only As Chairman of Street Committee

Mistaking the word chairman for councilman, in the letter from J. W. Whorton, to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, last week, was the cause of an error in reporting that Mr. Whorton had resigned from the council, and that his resignation had been accepted, according to Ralph Thayer, president of the council.

Upon a close scrutiny of the letter, it read: "I hereby tender my resignation as chairman and as a member of the street committee." When the letter was read last week at the monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council, the members thought it read "Councilman".

Now, instead of a new councilman to appoint, there is just a new chairman needed for the street committee.

Executive Board of Tableland Association to Meet Dec. 17

The executive board of the Allegheny Tableland Association will meet at Oakland on December 17, and among other matters will select a place for the first annual convention of the members of the association.

Membership in this association is composed of four classes: Individuals; firms, hotels, businesses. etc.; groups, clubs, societies, etc., including institutions; contributing members.

The central purpose of the association is to unite the eight counties in an advertising campaign by printing bulletins, newspaper articles and pictures; by radio and by intercounty conventions, festivals, etc.; to develop the entire area as a recreational center for the thousands of people in the cities wishing to find places to go during vacation time and at week-ends. Also to cooperate with the agricultural program in the various counties and to tie-in with the Pittsburgh interests in developing better markets for farm products.

For full information and literature, readers should write to the secretary, Bushrod Grimes, Mountain Lake Park, Md.

75 Percent of Trees, Planted by Scouts This Spring, are Growing

Seventy-five percent of the 1,100 trees planted this spring by members of the Oakland Boy Scout troop for the Oakland Civic club, are growing, according to a letter from H. C. Buckingham, district forester.

This percentage is remarkable considering the drought and unfavorable growing conditions throughout the entire season, the letter stated.

The trees were planted on the State forest at Herrington Manor by about fifteen scouts, who worked steadily for more than four hours.

GAS RATE IS LOWERED IN TOWNS OF WEST VIRGINIA

Terra Alta, Corinth Affected—Took Effect Yesterday

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company has filed, effective November 5, 1930, a net industrial rate for the towns of Terra Alta, Corinth, Hopemont, West Virginia, and vicinity, as follows: First 2,000 cubic feet used per month, 69 cents per thousand; next 2,000 cubic feet used per month, 64 cents per thousand; next 246,000, cubic feet used per month, 59 cents per thousand; all over 250,000 cubic feet used per month, 40 cents per thousand.

On all accounts not paid in full within ten days of date of bill two cents per thousand cubic feet will be added to the net amount shown.

This very low rate should greatly assist these towns to induce industries to locate in them, where gas is an important factor.

This rate is exceedingly low, and the Gas company is glad to offer this inducement to assist in building up the prosperity of the towns served.

Meetings Are Scheduled for Maple Syrup Producers

A series of meetings has been scheduled for three maple products sections as follows:

Ryan's Glade Grange Hall, November 17, at 7:30 p. m.; Bittinger school house, November 18, at 7:30 p. m.; Grantsville High school, November 19, at 8:00 p. m.

These meetings will be followed by the annual meeting of the Garrett County Maple Products Association which will be held in the County Agent's office, Oakland, on November 20, at 1:30 p. m.

It is of the greatest importance that sugar producers get together, discuss and make plans to improve the maple syrup industry. All business men are also invited to attend one or all of the sessions, and join in the discussion.

In order to put any product before the public it is necessary to have some definite plan for advertising. Before a product can be advertised it must be standardized. These are some of the things that will be discussed at the meetings as well as individual producer's problems.

THE BELIEVING CENTURION, A GENTILE WHOSE FAITH JESUS COMMENDED

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:5-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—And they shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Believed Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Believed Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being Fair to Other Races.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Overcoming Racial Prejudice.

I. Who the Centurion Was (v. 5).

His name is not given. His title was derived from the word meaning "a hundred." He was, therefore, officially the commander of a hundred men. "The ordinary duties of a centurioa were to drill his men, inspect their arms, food, and clothing, and to commaad them la the camp aad la the field."

II. The Centurion's Need (vv. 5, 6).

He had a very dear servant who was greviously afflicted with the palsy, and at the point of death (Luke 7:2). This slave was highly valued for this character and ability. We are not told la this account as to whether the centurion had employed doctors. Ia all probability they had bcea employed and were unable to give help. The centurion had, no doubt, heard of the wonderful power of Jesus to heal. Therefore, he came to him as the oaly one who could help.

III. The Centurion's Request (vv. 5,6).

It was that Christ would come and heal his servant (Luke 7:3). From the account in Luke we learn that the centurion first sent the leaders of the Jews. Being a Gentile, he doubtless believed that he could best secure the attention and consideration of Jesus through the mediatioa of the Jews. The centurioa was of good report among the Jews. The leaders who were sent testified to the good reputation which he bore la the community. They especially mentioned his benevolent deeds to the Jews.

IV. The Centurion's Humility (vv. 7, 8).

As Jesus was nearing the centurion's house the friends were sent to say to him that he was unworthy for him to come under his roof, but because the case of his servaat was so grave, he brushed aside all difficulties and personally appealed for help. Jesus is pleased when men realize their utter helplessaess and appeal to him for help.

V. The Centurion's Faith (vv. 8-10).

In spite of his uaworthiness he committed his case to the Lord. He believed that if Jesus would but speak the word, his servant would be healed. It is most interesting to aote his philosophy of authority. He said, "I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me, and I say to this man, 'Go,' and he goeth, and to another, 'Come,' and he cometh, and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he doeth it." He believed that disease was under control, that Christ could order it about just as he ordered his soldiers about. By faith he saw Christ as completely in authority over the most violent malady as he himself was in control over the soldiers under him. His faith was so unusual that Christ marveled at it. He did not marvel la the sense of being surprised at it, but marveled at its intelligence. His faith was based upon the true philosophy of the universe; namely, that the universe is based upon a law and Jesus Christ is the Director and Controller of that law. So greatly was Christ pleased with his faith that he declared that it exceeded anything found among the Jews, that many Gentiles would have a place in the kingdom to the exclusion of many Jews.

VI. Christ's Wonderful Power (v. 13).

He said to the centurion, "I will come aad heal him" (v. 7). Note his perfect confidence in himself. He did not say, "I will come and see what I can do," but "will heal him." He knew that all power was given uato him by the Father. He did not need to go and touch the centurion's slave, but needed only to speak the word, and it was done. He could heal from miles away as well as when in the presence of a sick person. How wonderful is the power of the Lord Jesus Christ! Let us trust him at all times and under all circumstances.

Northwestern Pike A Finished Route

(By Fred Graham, in The Baltimore Sunday Sun)

Within the past few weeks the last unpaved gap in the Northwestern trunpike, one of the oldest and most famous roads across the Allegheny Mountains, was hard-surfaced and the road that George Washington first planned as a connection link between the Eastern seaboard and the West now stretches uninterruptedly from the south branch of the Potomac, in the East, to the Ohio river, in the West, a winding, twisting ribbon of ashfalt.

This last stretch of dirt road on the Northwestern turnpike, passing along the outskirts of the city of Grafton, W. Va., is slightly less than two miles in length and when contractors finished their work the last detour on the old road was removed. The reason this short stretch has been allowed to remain unimproved so long is that Grafton wanted to have the original line of the road changed so as to bring the pike through the business section of the town rather than along the outskirts. The State of West Virginia, however, held to the old line of the road and so it will be.

* * *

The Northwestern turnpike was born of the demands of the early colonists for a new road connecting Virginia with the West. The colonies were growing rapidly and spreading. Always it was toward the West that they looked when they thought of expansion, and they realized that the West could be opened up only when there was some adequate means of quick and safe transport. Pioneers who had pushed westward returned to their homes with glowing tales of the virgin territory, and as often as they spoke of the opportunities the West offered they spoke of the lack of roads connecting seaboard and hinterland. The mountainous nature of the country made water transportation out of the question. There was only one way: an overland route. Washington was one of the first men of influence to realize the value of a road over the Alleghenies, and he was vigorous in his efforts to convince others that such a road was needed.

Some years before, as a surveyor and scout, Washington had pushed his way to the Ohio river along old Indian trails, and no man of his day was better acquainted with the country, its value and possibilities. Nor was there a man who knew more positively how difficult was passage from the Atlantic to the Ohio.

The first white man who moved westward across the Allegheny Mountains followed the same Indian trails along the ridges of the mountains Washington had trod. When travel to the West grew heavier a more or less regular road, known as the McCullough trail, was cut across the mountains. At best the McCullough trail was little more than a path and suitable only for travel on foot. Starting at the south branch of the Potomac river, the McCullough trail bent in a general northwesterly direction and continued to the headwaters of the Youghiogheny river. There it swung nearly due west and held that course to Cheat river and the Tygarts Valley river. At the Tygarts Valley river it was known as the Eastern trail and was more or less indefinite from there to the Ohio river. Rough and tortuous was the McCullough trail and hostile Indians made travel over it extremely hazardous, but for many years it enjoyed the reputation of being the safest and best way to the Ohio river.

Nothing more was done about this route across the Alleghenies until after the Revolution, and in 1827 the need of a through road from East to West was so patent, and public clamor so insistent that the Virginia Legislature passed a bill providing for a "turnpike of minimum width of twenty feet, by the most practical route, from Winchester, Virginia, to some point on the Ohio river, to be situated by the principle engineer". Money to build this "improved trunk line" was to be raised by subscription in Winchester, Romney, Moorefield, Beverly, Kingwood, Pruntytown, Clarksburg, and Parkersburg. The right to erect bridges, regulate ferries and establish toll gates on each twenty miles of road built was also granted.

Col. Claudius Crozet, a French artillery officer and engineer under Napoleon Bonaparte and builder of the historic highway across the Alps by which Napoleon invaded Italy, was commissioned to design and build the road. Colonel Crozet had come to the United States in 1816 and for seven years had served as an instructor of engineering at West Point. The choice of the eminent French engineer was a wise one, because, without doubt, there was not his equal in experience and knowledge of road building in the United States.

Colonel Crozet set about his work immediately with the same determination and studied care that had made him so valuable to Napoleon. The original survey he made himself, with an eye to keeping the grade as moderate as possible. This was no easy task, but Crozet's road-building experience had taught him that roads over mountains should be built to permit heavy loads to be transported with the minimum power, even if the route was longer. And it is to Crozet's rather obscured credit and ability as an engineer that the Northwestern turnpike today is the most moderate and easiest gradient of all the trans-Appalachian highways.

Starting at Winchester, Crozet built his road through Hampshire and modern mineral counties, in what is now West Virginia, by way of Mill Creek Gap, across the southwestern end of the State of Maryland at Garrett county and into Virginia again at Preston county. He was forced to contend with many difficulties he had never met in his European road building, but he was able to meet every occasion with just a little to spare. By the time the road reached Kingwood work was stopped by a combination of obstacles, the greatest of which was the weather. No one back in Virginia was certain as to the reason for the suspension of work, but many wild guesses were made. After a period of vituperation Colonel Crozet's critics succeeded in influencing the Legislature to demand an explanation of the delay.

Late in 1830 work on the road was slowed again, this time because of insufficient funds. The Legislature, however, saved the road in 1831 by an act that organized a road corporation. The Governor of Virginia was named president and a director of the corporation and authorized to borrow $125-000 on the credit of the State to continue construction of the road. In a remarkably short time after this act Crozet and his construction gang, by dint of hard and steady work, reached the Ohio river at what is now Parkersburg, West Va.

As Colonel Crozet and his aides stood on the eastern bank of the Ohio river and looked back toward the Atlantic Ocean they experienced the satisfaction that comes of a hard job well done. They had not underestimated the current value of the new road as a tap root from the rich and undeveloped West to the markets of the East, but the future valuc of the road as an aid to the growth and development of the United States was to transcend their wildest dreams. It was one of the major arteries between East and West and the pulse of life already throbbed up and down its entire length of 241 miles, steadily if not strongly.

Covered wagons, carrying women, children, household furnishings and farm implements moved westward over the new road. Men, ever on the lookout for hostile Indians, rode on horses or trudged on foot beside them. Older boys—and sometimes girls—drove herds of lean and leathery cattle. Traders, settlers, farmers, hunters, adventurers, and soldiers they were, and their wagon trains creaked and rolled over the mountains in clouds of dust—ever on toward the West—the land of opportunity.

Later raw materials and cattle were brought back over the road to Eastern manufacturing cities, and in time stage-coach lines were inaugurated. Coaches ran over the Northwestern turnpike on regular schedule and this new means of rapid transport created a demand for inns and hostelries to accommodate the travelers. Many inns sprung up along the road, and it was the day of rapid travel between the East and the Ohio river.

When gold was discovered in California the Northwestern turnpike witnessed its first great rush of frenzied humans to the far West. Men, women and children from every walk of life passed along the road in wagons and in carts, on horseback and on foot—all eager to get rich. The romance of gold and the West drew them as irresistibly as a magnet. The inns and hostelries waxed fat on the increased volume of trade it brought. Larger, more comfortable and more pretentious buildings were erected to take care of the increasingly large number of travelers. Spirit and hope ran high along the Northwestern turnpike.

Years later some of the gold seekers passed over the same road on their way home. Varying degrees of fortune had made some rich and others extremely needy; in fact, those who returned overland with a great deal of gold were few. The hazards of overland travel with any sum of money were greater than even the hardiest cared for; besides those who had made fortunes preferred the comparative luxury of an ocean voyage back home, though it was ever so much longer. The business of the inns that had flourished during the westward passage languished, and for the most part the large buildings stood vacant. Their volume of business now depended on traffic of raw materials from the West to the manufacturing centers of the East and the return of the finished product. In time this was to eclipse the revenues of '49.

* * *

During the Civil War Union and Confederate soldiers moved and fought up and down the length of the old turnpike, and as it was one of the best roads connecting Virginia and Ohio at that time it played an important part in the war. A monument has been erected on the turnpike at Fetterman, a suburb of Grafton, to the memory of "the first man killed in the Civil War"—Bailey Brown. According to the local version of the affair, Brown was shot in cold blood by a Yankee sentry. Anyway, the monument to Brown is here, and the good citizens can still fight the war over of an evening.

* * *

With the advent of the automobile it was thought that the Northwestern turnpike would be hard-surfaced and take its place among the great roads of the country. But not so. Other roads westward were paved and the old turnpike that had done so much to settle the West was allowed to remain a thing of rocks, and sand and clay. To be sure, automobiles moved over it, but they were usually the automobiles of persons living on or near the pike. Tourists, though they seem to relish the rigors and inconveniences of travel, hesitated in attempting to cross the Alleghenies on the old dirt road. After less direct roads west were paved it was decided to do the same with the old pike. It has been slow work, although the grade and line of the old road has been followed closely, and as soon as the last two miles of dirt road thru Grafton, W. Va., are paved the old turnpike will be a through hard-surfaced road from Winchester to the Ohio.

If Colonel Crozet's shade is hovering around the scene of his earthly triumphs it must experience a ghostly glow of satisfaction, for the new Northwestern turnpike follows almost exactly the route of the original road as he laid it out and built it over a century ago.

SPECIAL CARE IS NEEDED TO GUARD BABY'S HEALTH

Keeping Baby Well is Problem, Health Department States

"Babies have certain rights--health is one of them," Dr. J. M. Knox, Jr., chief of the bureau of child hygiene of the State department of health said recently, referring to the special care that babies and young children need to safeguard them from the digestive upsets, the colds and children's diseases that are generally prevalent at this time of the year. "It is obvious that it is better to build up resistance to disease and to prevent sickness than it is to wait until sickness comes before undertaking protective measures.

"In planning the winter schedule for the well baby, put regular medical supervision at the head of the list. Have your doctor see the baby at regular intervals, at least once a month, until the baby is six months old; every two or three months for the next six months; then every two or three months until the child is two of three years old. The doctor will advise you as to the diet and care that are necesary to keep the well baby well.

"Mother's milk is the right of every baby. At the end of six months your doctor may advise mixed feedings, supplementing the mother's milk by one or more bottle feedings. Let your doctor be the judge as to this.

"Babies have a right to sunshine and fresh air and to quiet, restful sleep. Let the baby have his airing while the sun is high. The baby should have a regular bed time, not later than six or seven o'clock in the evening for the baby under a year old. He should also have a nap in the morning and one in the afternoon. The baby should sleep in a well ventilated room but protected from any draught.

"Babies should be dressed according to the weather. The extra clothing put on when the baby is taken out should be determined by the temperature, not the season. Always see that the baby's feet are kept warm.

"Babies cannot protect themselves from the germs of colds and other diseases, that are sprayed into the air in sneezing or coughing or that are spread by kissing or unnecessary handling. Babies, accordingly have a right to be protected against such dangers.

"The baby's chief business in life is to grow. He does not need to be shown off—it interferes too much with his real job. The business of those entrusted with the care of the baby is to see that he is safeguarded from harm and that he has every possible chance to grow and develop."

Now place the food in the oven—turn a switch—set the time control (which turns the electricity on when you want your cooking to begin and then turns it off when you want it turned off). Set the temperature control which automatically keeps the heat in the oven at just the right degree.

After your food is in the oven and the two simple controls are set you may leave the kitchen and forget the food until it's ready to be served. No oven-peeping, nor testing.

HELP SANTA CLAUS

A few weeks ago we published an item requesting the donation of dolls to be given to little girls who have no hope of a visit from Santa unless our readers who are able to contribute will help by donating at least one doll.

Will you enjoy Santa's visit to your home to the full unless you help him to visit these little ones who are not expecting him? Your doll—undressed—left at Gonder's drug store before the first of December will bring joy to a little one, and enhance your pleasure at Christmas time.

Other toys for the small boys—or a little candy—will add to your enjoyment, and demonstrate that the fortunates of the county sense the spirit of the Christ whose first concern was the care and comfort of the unfortunate.

Bring your dolls, toys and sweets quickly.

TURKEY

In November great armies of majestic turkey birds, pathetically gobbling in protest at their fate, march up to the chopping block. The demand for turkeys for holiday dinner purposes is enormous and tends to grow. If their cost could be reduced somewhat, they would be used a great deal more for occasions other than holidays.

It must have been one of the consolations of early pioneer times that wild turkeys were abundant, and you could go out in the woods most anywhere and bring home a noble dinner. Today wild turkeys are scarce in most regions and entirely exterminated in many.

Turkey raising was formerly considered rather difficult, owing to various diseases to which these birds are subject. But modern agricultural science solves such problems, and many growers are having excellent luck. The American people cheer them on, and look forward to Thanksgiving turkey.

THE PRIMARY

In a recent speech in Boston former Senator Frederick H. Gillette, of Massachusetts, a man of ripe political experience, said:

"I favored the primaries, but I have changed my mind. I am not too old to learn. It seems to me that with the multiplicity and complexity of its use and the large number of candidates the judgment of the people would be better registered by the convention than by the primary. I should be glad to have us consider that we have given the primary a fair trial, that the results are against us and that we should go back to the convention."

Senator Gillette is not the only student of political affairs who has changed his mind on the value of the primary system. The arguments against the primary are so varied and so obvious that it hardly seems necessary to repeat them. First the primary results in the breakdown of party control and brings a resultant confusion similar to that in European government where the bloc system prevails. This is perhaps the greatest evil of the primary, and it is especially injurious because of the fact that our constitutional government is based on the theory of party control. The United States can only be governed effectively through party control, with the present governmental machinery, and the primary has done more than anything else to destroy party government in America and to put the personality of the candidate above principles of government and political economy.

Again the primary is expensive. It was the theory of the primary advocates in the old days before the primary was tried, that the primary was the poor man's chance, and that the "wicked" conventions always nominated for office rich politicians with the most pull. A review of the recent experiences with primaries is not necessary to convince the average reader that money is used more lavishly in the primary than it was ever used in conventions. This is not saying that it is employed to corrupt the electorate. The primary is naturally expensive since the candidates must attempt to reach all the people by literature or personal appeal.

Taken all in all the primary has outlived its usefulness if it ever had any, and it is hoped that more legislatures this winter will adopt a modified convention system with delegates chosen by the body of the voters, under proper safeguards.

BUSINESS MEN DEMAND CHANGE

Reports emanate from both Democratic and Republican business circles that during the next four years Governor Ritchie will tolerate no mismanagement of subordinate offices under his administration, and that the Governor will make good his promise to the business men of the State to rid from public office all those whose character has been questioned during the past ten years.

From those high in intellectual, banking and business life of the city it is said, will come forth demands that he take action immediately at the close of the legislature. There are those interested in party who deny this and say all will be allowed to stay, but The Marylander has been assured from people of high standing in the city that several changes are to take place.—The Marylander, Baltimore.

SEASONAL WORKERS

An officer of a philanthropic society recently delivered an address which told of the hard struggles which certain types of seasonal workers have to get along. She was not speaking so much of the workers in factories and mines that operate with some irregularity, but more of laborers who are employed on street work and in other tasks of unskilled manual labor.

Winter is the hard time for these folk, she said. There is not much regular work for them to do, and they usually have to run into debt. When summer comes they get jobs again, and they are usually able to pay off their debts, and then get a little ahead. Then when winter comes again, their money is usually gone before the winter is over and they have to depend on stores that will trust them until they can get to work again. They are usually in debt before the winter is over.

Sympathy should be felt for these men, who toil at the harder tasks of life and never seem to get anywhere. Probably many of them are so discouraged, that it seems hopeless to them to think of bettering their condition. As one watches such groups, a good many of them are seen to be young men. Perhaps some of them have made themselves undesirable as workers for various reasons which they should correct.

The lot of many working and worthy men among such workers is to be regretted. Those who are young and strong should not be satisfied to keep along with work that is so irregular. They should try to fit themselves for jobs that are more nearly continuous.

Much charity work will have to be done this winter for such people. No one can be allowed to go cold and hungry. City and state governments should carry on as much work as they possibly can to give men of this type something to do.

An Interesting Fact

THE NATIONAL ROAD

Many elements contribute to progress. Among them, vision, patriotism, competition and rivalry. These, developed by the growing pains of business expansion in the infant colony of Maryland, resulted in the construction of two great arteries of trade, which, after the lapse of nearly a century and a quarter are again being used for the purposes for which they were originally intended. We refer to the National Road, originally called the Cumberland Road (now known as Route No. 40), and the Northwestern Turnpike (now Route No. 50). Rivals in the beginning, rivals now, competing with each other for the tourist and commercial trade.

With prophetic vision, dreaming of the great Western Empire then being developed, the industrial leaders of Maryland, realizing their natural geographical position, determined to secure their share of the business to the west before it could be diverted into other channels. Thus was born the idea of building the Cumberland Road westward to Ohio.

At the admission of Ohio as a State in 1803, provision was made to connect it with seaboard by a road to be constructed by the government from funds arising from the sale of United States lands within its borders. The road was actually begun in 1811 and opened to Wheeling, W. Va., on the banks of the Ohio River in 1818.

The first stage line between Baltimore and the Ohio River was organized in relays. These relays lodged the first night out of Baltimore at Hagerstown, Md.; the second night at Cumberland; the third at Uniontown and the fourth at Wheeling. For many years mail and passengers were carried over the Alleghenies, the latter by fast express stages, probably with good reason called "shakeguts."

About the year 1827 the system of running coaches carrying mail and passengers both day and night, was introduced by a contractor and the time reduced from four days to 52 hours. To express the speed made, a Philadelphia newspaper man said of this contractor that "he could leave Philadelphia with a hot johnnie cake in his pocket and reach Pittsburgh before it would grow cold."

The mail coach always carried a horn and we can imagine the citizens of the hamlets and crossroads along the route, at its mellifluent sound, dropping the task with which they were at the moment engaged and rushing to the designated stopping places to receive the latest news or engage in a bit of gossip, or perhaps indulge in a glass of that which is now "verboten" with a passing friend or a new-found acquaintance, or perchance to mail a letter to a relative or a sweetheart at the outpost of civilization, then just beyond the present city of Wheeling, W. Va.

But we must hurry to a conclusion.

The road was famous for the number and excellence of its inns, which, on the mountain division, probably averaged one for every mile of road. The uniform price charged for warm meals was 25 cents, with a drink of whiskey thrown in. At mid-day a cold meal was furnished for a "levy"—twelve and a half cents—with the usual drink free of charge.

The Northwestern Road was first suggested by George Washington who became fearful that the National Road would divert business from his beloved Virginia, abandoned the National route, returned home and at once sought a route from Winchester to Wheeling, located wholly within West Virginia. How well he succeeded is attested by the fact that at only one point (in Garrett county, Maryland), does the Northwestern Turnpike leave what was then the State of Virginia.

Eastern Maryland undoubtedly owes much of its early development and present prosperity to the vision, patriotism, wisdom and foresight of her hardy princes of trade, who readily perceived that fortune awaited those who first secured a business foothold in the great Northwestern Territory and diverted its trade to the east. Aside from this, the road was an important factor in holding the independent spirit of that great western country in touch with the Union.

Thus it is that the National Road a century and a quarter after its conception, is still a great traffic artery over which not the lumbering stage coach nor the Conestoga wagons, but the swift automobile and powerful truck, carrying hundreds of thousands of passengers and thousands of tons of freight to the eastern marts, leaving a golden stream in their wake, fast regaining its original splendor and prestige.

PRESIDENT HOOVER PROCLAIMS DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Declares Country Has Many Causes To Be Grateful, As "We Have Suffered Far Less Than Other Peoples From The Present World Difficulties."

President Hoover on Friday last called upon the people of the United States to observe Thanksgiving Day by extending aid to those who are in need and suffering from causes beyond their control.

In his annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, the chief executive said this country has many causes for thanksgiving. He added that as a nation "we have suffered far less than other peoples from the present world difficulties. His proclamation follows:

President's Proclamation

By the President of the United States, a proclamation:

Notwithstanding that our forefathers endured the hardships and privations of a primitive life, surrounded by dangers and solaced only with meager comforts, they nevertheless bequeathed to us a custom of devoting one day every year to universal thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessing of life itself and the means to sustain it, for the sanctuary of home and the joys that pervade it, and for the mercies of his protection from accident, sickness or death.

Our country has many causes for thanksgiving. We have been blessed with distinctive evidence of Divine favor. As a nation we have suffered far less than other peoples from the present world difficulties. We have been free from civil and industrial discord. The outlook for peace between nations has been strengthened. In a large view we have made progress upon the enduring structure of our institutions. The arts and sciences that enrich our lives and enlarge our control of nature have made notable advances. Education has been further extended. We have made gains in the prevention of disease and in the protection of childhood.

Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate, Thursday, November 27, 1930, as a national holiday of thanksgiving, and do enjoin the people of the United States so to observe it, calling upon them to remember that many of our people are in need and suffering from causes beyond their control, and suggesting that a proper celebration of the day should include that we make sure that every person in the community, young and old, shall have cause to give thanks for our institutions and for the neighborly sentiments of our people.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States.

Done at the city of Washington this sixth day of November, in the year of our Lord 1930, and the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-fifth.

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER.

IN DAYS OF OLD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Just as water was struck in George D. White's well on his lot in East Oakland the rope attached to the drill broke and left the string of tools at the bottom of the hole. Efforts were made to recover the drill and thus free the well of obstructions.

Capt. James Newman was made commanding officer of Co. B, Garret Guards of Oakland. The company numbered sixty-five men and drills were conducted regularly and military discipline rigidly enforced. The organized expected to go to Baltimore for the Thanksgiving parade and mobilization of the State troops.

Sunday morning while Will Offutt and Bowie Johnson, Jr., were on their way to the Episcopal church they saw a pheasant fly against one of the windows at the court house, breaking the glass. The bird fell to the ground in a stunned condition. It was taken in charge by the youths.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Messrs. Paul Naylor and Ralph Weber returned home after a month spent in the Maine woods. They went especially for a bull moose, but due to the scarcity of such animals they took the next largest thing and bagged three good-sized deer.

Rev. C. W. Hudson and family and Mrs. C. V. Harvey, of Loch Lynn, and Dr. Henry W. McComas, of Oakland, all had narrow escapes with their lives when they were overcome by gas which accumulated in a room in the residence of Rev. Hudson. Dr. McComas retained sufficient consciousness to reach the open air and send his driver into the building who rescued the other inmates.

The barn of former County Commissioner A. Clyde Smith was destroyed by fire along with all its contents, including grain, hay, live stock and machinery. He had recently purchased a farm on Hooppole road.

The boiler at the Rasche mill on Water street gave way but did no serious damage to property. Repairs were being made.

Oakland High School News

The O. H. S. Soccer team ended the season in a tie game, 2 to 2, at Grantsville on Monday afternoon in a fast and hard game. The team was not at its best except in spots, while the opposition was fighting for second place in the Garrett County High School League which they won, Oakland High being just one point behind. Oakland's tally came from a field goal registered by Don Porter who played his last game along with Joe Sollars and Richard Glotfelty who will graduate next June. James Nordeck suffered a very painful dislocation of the wrist early in the contest.

Basketball is next, and we are counting on your support.

The O. H. S. boys accepted the invitation of W. V. U. on Saturday and saw the W. V. U. and Kansas "Aggies" contest. They made the trip to Morgantown in Mr. Ramsey's school bus.

BROENING CARRIED 12 OF THE COUNTIES; RITCHIE 11

Constitutional Convention Defeated in Every County But Carried by Baltimore City

LEWIS GIVEN 6,071 LEAD

The total vote for the 23 counties, plus the unofficial count in the city showed that Mayor William F. Broening carried 12 and Governor Ritchie 11 in the election November 4.

Exclusive of Baltimore City, Governor Ritchie carried the counties by about 909 majority. In the unofficial count, Governor Ritchie received a majority of approximately 70,000 in the city.

Convention Carried

The proposal for a constitutional convention to act on any possible changes in the Maryland constitution, was defeated in every county in the state, but received enough of a majority on the unofficial city returns to carry.

The official canvass where completed in the counties showed all of the democratic state candidates ran ahead of Governor Ritchie.

The canvass of the five Western Maryland counties comprising the Sixth Congressional District, showed that former Congressman David J. Lewis was returned by the normally Republican district by a majority of 6,071 over Frederick N. Zihlman, Republican incumbent. The present representative's home county, Allegany, was the only one of the five to give him a majority.

Ritchie Carried 11 Counties

The county canvass showed that Governor Ritchie carried but three of the nine Eastern Shore counties, which normally are democratic, jority. The executive was given of the Western Maryland counties despite their affiliated Republican majority. The executive was given majorities in Kent, Prince George's, Montgomery, St. Mary's, Howard, Allegany, Anne Arundel, Caroline and Calvert, and Baltimore. The Republican candidate was given Talbot, Worcester, Garrett, Harford, Dorchester, Somerset, Carroll, Cecil, Washington, Frederick, Charles, and Wicomico counties on the official canvass.

Despite the majority given to the Republican gubernatorial candidate on the Eastern Shore counties, the official returns gave T. Alan Goldsborough re-election to the house of representatives by a majority of 9,357 over A. Stengle Marine, Republican, who opposed him two years ago. In rolling up this majority to compare with his margin of 736 in 1928, Goldsborough carried seven of the nine counties, snatching one from the Marine column and increasing his majority in all others.

At Clarksburg, a condemned murderer, in 1876, escaped from the Court house yard while preparations were being made to hang him, and has never been heard from. His case, along with other old ones, was dropped from the court docket last week.

MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND.

THE REPUBLICAN PRINTED OFFICIAL RETURNS OF LAST TUESDAY'S ELECTION HALF HOUR AFTER TABULATION

The Republican last Thursday had two options—to go to press at the usual time of 2 o'clock, and give people a general and hazy account of the election; or to withhold publication for three hours and include in the columns the official returns and exact figures for each precinct, for each candidate. It chose the latter, feeling that the people of the county wanted a report upon which they could rely, and that they wanted it before this week.

The Board of Supervisors of Elections of Garrett county organized for the purpose of officially counting the ballots at 12 o'clock Thursday and began the tabulation at 1 o'clock. The last official figure was not recorded until 5:30. The Republican was on press 20 minutes later and Charles F. White, clerk to the election board, on his way home a few minutes after he had completed the tabulations, was able to read them in print, in The Republican. All of the newspapers were in the Oakland postoffice by 8 o'clock p. m., and Republican readers were able to get the official returns of the election just one week early.

In order to do this the rest of the paper was ready for press at 2 o'clock. As soon as a few of the figures were made official, they were brought to The Republican office and set up on the linotype machine, so that at 5:30 nothing remained but the official totals for each candidate and these were soon ready.

In the official tabulation there were 48 candidates with a certain number of votes in the 23 precincts of the county, and two questions which required affirmative and negative answers in all precincts, making it necessary to set on the machine more than 1,200 sets of figures.

Believe it or not, but Guy Hinebaugh has a black rabbit in his back yard which puts a large German police dog to flight every time his dogship enters the enclosure. The rabbit's mode of attack is to permit the dog to approach and then with a sudden spring catch the dog by the under lip and hang on. In a real set-to it is not presumed that the rabbit would be a match for the dog, but both animals seem to enjoy the sport.

"OVER THE TOP" WITH RED CROSS FUNDS ABOVE QUOTA

"I Give Because My Neighbor Can't" This Year's Slogan

"Over the top"—we all remember when this was on everybody's tongue. "Over the top" went our boys into the land where shells and bombs hurled injury and death. People at home resolved, "We'll go 'over the top,' too. We'll sacrifice everything possible for relief of suffering in a war-ridden world."

Now there is, according to many estimates, more suffering in the world than there has been at any time since the great war ended. Always organized instantly to step in with relief when and where it is needed, the Red Cross asks for funds with which to carry on its merciful work. Even now the organization has far-reaching plans for relief of people who are unemployed or who live in drought-stricken areas. Every State affected by last summer's drought, for instance, is being surveyed so that all urgent needs may be known. Just last Saturday Mrs. Whitcomb, an experienced Red Cross worker, whose territory for survey includes Maryland and Delaware, visited Garrett county to find out the needs here. Before hard winter sets in the Red Cross will be able to point a beneficial finger to practically every distressed family in the country. In many places farmers are being forced to ship or kill their cattle and other stock—sometimes even their chickens—because of lack of food to keep them over the winter. Caring for the families thus impoverished, will take an enormous sum of money.

Here in Garrett county we are, of course, sorry for ourselves. We feel terribly poor this fall. Dollar bills don't grow on every tree. Yet when we look upon the people to whom the Red Cross points in other parts of the country, we realize hom fortunate we are. Again we are asked to go "over the top" in making sacrifices for those who are suffering more than we are. Again, not lagging behind, we will rise to the occasion and give even more than we are asked to give.

Besides, we do need fifty cents of every dollar membership fee for use here. To cite just one instance: A Garrett county boy of school age isn't able to attend school because his health is so badly impaired by diseased tonsils—in fact, the doctor is of the opinion the boy will hardly live through the winter if he doesn't have them removed. But his parents are too poor to pay even the expenses incident to an operation. Now the Red Cross Chapter doesn't possess enough money for a tonsilectomy. Before long, however, through the generosity of Red Cross "joiners" the child will probably be on a train headed toward a hospital. There are scores of such pressing cases. A great number of families in our mining sections, especially, have no money with which to buy food, clothing and fuel.

It looks as if Garrett county people who have anything to be thankful for are going to respond heroically to this year's special call.

Mr. George Wagner, of Grantsville, nearly always heads the list of Red Cross contributors by sending in his membership dues long before the drive starts. This year he has been true to his record. During twenty-five minutes of Armistice Day, Mrs. F. R. Utterback collected $6 in Mountain Lake Park. Mrs. L. C. Yutzy has already enrolled ten members in Crellin—the largest number yet reported by any chairman.

So far, of course, only the reports of a few chairmen near headquarters in Oakland have been received. The chairmen for the annual Red Cross Roll Call in various parts of the county are urgently requested to send in the lists of their members for weekly publication during the drive.

Following are the names already received of people who have contributed a dollar for Red Cross membership:

Crellin—Howard Phares, Mrs. Ida M. Phares, Vera Ream, Marie McGuirk, Mrs. L. C. Yutzy, L. C. Yutzy, P. K. Adams, C. W. Ream, Homer Shaffer, Irval Ream.

Oakland—Rev. C. A. Shilke, George Hanst, Mrs. Lloyd Shaffer, Delbert M. Davis, D. S. Davis, James Fazzalari, Mrs. E. Z. Tower, H. S. Hoffman, R. T. Hoffman.

Mountain Lake Park—Josie Weimer, Lillie Weimer, Mrs. Arthur Fike, Jaek Grimes, Mrs. Gay Hayden, Mrs. F. R. Utterback.

BRUCE ELEVEN DEFEATS GARRETT COUNTY CHAMPS

Kitzmiller Soccerites Lose to Westernport 8 to 0

Outclassing their opponents in all departments of the game, Bruce High School's speedy soccer eleven, Allegany's standard bearer in the P. A. L. Statewide Soccer Championship Tournament, took the measure of Kitzmiller High School, champions of Garrett County, in the first game of the tournament in Western Maryland yesterday afternoon at Grantsville. Two field goals in each period gave Coach John "Chip" Grindle's warriors an 8-0 victory.

Threaten Only Once

Only once during the game did Coach Harold Alderton's aggregation threaten to score and that was in the first five minutes of play when Goalie Ira Boyce speared a hard shot that was headed for the net and tossed the ball out of the danger zone. Thereafter it was all Bruce with Kitzmiller on the defensive a greater part of the time.

Thirteen minutes after the opening whistle the Westernport team broke into the scoring column when a Kitzmiller back in attempting to kick the ball out of the goal area saw the sphere bound off Chester Marsh's shoulder and sail through the goal posts.

The first period ended with Bruce on the long end of a 4-0 score. Another goal was added shortly after the second period started. The final goal was kicked from scrimmage ten minutes before the final whistle.

J. Arnold, at centerhalf, Burns at fullback and W. Sharpless at center were the outstanding players for the Garrett county champs. It was the tenth consecutive year that an Allegany county team had turned back a Garrett county representative. Kitzmiller had not lost a single contest during the season.

Friendsville Is Winner

In yesterday's preliminary Friendsville High girls defeated Accident Hi girls for the fieldball championship of Garrett county. The score was 8 to 4. The winner will probably play Central high of Lonaconing in the near future. The game was a play-off for the title after both teams had finished their league season tied for first place.

Jim Kerins, after supping bromo seltzer in Harned's drug store and glancing out the window to the alley between the Garrett National Bank building and the West Penn office--"Say, Betty, am I seeing things?"

"No, you're perfectly all right as far as I can see," said Bet, one of the Gold Dust twins.

"Well, I may be all right, but that house wasn't there when I looked in that alley this morning."

"Vic", the Maryland theatre trusty, and Archibaldson stamped themselves as expert piano mechanics just before the Armistice program Tuesday afternoon.

At two o'clock the only piano available was the one that had been in the Maryland theatre fire of last year and hadn't been repaired, or even dusted off since that time. With the aid of a couple of Bernard Gonder's good brooms, they rigged up the pedals, drove several nails in the mahogany, tore off the remainder of the top, and had Bill Gibson give it a workout. At 2:30 the piano was in use. Results are that there was piano music for the program and Bernard Gonder purchased two new brooms.

In the future all resignations for any office whatever, no matter how small or trivial, should be written on the typewriter to avoid error. If you don't want to believe Scoop ask Bill Whorton.

Not an Advertisement

While Scoop is not writing this as an advertisement for Hamill's Book store, or for Chic Sale either, he feels that all who witnessed the Hallowe'en parade, and who saw two miniature houses, and who were shocked to death, and who thought it disgraceful, and who thought it worse than the actions of several other people in the procession, should read the book called "The Specialist".

If they still don't see anything funny about it, there isn't much hope for them. There hasn't been anyone yet who read the book who didn't enjoy it. Anyway, one finds in almost anything the side he is looking for, and if he looks in the back door instead of the front, he can see a lot of ugly sights.

James Whitcomb Riley immortalized the house in question a number of years ago by writing a poem about it, and now it looks like he is no longer in a place by himself. Three or four people of Oakland have included (unintentionally perhaps) Scoop in this seat of honor.

Long live humor!—and those who can see it as such.

That's probably enough for this week.

To criticise your neighbor long
Because he's busy doing wrong.

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman, has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 108 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4,254,796.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

"We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency.

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."

Motor Injuries Treated By Red Cross First Aid

In line with its work for the preservation of life and prevention of accidental death, the American Red Cross has adopted a new program of emergency first aid stations on the highways of the nation, where victims of automobile injuries will be helped.

In the last year 31,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents and more than 1,000,000 were injured. As its contribution to the nation wide safety campaigns of other organizations, the Red Cross will aid through the emergency stations. A number already are in operation by Chapters on such important traffic arteries as the Westchester County, N. Y., park system, the Valley Forge and Gettysburg highways in Pennsylvania and the White Horse Pike in New Jersey, connecting with Atlantic City.

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternal visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,309,409 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and nursing care. As more than 15,000 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.

Comfort Kits Sent 40,000 Service Men by Red Cross

Gay patterned cretonne bags, or comfort kits, containing articles useful and amusing, are sent by the Red Cross to 40,000 soldiers, sailors and Marines, on foreign service, as Christmas remembrances.

The little gift bags are donated and packed by women in Red Cross Chapters all over the country. They are despatched by Army transport in the early autumn in order to reach the foreign ports and posts of the U. S. services in time to be hung on the Christmas trees. Giving the remembrances from home is the outgrowth of a plan adopted by the Red Cross prior to the World War when so many National Guard regiments were on the Mexican border.

AUTOMOBILES AND TRUCKS TO BE INSPECTED

Save a Life Campaign to be Directed Against Reckless Driving and Mechanical Defects

NOV. 1ST TO 30th THE DATES

Official details of the third annual "SAVE-A-LIFE" Campaign for the inspection of all motor vehicles in the State of Maryland from November 1st to November 30th, inclusive just made public by a proclamation of Governor Albert C. Ritchie, was announced by E. Austin Baughmen, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

"Brakes, lights, horns, steering mechanism, windshield wipers, rear view mirrors, license tags and operator's license, will be the salient points of inspection," E. Austin Baughman said, "since these parts of equipment are among the first to become defective and when defective are responsible for a large number of the serious accidents that happen every year. The official inspection will have the co-operation of garages, automobile dealers, repair shops and service stations in every community of the State, which have indicated their willingness to serve as official service stations and make the required examination of all motor vehicles.

Leading motor organizations, civic and commercial bodies, insurance companies and railroads have expressed their willingness to co-operate with the "SAVE-A-LIFE" Movement "Save-a-Life" Campaign has become so popular in the State of Maryland that the public has again requested the department to stage this third campaign. Many letters have been received from motorists and civic organizations throughout the State, asking that we again launch this worthy campaign and endeavor to make for safer driving on the Maryland State Highways.

The "SAVE-A-LIFE" Campaign is really an intensive effort to cut down the accidents in Maryland and to make the State a model in this respect. The campaign is directed solely against reckless driving and mechanical defects which are apt to develop in cars and trucks under service conditions, because such defects are one of the leading causes of motor vehicle accidents.

It is the belief of automobile authorities through the United States that if all motor vehicles could be easily and quickly controlled by their drivers the accident rate would rapidly diminish

The official method of the campaign in automobile inspection will be as follows:

1. Every automobile and truck in the State will be inspected by a competent mechanic in a reliable service station, to be appointed with the approval of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and if the car or truck is found to be unsafe, or to have mechanical defects, it must be put in safe condition before the official inspection sticker will be affixed to the windshield.

2. Official inspection stickers will be issued to all cars and trucks that have been examined and found in good condition, or that have been put in good condition after having been examined and found to need adjustment.

3. In order to remove any possible cause for resentment or inconvenience, hardship or loss of time on the part of the automobile or truck owner, the motor vehicle owner is at liberty to choose any official station he prefers.

4. The inspection will be free of charge, any adjustment or repair found necessary to ensure the safe operation may, at the owner's order and with his permission, be charged for at the usual rate of charge by the service station or garage. Any agreement in this connection is solely between the motor vehicle owner and the Inspection Station.

5. Brakes, horns, lights, steering mechanism, windshield wipers and license tags will be the chief points of inspection.

6. Every motor vehicle owner or operator will have to show evidence that his car has been inspected before he can obtain his license tag for the year 1931.

7. The inspection is compulsory, under the provisions of Chapter 259 of the General Assembly of 1929, which authorizes the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to require the inspection of the safety factors of all automobiles.

The co-operation of the motoring public is earnestly sought by the Motor Vehicle Commissioner to make this drive a great success and in the interest of public safety every car and truck in the State of Maryland should be wearing its official inspection emblem of civic co-operation and mechanical good order by November 30th, 1930, when the Campaign ends.

Great Wire Hookup Used by Lindbergh

Talk Broadcast from 119 Stations Linked by Telephone Circuits

Col. Lindbergh

When Col. Charles A. Lindbergh told the story of aviation to the American people over the radio recently, giving his talk twice the same day, he spoke over a broadcasting hook-up greater than has ever before been made available to any private citizen.

Suggesting the dependence of civilization upon transportation facilities, Colonel Lindbergh told his millions of listeners on this continent that the airplanes and the airship have given a third dimension to these facilities, and predicted the time, within the next few years, when air transportation systems over land, both here and abroad, will be linked by regular air lines over the water.

Colonel Lindbergh's talk was broadcast over the chains of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, in which a total of 119 broadcasting stations were linked. These stations were connected by the land lines of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, as are all chain broadcasts, and the only unusual feature was the size of the undertaking and the preparations entailed. The program transmission forces of the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company connected 62 radio broadcasting stations for the N. B. C., and 57 for the Columbia System. Approximately 30,000 miles of long distance telephone circuits were used in connecting these stations.

Friday, the first day of Chautauqua, we were entertained in the afternoon by the Royal Hawaiian Quartette, who also entertained at the evening program with a prelude before the lecture, "Where Criminals Come From", by Henry Black Burns. The second afternoon a 3-act comedy, "Old Crusty Takes the Air." The program the second night was also a 3-act comedy, "Mrs. Plimpton's Husband". Monday evening we were entertained by the Floss Grosjean company with fun, music and novelties. The evening entertainment was given by the Flos Grosjean Marimba Xylophone Ensemble. Wide Publicity Planned

Plans were outlined to broadcast by publicity the many advantages of the National Highway as a touring and travel route from the Atlantic seaboard and the west, its scenic advantages, wide roadway of hard surfacing and safety from traffic congestion. It will also foster and support a National Highway tour, from Washington to Wheeling and from thence to Kansas City.

Road maps are to be prepared, also signs and everything necessary done to make the National Highway Hotels Association an active working organization in the interest of all the cities along the route. Also under consideration is the extension of game preserves along the Highway, in the several mountain states.

The meeting was enthusiastic in the belief that by co-operation of the residents of the various states connected by Route 40, it would work to great benefit to all, and attract a great number of tourists and travel each year, it being a direct route from Washington to Kansas City.

FOURTH FATHER AND SON BANQUET HELD ON NOV. 5

Rev. Roy Hashinger, Morgantown, Gives Principal Address

The fourth annual Father and Son banquet, sponsored by the agriculture boys of Oakland hngh school, was held in the high school auditorium on November 5, with the largest attendance of any of the four years, O. T. Graser, agriculture instructor, announced yesterday. There were 125 present.

A three-course dinner, prepared by Mr. William Turney, was served by twenty boys and the entire program was strictly a stag affair.

Rev. Roy Hashinger, Lutheran pastor of Morgantown, W. Va., was the principal speaker and he talked on "The New Era in Agriculture." He put the farmer on a plane with other industries and called attention to the fact that without the farmer the entire world would soon starve.

Other speakers included J. D. Blackwell, director of vocational education for Maryland, who commended the local Future Farmer organization on activities and called attention to the awards made in state contests and membership in state offices; Prof. H. F. Cotterman, associate dean of the School of Education of the University of Maryland, who stressed the importance of project work, urging parents' support and cooperation with the boy in his work; F. E. Rathbun, H. A. Loraditch, J. H. Carter, Harley Spoerlein, Charles Miller, Harry S. Beggs, Rev. C. A. Shilke and F. D. Bittle, Oakland high school principal.

The meeting was called to order by Wayne Hamilton, vice-president of the local Future Farmers of Maryland, and O. T. Graser acted as toastmaster. Do not feed garbage, table scraps or kitchen swill that might contain bones, rinds, or scraps of pork.

Do not permit any hogs to be on your place that may have been exposed to the diseasc.

Keep your hogs confined so stray hogs cannot comc in contact with them.

Burn or bury the carcasses of all animals.

Notify your county agent of sickness among hogs.

STATE MAY BUY BIG TIMBER TRACT IN GARRETT COUNTY

12,000 Acres In Single Block Lies Near The Savage River Preserve Owned By State

Purchase of a 12,000-acre tract of timber land, with an area half as great as that of all Maryland's forest preserves combined, is being considered by the State Forestry Department, it was announced in Baltimore a few days ago. The land, according to the announcement, has been offered at 50 cents an acre, with the owners reserving the right to remove all merchantable trees within a ten-year period.

Comprising 12,000 acres in the heart of Garrett county, not far from the Savage River preserve, the proposed addition was described by F. W. Besley, State Forester, as having valuable recreational possibilities and unusual accessibility by highway and railroad.

Total Area 25,000 Acres

Less than a week ago the department acquired an additional 10,000 acres, bringing the total area under State control to 25,000 acres. Purchase was made possible through a $50,000 appropriation passed by the last Legislature.

Mr. Besley, the announcement further states, bclives the scenic beauty and natural topography of the Garrett county tract would lure hunters and campers from all parts of the State. He cited also the proximity of paved State highways and the Western Maryland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads.

According to the forester, there are appproximately 600,000 acres of idle unproductive land in Maryland. The great bulk is forest land, fit only for timber growing, which owners are allowing to go unprotected, he said.

Charles Davis, also of Kitzmiller, was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and disorderly, but his offense did not take place with the others.

Child Health Conference Scheduled November 19 and 22

President Hoover will address the opening of the conference at Washington on Wednesday evening, November 19, at 9 p. m., and Secretary Wiltur will speak on November 22, at 12:30 p. m. These will be probably two of the most improtant broadcasts ever made on child interests.

MT. LAKE PARK

We ought to be truly thankful for the continued supply of pure, sparkling water here at the Park. In a nearby city in West Virginia the authorities are using a ton of lime a day in order to make the water fit for use. This in addition to other purifying chemicals. And then to consider that some nit-wit here at the Park evidently thinks it a good joke to open the valves and let the water escape.

In conformity to its custom, Oak Lodge No. 8, I. O. O. F., held its Annual Roll Call meeting last Wednesday evening. A large number of the membership was present and those who found it impossible to attend, sent letters to be read in lodge. Mr. A. T. White, Past Grand Master and present superintendent of the Odd Fellows Home at Frederick, was the principal speaker of the evening. The oyster supper held by the ladies and the Lodge, just prior to the meeting, was also largely attended. Postmaste Leighton held the lucky number for a new Fox double-barreled shot gun which was given away at the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Morgan and family, Fairmont, have moved here for the winter. Mr. Morgan is engaged in the timber business in Hardy county, West Virginia. This location enables him to return each weekend.

Mr. and Hrs. E. H. Sterling, Loch Lynn, announce the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Fleming, of Fairmont, motored here one of the fine days this week.

Beyond the County

As a result of the late election, whether the Republicans or the Democrats will control the next Congress is in doubt and may not be decided until it meets a year from the coming December.

MORE THAN $18,000 TO BE PAID TO CHRISTMAS CLUBS

Approximately 450 Depositors In and Near Oakland to Receive Checks December 1

NEW CLUBS START DEC. 8

More than $18,000 will be sent out from the Oakland banks on December 1, in Christmas Savings checks, it was announced today. This is about $1,000 more than was sent out last year. This amount will be given out to more than 450 depositors in the First National Bank and the Garrett National Bank, it is said. There were approximately 300 depositors last year who received the $17,000. This year, according to the figures, the $18,000 will be distributed more widely, with a smaller amount for each person, on an average.

About 9,000,000 depositors will within the next few weeks receive from banks throughout the entire United States somewhere between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000, in Christmas Club Savings checks, estimates received by the New York Sun indicate.

In many states the Christmas funds will be larger this year than ever before, bankers say. The average amount received by each individual will be $50, it is estimated.

The Christmas Savings club feature was established in Garrett county about five years ago by the First National Bank, of Oakland, and four years ago this policy was introduced by the Garrett National Bank, of Oakland, and by the First State Bank, of Grantsville.

Many of the checks which will be received on December 1 will be cashed and used in the immediate vicinity.

Small Amount Each Week

By depositing small amounts each week those who have taken advantage of the clubs now have a sufficient amount to meet the demands of Christmas.

Both the First National and the Garrett National Banks will begin next year's Christmas Savings account on Monday, December 8. There are clubs for 25 cents each week; 50 cents, $1.00, $2.00, $3.00, and so on. The money deposited will draw three percent interest.

The Acorn, O. H. S. Newspaper, To Be Published Eight Times

Richard Roy was elected editor-in-chief of The Acorn, official paper for Oakland High School, at a meeting of the students held the latter part of last week.

Other staff members include the following: Helen Giessman and Mary Lynn McIntire, assistant editors; Violet DeWitt, news editor; Joseph Sollars and Margaret DeBerry, athletic editors; Hasalcah Yutzy, exchange editor; Harley Dawson, business manager; Richard Gonder, advertising manager; Cecil Kight, circulation manager; Clara Bell Hamill, assistant advertising manager; Virginia Fraley, assistant circulation manager; Kathleen Jessee, society editor; Anna Belle Stemple, humor editor; Gladys Aronhalt, Bernadine Canty, Harland Beckman and Olive Gregy, typists.

The Acorn will be similar in make-up to that of last year and will be issued seven or eight times during the school year, and will be sold for 50 cents for the entire year.

A subscription contest is being conducted at the school with the goal set at 300 subscribers. Prizes will be awarded to the one selling the most subscriptions to people out of school, and to the honor room that gets 100 percent subscription. The paper is expected to pay for itself and have a surplus, to be used for other school activities.

Leadership Training School Is Scheduled December 7 to 12

The Third Annual Leadership Training School for Oakland and surrounding communities, will be held under the auspices of the Oakland Community council in St. Mark's Lutheran church from December 7 to 12, inclusive.

Three outstanding courses are offered: Story telling, Church school administration, and Old Testament. It is hoped much interest will be shown in the school, with at least 75 enrolled.

MEN CHALLENGED TO GET ACTIVE IN CHURCH WORK

Mr. Bert Dann, Elkins, Addresses Union Men's Service Sunday

A challenge to the men of the church to take their place in the work of spreading Christianity and in the active work of the Church and Sunday school was issued last Sunday evening by Mr. Bert Dann, of Elkins, W. Va., who spoke at the union men's service at St. Mark's Lutheran church.

Mr. Dann, an outstanding layman in West Virginia religious circles, stated that heretofore it was the women as a whole who had been engaged actively for the furtherance of Christianity, but that it was time for the men to do more than give their financial support and sit in the pews.

He suggested Sunday school work, Brotherhood work and other fields for the men and felt sure that the time would be well spent. He wondered why men did not talk Christianity to other men more than they did.

The church was well filled with men of all Protestant churches in town. Wellington E. Yutzy read the scripture lesson, Harland L. Jones offered the evening prayer, and Walter W. Dawson acted as chairman. Dr. J. G. Robinson rendered a vocal solo and following the address of the evening Rev. Walter B. Brock pronounced the benediction.

FAIRSWEEP SCHOOL LEADS IN OCTOBER ATTENDANCE

Strawberry Hill Leads Two-teacher—To Present Banners

Fairsweep school, with 100 percent in attendance for the second consecutive month, lead all other one-teacher schools of the county for the month of October, John L. Fitzwater, attendance officer has announced.

Strawberry Hill, with 99.9, led the two-teacher schools; Crellin, with 98.1, led the graded schools, and Kempton, with 96.3, led the high schools.

Nine one-teacher schools were below the standard of 88 percent, but the absence in these cases were caused almost entirely by sickness, Mr. Fitzwater stated. During the month of September Accident High school was the only school in the county below the standard set by the Board of Education. Mineral Spring, Pine Swamp and Fairsweep, during this month each 100 percent.

An attendance banner will be given each month to the winners in each division, the winners to suspend the banners in their class rooms until the attendance report for the next month.

Pine Swamp, Engle, Broadford, Mineral Spring, Highland, one-teacher schools; Strawberry Hill, and Yoder, two-teacher schools, all had a percentage of 99 percent or better for October.

State Report Given

A report of attendance among all schools of the State for the month of September show Garrett county in the following places: one-teacher schools, 8th, with 94.9; two-teacher schools 5th with 97.1; graded schools 6th with 96.9; high schools 17th with 95.7.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT OF GUILTY IN GREEN CASE

Found Guilty of Common Assault In Circuit Court, Cumberland, Tuesday Night

JURY WAS OUT SIX HOURS

After deliberating more than six hours, the jury in the trial of Albert Green, of near Lonaconing, found him guilty of common assault, the third count of the indictment against him. The verdict was returned at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday night in the Circuit Court for Allegany county at Cumberland.

The trial started Monday morning and testimony was completed at noon Tuesday. Following arguments by the State and defense counsel, the case was given to the jury at 3:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. State's Attorney William A. Huster was assisted by State's Attorney Asa T. Matthews of Garrett county. Green was defended by Saul Pracger and Fuller Barnard, of Cumberland, and William R. Offutt, of Oakland.

The case was removed to Allegany county from Garrett county, in which the alleged assault was committed. Oscar Green, a cousin of Albert, was convicted by a jury of criminal assault two weeks ago in court at Cumberland, having been indicted in connection with the same case.

Oscar and Albert Green were indicted by a Garrett county grand jury in which they were charged with assaulting Miss Margaret Beeman, of Gilmore, Allegany county, during an automobile ride into Garrett county, in July. It was testified before the jury that they took Miss Beeman and several other girls from Lonaconing to Frostburg, where the girls planned to attend a dance, and the young men refused to stop at Frostburg and continued out the National Highway toward Grantsville, in Garrett county. The other girls jumped from the machine, but Miss Beeman was held in the car, the State contended. She was assaulted by both men while the car was parked on a country road, off the highway. The accused men admitted illicit relations with the girl, but denied that she was held or forced to accompany them.

Neither of the convicted men has been sentenced.

Ellis Sines Jailed for Contempt Of Court

Ellis Sines, of near Swallow Falls, was arrested this week by Richard West, deputy, and lodged in the county jail on the charge of contempt of court.

Sines is said to have been the cause of several indictments against alleged moonshiners in this vicinity at the last term of court and then after swearing out the information disappeared and did not appear in court against them. He will be brought before the December Term of court.

Sines attempted to escape after his arrest by jumping through a window, but without success.

TELEGRAPH SERVICE WILL BE RESUMED DECEMBER 1

Bernard I. Gonder Will Be In Charge of All Apparatus

Telegraph service by the Western Union company will be resumed at Oakland on December 1, it has been announced, after a lapse of more than two months when the office at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station was removed due to the installation of the electric signal system.

The telegraph office will be located in the Gonder building on Second street, in the room formerly occupied by Durst's shoe shop. The room is being remodeled and enlarged by Arthur Cogley, local contractor, and when completed the telegraph company will install all new and modern equipment, it was stated.

Mr. Bernard I. Gonder will be in charge and there will be continuous service for sending and receiving messages from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Since the discontinuance of the service here two months ago, all telegrams for Oakland and vicinity have been sent to Piedmont, and delivered by telephone. Negotiations for a new office here have been in progress for some time.

AUTOMOBILES MUST BE INSPECTED THIS MONTH

Period Ends December 1—617 Have Been Inspected Here

For the remainder of the Save-A-Life Campaign, closing December 1, a double penalty will be imposed on motorists convicted of traffic law violations, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, E. Austin Baughman announced today. His ukase applied to suspension or revocation of operator's licenses, the commissioner said.

"There is no excuse for carelessness", Mr. Baughman said, pointing to an unusually heavy number of license revocations and suspensions last week, adding he was convinced there is a type of a driver who remains careless regardless of safety campaigns.

State police have begun serving drivers of uninspected vehicles with cards reminding them that the time for safety tests is growing short and that 1931 plates will be refused drivers who have failed to have their machines inspected. Half the card is retained by the motorist while the other half is forwarded to the commissioner by the police.

Approximately 60 percent of the 330,000 automobiles registered in the state have been inspected, according to the commissioner. With only 10 days to go, there remain 125,000 machines to receive the official stamp of approval.

In Oakland thus far 617 cars have been inspected at the four stations. At two stations, 75 percent of the cars were found to be O. K., while at two others the percentage was lowered. The four stations are Sharps Motor company, E. S. Evans, James P. Treacy, and Auto Electric Service.

Shaw Home at Kingwood Is Razed By Fire

The two story frame residence belonging to Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Shaw, Kingwood, was almost completely destroyed by fire early yesterday afternoon, entailing a loss of approximately $8,000, with but $3,000 insurance carried.

It was in this same home, less than 24 hours before that funeral services were held for their son. Reginald Shaw, who burned to death when his airplane crashed to the ground almost within sight of the home last Saturday afternoon at the some hour the home was burning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and their daughter Mrs. Betty McKee were preparing to come to Oakland for a visit with their son Archibald, when the flames were discovered.

Continues to Bore Well

Drillers are still at work on the well which it is hoped will make the town water supply sufficient for all purposes, but as yet no definite results can be obtained.

It is thought that the drill has penetrated the rock formation and that by next week the mayor is hopeful of announcing the acquisition of a well with plenty of water in it. The supply has materially increased during the past few days.

The water in the reservoir, however, remains in the same low condition.

FUNERAL OF REBBY SHAW, KILLED IN CRASH, HELD

Woman Hears His Screams As Ship Burns Near Kingwood Airport Saturday Afternoon

SLIPPED INTO TAIL SPIN

Funeral services for Reginald Shaw, 23, local aviator, who was trapped in his blazing plane and fatally burned following a crash near the airport at Kingwood, W. Va., on Saturday afternoon, were conducted from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver F. Shaw, Kingwood, Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. M. O. Magnuson, of Weston, former pastor of the Kingwood Presbyterian church, officiated and interment was made in the Kingwood cemetery.

The young aviator is believed to have lost control of his ship while attempting a difficult turn at an elevation of approximately six hundred feet and fell to his death in a field less than 300 yards from the Kingwood airport.

Goes Into Tailspin

The plane slipped into a tailspin, crashed and exploded immediately upon striking the earth, becoming a flaming torch from which arose the frantic screams of the victim. Mrs. Stone, in whose field the plane struck, said she plainly heard the young man, strapped in the cockpit, cry out for assistance and water.

Several persons were burned in extricating the lifeless body from the wreckage even after the flames had somewhat subsided. Witnesses of the affair said that just before the plane fell Shaw maneuvered it through a sharp right turn and then pointed the ship's nose upward.

The dead aviator had been flying during the past summer and this fall from the airport at Oakland, had taken hundreds on pleasure flights, was accredited with a number of flying hours and was considered a capable and cautious pilot. He was licensed in Pittsburgh about one year ago.

"Rebby," as he was familiarly known here, took his plane from the Oakland airport Saturday morning and after circling the airport at Kingwood, headed for Wheeling, West Va. On the return flight he landed in Morgantown and spent a few minutes there and then took off on the fatal trip. He passed over the home of his parents in Kingwood and waved to his mother, going on to the landing field half a mile distant.

Young Shaw was particularly well liked by the people of Oakland, especially by the young boys and girls of the town, who looked upon him as a high class, well-behaved and honorable man. Joe Bill Ours, young local aviation enthusiast, was his constant companion on flights in this vicinity. Work at the Ours home Saturday morning kept him from accompanying Shaw on his last flight.

Survivors other than his parents, are a sister, Mrs. Betty McKee, of Kingwood, and a brother, Archibald Shaw, local superintendent of the West Penn interests in Oakland.

The fatality was the first of its kind recorded in Preston county and occurred about 1:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Those attending from Oakland included Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Shaw and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ours, sons Winston and Joe Bill, Miss Maxine Martin, Miss Edith Bolden, Mrs. Emroy Bolden, Mrs. Barnard Gonder and son Bernard, Jr., Mrs. E. R. Utterback, Miss Helen Enlow, Messrs. Ernest C. Liller, Otto Shultz, George Hanst, Harold Harned, Harold Dawson, H. C. Sincell, Lawrence Fraley and Hugh Echard.

Otto Shultz acted as one of the pallbearers, and H. C. Sincell, Harold Harned, George Hanst, and Harold Dawson as honorary pallbearers. Ernest C. Liller blew taps at the grave of the deceased, just before the interment.

C. AND A. GAS MEN FIND GRAVE ALONG MAIN LINE AND INVESTIGATION LEADS TO "GREAT" DISCOVERY

Strength of Law is Brought into Use When Joy Griffith is Summoned for Duty

Stumbling upon a freshly made grave of some sort in their inspection trip over the main line of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company, near Loch Lynn, Archie Post and Charles Pifer, employes of the company, began to wonder.

There was a grave, to be sure, with a stone placed at the head, and a well rounded mound of dirt, showing that it had recently been dug. Recalling accounts in the newspapers concerning the brutal slaying of innocent children, and their secret burial, the two continued to wonder. Within the memory of Archie Post was an incident that couldn't be forgotten. His brother had once found a woman and child—dead—out in the forest.

They pushed an iron rod into the ground and struck a box. Their wonder increased to excitement. They unearthed the box. Through a little hole in the box they saw a baby blanket.

Leaving one on guard the other came to Oakland and engaged the services of Joy Griffith, deputy sheriff, for complete investigation. With the law on their side they opened the box. It was a baby blanket! All six hands reached for the blanket and found underneath—the remains of a little white dog.

But the efforts of those who were so careful to give the pet a decent burial will not go unrewarded for Messrs. Pifer and Post replaced the blanket, nailed up the box, and reinterred the body in due form. R. R. Gilbert, the author of this incident, didn't say whether they offered a prayer or not, but if they did, it would probably have been "Oh, Lord, don't fool us this way again."

Lesson for November 23

THE RICH YOUNG RULER, REFUSING A LIFE OF SACRIFICIAL SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 10:17-27.

GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Failed Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Failed Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Choices Which Must Be Made.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Following Christ Means.

I. The Young Ruler (v. 17).

For a complete view of the characteristics of this young man see also Matthew 19:16-30 and Luke 18:18-30.

1. His virtues.

(1) He was courageous.

He was a man of high standing—a rich young ruler (Luke 18:18, 23). With manly courage he came to Jesus.

(2) Earnest (Mark 10:17).

He came and knelt before Jesus, thus showing his earnest sincerity.

(3) High aspirations (v. 16).

He wanted eternal life. He felt the need of preparing for a life beyond.

(4) Pious and moral (v. 20).

He professed to have conformed to God's only law from his youth.

(5) He believed that Christ could inform him of the "good thing" to be done to inherit eternal life.

2. His errors.

(1) About Christ (v. 16).

He esteemed Jesus to be good, but did not apprehend him as God.

(2) Concerning himself.

He was self-righteous. He thought he was good and that he could do something good.

(3) Concerning eternal life.

He had a defective theology. He thought that eternal life could be obtained by good works.

II. Jesus Dealing With the Young Ruler (vv. 17-22).

Jesus skillfully led the young man to see his errors and then put his finger on the weak spot in his life.

1. His question: "Why callest thou me good?" (v. 17).

His object in this was to lead the young man to a correct apprehension as to who he was. Before giving him a chance to answer he declared that only God was good, as if to say, "I am good and therefore God."

2. Jesus' answer to the young man's question (vv. 17-20).

"If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Christ met him here on his own ground; namely, that of the law. He took the young man's level that the young man's real worth might be revealed. If one insists on getting life by doing something, the law declares what must be done. It must be perfectly kept.

3. Christ's command (vv. 21, 22).

Replying to Christ's citation of the commandments of the law, the young man glibly asserted that he had kept them from his youth up. He no doubt was sincere, but deceived. In Christ's command to go and sell his possessions and distribute to the poor, he put his finger upon the weak spot.

4. The young man's fatal decision (v. 22).

His going away sorrowful proved that he was covetous and did not love his neighbor as himself.

III. Jesus Showing the Peril of Riches (vv. 23-27).

This teaching concerning the peril of riches was most timely. Covetousness was fast taking hold of the people. Even one of his disciples, Judas, was well under its sway.

1. It is difficult for the rich to enter into the kingdom (vv. 23, 24).

This difficulty lies not in the possession of riches, for a man may possess great riches and be an heir of the kingdom. The difficulty lies in trusting in riches.

2. Entrance into the Kingdom is possible, though difficult (vv. 25, 26).

(1) It is possible for the grace of God to sanctify riches.

The very thing which hinders may become a great influence for good in the hand of a regenerated soul.

(2) It is possible for the grace of God to open man's eyes that he see his downward course and repent.

(3) It is possible for the grace of God to change a man from self-seeking to self-sacrifice.

(4) It is possible for the grace of God to make men humble.

IV. Rewards for Following Christ (vv. 27-30).

Those who turn their backs upon their kindred and possessions for the sake of Christ shall receive an hundredfold in this life, and eternal life in the world to come.

Wheelbarrow Conscience

Most people follow their conscience as a man follows a wheelbarrow, pushing it before him the way he wants to go.—King's Business.

The Carnal Mind

"The carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be."

Seed Thoughts

Nothing can make a man truly great but being truly good, and partaking of God's holiness.—M. Henry.

BIGGER AND BETTER

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

CHEVROLET

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the smart, graceful, new bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. FIFTY-NINE LICENSES ARE ISSUED IN TWO WEEKS

Total For Month of November Thus Far Is Seventy

Fifty-nine marriage licenses were issued during the two weeks ending Monday at noon from the office of the clerk of the Circuit court, bringing the total for the month of November thus far to 70. Ten of the licenses were issued on Saturday, eleven permits were marked "don't publish," while two applicants were refused a license on account of the age of two of the contracting parties.

One thousand and ninety-eight licenses have been issued up to the present time in 1930, the records show. Unless 160 more are procured during the remaining two months, the total will be below that of last year, and at the present rate, this is not likely, according to A. G. Ross, deputy clerk.

Homemakers' Column

Cranberries are the tonic fruit—rich in iron, lime and carbohydrates—the vital elements that aid in restoring nerves and toning up the system. They stimulate the appetite and are an aid to digestion. If served freely at meals they will prove extremely beneficial to the general health.

Cranberries are an inexpensive and delicious food. There is no waste of material or time in preparing them. No peeling pitting, etc.

Cranberry Fruit Salad

On a chilled salad plate arrange crisp leaves of lettuce. In the center place a banana and two heaping teaspoons of cranberry sauce. Garnish with mayonaise.

Oranges, pineapples, pears or peaches may be substituted for bananas.

Yankee Pot Roast

Cranberries cooked with pot roast and the cheaper cuts of boiled meats make the meat exceedingly tender and delicious.

To prepare a 3-lb. pot roast brown the meat first in 3 tablespoons of hot fat; when surface is brown, remove meat from pan and add 3 cups of water; stir until boiling, then add 2 cups of cranberry sauce, made less sweet than usual; replace meat in pan with this gravy-sauce and proceed with cooking in ordinary way, adding salt and pepper to taste when cooking is about half finished.

New Feed Available for Livestock Owners

Maryland farmers who are looking for a substitute for hay are advised to investigate a new product, oatmeal mill run feed which, according to Dr. DeVoe Meade, specialist in animal husbandry for the University of Maryland Extension Service, seems to be a very satisfactory feed for livestock, being at least equivalent to timothy hay.

The new product, which has been on the market but a short time, is ground very coarsely and is being delivered to various points in the State in bag containers. It mixes readily with other feeds and can, in consequence be used to replace a large part of the hay in dairy and livestock rations. In the case of horses it may be used practically as the sole roughage.

Owing to the low cost and value of this feed, dairy and livestock farmers should make an effort to get in touch with their respective county agents who have samples of the product. Approximately twenty-five manufacturers of oat products are able to supply the new feed, it is said.

Substituting Wheat For Corn

The old statement that "chickens will grow poor on a diet of straight wheat" is occasionally heard during the present shortage of the corn crop. This statement is not without a foundation of truth and there is doubtless a pronounced tendency on the part of many farmers and poultrymen to use too large a proportion of wheat in the grain ration. In some instances this may be partly responsible for poor condition of the birds.

The drought recommendations made at the Farmers' Marketing Conference at College Park in August suggested a grain ration composed of wheat, one-half; whole corn, one fourth; and barley, one-fourth, parts by weight. Where the mash contains the normal proportion of wheat or of wheat products, wheat should not exceed one-half of the grain mixture by weight. Using a larger proportion of wheat than this as a substitute for corn may seem like economy, but it will likely prove to be false economy in the end. As far as is known, there is no practical substitute for corn in the poultry ration.

Revisions Made in Japanese Beetle Quarantine.

Revisions and modifications in the Federal Japanese beetle quarantine announced November 10, affected the greater part of Maryland, according to Dr. E. N. Cory, State entomologist at the University of Maryland.

According to Dr. Cory, by virtue of the fact that the northern portion of Baltimore county and the election district of Marshall in Harford county, were found to be free of the beetle, these particular districts were restored to modified or lightly infested areas. During the past season this territory was considered generally infested.

Four counties in the State, namely Allegany, Garrett, Worcester and Somerset, have not been placed under the quarantine at all. However, the remaining portions of the State has the same status as last year.

All persons desiring to move nursery stock or plants from or through one regulated area to a non-regulated area must obtain permission from a Federal or State official.

Experimentally-Fed Hogs

Sixty-four hogs that have been fed for 84 days in an experiment to compare eight different rations will be on exhibition at the University of Maryland Experiment Station on Saturday forenoon, November 22, beginning at ten o'clock. Results of the feeding trial will be discussed in detail, and swine growers will be given an opportunity to see the hogs and the feeds which have been used.

Maryland's swine industry produces approximately fifty million pounds of live hogs annually, worth, in round numbers, five million dollars.

The experiment permits a comparison of fishmeal, tankage, dried skim milk and soybean oilmeal as supplements for shelled corn, and also furnishes information concerning the use of different amounts of high-protein supplement rations for fattening hogs.

Some of the experimental hogs to be seen Saturday, November 22, will have produced less than nine-tenths of a pound of gain daily per head, while others will have gained well above a pound and one-half daily per head, with approximately 30 per cent more feed required to produce 100 pounds of gain in weight with some rations than with others, judging from the results secured during the first 70 days of the experiment.

At Mount Clemens, Mich., Virginia Mac Coppins died last week after suffering more than a year of the hiccoughs, although her case was studied by approximately 5,000 physicians.

At Uniontown, Pa., last week, six persons died as a result of drinking poison liquor, made from alcohol which had been manufactured for automobile radiators.

RELIGIOUS TRAINING

Those who scoff at church and Sunday school should consider the words of District Attorney Ainell, of New York, who has had a lot of experience with racketeers and gangsters. He says:

The records show that, when questioned, these gangsters state that they have never attended church or Sunday school. I am not speaking of any particular church, but I do wish to atate emphatically that the lack of church and Sunday school influence is the direct cause of many of our young men being found in the criminal classes. In the church and Sunday school the young man will meet the right-thinking people and will receive moral and religious training, whieh will be of great influence for good in later life. Do not take my words for it. Ask any rabbi, priest or minister. Any successful business man of today and see what he has to say. Do not get the opinion that only mollycoddles attend church and Sunday school.

Send your boy and girl where they get the benefit of high ideals and worthy influence. You can easily decide, if you are sincerely anxious for the child's welfare, whether it is better loafing on the streets or for them to be in church and Sunday school.

PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION

H. G. Wells proposes mass buying to absorb the surplus stocks of merchandise created by mass production. With thousands of persons living in unfit homes, wearing improper clothing and eating insufficient food, he said, why should we not, as a community, provide these people with these things? Collectively we can purchase anything we produce collectively.

Mr. Wells has caught the spirit of the Buy Now campaign to the extent of seeing that production, distribution and consumption are all parts of the same machinery which must function as a whole. When the brake is removed from the buying power the other wheels will turn normally. But does relief from the present emergency offer hope for a permanent remedy? Would he perpetuate the dependence of a large group upon the bounty of the community? For the last several years the wide dissemination of resources had, as President Hoover remarked, actually been reducing the amount of poverty in the country and enlarging the number capable of their own support. To that ideal we must return; any temporary makeshift that fails to take into ultimate account would leave us worse off than before.

The real question of equalizing production and consumption probably means a curtailing of the former as much as an expansion of the latter. Such a message has been coming repeatedly from Washington sources, and too little heed was paid to it, especially by farmers. Perhaps the transitional moment has arrived when we must give more thought to quality output. To talk in terms merely of production units is to omit artistic essentials with which the hand worker was more familiar than the machine worker. A restoration of this human concept to the industrial objective might take up some of the slack in the labor market.

An Interesting Fact

SOME EARLY PUNISHMENTS

In this day of great outcry concerning the constantly increasing number of criminal cases clogging the dockets of the courts, when extremists are urging more severe penalties and others urging the abolition of the death penalty, it is interesting to note some of the penalties inflicted by our forefathers in Maryland.

For instance, in 1780, in Frederick county, a plan was hatched to release British prisoners held in that county and in Virginia. Seven Tories, leaders in the conspiracy, were arrested, tried and found guilty of high treason. The sentence pronounced by Judge Alevander Hanson was "that they be hanged, cut down while alive, drawn and quartered, and the four quarters of each body be exposed to public view."

Prior to that, in 1663, the Assembly, by an act provided for the construction of a temporary prison at St. Mary's, with pillory, stocks and a ducking stool, and each county in the Colony, at the same time, was required to provide branding irons for malefactors, especially for the burning of the letter "H" on the shoulder of any person convicted of the second offense of stealing his neighbor's hogs.

Drunkennes, which was defined as "drinking with excess to notable perturbation of any organ of sense or motion," was evidently not considered a very serious offense, as the fine was set at thirty pounds of tobacco, or five shillings.

Servile labor on the Lord's Day was absolutely prohibited, as was also the "eating of flesh in time of Lent or on other days (Wednesdays excepted) wherein it is prohibited by the law of England."

While it is true that the harsh English laws against debtors whereby honest, but unfortunate, men were thrown into prison with malefactors of all kinds, was somewhat relaxed, yet as late as 1733 the law, which was considered (and was) a forward step, provided that "where there is no sufficient distresse of goods, the party himself, or any of his servants attached, shall be either sold at an outcry, or otherwise his services valued and appraised by the month as before, and delivered in execution to the party or parties recovering, until the execution is satisfied"; that is the debt was to be paid in services rendered by the debtor.

It was not until the administration of Governor Charles Goldsborough (1818-1819) that the law which countenanced imprisonment for debt was repealed.

CORN AND POTATO CROPS IN MARYLAND HARDEST HIT

Corn Production Less Than Half of Last Year's Production; Potatoes Show 50 per cent Drop

A Maryland crop report made public Saturday by Richard C. Ross, a statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture's bureau of economics, declared the yield of field grains to be very low in the State this year. Production of fruit crops also was light, he said, though prospects for apples, pears and grapes improved somewhat during October.

October weather was none too favorable for the maturing of late harvested crops in Maryland, the drought continuing practically unbroken throughout the month, Mr. Ross said. Light showers which fell in scattered areas were not of sufficient extent or duration to cause any great improvement in pastures or fall-sown grains, he stated.

The composite crop yield of all the crops in Maryland, as indicated by November prospects, was set at seventy-three per cent of the average during the ten years, 1919 to 1928, or slightly higher than October estimates, due to improved prospects for apples, pears and grapes.

Corn production in Maryland is now estimated at 8,115,000 bushels, based on an average yield of 15 bushels per acre. Production last year was 19,162,000 bushels and the ten-year average is 21,64,000 bushels. The drought was hard on corn and it is estimated that less than half of the crop is of merchantable quality this 2.7 per cent of the 1929 crop still remains on farms.

The late potato crop was poor in Maryland due to the drought and the average yield per acre of the entire crop is now estimated at 69 bushels per acre. The yield last year was 100 bushels per acre and the ten-year average is 92 bushels. Total production is estimated at 2,981,000 bushels, compared with 4,000,000 bushels last year and the ten-year average of 4,020,000 bushels.

Estimated production of apples, pears and grapes was higher on November 1 than on October 1, but is lower than 1929 estimates. The apple crop is estimated at 1,826,000 bushels, the pear crop at 180,000 bushels and the graps crop at 1,368 tons.

Maryland tobacco production is now estimated at 19,260,000 pounds, or about 21 per cent less than the 1924-28 average production of 24,369,000 pounds. The average yield per acre of 535 pounds is considered smaller than the ten-year average of 773 pounds. The quality of this year's crop is about 66 per cent.

KATE PAYTON

Miss Kate Payton, aged 72 years, a life-long resident of Oakland, died at Allegany Hospital, Cumberland, Sunday night, to which institution she had been admitted a few days preceding. The cause of her death was a complication of diseases. She made her home with the family of John W. McCue for many years. Interment was made in Cumberland.

SWANTON

Surprise Party Given Mrs. Bray

The children and grandchildren of Mrs. B. T. Bray gave a surprise party on Saturday evening, November 15, in honor of her 61st birthday. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Friend and children, Amy, Jane and Hugh; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bray and daughter Phyllis; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friend and daughter Alice; Mrs. H. Weicht and children, James, Gus, Robert and Daphne; Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bray; Messrs. Cass Bray, Bradley Bray, Everett Bray and James Bray. Mrs. Bray received a number of useful gifts and enjoyed the birthday cake and cream. Music and social converse kept all entertained until someone thought of serenading the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bray, which was done without stint. The evening was a most pleasant and enjoyable one for all.

It is said that three of our young men had a very serious knot tied in Oakland Saturday last, so we are waiting for this issue of The Republican to see if we can find their names in the list of marriage licenses.

James Bray, who has spent the past two months in Zanesville, Ohio, has returned to his home here on account of the illness of his mother, who has been quite sick, but we are glad to report that she is improving.

Sales and butchering seem to be the chief sources of recreation around Swanton recently.

The new sidewalk in Swanton is rapidly nearing completion. It adds much to the beauty of our little town.

We have been having a few showers of rain the past week which has certainly been appreciated.

MARRIED

Harvey-Harvey—Miss Anna Sue Harvey, of near Loch Lynn, and Mr. Russell W. Harvey were quietly married last Saturday.

The bride is a daughter of Scott and Lucinda Hamill Harvey. She is a graduate of Oakland High school, class of 1923, and was a student of Potomac State school and a graduate of Fairmont State Teachers' College, Fairmont, W. Va. She also attended the University of Virginia and is at present one of Garrett county's school teachers.

The groom is the son of the recently elected county commissioners and Mrs. George D. Harvey, of near Gormania.

Beyond the County

At Washington it is announced that compilation of the late census returns shows that the present total membership of the House of 435 will not be changed and that Maryland's delegation remains at the present figure, six.

At Detroit, ten men have indicated by the Federal Grand Jury, charged with being heads of two air smuggling syndicates, whose air fleets have been bringing liquor and aliens from Canada to the United States.

At Waco, Texas, repeated tests conducted the past six years at Baylor University, shows that the male sex registers higher in psychological tests than the female, indicating that boys are more brainy than girls.

At Glen Cove, New York, where there are great estates owned by the Morgans and others, an unimployment relief headquarters was opened, but up to date no one has applied for relicf.

In New York state, during the past summer session, 268,000 tourists made use of the state's camp sites, 7. times more than in 1897.

At Ironton, Ohio, owing to an over charge of dynamite, a tree stump was hurled through a school house window and instantly killed a twelve-year-old pupil.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP--HIMSELF

Scoop received a letter this week and before opening, thought it was a reply to his request to the "Cuss Scoop Week," mentioned two weeks ago.

But it was only a fish story which one fisherman knew about another fisherman, and here it is:

"Jim Painter was out fishing at the lake some time ago when he tried all kinds of bait, flies of all kinds, plugs, etc., with never a nibble. Finally Jim Bell came along, and after Jim Painter explained his troubles, the Col. reached back on his hip and produced a bottle and handed to Jim saying, 'Pour some of this on a nice fat worm.'

"Jim did and he soon felt a tug on line. When he pulled in he found the worm had a strangle hold on a large trout and was punching him in the eye with his tail."

Out in St. Clairsville, Ohio, last Tuesday when a chain store did not close for the observance of Armistice, a platoon of former soldiers hurled tear gas bombs into the place, causing patrons and employes to flee. After the bombing they posted a notice on the window reading "Closed for the Day", No charges were filed against the men.

I see by the papers, the rival across the way to be exact, that they are now serving chicken dinners for 5 cents per plate, and friendly ones at that, at a place here in town. Is that the result of competition?

* * *

As soon as Third street gets more dog houses and other beautiful edifices such as coal houses, chicken coops, moved over there, it will surely tend to improve the outlook for tourists on route 37. They make such a nice enviroment for the City Hall.

"Vic", the Maryland theatre trusty, said there was only one thing wrong with my story last week on the piano repairs. He says the report about Mr. Gonder buying two new brooms is entirely false.

Scoop hasn't heard anything more about the ruination of his reputation during the present week as a result of the Hallowe'en parade. It couldn't be possible that they read the book and changed their minds? Or maybe it's so badly ruined now that there isn't any hope.

This thing of people going to the dogs had orta be stopped.

* * *

And while we are on the subject of dirt, we might as well print an essay on it. A biophysicist, whatever that is, declares this the dirtiest age in the history of civilization.

John Carter, statistician on dirt and soil minded, estimates that the average set of finger nails will collect a few grains of defunct cuticle, soil, grime, grease, ink, food within a day's routine. If this be true and ever inhabitant would receive the attention of a finger nail mechanic every week, the yield would load out nine one-ton trucks, which in a year, would stretch (if placed end to end) far enough to equal the length of the last Hallowe'en parade.

We do not wear out as many bath tubs as we do automobiles, according to Paul Naylor who happens to be interested in substantial tubs and stands behind every one he sells; however the mechanical parts are not as complicated, George Kerins, of Kerins and Kerins, points out.

The house cat, which is prone to scouting around more or less, states that every house has at least a pound of dirt behind the door or in some dark corner.

But after all, the world is not so awfully dirty, and its people do use a powerful lot of perfume. And after mingling with a crowd, I am tempted to say "a lot of powerful perfumery."

A person may wear clean clothes and stand under the showers every day and still be a "dirty bum."

* * *

If this water supply doesn't get better soon, there won't be any standing under the showers.

It is reported that a certain Mt. Lake Parker thinks he sees a way to circumvent the Volstead Law. He proposes to plant milk weed, egg plant and rye in the same plot, hoping to produce eggnog.

Yes, and how about mints for mint julep.

Since saying that a car attempted to pass another one on the narrow bridge near Ilopemont, a few weeks ago, Scoop has been blamed for a couple of things—neither of which are hardly worth mentioning.

Scoop doesn't know which one attempted to pass the other, or whether they attempted to pass each other. And according to those who have tried and succeeded, two cars can really pass on this bridge.

CHRISTMAS SEALS AID IN FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS

Battle Against Disease Started Over Fifty Years Ago

Good old Santa Claus is back again with a load of Christmas tuberculosis seals, wishing "Health to All." The seals will be on sale under the auspices of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, and until the end of the year—an appropriate time as everybody realizes who thinks back to the time when these little messengers of health and hope were first used, nearly a quarter of a century ago, in the fight against the disease that has taken such a heavy toll of precious lives.

"The fight against tuberculosis started over fifty years ago," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said in calling attention to the opening of the Christmas seal sale and in urging every Marylander to buy generously of them. "It has kept up steadily ever since," he continued. "Twenty-five years ago tuberculosis was responsible for one death out of every eight. Last year, it was the cause of one death in every thirteen. For many years tuberculosis led all diseases as a cause of death. As a result of the combined attacks against it, it has gradually been brought down to fourth or fifth place, with diseases of the heart, or of the kidneys, and cancer, taking the leading places.

"The Christmas seals have helped to bring this about, because the money derived from their sale has been used to show people how to prevent the disease by right living, with attention to the rules of health, the value of sunshine and fresh air, wholesome food and healthful exercise, and by the early recognition of dangerous symptoms and prompt care.

"Free chest clinics financed through the sale of the Christmas seals, were started in the counties under the joint auspices of the State Department of Health and the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, in 1924. In the seven years since then, 21,000 persons, an average of 3,000 each year, have been examined and many cases in the early stages of the disease have been found and helpful treatment has been started.

"Prevention—By building up resistance to disease through wholesome food, sunshine, fresh air, plenty of sleep and good care—has been the motive underlying the work for children and young women, during the summer and fall at the Preventorium at Claiborne—the Miracle House, as it is called because of what it has accomplished.

"These are some of the things the Christmas seals have made possible. So, buy your share early—and then buy another share, remembering that every seal you buy helps to make real its message of 'Health to All.'"

A Part of Armistice Day in Washington, 1930, As Seen Through a Woman's Eye.

To the Editor of The Republican.

I was hurrying through Washington station early on Armistice morning. Two women on a bench I passed were arguing hotly. A third member of the party was coming towards them. "Fussing? Don't you know this is Ar-miss-tiss Day. No fussing or fighting today."

No fighting! But how sad Washington looked on this day of memory! The sky was gray. There were flags everywhere, but their gay colors dropped in windless air. I had slipped into a taxi and was making for the auditorium. A slight thrill came at sight of the machines and busses before the auditorium; another at sight of the crowded hall—I had felt a beginning thrill when the taxi driver said, "Gee, Sousa's band!"

My card secured me a seat. The band was playing "Roll Those Caissons Along." I had heard it first on a football field, a day in November that was too, crisp and bright, splendid fellows out on the gridiron, brave and gay youngsters thronging the tiers of seats. Some of those boys are now among those on "Flanders Field," but the bright poppies which blow there and in memory of which the bright red blossoms are sold on the streets, are they of hope or symbolic of drugged forgetfulness?

Forgetfulness with discouragement—that seemed to be the note of the crowd, one of the few throngs in which men outnumbered women. Even those two minutes of standing silence, ended by a deep voice intoning "Amen," lacked something. All standing again, the President enters. Light blazed in the "mike" close beside the President who stood and read for about fifteen minutes.

"The time has not yet come when we can assume that righteousness has so advanced in the world that we may yet have complete confidence in the full growth of pacific means or rest solely upon the processes of peace for defense"—but presently:

"In the development of methods of pacific settlement a great hope lies in ever extending the body and principles of international law on which such settlements will be based. The World Court is now a strong body, performing and facilitating justifiable determinations which can be accomplished under special treaties of arbitration. Its permanence is assured and from it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decisions and acceptance of law in the formation of which we should have a part, not alone in our own interest, but in advancement of peace."

A roar of applause!

Reference to arbitration treaties further heartened the crown and they did sing America heartily.

I hurried on to conferences which thrashed out some of the things which should be done for internationalism, for establishing friendliness throughout the world, but I came back thru the station remembering the words of that warning woman. Two findings were formulated in my mind, but through, above and beyond them all surged the thought of our loss.

The United States has spent $52,000,000,000 so far in the prosecution of the World War and as an aftermath of the conflict which ended 12 years ago. But that other loss—of life, of joy, of accomplishment, of helpfulness of living; of what might have been given to the world in art, in music, in scientific achievement—that measure which should be pouring into the world today—perhaps that loss made the day gray.

Its lesson was "Never Again." Our promise was that the dead had not died in vain. The thing printed upon the page of the first quarter of the twentieth century was the futility of war, the madness of war, the fact that it never accomplished anything, settled anything; that the vanquished was as much the victor as the one which claimed triumph.

And our task today is to work out the machinery of peace, since the machinery of war has failed and since it is wrong. But the two practical findings through which these thoughts surged were first that this short session of Congress should see our entrance into the World Court; and second, that machinery of peace must be founded upon a state of mind. Goodwill, friendship, cooperation—these make the formula for the world spirit.

"No more fighting," the words of that woman still rang in mind. Suddenly flashed into memory also the words closing the prayer which preceded the President's entrance, "Until that day of the Messianic Armistice dawn."

Water Supply For Schools

Running water will be put in the local school building in the near future. Two plumbing concerns in Oakland are making proposals for the work and the bids will be submitted to the School Board in a short time. The water supply will be secured from the well located on the school lot and will be raised by an electric pump. Fountains will be provided and also lavatories in all of the rooms and a sink will be installed in the Home Economics Room.

Owing to the rush at the time of the Father and Son banquet, which was held last week, members of the Home Economics Club borrowed dishes and other utensils from different people in the community. At this time there are still some articles which have not been returned because they were not marked and the members of the club do not know who the owners are. Anyone who has not received all the articles owned by them will please get in touch with Miss Bewley of the Home Economics department, and they will be returned immediately.

The new front doors are being built for the local school building by H. W. Kahl in Oakland.

Interclass games will be played this week according to the following schedule: Tuesday, seniors and freshmen play the sophomores and juniors; Wednesday, seniors and sophomores play the freshmen and juniors; on Thursday, juniors and seniors play the freshmen and sophomores. This is to determine the champion class in soccer.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL

141 Have Subscribed In Oakland and Community

This year there is a widespread interest in the Red Cross membership drive that recalls the enthusiasm of war days. Everybody seems to realize that the poor and the unemployed are facing a winter of hardships unparalleled for many years.

It is going to be an uphill struggle, involving many sacrifices from people who have nothing to spare, to raise the Red Cross membership to the goal, yet many persons have already responded heroically. So far, reports have been received only from chairmen living in Oakland and vicinity. It would be a great help if persons wishing to assist the good cause along would hunt up authorized collectors instead of laying the entire responsibility of the "hunt" for Red Cross dollars on the chairmen. For instance, Mrs. Nelle Darby, Joseph Gonder and Mrs. Rachel J. Ashby didn't wait to be asked, but offered their membership dues to the county chairman without reminder that the drive was on. Unsolicited, Mrs. Anna Byrd mailed a check from Sykesville, Md. Probably others have done much the same thing, but their names have not come to the attention of the publicity chairman.

People living on farms or in sparsely settled sections where it is difficult to solicit funds, are urged especially to send in their donations to Mrs. E. Z. Tower, Oakland, or to any district chairman. Certificates of membership, Red Cross buttons and "signs" for home windows will be sent to voluntary donors of a dollar or more.

In the Friendsville district Mrs. A. B. Mason is chairman of the membership committee.

Thus far 141 have subscribed or contributed, among the number for the present week being the following:

BALTIMORE IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT OF THE FUTURE

Congressional District Would Extend From Oakland To Baltimore City—200 Miles

Oakland and part of Baltimore City in the same Congressional district may seem odd, but this has been proposed in all seriousness by a group of experts in redistricting geography.

This group of mathematicians, geographers and politicians started out on the theory that a part of Baltimore should be in every Congressional district of Maryland. These experts finally evolved a scheme recently explained in detail in the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Montgomery county would be dropped from the present Sixth District and Howard county substituted together with the western section of Baltimore City. The new Sixth would have a population of 275,577 as compared with its present population of 240,095.

Would Be Longest

If the Maryland legislature ever designated such a district it would be the longest congressional district east of the Mississippi River, being approximately 200 miles from the State line west of Oakland to the central section of Baltimore City where it would join the Fourth Congressional District.

The time might come, in such a case where a Baltimorean would represent us in the national House of Representatives. Conversely, an Oaklander would represent a part of Baltimore.

Here is what the Baltimore Evening Sun says, in part, about the matter:

The new census threw into glaring relief the inequalities of the present districting of Maryland for Congressional purposes. For instance, the Second District contains 460,094 persons, while the First District contains but 193,623. It will be more than surprising if the impending legislature at its session in January is not under heavy pressure to redistrict the whole State so as to provide a more equitable representation in Congress of our various groups.

Difficulties Many

But redistricting a State is a dif-

ENROLLMENT IS OPEN FOR ANNUAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Three Courses Offered to Aid Teachers in Sunday Schools

The Sunday Schools of Oakland and the surrounding communities are enrolling members for the third annual Community Leadership Training School, to begin on Sunday evening, December 7, in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, and continue until Friday evening, December 12.

Three courses offered cover the fields of church school administration, junior and primary work and the Old Testament. All classes are taught by accredited teachers, and the list includes Miss Lillian McCormick, Baltimore, who will be dean of the school.

A small registration fee will be charged to cover the expenses of the school. It is expected that at least 75 will enroll.

Teachers' Meetings Held to Discuss Problems

The first series of all-day Teachers' meetings were held on Wednesday, November 26, and Thursday, November 20, at Kitzmiller, Oakland, Accident and Grantsville. The meetings in Oakland and Kitzmiller were held on November 20.

The following topics were discussed: Activities in the social studies, Miss Grace Shatzer; Results of county-wide reading test, Miss Gladys Hamill; Geography in Upper Grades, Miss Kate Bannatyne; History in the upper grades, Miss Flossie Skidmore; Helps on county school attendance problems, John L. Fitzwater.

Miss I. Jewell Simpson, assistant State superintendent of schools; Miss Roxana Steele, supervisor of elementary education at Western State Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, Mich.; and Miss Lillian Compton, assistant superintendent of schools of Allegany county, all attended the meeting in Oakland and expressed themselves as being surprised and pleased with the growth of the county along educational lines.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL ENDS THANKSGIVING

Chairman Is Hopeful that County Quota of 400 Will be Reached

The annual Red Cross roll call, which began on Armistice Day, will come to a close on Thanksgiving day, when it is hoped that the quota of 400 for Garrett county will be entirely filled, stated Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman.

Over 150 have been reported in Oakland and vicinity, and since there are still many chairmen to report, it looks favorable for going "over the top".

"Already," Mrs. Tower said. "demands for clothing, shoes, etc., for school children are being made and the Red Cross is preparing to take care of all they can. Mrs. Joseph Fahey, public health nurse, will be in charge of the distribution of the clothing. Every demand that is made will be investigated by the health nurse, and clothes will be supplied to all who really are in need."

This method is intended to stop the house to house method of begging.

The funds raised from the membership drive are used wherever needed in the county. One-half of the amount is turned in to headquarters at Washington and the other half is retained by the local chapter. The remaining list of subscribers to this year's fund will be published as soon as all chairmen have made their report.

GARRETT COUNTY WOMAN'S CITIZENSHIP IS RESTORED

Governor Grants Recommendation of Parole Commissioner

Restoration of the citizenship of Miss Mabel Swann, recommended by the State parole commissioner. was granted Saturday by Governor Albert C. Ritchie.

Mabel Swann was sentenced to serve three years in the Maryland penitentiary for the murder of Daniel Mosser, at her home in Swanton on May 26, 1927. The case was removed from Garrett county and tried in the Allegany county court in October, 1927, where a verdict of murder in the second degree was rendered on October 27, with a plea for leniency.

Physicians at this time had found Miss Swann suffering from a toxic goitre, which required medical attention, and approximately one year followmg her conviction she was paroled in order to enter a hospital for treatment.

In the recommendation the parole commisioner advises that "her conduct has been such as to justify the restoration of her citizenship."

PROPOSAL TO ISSUE ROAD BONDS UNDER DISCUSSION

Matter Was Brought to the Attention of Representative Body At Luncheon On Saturday

MR. UHL CHIEF SPEAKER

Last Saturday afternoon the County Commissioners of Garrett County had as their guests at a luncheon served at the Manhattan Hotel, Mr. G. Clinton Uhl, chairman of the State Roads Commission and a representative body of citizens from nearly all sections of the county, as their guests, the purpose of the gathering as outlined by Mr. Uhl being the feasibility of devising ways and means whereby a million and a-half of dollars could be raised with which to construct from 50 miles to 75 miles of State highway in Garrett county during the calendar year of 1931, thus not only providing labor for the idle but also reach those sections of the county with improved roadways which are now isolated a great part of the year because of the lack of them.

Mr. William R. Offutt was toastmaster and introduced Mr. Uhl as the principal speaker following the luncheon. Mr. Uhl in responding to the introduction expressed his pleasure in meeting with the Garrett countians and stated that he was proud of the fact that he was a resident of Western Maryland and was in a position to offer to the people of Garrett county something which was needed and which under the present method of procedure they would be a long time in securing—an improved highway or highways reaching those sections of the county which are situated off the main arteries.

"I have been connected with the road building program in Allegany county and as a member of the State Roads Commission for approximately twenty-five years," Mr. Uhl said. "During the past two years $300,000 has been spent in Garrett county by the State Roads Commission for the maintenance of the roads now built. This fund comes from the auto tax and must be used for the purpose for which it is paid—that of maintenance. Money in one fund cannot be transferred to another fund. hence to keep the roads up this tax must be maintained. I know the needs of Garrett county and the Roads Commission hopes to have the hearty cooperation of the people in its proposed program of the future. During the year we have spent in Garrett county the sum of $75,000 in widening the National Road from the Pennsylvania line east to Keyser's Ridge and within the next two years we expect to spend $200,000 more on the same highway in Garrett county in making the roadway wider and safer for traffic.

"I know that the new members of the Board of County Commissioners are interested in local conditions. During the year 1930 the total amount expended in Garrett county for maintenance and construction of new roads amounted to $331,000. For the year 1931 the Road Commission has in sight for expenditure on lateral roads the sum of $166,000 only. This amount is made up from the following: $98,000 carried over from 1930: $27,000 gas tax; $45,000 Federal aid. In order to secure the Federal aid money Maryland as well as other states participating in its distribution must match the amounts they receive dollar for dollar."

Reverting to local conditions and demands from various sections of the county. Mr. Uhl suggested that a bond issue of $1,600,000 be floated by the county, the bonds to run for a term of six years, and that as they became

Seven Inches of Snow is Garrett County's Share of Eastern Storm

About seven inches of snow has fallen in Garrett county as a result of a storm which has spread itself across the eastern half of the United States during the past two days. Below freezing temperatures are general almost everywhere east of the Rockies and a continuation of the Arctic wave until Thanksgiving is in prospect.

Although the snow is not expected to add much mater to the wells in this territory, cattle and other stock will be benefited to some extent.

The water in the Oakland reservoir remains a slight distance above the fire reserve level. Very little progress has been made during the present week in drilling the new well, due to rock formations.

LEGIONAIRES WILL BEGIN MEMBERSHIP DRIVE DEC. 1

Two Teams Named for Solicitation of Members—Neil Fraley and Alex Hesen are Captains

YEARLY PROGRAM ACTIVE

That the American Legion Membership Campaign would begin in earnest for Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, on December 1, was emphasized by Joseph M. Gonder, post commander, who announced that two teams for solicitation of members had been selected as follows: Neil Fraley, captain; Walter Janoske, Ernest C. Liller, Francis H. Gower, and John H. Carter. A. G. Hesen, captain; S. Townshend Naylor, Edward P. Kahl, Delbert Davis and Charles Reckard.

A meeting of the teams was held at the home of Joseph M. Gonder, and each member of the team assigned an allotment of veterans to visit. Membership in Proctor Kildow Post increased to more than double the 1929 membership, and the quota for this year is double that of last year.

"While the campaign isn't fully under way," Mr. Gonder said, "the outlook is very bright due to interest shown by veterans who have joined unsolicited.

"Membership is the agency through which and the power by which can be accomplished the ideals and aspirations of the American Legion." Mr. Gonder continued. "Membership is the vehicle by which can be carried forward the program of our organization. Early enrollment gives the officers the means by which the program of activity can be put in motion with the assurance of the success they should merit.

"The program of the local post is larger in scope than that of last year and includes the completion of equipping the drum and bugle corps, securing aid for needy veterans, awarding medals to honor students in the high schools, completion of first aid squad and handling all papers pertaining to cases of veterans with the Bureau, whether of a service or non-service connected disability.

"At the national convention of the Legion held in Boston, Mass., there were fifty-four resolutions adopted which will be presented to Congress during the year for enactment into law. These resolutions include the reduction of interest on loans granted on adjusted compensation certificates from 6 percent to 4 percent, and deal in many ways for the interest of the veteran, calling for the completion of the hospitals authorized by Congress and also for the establishment of a hospital for women veterans in California.

"Every veteran of the World War who received an honorable discharge is eligible for membership and should become one of those who are fighting the battle of his less fortunate comrade, the disabled veteran.

"Join your local post and become 'one of the million legionaires of 1931,' " Mr. Gonder concluded.

Annual Re-registration of Scout Troop to be Made Soon

The annual re-registration of members of the local Scout troop will be made within the next few weeks, according to George Hanst, scout master. Blanks for this re-registration of the members have been received from national headquarters with orders to list only names of scouts who intend to remain active in the troop.

With the exception of five or six the entire membership of the troop will be re-registered. Those who have not been very active but who wish to remain in the troop are asked to see the scoutmaster at once. Each year every scout in the county must reregister prior to the date of the organization of each individual troop. The Oakland troop was organized in December of 1924, and at the beginning of 1931 will be starting out on its seventh consecutive year. There will be 40 or more registered for 1931.

Fire Department Called

The Oakland Volunteer Fire department was called last evening about 5:45 o'clock when it was feared that fire would spread from the flue of the home of Gordon McRobie, south of the Little Youghlogheny river bridge on Third street, which was sending a blaze some distance in the air. No damage resulted, however.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE TO OPEN THANKSGIVING DAY

Mrs. C. Milton Sincell in Charge Of Annual Campaign

The twenty-third annual Christmas seal sale of the Maryland Tuberculosis association will open on Thanksgiving Day, November 27, Mrs. C. Milton Sincell, county chairman, announced.

Seals will be distributed this year to the schools and business houses and a number of letters are being mailed out to these places. The seals are said to be very beautiful this year with a "Merry Christmas" and "Health to All" written upon them.

In order not to conflict with the American Red Cross roll call, and the sale of other seals, it was stated that no Maryland Tuberculosis seal would be sold in the county until Thanksgiving Day. The seal sale will close the latter part of December.

"Seventy percent of the funds realized from this campaign remain within Garrett county" the chairman said. The state receives 25 percent and national headquarters 5 percent. The money that remains within the county is used in preventorium work, educational work, and earing for the health of those in danger of or suffering with tuberculosis.

MRS. FAHEY IS NAMED AS THE PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

Grantsville Woman Appointed Saturday by Commissioners—Was County's First Nurse

IS QUALIFIED FOR WORK

Mrs. Joseph Fahey, of Grantsville, was appointed as public health nurse of Garrett county by the Board of County Commissioners, on Saturday morning, it has been announced. Mrs. Fahey takes the place of Miss Ruth N. Martin, R. N., who resigned in September to continue her studies in Shenandoah college, at Dayton, Virginia. She assumed her duties on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Etowski, of Baltimore, who was appointed to the position in October, remained in the county only two days, and the position has been vacant since that time.

Mrs. Fahey's appointment is meeting with the hearty approval of the organizations in the county, according to Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman of the Red Cross. She was the first health nurse Garrett county ever had, being appointed to that position eight years ago. She organized the county for public health work and made the work so popular that the position has been indispensable since then.

Mrs. Fahey knows the entire county, the roads, conditions of the people and their needs, and should be able to carry on the work of the public health nurse in a satisfactory and efficient manner, the commissioners stated. Her appointment has been approved by the State department.

Mrs. Wm. Kildow Returns From New York Hospital

Mrs. Delilah Kildow, who received a fractured hip when she stumbled over a suit case in her stateroom as she was returning from her trip to France with a number of Gold Star mothers, July 10, was brought to her home in Oakland on train No. 3 Wednesday morning, after being in St. Vincent's hospital, New York, for over four months. She was accompanied by a nurse.

Mrs. Kildow is now able to walk by aid of a cane. She left Oakland on June 12 for New York from which port she sailed for France with other Gold Star mothers, and visited the grave of her son, Proctor Kildow, killed in action at Chateau Thierry during the early days of this country's entrance into the conflict.

JUDGE GIVES YOUNG MEN TERMS IN PENITENTIARY

Oscar and Albert Green are Convicted by Juries of Attacking Girl in This County

CASES TRIED SEPARATELY

Judge Albert A. Doub Monday morning in the Circuit Court of Allegany county, sentenced Oscar Green, found guilty of criminal assault to eight years in the Maryland penitentiary, and his cousin, Albert Green also of Lonaconing, convicted of assault, to six years in the Maryland penitentiary. Both are young men. The cases were removed to Cumberland from Garrett county.

The court in passing sentence commented on the grave nature of the offense that had been committed and that both juries had brought in convictions which was to serve notice that the safeguards of socicty, maintenance of law, morality, and public decency on the highways would be upheld.

They were tried in separate cases in the criminal session of the October term of court, charged with attacking Miss Margaret Beeman, of Gilmore, Allegany county, in Garrett county, during an automobile ride in July this year.

Drove Into Garrett County

The testimony at both trials showed that Miss Beeman with three other girls went with Fred, Albert and Oscar Green, who picked them up on the road. The girls were waiting for a bus to go to a dance at Fireman's Hall, Frostburg, they said, at the time. The state contended that the party drove to Frostburg and that the driver, Fred Green, did not stop but drove through into Garrett county. Above Frostburg, on a steep grade, three of the girls jumped out and reported the affair at a farm house. Miss Beeman declared that Oscar and Albert Green held her in the car and forcibly attacked her after they had driven on a back trail road from the mountain in Garrett county that leads to Lonaconing. The cousins admitted the escapade but testified that no force was used.

State's Attorney William A. Huster was assisted by State's Attorney A. T. Matthews of Garrett county. The Greens were defended by Saul Praeger, Fuller Barnard, Jr., of Cumberland, and William R. Offutt, of Oakland, at both trials.

YOUNG MAN LOSES ARM IN GUNNING ACCIDENT

Percy Gank, 19, of Skipnish, a Victim of Shooting Friday

Percy Gank, 19 years old, of Skipnish, four miles west of Oakland, received a shot in his left forearm last Friday afternoon when his shotgun was accidentally discharged while he was hunting in the woods near his home.

The youth, according to his own story, was standing on a fallen log with his gun beside him and with his arm resting upon the barrel. The gun slipped from its position and in sailing the hammer struck against the side of the log, discharging it, the charge of shot entering his arm a few inches below his elbow. Dr. McComas was called and after rendering first aid the wounded man was sent to Memorial hospital, at Cumberland, where his arm was amputated by Dr. Gracie Saturday morning.

Rank of Knight Conferred at Pythian Meeting Friday

At a district get-together meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge held last Friday evening in Castle hall, the rank of Knight was conferred upon a class of candidates and interesting talks were made by grand lodge officers.

Nelson W. Russler, Cumberland, supreme representative, spoke of the changes made at the meeting of the Supreme lodge held in Florida in August.

A. Elwood Martak, grand keeper of records and seal, told of the plans of the lodge for the coming year. There was a large attendance of members from Oakland and Friendsville lodges.

Tomorrow evening, at the regular session, Bushrod "Jack" Grimes, secretary of the Allegheny Tableland association, will tell about the purpose of the organization and how it will affect Garrett county.

ZACCHAEUS THE PUBLICAN, A BUSINESS MAN CONVERTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.

PRIMARY TOPIC — A Man Who Thought Jesus Would Not Care.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Righted His Wrongs.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Religion Changes One's Life.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making Business Christian.

I. Jesus Passing Through Jericho (v. 1).

Jericho is noted as the stronghold of the Canaanites, which was miraculously delivered into the hands of Israel in response to their faith (Josh. 6), and also for the faith of Rahab which saved her from destruction with the city (Heb. 11:30, 31). It was thus noted as a city where faith and unbelief played against each other. It was fitting that Jesus should pass through Jericho. Faith and unbelief again were manifested. Two notorious sinners, Rahab and Zacchaeus, were saved at Jericho.

II. Zacchaeus Seeking Jesus (vv. 2-4).

1. His object (v. 3).

He sought to see who Jesus was. Though perhaps prompted by curiosity, he eagerly sought Jesus.

2. His difficulties (vv. 2, 3).

(1) His infamous business (v. 2).

He was a tax collector for the Roman government. The very fact that a Jew held such an office under the hated Romans would make him extremely unpopular. Then, since he was rich, it was evident that he had practiced extortion in collecting the taxes. Many men and women have a hard time in coming to Christ because of their questionable business relations.

(2) His shortness of stature (v. 3).

He was too small to crowd his way through to Jesus, and being hated by the people they had thrust him aside.

3. His persistence (v. 4).

He ran before the multitude and climbed up into a tree. What he lacked in stature he was determined should be made up by the height of the tree. Though Zacchaeus' legs were too short to enable him to see Jesus they were long enough to run past the crowd and enable him to climb the tree.

III. Jesus Finding Zacchaeus (vv. 5, 6).

While Zacchaeus was trying to see Jesus, Jesus was looking for him. This is always the case. When desire is stirred up in a heart to see Jesus, Jesus is seeking that one. When Jesus saw him he commanded him to come down from the tree and declared his intention to go home with him. Zaccheus got more than he expected. Jesus called him by name. He did not utter a word which would humiliate Zacchaeus. Jesus knew his heart's desire and dealt accordingly with him. All souls who earnestly seek Jesus shall be found of him. How wonderful his grace, that regardless of one's past life, Jesus will receive him as a friend and enter into fellowship with him! Zacchaeus quickly responded. He came down and with joy received Jesus.

IV. Zacchaeus' Conversion (vv. 7-10).

His conversion was sudden and thorough. He was converted before he had reached the ground.

1. What the crowd said (v. 7).

They said just what they say today when sinners come to Christ. They call to mind the man's former sins. They also reproached Christ, saying that he had gone to be a guest of this notorious extortioner, the tax collector. That for which they reproached Jesus was his glory. His supreme mission was to save sinners (v. 10).

2. What Zacchaeus said (v. 8).

His conversion was thorough. It took hold upon his heart. His new life began with resolution and restitution. He dedicated half of his goods to the poor. The man who a little while ago was a grafter was now a generous giver. His conversion got hold of his pocketbook. His determination to make restitution wherein he had wrongly exacted taxes shows the genuineness of his conversion. While God forgets the past of a sinner when he comes to Christ, the sinner who is converted will seek to right all wrongs, be they unkind words or unrighteous deeds. Sorrow for sin is not enough when restitution is possible.

3. What Jesus said (vv. 9, 10).

"Today is salvation come to thy house." The publican was now a child of God, a son of Abraham. Salvation is a present reality when one receives Christ.

BITTINGER

During a coon hunt one night last week, Walter Fazenbaker, one of the local nimrods of this community, had the misfortune of being rather painfully injured. His dog had treed a coon and in order to get the animal Mr. Fazenbaker found it necessary to cut the tree down. When the tree began falling he ran towards the point on the ground where the top of the tree would strike in order to be on hand when the coon ran out, but in falling the tree struck a huge rock and was thrown sidewise, hitting the hunter, throwing him to the ground and injuring him rather painfully about the shoulders. The coon, of course, escaped, and the hunter is recovering.

ROCK-RIBBED GARRETT COUNTY HILLY SCENIC SPOTS; HISTORIC AND NATURAL SETTING NAME MOUNTAINS

Located in extreme Western Maryland, rock-ribbed Garrett county abounds in primitive mountain quail, wild game and naturalistic scenery, mirror lakes, straggling streams and pointed rocks.

Garrett county was carved from the territory belonging to Allegany county in 1872. Most of the land was well forested, though most of the timber has been cut over and culled out. Forest products are one of the major sources of Garrett's wealth.

The western part of this county differs much from the lower part. The face of the country is more elevated, the climate colder, the water clear and cold, and in all the larger streams trout are found to be plentiful.

This section of the county is hemmed in by the following mountains: Dan's Mountain, Meadow Mountain, and Negro Mountain.

Dan's Mountain obtained its name from the fact that Daniel Cresap was the first settler on these fine bottoms along the Potomac River. Meadow Mountain owes its title to the once beautiful glades on its western slope. Negro Mountain is so called because, after Braddock's defeat on the Monongahela, a scouting party traveling Braddock's road came in contact with a party of Indians. A skirmish ensued in which one Indian was killed and a very large Negro was mortally wounded. He was placed under a sheltering rock until the party should return from the expedition. When it returned the following night the Negro was still under the rock groaning. Fear of Indians being great, they did not go to his rescue. They left him to die in the woods on the mountain which bears the name of his race.—Yough Ripples.

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

CHEVROLET

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement. For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty, new luxury, new completeness and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

In every curve and sweep of Chevrolet's modern lines—in every detail of its new Fisher bodies, you will see the fine hand of the master designer and the skillful craftsman. And the more closely you inspect it, the more deeply impressed you will be.

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the smart new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper. The lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional fleetness and grace. And the interiors of the new Fisher bodies provide a new degree of comfort and luxury: greater roominess; fine quality mohair or broadcloth upholstery; more pleasing interior fittings; and a new, completely equipped instrument panel.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier, deeper and stronger than before. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism; an easier shifting transmission. In fact, every vital feature of the new car has been made better to provide more thorough satisfaction for the owner.

And along with these improvements, Chevrolet offers the smooth performance of a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—four long semi-elliptic springs—four hydraulic shock absorbers—a safety gasoline tank at the rear of the car—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.

USE CARE IN HANDLING AND SKINNING RABBITS

First of Season's Cases of Tularemia is Reported in State

Within a week after the opening of the hunting season, the first of this season's cases of tularemia—rabbit fever, as it is usually called—was reported to the Bureau of Communicable Diseases of the State Department of Health. A bulletin on rabbit fever, issued by the State Department of Health, shows that the diseass is usually contracted either in handling or skinning infected rabbits, or through the bite of disease-infected ticks and other insects. In addition to the wild rabbits, other animals that are susceptible to it include hares, squirrels, chipmunks, opossum and wood chuck. In some sections of the country it has also been found in some species of game birds.

The disease is spread from animal to animal by the bite of infected insects, especially the rabbit tick and the wood tick.

The presence of the disease in animals that are being skinned or exposed for sale may be detected by a characteristic speckled appearance of the liver and spleen, which are dotted with white or yellowish spots ranging in size from a pin point to others much more noticeable. In human beings the infection may be picked up through a scratch or break in the skin. It may also be contracted by rubbing the face or eyes with the hands after they have touched infected material. The use of rubber gloves by persons in skinning rabbits or preparing them for the table is accordingly advised.

The diseass is usually accompanied by a typhoid-like fever of two or three weeks duration, accompanied by great prostration, with long, slow convalescence. The attack often starts with a severe chill and with other symptoms similar to grippe. In many cases an ulcer develops at the site of the infection with a marked enlargement of the glands that drain the ulcer. The diagnosis may be confirmed by blood test and should suspected cases occur in the counties of Maryland the laboratory of the State Department of Health is prepared to make the necessary tests and will do so at the request of the family physicnan or Health Officer.

Tularemia was made reportable in Maryland three years ago. Eleven cases were reported in the State in 1928 and 23 in 1929. Of those reported in 1928, 6 occurred in the counties and 5 in Baltimore City. Of those reported last year, 13 occurred in the counties and 10 in Baltimore City.

Tularemia occurs principally among wild rabbits. It has not been found in rabbits raised in rabbitries. Thorough cooking of the meat destroys the germ. Thoroughly cooked rabbit is accordingly harmless.

Health Nurse Will Distribute Clothes to Those in Need

A plea for discarded clothes, to be distributed to those who need them, is being made by Mrs. Joseph Fahey, public health nurse, and a committee has been named who will be in charge of this work.

"Your discarded clothes are needed in your own county," Mrs. Fahey said. "Perhaps you have already had calls at your door for clothing and many such callers are really in need. Many others are taking advantage of hard times. In the future please do not give to these people but refer them to the following committee or to myself, and they will be properly taken care of.

"Mr. C. N. McIntire has donated the use of his building from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m. each Saturday and some member of the committee will be there to receive the clothes. If not convenient to bring them please phone any member of the committee or myself and the clothes will be called for.

"Coats, suits, dresses, underwear, sweaters, shoes, stockings, felt hats, wool caps, gloves, etc., are acceptable. Please have them clean and mended. These clothes will be delivered free of charge to the poor throughout this county. Each case will be investigated. By this method many people can be given aid and the truly needy will receive.

"Your cooperation is asked in this work. Garrett county must not have anyone suffering from lack of warm clothes this winter.

The comittee in charge includes: Mrs. D. S. Davis, Mrs. B. H. Sincell, Mrs. George Sprague, Miss Grace Loar, Mrs. Harry Helbig, and Mrs. D. Edward Offutt.

BALTIMORE IN THE SIXTH DISTRICT OF THE FUTURE

ficult and sometimes insoluble problem. When it is left wholly to the Legislature so many considerations are brought to bear that the outcome is often worse than the situation it was designed to correct.

In order to understand the somewhat elaborate theory evolved by the scientific men, it is necessary to bear only one or two simple facts in mind The new scheme is devised (1) to rectify present inequalities in representation and (2) to eliminate as far as possible the old "country-versus-city" feeling which has so long torn the State asunder. The new scheme takes the city to the counties and the counties to the city, and so promotes the homegeniety of the State.

The present districts are constituted as follows:

First District—The nine counties of the Eastern Shore. Population, 1930, 193,623.

Second District—The counties of Carroll, Baltimore and Harford, with Wards 15, 16, 26, 27, 28 and part of 25 of Baltimore City. Population, 1930, 460,094.

Third District—Entirely within Baltimore City, comprising Wards 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 17, 22 and parts of 26 and 18. Population, 1930, 202,267.

Fourth District—Entirely within Baltimore City, comprising Wards 12, 13, 14, 16, 19, 20 and parts of 15, 25 and 18. Population, 1930, 262,408.

Fifth District—The five southern counties, plus Wards 21, 23, 24 and parts of 18 and 25, of Baltimore City. Population, 1930, 240,095.

Sixth District—The five western counties. Population, 1930, 240,095.

Must Be Contiguous

The Federal laws governing redistricting requires that all territory in a given district be "contiguous." Superficially, then it would seem hard to make the First district leap the waters of Chesapeake Bay and penetrate Baltimore City without violating the Federal law. But this is only a superficial difficulty. Actually, the boundaries of Baltimore county on the Western Shore and of Kent county on the Eastern Shore, meet in the middle of the bay; so that they are in fact contiguous. Also the new Chesapeake Bay bridge, when it is built, will effectually remove the bay as a practical barrier. The bay then will be no more a barrier than the Patapsco river or Jones' Falls. So it was found possible to carry the First District over the bay and to include in it a part of southeast Baltimore county, half of the 25th ward and all of the 1st ward. The 1st ward, we may observe, contains the home of Mr. Vincent Palmisano, who might thus replace in Congress that well-known Eastern Shoreman, Mr. T. Alan Goldsborough.

The only other problem of serious moment was that of bringing the Sixth District, which extends clear out to the western boundary of the State, into Baltimore City. This was finally done by throwing Montgomery county to the Fifth District and taking in Howard county, a section of southwest Baltimore county and finally the 28th ward of Baltimore City.

TABLELAND ASSOCIATION WILL BE AID TO FARMERS

How Organization Will Help Is Told By Secretary Grimes

How the Allegheny Tableland Association can help the farmers and be of assistance to them in their many problems, is explained to some extent in a short article by Bushrod "Jack" Grimes, secretary of the association.

"It is not easy to explain in a few words," Mr. Grimes said, "but if there are groups of people wishing to have this fully discussed, I will be glad to meet with them if I am notified.

"Most every one realizes that one of the biggest jobs the farmer is up against is to market his surplus crops profitably. Any effort leading to improved markets for producers should certainly get their attention and interest. Ways and means of improving conditions may be pointed out but unless some action is taken, unless people get together and plan for it, nothing can be done. In the final analysis it is up to the farmers.

"What the tableland association aims to do is to set up an organization that will pass out to its farmer members direct information where certain commodities can be marketed. Every person admits that markets exist. Producers from some sections of the country are supplying those markets, but where are the markets? To whom must I write in Pittsburgh in order to sell my car load of potatoes; or my buckwheat flour; or my maple products? The Allegheny Tableland to keep farmers fully informed of Association, with its close affiliation with Pittsburgh interests, will be able to keep farmers informed of that market as well as others. However, the tableland association will not do the marketing. It will tell the farmers where. It will be up to the farmers themselves whether or not they wish to sell on that particular market.

A SMILE

By Anon

A smile costs nothing, but gives much. It enriches those who receive without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None is so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none is so poor but that he can be made rich by it. A smile creates happiness in the home, hastens good-will in business, and is the countersign of friendship. It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and it is nature's best antidote for trouble.

Smile!

Yes, it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is something that is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too lazy to give you a smile. Give them one of yours, as none needs a smile so much as he who has none to give.

Do your Christmas shopping with a smile!—Yough Ripples.

PROPOSAL TO ISSUE ROAD BONDS UNDER DISCUSSION

duc the State would from its road fund pay the principal, leaving the county to pay the interest, the average amount for each year during the life of the bonds being $37,500. With this amount in hand 50 miles or more of road could be built during the year 1931. Demands from the various sections now isolated approximate this mileag.

"Do you want these roads built? The sum of $150 per mile is being spent each year for the upkeep of your dirt roads and the repairs thus made last until the next rain comes. Your maintenance costs each year, with the building of stone roads in various parts of the county, brings an annual bill to the taxpayers of Garrett county amounting to approximately $90,000. I think Garrett county should go into a road building program. With the State taking care of the principal of the proposed bond issue, the interest charges are the only matters to be considered by the taxpayers. The advantages to be derived are incomparable. This year Kent county built 50 miles of roads and they were constructed with money growing out of a bond issue. The confidence of the people in your officers is required and I can assure you this confidence will not be betrayed. I want to express my pleasure, too, in knowing that Mr. George D. Browning has been returned as a member of the Board of County Commissioners of your county. I am in a position to know that Mr. Browning is one of the best commissioners in the entire State and the people of this county are to be congratulated upon reelecting him to the office he now holds."

Mr. Uhl pointed out the fact that at least $15,000 or probably $20,000 per year could be saved to the taxpayers on the annual bill for the upkeep of the roads now used but a portion of the year which amount could be applied to the sum for interest payments should the proposed bonds be issued.

Other speakers included former Senator John W. McCullough, who spoke very earnestly in favor of the proposition, having especially in mind the construction of a road from Deep Creek through Bittinger to Grantsville and asked that an expression of the sentiment of those present be ascertaind by a rising vote. This action was not taken, however, an objection to such being made until after due consideration and further discussion.

Former Senator also spoke on the general road program of the State.

C. N. McIntire, F. A. Thayer, A. C. Stanton, Carroll Pattison, A. G. Cullers, Dr. N. I. Broadwater, Otho S. Pike, Albert Markley and Senator-elect J. Glenn Beall, of Allegany county, were among those who gave expression to their views on the subject, as did also E. R. Jones, C. W. Ream and H. V. Leighton.

County Commissioner George D. Browning expressed his belief that unless some relief were given at once the county at its own expense would be compelled to build stone roads to relieve existing conditions in the Bittinger, North Glade and other sections of the county at a cost of probably $3,000 per mile.

Final action of the gathering was taken by the appointment of a committee composed of C. N. McIntire, chairman; E. R Jones, Claude Stanton, Wm. Winterberg, John. W. McCullough, C. W. Ream, A. D. Naylor, Carroll Pattison, H. V. Leighton, Geo. D. Browning, James Fitzwater, Geo. W. Harvey, Harvey Gortner, D. E. Orendorf and J. B. Emory, to map out some plan of action as a guide for the Garrett county members of the Legislature.

Those present at the luncheon were Mr. Uhl, Senator-elect J. Glenn Beall, of Frostburg, District Road Engineer Leo T. Downey, George D. Browning, Harvey Gortner and Daniel E. Orendorf, present County Commissioners; James Fitzwater and George W. Harvey, recently elected County Commissioners; Otho S. Fike, A. G. Cullers and Albert Markley, Delegates-elect in the Maryland Legislature; J. J. Bender, A. C. Stanton, U. M. Stanton, Wm. Winterberg, Grantsville; J. W. McCullough, George McCullough, Friendsville; C. E. Ellithorp, J. B. Emory, O. C. Buckle, Bittinger; C. Pattison, Bloomington; H. V. Leighton, Mt. Lake Park; R. W. Scheckells, Swanton; Charles W. Ream, Crellin; C. N. McIntire, W. R. Browning, E. R. Jones, Delbert Davis, A. D. Naylor, W. R. Offutt, A. T. Matthews, Dr. N. I. Broadwater, Arthur Lawton, A. D. Naylor, W. O. Davis, Benj. H. Sincell.

The luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The menu consisted of roast turkey with all the dishes composing a Garrett county dinner, being well prepared and served

Drought Damages Big Power Plant Near Fairmont

In maintaining adequate and dependable electric service for industries and homes, regardless of expense, one of the heaviest losses in this entire section caused by the drought has been suffered by the Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, at its Rivesville power station, near Fairmont. Nearly $75,000 damages have been suffered by the company on account of acid condition of the Monongahela river water used at the station, it was stated. This huge amount is mainly damage to equipment directly traceable to the excessive and long-continued drought, although great losses in efficiency and extra labor incidental to added maintenance and repairs have been caused. These cannot be estimated but would amount to many thousands of dollars.

The Oakland troop was first in line of parade. Mr. Harry Biggs, local scout master welcomed the visiting scouts, conferred some of the honors and was the promoter of the presentation meeting.

The main address of the evening was given by Mr. Harold W. Smith, chairman of the Cumberland Court of Honor, who told how scouting was an agency in the conservation of youth, which he divided into four parts, the boy himself, the scout master, the scout council, and the home.

Mr. Frank B. Gale, Scout executive for Western Maryland, presented the Eagle badges and explained the work necessary to attain the honor of an eagle scout.

The trip to Piedmont took the place of the regular Friday night's meeting.

Thanksgiving Peace and Plenty

Day of Thanks in Old City of Leyden

There is a singular and most interesting connection between the Thanksgiving day in far-away Dutch Leyden and that first celebrated by the Pilgrim Fathers.

Four centuries ago a bitter struggle was in progress between all-powerful Spain and her little dominion of the Netherlands—a struggle for liberty, freedom in religion and the right of self-government. The odds were terribly heavy against those tiny low countries, but they had the advantage of an indomitable courage and a remarkable leader, William the Silent, of Orange-Nassau.

The first great turning point in their favor during the long struggle was the siege of Leydea and the city's miraculous delivery in 1574, relates the Youth's Companion. In May of that year suddenly, without the slightest warning, this city, one of the most beautiful in all the Netherlsnds, found itself surrounded by a huge Spanish army under General Valdez. A siege was begun that was to last five months and reduce the city to its very extremity of starvation, plague and despair.

William of Orange was at the time in Delft, but he sent many messages to the people of Leyden, urging them to hold out bravely for the sake of their country, and counseled their burgomaster, Adrian van der Werf, to take every measure of precaution in economizing food.

William of Orange had conceived a startling scheme for the relief of the city and lost no time in putting it into effect. He commanded all the dykes that kept out the sea to be broken down.

Spaniards in Panic.

This accomplished, the water gradually flowed in over the land and was finally deep enough to float a great fleet of vessels laden with defenders as well as supplies, and commanded by Admiral Boisot. But this was not effected until the town had been reduced to utter despair and had sent messages to William of Orange that it could hold out no longer.

It was on the night of October 2 that a strange thing happened. A great storm had come up from the northwest, blowing in a huge wall of water from the German ocean. The fleet of Admiral Boisot had advanced to the last great barrier held by the Spaniards, Fort Lammen, and was awaiting a last sharp encounter in the morning. The Spaniards, thus hemmed in between the city, the sea and the oncoming fleet, began to think themselves in danger.

Suddenly, during the night, there was a hideous crash—a sound so terrifying that the poor citizens of Leyden thought that now at last the Spaniards had broken in and would butcher them all! The Spanish, on their part, were sure the Leydenese had broken out and were making a last desperate sortie. Flight, they were convinced, was the only hope of safety.

So it came to pass that in the storm and darkness, over the only remaining causeway leading to The Hague, the Spanish army silently took its ignominious departure.

City Really Defenseless.

The curious thing about it all was that this horrible sound which had alarmed both contending parties equally was caused by the falling in of a part of the city wall for the space of nearly a quarter of a mile. Not to this day is it definitely known just why it happened. Probably it had been undermined by the incoming water, but at any rate, had the Spaniards only known it, they could have entered the defenseless city without opposition.

Singularly enough, the only soul in or about the city of Leyden who happened to witness the flight of the Spaniards that night was a little boy, Gysbert Cornelisen by name. He saw the long procession of lights flitting over the causeway, guessed at the retreat of the Spanish, and when all was silent and dark again, made his way to the headquarters of General Valdez. Here he found all deserted, but in such a hurry had they been that an iron pot filled with "hodgepodge" (stewing meat and vegetables) was still cooking over the camp fire.

At dawn the next morning Boisot's fleet prepared for the attack, but what was their astonishment to find an empty fort, with one small boy on the breastworks, waving his cap in one hand and brandishing a pot of hodgepodge in the other.

Historic Thanksgiving.

There was rejoicing in the city that day. The famished populace, with the crew of the conquering fleet, repaired at once to the cathedral of St. Peter's and there went up such prayers of thankfulness as only a miraculously delivered city could render. In the midst of singing the great battle hymn, voice after voice broke down till the whole congregation wept in the intensity of its emotion.

From that day to this Thanksgiving has been celebrated in Leyden on October 3, and the crowning dish of the feast is the hodge-podge, eaten in memory of the great relief.

But this is not all. More than 30 years later, when the Netherlands was at last a free and peaceful country, there went to Leyden a band of Puritans who had left England to seek a more congenial spot. In that city they lived for a number of years, sharing the hospitality of the Dutch and joining with them in their feasts and holiday customs. Many a time did they eat hodge-podge on October 3.

When at last, in 1620, they left the kindly city had sailed for their destination in the New world, they doubtless took with them the memory of Leyden's thanksgiving. In the succeeding years they found that they had their own causes for thankfulness, and in celebrating this New world festival they deemed it expedient to substitute roast turkey and pumpkin pie in place of the historic hodge-podge of Leyden.

SHEAF OF THANKS

Every day we take our joys and blessings more or less unthankingly. On Thanksgiving day we harvest our crop and bundle them up in one big beautiful sheaf, bound together with a cord of prayer; there are thanks for peace and safety; for life and health and home; for things that are, and things that are not, for things material and things spiritual; all are in the great lovely sheaf that is offered to the harvest of the Supreme Giver on Thanksgiving day.

Thanksgiving

The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage.
—Psalms 16:6.

We give thanks, O Lord, for the pleasant places, the goodly heritage. We are the heir to all the ages. Other men have labored and we enter into their labors. All the resources of industry, of science, of art, of literature, are at our command.

We give thanks for the opportunities that thus have come to us; the opportunities to have happy homes illumined with friendship and love, suffused with the myriad sides of culture; the opportunities to do useful work, to contribute our part to the complex fabric of civilization, to serve the present age.

We give thanks for the great adventure of living, with all its risks of joy and sorrow. If happiness be our portion, may we accept it with joyous hearts; if sorrow, may we find strength to fulfill our obligation with courage, knowing that, in so doing, happiness will break through.

Reading In Bed Bad for the Eyes

The popular belief that it is not wise to read while in a reclining position is one which is correctly founded and substantiated by science. Both the light used as well as the matter being read are thus placed in an unnatural and strained position. The head and neck are usually propped forward and the return flow of blood from the head and eyes is impeded. It is easy to observe that nature intended man to use his brain (the eyes are a part of the brain) while he is in an upright position and if he attempts to read or think while lying down the brain becomes quickly muddled and overflowed with blood. This explains why so many people have acquired the habit of "reading themselves to sleep."

The use of the eyes for reading or close work requires much more muscular exertion than one is usually aware of and when a body is sufficiently fatigued so that it must retire to bed it has no energy to spare for the pleasant pastime of reading. This brings us to another point, namely, reading in bed by those who are recuperating or recovering from some illness.

Many cases of overtaxed eye muscles resulting in normal eye conditions, difficult of correction and very uncomfortable, are continually being found by optometrists among those who have passed the time, during and after an illness, in reading, little realizing that the act of reading while in a weakened condition may result in permanent injury to the eyes. Everything considered, it is better then, to avoid reading in bed.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Now that the election is over and the American people are getting into their normal stride again, the next effort will of course be toward getting the country back on a prosperous basis again. This is not a matter for partisan politics but for general cooperation. Already there are some encouraging signs. Certain Democratic leaders, high in the inner circles of the party have pledged to the Administration their support of constructive legislation looking toward the restoration of normal conditions. The Republican leaders have accepted with thanks. It now remains to see just how well the two political organizations will pull together in Congress. Some political writers have professed to see in these latest maneuvers the first signs of an attempt to organize a bi-partisan political bloc, or rather the Democratic-insurgent bloc of the present Congress. Already enough has transpired to indicate that there may be some interesting changes in the next Congress. Of course, nothing may come of all this. When the new Congress meets, we will be approaching the 1932 election and it is more than possible that the temptation then to play politics will be strong enough to overcome the cooperative instincts in both parties. For the present the more encouraging thought is that unless there is a special session of Congress the new legislative body will not meet for a year, and by that time the country will probably have turned the corner, economically speaking. Most conservative leaders of both parties do not desire a special session after March 4, as they believe that it will be a disturbing influence. They recall with some shuddering—on the part of Republican chiefs at least—what happened in the last special session of lamented memory.

In the meantime the next best thing that can be done will be to hold the ship of state steady in the storm, and this is what the Administration will doubtless try to do. After all the business interests of the country and the people in general must to a great extent, work out their own salvation. Depression is like a fever and must run its course, although naturally efforts made to relieve it will be helpful if properly directed.

One thing political observers and economists are pretty well agreed upon and that is that if we are going to get our house in order with any degree of swiftness we must begin at home. The world is looking to the United States to lead the way to stability and progress. Americans during the past few decades have won for themselves a reputation for boundless optimism and for ability to accomplish things

We have the natural resources, the high standard of living and the potential productive and consumptive power. If there is to be a general world prosperity again it will have to begin in the United States.

For this reason, in the opinion of most observers, our statesmen and our business leaders will do well if they confine the principal amount of their attention in the immediate future to Uncle Sam. If the unemployment problem can be solved in America, if our purchasing power can be restored and the gloom lifted, then our foreign trade will increase and European nations will benefit from our increased buying power. These problems will not be solved by our internationalists who are continually seeking to distract our attention to some far-off program of international political cooperation, but by hard headed American business men and statesmen who are trying to help the world by first restoring Uncle Sam to his accustomed place in the leadership toward world rehabilitation. Let us as Americans now think less of Europe and her problems of peace and war and more about the economic restoration of the United States.

HISTORY TEXT BOOKS

There is something new under the sun after all. The other day word came through cable dispatches to the effect that American historical text books, in one instance at least, were being criticised for use abroad as too American and not sufficiently internationalist. According to a dispatch from Melbourne, Australia, Mays and Moon's modern history, a standard schoolbook in the province of Victoria, written by Americans, is the storm center because of certain statements made about the World War. The book is charged with being "biased, untrue, and insulting. Two paragraphs which are particularly objected to are the following:

"The British collected a motley army, composed chiefly of Colonial troops, and landed it on the tip of Gallipoli Peninsular, close to the Dardanelles."

"The United States was the only great power that fought in the war without demanding or even desiring territorial gains for herself. She should be credited with a loftiness of purpose and usefulness that could hardly be matched in all history."

To the average American who remembers the great lengths to which internationalists went during and after the World War to propagandize American text books for the benefit of certain European nations, this criticism ought to be particularly amusing. It is to be remembered that an effort, which came near to being entirely successful, was made to change the teaching of history in our schools so that it might appear that the patriot soldiers in the Revolution were a motley army of disturbers and smugglers, that they ought to have known better and that the real folk in the colonies during the latter part of the eighteenth century were the tories.

If Australia, and we have considerable admiration for that sturdy colony, wants to object to the assertion that Britain's colonial troops were a "motely army" that is all right with us. But we would like to know what great power other than the United States fought in the war "without demanding or even desiring territorial gains for herself."

Remembering our own experience with history text books we are reminded by this protest that what is sauce for the gander is not always considered sauce for the goose.

Maine First to Give Thanks for Mercy?

We are apt to think that Thanksgiving was originally a New England festival and belonged distinctively to the Puritans. This is a mistake. Neither Boston Puritans nor Plymouth Pilgrims had anything to do with it, for it was first practiced by the Popham colonists of Moahegan, Maine, and it was in a Church of England thanksgiving service—"A Giving of God Thanks for a Safe Voyage," says a writer in the Kansas City Times.

The practice of setting aside certain days for thanksgiving had become a custom long before the Reformation. Protestants followed the practice, especially in the established church, where it had become a fixed practice long before New England began the observance. It seems a strange thing that the Pilgrims, who hated so heartily all the observances of the Church of England, should have been so willing to follow this practice so early in their history.

The first Thanksgiving day of New England was, however, never appointed nor intended for a day of religious worship. It had nothing in common with the Church of England day of prayer and praise for past blessings and future need. It was appointed as a day of recreation and freedom from work, which made the colonists' days one ceaseless grind of care.

Indians Helped Provide Meat.

But those who are wont to think of the Pilgrims as a group of sober and morose men and women, with no idea in life beyond work and prayer, would do well to read an account of that week of Thanksgiving, the first real play time of the Pilgrims.

Edward Winslow wrote to a friend in England on December 11, 1621:

"Our harvest being gotten in, our governor sent four men out fowling, so that after a special manner we might rejoice together, after we had gained the fruit of our labors. That four killed as much fowl as, with little help beside, served the whole company about a week. At which time, among other recreations, we exercised our arms, many of the Indians coming among us, and among the rest, their great King Massasoyt, with some ninety men, who for three days we entertained and feasted. They went out and killed five deer, which they brought and bestowed upon our governor, upon the captain and others."

Governor Bradford in his account speaks of the great number of water fowl and wild "turkie." The record goes on to tell that the Pilgrims, without doubt, fared decidedly better than did their English brothers that year, as "turkie" was scarce.

There were only 50 Englishmen to eat the Thanksgiving feast that first year, but 90 Indians came as guests. They did not come empty-handed, but brought generous gifts. The kindly spirit of friendliness was worth even more at that time.

Only Five Woman to Get Meals.

The games were tests in jumping, leaping and running, in which they all took part. But in spite of all this, it could not have been a week of unalloyed recreation and pleasure, for there were only four women to do the cooking, with the help of one maid servant, and a few maidkins. There were 140 men to be served, and 90 of them Indians, whose hunger had to be appeased for three days. Even more noticeable and pathetic was the very small number of children in the stockade to participate in this first Thanksgiving celebration.

There is no record of any kind of religious service or prayer during the week. One writer says: "Lost in the wood—terrified by lions—terrified by grinning wolves—half frozen in the poorly built houses—sickened by poor food, and half famished—almost half the company dead, after two years of suffering and hardship. In spite of these heavy hardships, and after the drought of 1623, a nine days of prayer for rain was answered, and the second Thanksgiving day was appointed and observed."

The first Thanksgiving day which was publicly appointed, was set for February 22, 1630, in gratitude for the "Friend-bringing and food-bearing ships." November 4, 1631, Winthrop wrote, "We keep Thanksgiving day today in Boston." Until 1684 the day was celebrated about every two years.

Thankful for Clean Teeth.

We have no certain record when it became a fixed annual observance in New England. But in 1742 there were two Thanksgiving days and Massachusetts and Connecticut celebrated without reference to each other. As time passed, it became more and more a day of prayer and thanksgiving. "For it becomes more hard," one Connecticut writer says, " to settle upon any special day."

It was not regularly observed until 1756, and then more as a day of worship than a day of feasting. One writer speaks of a service in which a long list of special blessings was specified.

"For the healing of breaches, the abatement of disease, the arrival of persons of quality, gratitude for plentiful harvest, that God has sent us no want of bread, and for clean teeth."

These early Thanksgiving days were of many different days of the week, and of no certain month for many years. After the day began to be observed annually, it came to be the custom to hold the festival in the fall, and following harvest. The feast was usually prepared for by some days of fasting.

No Celebration Without Pie.

But among the early Thanksgiving celebrations of Colonial days is one which has no counterpart in history. The records say that the governor of Connecticut appointed a certain day to be observed throughout the state as a time of thanksgiving. But, for reasons of their own, the residents of the town of Colchester ignored the governor's appointed day. They sent a committee to him stating that they were not able to accept the day he had selected, but "would gladly celebrate Thanksgiving one week later."

As this had never happened before, the governor was at a loss to know how to proceed. Fortunately, he was a patient man, and not easily affronted, and one who was blessed with a sense of humor.

Finding he was not going to make the matter disagreeable for them, he was again visited and the matter explained. A sloop expected from New York had been delayed a week. On board was a hogshead of molasses for making pies, without which no Thanksgiving celebration could proceed.

Being a man of good sense, and perhaps, too, having the New England appreciation for pie, the good people of Colchester were allowed to hold their Thanksgiving when the hogshead of molasses came in, a week later.

In 1677 the first regular Thanksgiving proclamation was printed, and it is said a copy still is in existence.

FOR BLESSINGS

To give thanks on Thanksgiving day, to pause from normal activities, to recognize the providential blessings bestowed upon the American people is a duty. The custom has no law of compulsion. It has become a traditional practice. It is instituted by Presidential proclamation, which is observed as though it were of statutory force. While the day has become a holiday, a festivity in some degree, it remains primarily an occasion of reverential recognition of the great dispensation which brings to America the richness of spiritual as well as material advance.

Called-For Tribute

In all the ages of mankind the tributes of the people to the divine being have been forthcoming, and at no time more fervently than following the harvest. Let those who fall in their tributes to the source and center of human hope, at this time at least, pay tribute to their Maker. The Lord is in his holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

English Feast Days

History tells us that England had so many days of thanksgiving that it often interfered with the more serious affairs of life. Even during the days of Cromwell there were more than a hundred feast days.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

Hasn't Changed Much

In a Republican of forty years ago is the following: "It is wicked to steal, but when the girl is demure and pretty, and the moonlight is soft and romantic, and you can almost see the kiss upon her lips, it sometimes seems a good deal more wicked not to."

Quit Squawkin' and GIVE THANKS

At this season of the year, it is wise to reflect upon circumstances and instead of hollering about the unemployment and hard times, the drought and suffering, to give thanks for what you have and be happy for it. Here are only a few of the things that Scoop is thankful for:

That Garrett county is normally Republican.

That there are 43,000,000 jobs in the United States.

That there are turkeys, and that the Pilgrims started a quaint old Pilgrim custom of eating them.

That there aren't as many bootleggers in Garrett county as there could be.

That Amos and Andy don't cause indigestion, even though sometimes I think they ought.

That I live in Oakland.

That there are more people who enjoy "The Specialist" than those who don't.

That we have water in the reservoir.

That a few people still believe in the Garrett county fair.

That Jim Kerins, Bet Dawson and a host of other people in town are good natured.

That a few old fogies are not.

That the mouth of Joe Brown (of movie fame) isn't any bigger than it is.

That Bill Butts doesn't wear a wig.

That there has never been a tree sitter in Oakland.

That Fraley's hall has held up under two strenuous Hallowe'en dances.

That Bill Gibson doesn't mind being told how hard he bangs on a piano.

That Third street still has hopes of better environment around the city hall.

That more people are not long winded.

That all beautiful women aren't dumb.

That a lot of ordinary looking ones aren't either.

That a lot of the others could be dumber.

That few people drink any more (but just as much.)

That there aren't any more restaurants in town.

That every dog has his day and the cats their nights.

That Oakland isn's Chicago and Al Capon mayor.

That all people aren't radio announcers.

That my close friends don't have B. O. (Can't say about halitosis because they all use lime drops.)

That cows don't have wings.

That miniature golf is a summer game.

That there is only one chain store in town.

That the Legion drum corps now sounds like it meant business.

That there are beds.

That mountain pussies have been scarce on Crook Crest this year.

That there are bathtubs.

And a lot of other things too numerous to mention.

DECEMBER TERM OF COURT WAS CONVENED MONDAY

Judge Albert A. Doub Delivers Charge to Grand Jury—Says Laws Must be Enforced

A. D. NAYLOR IS FOREMAN

With Alonza D. Naylor as foreman of the December Term grand jury of the Circuit court for Garrett county which convened Monday morning with Judge Albert A. Doub presiding, the jury went into session immediately following the charge delivered to them by the presiding judge.

Judge Doub's charge to the grand jury was as follows:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: You have just listened to the oath which has been administered to your foreman; you have taken that oath and it is hardly necessary for the court to remind you or to impress upon you the dignity and the solemnity of the obligation which you have assumed.

You have been called from all parts of the county and asked and are now required to take part in the administration of justice. Cases will be presented to you by the State's Attorney and you, perhaps, may be able to suggest to your associate grand jurors instances where crimes have been perpetrated in this county. When you come to pass judgment on matters presented to you you will be influenced by nothing except a clear sense of the discharge of your duty. You will forget friendship; you have no favors to extend to anybody: you have no rewards and no punishments to give. As I said, you are a very essential part of the administration of justice. You have powers that no other tribunal of this county and of this state has. The members of this court, the clerk of this court, justices of the peace, have no power to originate prosecutions against your fellow citizens. It is for you alone to originate these charges. You can investigate, you can summon witnesses and examine into any crime about which you may have heard, and get all the information necessary upon which to base the indictment, but remember you are to determine as to whether, if the case were presented to you as petit jurors without any other evidence in the case, you would find the traverser guilty or not. If on the State's case as presented to you by the witnesses you, if petit jurors, would be willing to find the defendant guilty then it is your duty to find an indictment; otherwise not. It will take twelve of the grand jurors, more than half of your number, in order to find an indictment in any case. I mention that because it is a very serious thing to bring an indictment against an individual unless there is satisfactory evidence to support it. It eauses expense to the county and places a stain on the individual sometimes, regardless of the outcome of a trial. Therefore you ought to be careful, but if you have such evidence as convinces you that a crime has been committed there ought to be no hesitation about performing your duty and bringing an indictment.

There are many things which the court could call to your attention but the court is not going to do it today. Many of you have served on grand juries in the past and understand your duty. The purpose and object of all government is to maintain civil liberty—not license but civil liberty,

To Visit Lutheran Sunday Schools

Rev. Paul S. Keyser, Columbus, O., Lutheran Field secretary of the Parish Church school board, will visit the Sunday school workers in the Lutheran churches of the Synod of West Virginia. He will give a popular address on the Problems of the Modern Sunday school in St. Mark's Lutheran church Monday evening, December 15. The community is invited.

He will also make an address in St. John's Lutheran church, Red House, Tuesday evening, December 16, at 7:30, which will be a union meeting between the people of the Eglon and the Aurora parishes.

Rev. Keyser has specialized in theh general field of Sunday school work, and his visit to the schools and churches is intended to stimulate this work and help meet any problems confronting the workers.

Fire Department Called To Crellin for Slight Blaze

The Oakland Volunteer Fire department was called to Crellin last evening about 5:15 when it was discovered that the house occupied by T. M. Gilmore was on fire.

The residents of Crellin, however, formed a bucket brigade and extinguished the blaze before the arrival of the trucks from Oakland. The building had caught from the chimney and a hole was burned through the roof before the blaze was gotten under control.

TRAINING SCHOOL BEGINS SUNDAY EVENING AT 7:30

Union Service Will Be Held Before Opening of Classes

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock will mark the opening of the Third Annual Leadership Training school under the auspices of the Oakland Community Council of Religious Education.

This opening will be a Union Service in which all the churches of Oakland will participate. Rev. John A. Wood, of Keyser, W. Va., will address the gathering on "The Aim of the Modern Sunday School."

Immediately after this service those who will attend the school will register and go to their classes for the first lesson.

Three courses are offered, one In story telling in religious education, taught by Miss Lillian McCormick; "Church School Administration", taught by Rev. John A. Wood, and a course in Old Testament.

This corriculum covers pretty well the field of our Modern Sunday school and should make its appeal to officers, teachers and scholars.

It is expected that at least 60 will register.

CONTEST IN CHRISTMAS LIGHTING WILL BE HELD

Movement To Make Outdoors Bright Sponsored by Rotarians

With Christmas less than three weeks away, preparations are being made here for an outdoor Christmas lighting contest, sponsored successfully in so many cities and towns in northern and central West Virginia, Western Maryland and southeastern Ohio last year. Christmas lighting contests were held in nearly every city and town and with the slogan, "Make the Outdoors Bright with Christmas Light" these communities shone out during the holiday week, Christmas to New Year's, with the true Christmas spirit.

Every community in this section is working toward another beautiful Yule week. Sarts have been made on plans for decorating homes, public and business buildings, streets and practically every place that a light would shine out so all could see during this joyful time of the year.

Last year it was felt that the nation-wide movement to decorate the grounds and exteriors of homes and other buildings with colored lights and other holiday effects would be contagious in this section, but the truth of the statement was not shown to the fullest extent until Christmas Eve.

Further details of a contest to be held here will be announced within a short time. Only a thought of what Christmas lighting meant last year should be sufficient to set minds working on the problem of improvement and expansion of this year's outdoor Christmas lighting.

Prizes will be offered in the contest to be held here in Oakland. Announcement of prizes, rules of the contest and other details will be made in a short time. A host of ideas for outdoor Christmas lighting decorations will be given persons here in plenty of time to use them for outdoor decorations. This year, more than ever before, let the Oakland people show their good will, optimism and say "Merry Christmas" by means of these little colored lights displayed outside to "Make the Outdoors Bright with Christmas Light."

The movement in this community will be sponsored by the Oakland Rotary Club, as it was in 1929, and will likely receive the hearty cooperation of the residents, especially since a number have preserved decorative materials from last year. Entries should be mailed to the secretary of the Oakland Rotary Club. Plan now and then work your plan.

Elkins Rector to Care for More Churches

Rev. A. J. Torrey, formerly of Oakland, at present rector of St. Mathias' Episcopal church, Grafton, W. Va., is moving to Elkins, under a consolidation plan of the Episcopal churches of Buckhannon, Elkins and Grafton. He will retain the chaplaincy of Hopemont Sanitarium, near Terra Alta, but will resign as chaplain of the American Legion Post at Grafton.

He will continue as rector of St. Mathias' church, and will also be rector of Grace church, Elkins, and the church of the Transfiguration at Buckhannon. Rev. Torrey was formerly rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Oakland.

"SAVE-A-LIFE" CAMPAIGN EXTENDED FOR ONE MONTH

Every Car in State Must Be Inspected Before 1931 Licenses Can Be Secured

1,312 INSPECTED HERE

With November 30 passed and still a number of automobiles uninspected, the time limit for the Save-a-Life Campaign, being conducted by the State commissioner of motor vehicles, was extended to December 31, it has been announced.

The time was extended because every car must be inspected before licenses for 1931 can be secured. On all new applications for new registration for 1931 the question is asked if car was inspected in 1930. The number of the inspection station must also be given.

Up to the present time 1,312 automobiles have been inspected at the four stations in Oakland. There are no figures as yet for Garrett county, but it is estimated that there are over 6,000 cars in the county, all of which must be inspected if their owners expect to operate them in 1931.

All cars which do not display the inspection stickers will probably be stopped by State officers and their owners told to take them to one of the inspection stations.

The four stations and the number of cars inspected follow:

E. S. Evans, 312; Sharps Motor company, 385; Treacy's Garage, 300; Auto Electric Service, 315. Seventy-five percent of the cars were said to be in good condition. One station reported that only 50 percent did not need repairs, while another reported that over 85 percent were O. K. Many people know the requirements of the inspection and get their cars in good condition before bringing them in for official examination, it was stated at one of the stations.

The first of these campaigns was conducted in October, 1927, and a total of 1,003 automobiles were inspected in Oakland, with 63 percent O. K. Last year 1,408 were inspected with between 60 and 75 percent in good condition.

Has Artery Cut When Automobile Skids and Crashes Into Guard Rail on Crellin Road

Charles W. Ream, president of the Stanley Coal Company and also president of the local Rotary Club, had the artery in his left arm cut this morning when the Chrysler car which he was driving toward Oakland to attend a meeting of business men, skidded at the sharp curve just east of Sport's Inn, on the Crellin-Oakland road and crashed into the guard rail.

Mr. Ream was given first aid by an employe of the C. & A. Gas Company who happened to be passing at the time and was brought into Oakland by another motorist where his wound was dressed by Dr. H. W. McComas. The car was reported to have been badly damaged as a result of the accident.

PLAN IS PRESENTED FOR BUILDING ROADS IN COUNTY

Improved Roads Would Cause No Increase in Tax Rate Under Proposition Advanced

WOULD AID UNEMPLOYMED

A plan, whereby the county could secure the fifty miles of improved road next year, as proposed by G. Clinton Uhl, chairman of the State Roads Commission, at the banquet last Saturday at the Manhattan hotel, Oakland, was advanced by Berne Teter, eashier of the Farmers Bank, of Oakland, and presented to C. N. McIntire, chairman of the Good Roads commiltee for Garrett county, for his consideration and that of the citizens of the county.

Mr. McIntire, in a letter to The Republican, presents the proposition to the people and includes the letter from Mr. Teter, both of which are reproduced. Mr. McIntire's statement follows:

As Chairman of the Good Roads Committee for 1931, being appointed at a luncheon held at the Manhattan hotel November 22, 1930, I wish to submit to the people of the county a letter herewith that is of much interest to me and should receive the careful attention of every taxpayer in the county. While this letter deals with the construction of approximately fifty miles of highway still it would operate the same on a larger or lesser mileage.

I think it is generally conceded that it would be unwise at this time to do anything that would increase the taxes of our people. However, this plan, granting that the same will work, as herein scheduled would secure for the county the roads so badly needed by the different sections of the county without any direct cost whatsoever to the taxpayers.

There seems to be many trends of sentiment both for and against the proposition as presented by the chairman of the State Roads Commission referred to above, but to me it seems like a wonderful opportunity for the

Found Dead on Farm

Robert Guthrie, of near Bayard, W. Va., was found dead by Henry Neel and Henry Ashby, on the farm belonging to Mr. Ashby last Saturday. Mr. Gutherie had gone after his horse which he had on the farm in pasture and was returning home.

After an absence of some little time the men noticed the horse had returned. They at once started to search and found Mr. Gutherie lying dead in the field. Apoplexy was given as the cause of his death.

Ford Coupe Damaged by Fire

The Ford coupe belonging to William McRobie was badly damaged by fire Tuesday evening about 5:45 when the machine backfired and became ignited. The car was parked in the yard beside his home and the blaze would in all probability have spread, had it not been for the arrival of the Oakland Volunteer department.

The blaze was extinguished by the use of chemical apparatus, but not before considerable damage had been done. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

NOVEMBER TEMPERATURE REACHES NEW LOW MARK

Sixteen Degrees Below Zero Is Recorded Friday Morning

The record fer the coldest day during November was established on Friday morning when the government thermometer at the Weber greenhouses near Oakland registered sixteen degrees below zero.

Records have been kept at the Government station here for 26 years and the coldest day for November, other than the past Friday was registered last year when it was six degrees below zero. Records also show it to have been three degrees below zero in 1908 and one degree below zero in 1917.

The weather moderated considerably on Saturday and Sunday, melting practically all of the seven or eight inches of snow, but a sudden storm on Monday sent the thermometer back to the near zero mark.

Traveling along the State highway and other roads was made difficult due to the snow which became drifted by the strong west winds, but the State highway was not blocked at any time. Mail service on several of the rural routes were delayed on account of the drifts.

OAKLAND HOTEL SITE TO BE MADE INTO PUBLIC PARK

24 Acres of Ground Leased to Civic Club to be Used for Beautifying Oakland

INCLUDES FAMOUS SPRING

That the old Oakland, Hotel site owned by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, had been leased to the Oakland Civic club, to be used as a public park, was announced yesterday by the president of the club.

The lease is for 24 acres of ground, and includes the once famous Washington Spring. There is no charge attached to the rental of the ground, the only condition being that the acreage cannot be commercialized by any organization, but must be used for the benefit and good of Oakland.

The lease was obtained through the hearty cooperation of H. R. Laughlin, division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, of Cumberland, a former Garrett county resident, and still much interested in this section.

Specific plans for beautifying the grounds will be made throughout the winter, but decision has already been made to thoroughly clean up the plot, have a landscape gardner decide what trees and shrubs to keep, and where to plant others; and to clean out refuse material from the beds of Wilson Creek and the Little Youghiogheny river. This will be done as early in the spring of the year as is possible.

While the cooperation of the Firemen, Scouts, Legion, and other organizations has been promised to members of the Civic club, they are asking that each one feel that the project is his very own, and assist in any way that he can, by physical labor, when the time comes, or by donation of native shrubs and trees.

This beautification project comes as a result of the Yard and Garden contest, and it is hoped that other similar plans will be made in the interest of the future Oakland.

Scouts Plan Overnight Hike—Foxes Win Competition Contest

Plans for an overnight hike for first class scouts of Oakland Troop No. 1 Boy Scouts of America, just as soon as the weather permits, were made at the regular meeting of the troop last Friday evening.

The night will be spent at the Scout Camp on Deep Creek Lake, and all scouts having the consent of their parents, will be permitted to carry firearms. No tenderfoot or Second class scouts will be allowed to take part in the hike.

Foxes Win Competition

The Fox patrol, headed by Harley Dawson, won the three-months' period of competition for points, which ended last Friday, by a wide margin. Another competition period starts tomorrow evening to continue until Anniversary Week in February, and the winners of each will be presented with an award at a public presentation, to be held at that time.

Other awards for First Class, Star, Life, and Eagle scouts will be made

GRAND JURY SUBMITS ITS REPORT AND IS DISMISSED

Thirty-eight Indictments Returned After Examining 82 Witnesses During Session

With the submission of its report of its deliberations and findings during the three and one-half days' of its session, the grand jury at the December Term of the Circuit Court was dismissed at noon today by Judge Doub.

The report of the body follows in full:

To the Honorable, the Judges of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland:

The Grand Jury for the December Term, 1930, respectfully submits the following report:

The Grand Jury has been in session for the past four days and in that time matters concerning violations of the criminal laws of Garrett county have been inquired into and carefully considered by this body.

Eighty-two witnesses appeared before us and from the information received thirty-eight presentments and indictments have been returned. All matters which required attention of the Grand Jury and on which indictments have been returned, were thoroughly investigated before any action was taken, and all cases have received fair and impartial consideration.

While there are a number of violations in the county, the Grand Jury feels that the laws are being enforced, in most instances, in a satisfactory and painstaking manner.

In making our inspection of the Court House we find the building and surroundings in good condition and desire publicly to commend Oscar Notes for the interest he takes in keeping the county's property in such neat and presentable appearance.

We find the Jail and Sheriff's residence in good repair and the prisoners seem to be well cared for. The Jail and surroundings are neatly kept and in a sanitary condition. There are a number of windows in the Court House that should be puttied and repaired and the lock on the hospital ward door in the Jail should be replaced with a new one. The plumbing in the corridor of the Jail should be repainted.

We especially recommend that the side walk in front of the Sheriff's residence and on Fourth street entrance be repaired at once.

We express our thanks to His Honor Judge Doub and the several county officials for the many courtesies extended us during this session.

We are very appreciative of the courtesy and service rendered by Mr. Walter W. Dawson, our State's Attorney, and desire in this way to express our thanks for the able manner in which he conducted the affairs of the office. We find him highly capable and willing at all times to lend his ability.

We also desire to thank Mr. A. T. Matthews, who came before us as special State's Attorney in several cases, for his unfailing courtesy and able assistance.

All of which is respectfully submitted. A. D. NAYLOR,
JOHN M. JARBOE, Foreman.
ERNEST W. SELBY, Clerks.

On Monday morning next at ten o'clock with Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan on the bench, the criminal cases growing out of the indictments returned by the Grand Jury will be the first cases considered after the disposition of the criminal appeal cases.

During the present a few rather unimportant civil cases have been tried before the Court sitting as a jury.

Mayor and Town Council Have Quiet Session Monday

One of the quietest sessions of the Mayor and Town Council during the past year was held Monday night in the Council chamber, with nothing of any great importance coming before the organization for official action.

Jesse J. Ashby was appointed by the president of council as chairman of the street committee, to take the place of J. W. Whorton, who resigned as a member of that committee several weeks ago.

The water supply was discussed to some extent, but all action in this matter left to the water committee. It was reported that the new well was now 118 feet deep and that the drill had not yet penetrated the limestone. A good supply of water is expected under the limestone formation.

The water committee has sent a personal letter to all citizens urging them to use extreme care in saving as much water as possible, as the cold wave was responsible for bringing the amount in the reservoir down to the fire reserve level.

Other routine matters of the council such as paying the monthly bills were disposed of, and the town fathers adjourned early. The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, January 5, 1931.

HUNTERS REPORT MANY NARROW ESCAPES FOR BUCKS; 300 SCOUR WOODS BUT COMPARATIVELY FEW SUCCEED

Whitfield DeWitt Brings Down Largest Deer, Weighing 203 Pounds, On "Old Snaggy."

(By Daniel Boone)

Even with the smoke of the last shot cleared away, the success or failure of the deer season could not be determined to any point of accuracy, and it will probably be several weeks before the real honest-to-goodness hunters like Bill Browning, Jim Painter, Whitfield DeWitt, will begin to tell their tales around the fireside. Many of the stories will never be known.

Whitfield DeWitt, Hoyes, as far as is known now, was successful in bringing down the largest buck, and repeated his performance of 1929. His prize this year weighed 203 pounds and had ten points, while that of last year weighed 210 pounds.

Bucks Have Narrow Escapes

Reports of many narrow escapes for the bucks were brought back to Oakland by the hunters with their usual alibis, but so far as is known at the present time only the following were successful during the three-day season: Messrs. John Frickey, Luther Keller, Oscar Savage, Carl and Geo. Miller, a Mr. Sines, of Sines; Aubrey Brenneman, Whitfield DeWitt, and W. E. Spoerlein.

Three other hunters, Cecil Ramsey, Frank Browning, and Bill Browning, must have one-third credit each. They were hunting together, saw a buck at the same time and all blazed away. They don't know who killed it, so like the country of Gaul in Caesar's day, they are dividing it into three parts.

Approximately three hundred hunters, it is estimated, scoured the forests of Garrett county, exclusive of the game preserve, in search of venison, and although many were seen during the three days, it is thought that the number of victims is not more than twenty-five.

Most of the hunters scoured the thick woods on both banks of the Youghiogheny river, north and west of Muddy Creek, Sang Run and the Mountains in the vicinity of Grantsville and Swanton.

It has been only within the last few years, hunters say, that there have been deer in this county. Last year was the first open season on deer in this county for more than thirty years.

Dark Fruit Cake

One lb. seeded raisins, 1 lb. currants, 2 pkgs. (½ lb.) sliced, candied citron, 1 pkg, (¼ lb.) sliced candied grape fruit or lemon peel, 1 pkg. (¼ lb.) orange peel, 1 pkg. (10 oz.) dates, ½ cup candied cherries or candied pineapple, 2 cups (½ lb.) flour, 1½ t. cinnamon, ½ t. mace, 1 t. nutmeg, 1 t. allspice, ¾ t. salt, 1 cup (½ lb.) butter or substitute, 1 cup (½ lb.) sugar, 6 eggs, juice of one lemon, ¼ cup orange juice, ¼ cup grape juice, ¼ lb. almond meats, 2 ozs. candied or Maraschino cherries.

Wash the raisins and currants. Drain well. Put the raisins through the food chopper (using the coarse knife), or chop them in a wooden bowl. Pit the dates and cut them with scissors into five or six crosswise slices. Place the dried friut in a bowl, add the sliced fruit peel and the candied fruit. Mix the flour, salt and spices and sift these dry ingredients over the fruit mixture, mixing the fruit through the flour with the finger tips. Cream shortening in a large mixing bowl; add the sugar gradually, then the beaten eggs. Stir in the fruit and flour mixture alternately with the fruit juices. Mix thoroughly. Place the batter in pans which have been well greased and lined with greased paper. This recipe will yield six pounds of cake, weighing after baking. The mixture may be baked in one large tube cake pan, in 2 or 3 loaf cake pans, or in six small loaf cake pans (5 x 3 inches). The small loaves, each weighing one pound, are most satisfactory for gifts or for Christmas cake sales.

The cakes may be baked in a slow oven (275 F.) for three hours, or steamed for three and one-half hours, then dried in a slow oven for one hour. On removal from the oven or steamer, the surface may be brushed with a glaze made by mixing 3 Tbs. molasses with one-half cup water. Decorate the tops of the loaves with toasted almonds and candied cherries arranged in a conventional design. Return to the oven for five minutes to dry the glaze.

White Fruit Cake

Four cups sifted flour, 1 t. baking powder, ½ t. soda, ½ t. salt, 1 cup shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 1 T. lemon juice, ½ lb. citron, cut fine, 1 lb. raisins, ½ lb. each crystalized orange peel, lemon peel, pineapple and red cherries cut fine. 1 lb. blanched almonds, cut fine; 10 egg whites, beaten stiff.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift together 3 times. Sift 1 cup of thls flour mixture over the fruits and nuts; mix thoroughly. Cream shortening until light and fluffy, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add remaining flour mixture to creamed mixture, a small amount at a time. Beat after each additlon until smooth. Add lemon juice, fruit and nuts. Fold in egg whites. Pour in tube pan or small bread pans prepared with a paper lining in the bottom. Bake in slow oven (250 F.) 2½ hours, then increase to 300 F. for 15 minutes. Makes 6 pounds.

Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

Inside and out, scores of refinements stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar form an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new color combinations lend a new individuality. Interiors, too, are exceptional. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is smartly tailored. Seats are wider and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision. And beautiful new modern fittings lend a final note of charm.

Many mechanical improvements are also evident in this Bigger and Better Six. Among these are a stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother transmission; and many important engine refinements.

An Interesting Fact

MARYLAND NEAR REPUDIATION

"Unrestrained and ill-advised expansion, whether by individual or by State, is usually followed by disaster." Here is an instance in Maryland:

Following in the wake of the disastrous failure of the Bank of Maryland, attended by what is known as "the Baltimore Bank riots," beginning on August 6, 1835, there seems to have followed an orgy of extravagance in State-sanctioned and State-aided enterprises.

To illustrate: The General Assembly in 1835 passedd a measure which became known as the "Eight Million Bill," authorizing subscriptions to the capital stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company to the extent of $3,000,000; Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, $3,000,000; Eastern Shore Railroad Company, $1,000,000; the Maryland Canal Company, $500,000, and so on, apparently losing sight of the fact that money would have to be forthcoming to meet the interest charges on this huge debt, to say nothing of the pricipal.

In 1837 there was a widespread suspension among the banks of the United States, engendering suspicion and distrust. To allay this and to aid in this difficult time, the Maryland Assembly passed a law to the effect that all creditors should be paid in gold or silver or its equivalent, with respect to internal improvements. About this time the State became financially embarrassed, and, therefore, compelled to forego interest payments. This, coupled with the severe loss upon the merchants of Baltimore by reason of the failure of the United States Bank in Philadalphia in 1837, caused many citizens to be in favor of repudiating the State debts, rather than the passage of legislation imposing extraordinary taxes to meet the emergency. However, owing to the firm stand of Governor William Grayson (1839-1841) that the debt had been "contracted and confirmed by successive legislation", and that "it is impossible to question the validity of the debt," and by Governor Pratt (1845-1848), interest payments were resumed.

Prior to 1841 the highest amount collected by direct taxation in Maryland for any one year was $60,818, but under the administration of Pratt and other governors, sufficient taxes were collected, which, together with the resumption of normal business conditions, saved the State from the odium of having repudiated a debt honestly (although unwisely) contracted.

IN DAYS OF OLD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Mr. H. Weber, florist and gardner, spent Thursday in Kingwood.

Grant Hayden has been confined to the house for several days with a severe cold.

The lost woman, Mrs. Engle, is still lost so far as known up to this time. There are rumors of her having been seen at many different places during the past week—Accident, Grantsville and several points in Pennsylvania.

John R. Mayle, Deer Park, was in town Saturday.

The Democrats had their expected torchlight procession, ratification and illumniation on Tuesday evening. The processlon was headed by the Oakland Independent Band and was followed by about 20 horsemen and 75 pedestrains. They then assembled in Offutt's hall.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. Thomas J. Peddicord, oldest member of the Garrett county bar, died last Friday at his home in Oakland after a brief illness from pneumonia.

By the announcement by the Census bureau at Washington that Garrett county had a population of 20,105, there will be an additional representative in the Legislature, making her membership in the law making body of the state four instead of three as heretofore.

County Treasurer Robert L. Fries, who has suffered for years with his right leg and foot as a result of falling from a ladder, had the injured member amputatcd in the Home Sanatorium, Oakland, by Drs. Broadwater, of Oakland, and Ricketts, of Accident.

Mr. Scott Harvey, near White Church, was in Oakland Saturday on business.

Carlton McComas was taken to Baltimore Sunday night where he will be operated upon for a throat trouble.

Mr. Gus A. Bolden, editor of the Charleston Mail, spent last Friday and Saturday in Oakland with relatives and friends, returning to Charleston Saturday night.

"UNTO THE LEAST OF THESE"

When President Hoover last week spoke of the evils of child labor he went to the bottom of one of the most acute American problems, especially in this time of wholesale adult unemployment.

"Industry must not rob our children of their rightful heritage," the President deelared in opening the White House conference on child health and protection. "Any labor which stunts growth, either physical or mental; that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, of joy and play, is sapping the next generation. * * *

"If we could have but one gereration of properly born, trained, educated and healthy children, a thousand other problems of government would vanish."

Of the nation's 48,000,000 children, nearly one-tenth have quit school before 18 to work.

More than 1,500,000 are suffering from communicable diseases.

There are 382,000 children suffering from preventable trouble; 300,000 crippled children, one-third of whom need special education they're not getting; 450,000 children so mentally retarded as to need special education, and only 60,000 are getting it; more than 5,000,000 children starting life with serious physicial or mental handicaps.

If the White House conference is to risc above sentimental futility to practical achievement, it must do something to support the present splendid Federal Children's Bureau, to restore federal aid for maternity and child care by the State, and to curb child labor.

LIMITING WAR

The revolutionary spirit seems to be abroad in the world. It was manifest some time ago in Argentina, in Peru and in Brazil, where there was a complete overthrow of the reigning government. Its symptoms have been apparent in Cuba, and in many other countries. The latest manifestation reported is that in Spain where the government is having great difficulty at this time in restoring order. It is generally believed that the spirit of unrest is due to world-wide economic depression, and that the embers have in some cases been fanned into flame by radical and communistic forces.

In the meantime the pacifists continue to tell us that the way to prevent war and bloodshed is to abandon the armies and navies of the world. Yet it is to be remembered that the majority of the wars which the world suffers are revolutionary or civil wars. They are not waged between nations but by factions inside the various nations. It cannot be said that world disarmament and the abolition of navies would have prevented warfare in Argentina, in Brazil, and bloodshed in Cuba and Spain. Nor would it have spared Chlna the terrible scourges of war which have affected it during the past decade. In fact, in these instances it is evident that the weaker the government's armaments, the more likely revolution and civil war are to break out.

The point to be made is that the majority of our wars, which are factional rather than international, cannot be prevented by international agreement or by any international tribunal. They come because a part of the people are dissatisfied with their government and want a change. Giant cannon and armored ships are not necessary and bloodiest battles in the history of the world were fought before these martial inventions were dreamed of. Spiked clubs and stones can be used with deadly effect if no other weapons are available.

The fact of course is that it is not the size or the number of weapons but the will to fight which makes warfare both of the international and civil kind. So long as there is the will to fight there will be trouble; so long as men do not have perfect governments there will be revolutions.

We are told that war is more likely in Europe than in the Western Hemisphere because the nations are governed by fear and hatred of one another. If that is true then the field for our professional pacifists is not in America but in Europe. We do not hate any other nation and we will not be afraid of any other nation so long as we have a navy equal to any other nation in the world. The place to stop the war danger therefore is in Europe and not in the United States.

NO CHANGE OF POLICY

European politicians, who at first thought after receiving the word that the Democrats had made sweeping gams m the American Congress, declared more or less joyfully that America was about to embark on a new European policy, are now changing their tunes, upon sober second thought. For instance, Jaques Bainville, in one of the leading French journals said recently:

"When Republicans replace Democrats or Democrats defeat Republicans we always think it will be favorable for Europe, but the Democrats are just as indifferent to Europe as their adversaries. It would be better if they did not mix in European affairs at all rather than follow the methods of President Wilson who in the period from 1918 to 1919 contributed so much to the European mess.

"The Hoover regime remains, and so long as it continues there will be no change in debts or tariffs nor will there be any difference afterwards."

There is a great deal of sound thinking displayed in the above. The election does not mean that Uncle Sam is going to change his foreign policy. He will continue to practice the doctrine of helpful cooperation with the rest of the world but avoid entangling alliances and embarrassing policy commitments. There was a time at the close of the World War when it seemed that he might abandon his old doctrin of avoiding entanglements, but this day has passed by. On two or three occasions the people have rendered a sweeping verdict at the polls against any such change, and no political party, with any sort of judgment, is going to involve us in the European political mess. To do so would be to invite political annihilation. For those who think the drift among the people is toward internationalism, a perusal of the platforms of the two great parties in the 1928 campaign ought to prove enlightening. Nobody is now pledged to mixing in European politics now except a few college professors and paid international agitators.

It may be true that after each election the European politicians, who want our influence in Europe, for some selfish reason or other, find renewed hope that Uncle Sam is changing his mind. But it is a vain hope and one which is aroused not by any action of the American people but by the noise of our own internationalist agitators.

OUR OWN AMERICA

Our own America, with all its faults, economic, political, and otherwise, is a better place in which to live than many other lands—China, India, Egypt, and all Asia seethe with dread and trouble. Europe is an armed camp. For those who are, or who may be, intrigued by the glamor of Fascism the spectacle is presented of the Italian government's petty precaution of the wives and children of exiled anti-Fascists. They are made to suffer for the alleged crimes of their husbands. These wives and mothers do not make an easy living, cut off from their husbands. They are held prisoners of the government. They may not leave Italy.

There is violence and horror in Russia, where shooting of eminent men of science is charged in a strong protest just now signed by a number of distinguished Germans, which protest alleges that the facts "seem to prove that every scientific activity claiming even the most modest measure of intellectual freedom is becoming impossible in the Soviet Union."

There is terror in Poland. In Eastern Galicia, whose population is everwhelmingly Ukranian, a region of "pacification" by Polish troops goes merrily on, while Warsaw the majority of the opponents of Marshal Pilsudski are either dead or are in prison. The "punitive" expeditions into Galicia have terrorized the inhabitants—floggings, killing of innocent Ukranian peasant farmers are said to be the rule of the hour, the burning of private households a common pastime of brutal soldiery. In all Poland the politics of the people are influenced, it is said, not so much by persuasion as by intimidation. It is stated by an English authority that the arrests of opposition deputies have been continued recently until about 12 percent of the members of the last parliament are now in prison on vague or unspecified charges.

Palestine is in turmoil. South America reeks and revels in revolution. In the United States is peace and swiftly coming prosperlty, a steady crushing of "enthusiastic pessimism."

The lure of foreign propaganda should fall on deafened ears in our America, even where citizens have the right to complain of inept policies and disrupted economic conditions.

THE GREATEST INSTITUTION

It is estimated from reports to the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection that there are nearly 48,000,000 persons under the age of eighteen in this country. Upon the training that they receive depends the future of the nation. The question of whether or not tomorrow they will come into their maturity well equipped, with strong bodies, a good education, and high ideals, ready to take their place in the industrial, political, and social life of the government, is largely determined by those who today are in position to direct their destinies.

The institution that exerts perhaps the largest influence over the lives of these future citizens is the home. Its trend in recent times can hardly be said to be encouraging. With the popularity, especially in the larger cities, of the small apartment, in many cases both parents working, and the numerous outside attractions, the existance of real home life is seriously threatened. It is now the exception to find a home in which the family altar is maintained. It is a far cry from the day when most families gathered around the fireside each evening to discuss family problems or to listen to passages read from the Bible. Now, one is more apt to find the mother and fathre at the bridge club, the older children at some night club, and the younger at the movies.

No doubt, this trend is reflected in our national life. The results can be seen in the fact that more than two hundred thousand of the juvenile population get into the courts in a year, and that 3 per cent of the clementary school enrollment are behavior-problems.

What can be done to remedy the situation? It is a field that legislation by the government, even if possible, would be of little avail. The responsibility of maintaining a home that furnishes a beneficial environment for the child must be borne by the individual parents. It is a duty that parents owe to the child and to the nation. The preservation of America's greatest institution—the home—is one that should demand the active interest and serious attention of every citizen.

YOUR TOWN'S CREDIT.

Why is the credit of some towns better than that of others? What are the causes, within the control of towns and cities, even states, of the variations in the rates of interest which they must pay for borrowed money? What are the factors upon which community credit is based?

The Committee on State and Local Taxation and Expenditures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the Municipal Bond Committee of the Investment Bankers Association are working together to identify these factors for the guidance of local organizations dealing with tax problems. The importance of the work may be judged by the fact that state and local indebtedness is mounting by more than $1,000,000,000 a year, and roughly one-tenth of the cost of state and local government is now represented by payment of interest on debts.

The individual enters into the picture by reason of the further fact that the state of the community's credit is reflected in the taxes he pays. He will get less for his money if the community credit is bad than he will get if it is good.

PLAN IS PRESENTED FOR BUILDING ROADS IN COUNTY

county to secure badly needed highways during the coming year and to also have expended in the county this money at a time when it would help employ and put in circulation funds that would in a manner be very helpful under the prevailing conditions.

I believe that every citizen and taxpayer of the county should carefully consider without prejudice and in an open minded manner just what the proposition does mean to the majority of the people of the county and whether or not some method can be worked out under which it would be to our advantage to have these roads constructed during 1931, and your committee I am quite certain will be glad to hear from any source that might have a workable plan and to give it careful consideration.

C. N. M'INTIRE,
Chairman Good Roads committee.

Mr. C. N. McIntire, Chairman,
Good Road Committee,
Oakland, Md.
Dear Mr. McIntire,

At a recent meeting at the Manhattan hotel, Oakland, Md., comprised of officials from the State Roads Commission, county officials and business men of Garrett county, proposals by Mr. Uhl, Chairman of the State Roads Commission, were suggested that Garrett county could secure 50 miles of improved roads by a bond issue of $1,500,000 and the tax payers would be assessed for the next 7 years with a levy sufficient to pay only the interest charges, the allotment due Garrett county from the State and Federal Road Funds being sufficient to meet the principal of the bond issue which would be approximately $200,000 per year.

Inasmuch as I did not have an opportunity to attend the meeting and join in the discussions, I have the following plan to suggest how these roads may be seucred without a single cent raise in the tax rate, provided however, the proposal is concurred in by the State Roads Commission.

The money could be secured at an interest rate of 5% or better. Then I advise that the bond issue be raised $300,000 and that amount set aside in a special fund to provide interest on the issue for a period of 4 years. In the meantime, the $200,000 due annually from the Satet could be used for 4 years to retire $800,000 worth of bonds which would be issued serially.

At the end of the fourth year there would be outstanding $1,000,000 of bonds and I am making a chart to illustrate how subsequent amortization would be provided for by the $200,000 yearly aid from the State.

End of	Bonds retired	Bonds Out standing	Interest due	Sinking Fund
5 years	$100,000	$850,000	$50,000	None
6 years	150,000	700,000	42,500	$7,500
7 years	150,000	550,000	35,000	15,000
8 years	150,000	400,000	27,500	22,500
9 years	150,000	250,000	20,000	30,000
10 years	150,000	x100,000	12,500	37,500

At the end of the tenth year the funds accumulated in the Sinking Fund amounts to $112,500 which would pay all outstanding bonds and have a surplus of $12,500.

The income due from Special and Sinking Funds would amount to $17,000 which taken with the balance standing over from the Sinking Fund would make a last payment from the State towards retirement of bonds $120,500 instead of the 9 year annual payment of $150,000.

This proposal, if carried through, should make a reduction in tax rates because roads maintenance would be eliminated over 50 miles of dirt highways.

Yours Respectfully,
BERNE TETER.

TABLELAND ASSOCIATION TO HELP IN MAKING PARK

To Cooperate With Civic Club in Beautifying Old Hotel Site

The Oakland Civic Club is considering plans for beautifying the old Oakland hotel grounds. In this worthy object the Allegheny Tableland Association stands ready to cooperate. Oakland is said to be one of the finest appearing towns in the entire tableland region and if the Civic Club can go through with its desire to accomplish this piece of work it will simply add to the splendid pride residents of Oakland already have in their town.

"The Allegheny Tableland Association can help," its secretary told the Civic Club at its meeting last week, "by bringing in expert professional aid in the person of a landscape architect whose advice and suggestions should be invaluable towards the formation of a plan that will permit continual planting and improvement from year to year until the old hotel grounds become a beautiful park. This plan of the hotel ground improvement deserves the whole-hearted support of every individual in the community. The proper grouping of the native trees and shrubs, laying out of walks, retreats and gardens need cost but little since the supply of most of the materials required is very close at hand and it is possible that public-spirited farmers having desirable plant species for transplanting may donate the same. The possibilities of doing something on an educational and attractive scale, possibly a collection of native trees, shrubs and wild flowers indigenous to the Allegheny tableland, lends itself to the imagmation."

Lesson for December 7

STEPHEN, AN EARLY INTERPRETER OF CHRISTIANITY

LESSON TEXT—Acts 6:1-7:60.

GOLDEN TEXT—And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Stephen, Jesus' Helper and Friend.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Standing Up for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing Up for Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stephen's Contribution to Christianity.

I. Stephen Chosen as Deacon (Acts 6:1-8).

The early church was threatened with disruption over suspected partiality in the distribution of alms. As soon as the church had relief from external troubles, difficulties arose from within. A congregational meeting was called, the case placed before the church with instructions to select seven men of good reputation, and Spirit-filled, to administer the temporalities of the church, thus giving the apostles the necessary time for prayer and the ministry of God's word. Among the seven deacons chosen, Stephen occupied first place.

The essential qualifications for the deacon's office are:

1. Integrity. They were instructed to look for men of good report, of unquestioned integrity.

2. Sagacity. They were to look for men full of wisdom, men of common sense and good judgment.

3. Spirituality. They were to be men full of the Holy Ghost.

II. Stephen Before the Council (Acts 6:9-15).

1. Disputing with Stephen (vv. 9, 10). Certain foreign speaking Jews took the lead in this controversy. Perhaps the fact that Stephen was a Grecian-Jew provoked them to this action. He was more than a match for them while the debate was carried along the lines of reason and Scripture. Beaten along these lines, they had him arrested and brought before the Council.

2. Charged with blasphemy (vv. 11-14). They trumped up this charge against him and endeavored to support it by secretly finding and inducing men to perjure themselves in their testimony. Stephen showed in his preaching that God's purpose was progressive and that the policy instituted by Moses would be superseded by the new faith, since it was but the culmination of what Moses began. Christianity did not destroy Judaism but caused it to blossom forth into the glory of the new order.

3. Stephen's face transfigured (v. 15). He was so completely filled with Christ that as he saw the angry mob and realized how soon he would be violently dealt with and thus pass into the presence of the Lord, his face shone as the face of an angel.

III. Stephen's Defense (Acts 7:1-53).

In refuting their charge he showed by the history of God's dealing with the Jews that they had always resisted him. Therefore, their present attitude was because they were unwilling to move forward with the divine purpose. According to Dr. Stifler, four points emerge in this defense:

1. God's dealing with the Jews showed progress. It was not reached by a single leap, but by gradual stages.

2. The temple was not the only holy place. God appeared at different times and in different places.

3. Israel invariably opposed God in his effort to lead them on.

4. He showed his loyalty to Moses by constantly referring to him.

IV. Stephen Stoned (Acts 7:54-60). His words cut them to the heart so they gnashed upon him with their teeth.

1. Looking steadfastly into heaven (v. 55). Instead of looking upon his murderers he looked up to heaven.

2. He saw the glory of God (v. 55). A vision of God's glory is only possible to those who are loyal unto death.

3. He saw Jesus standing on the right hand of God (vv. 55, 56), showing that he was actively interested in the suffering of his faithful witness.

4. They cast him out of the city and stoned him (vv. 58, 59).

5. His prayer (v. 60). He kneeled down and cried with a loud voice, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge." How like the prayer of Jesus on the cross.

6. He fell asleep (v. 60). The Christian's death is only a sleep. This sublime scene must have vitally affected Saul who was consenting unto his death.

Faith

Faith draws out our stops . . . While the sympathy of our Lord is expressed in the briefest verse in the Bible—"Jesus wept"—that verse requires as a foot-note the many pages which describe his crucifixion.—John Andrew Holmes.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

By SCOOP—HIMSELF

Jim, the printer's devil, and Emmy Lou, the typesetter, of The Republican force would like to be informed personally hereafter by the water committee, just when the water is off, how long, and why, especially when there is a cold wave.

Last Friday when the water failed to reach several points in town Jim showed up at the office about 45 minutes late. He had been at his home on Quality hill, trying desperately to thaw out the pipes, when his neighbors informed him the hill didn't have water.

That same evening Emmy Lou went home. There wasn't any water there either, and thinking the reservoir was empty, made the best of it. Two days later, when their neighbors were using water and they were still minus the aequa, they found that their pipes really had frozen.

* * *

Down in Midland during the cold wave last week some of their "bright" citizens let their water spiggots open all night to keep the pipes from freezing. They succeeded. They also succeeded in draining the city reservoir and are now without water.

* * *

It is rumored that a few Oakland people did the same thing the other night. Let us hope that Oakland people have graduated from that level, and used their heads in the matter. Water is precious, especially when there isn't much to be had.

Music With Your Shave

They have an entirely new wrinkle in Bittner and Stahl's barber shop, or at least did on Saturday night. They had a radio hooked up and were playing numbers which put the customers in the proper mood for tonsorial work.

They were broadcasting on a hair wave length of fifty kinks, and were receiving music from station K. D. X., from the capitol dome at Hairford. They started off with the number "let me trim your whiskers, I'm in love with you." The clippers were working to the tune of the Tiger rag. When shaving a wrinkled face they would turn on some of those soothing tunes from the guitar one is always hearing from Fairmont or Wheeling.

For a massage they played "Only a face that a mother could love." (thank heavens I wasn't the one getting the treatment). When they used the scissors on my hair I made them play a waltz.

For hair restoring treatment they were using the tunes "Among my souvenirs," and "Gone are the days."

If anybody went in there with the idea of getting only a haircut they played "Shave me again," by Beard; 'Great big washable you," and "If I had hair like an angel," until he broke down and let them give him a facial, marcel, singe, massage, shampoo, and the whole works.

When they were finished they would play "He's dancing with hairs in his eyes," (or down his neck) depending on which one worked on you.

Col. Bell just had to be called and he caught Hardesty rolling the clippers over the head of Jim Kerlns to the tune of "I cut you so much, it's a wonder you don't feel it." Jim Kerins said he was getting his head shaved so he could go to these midnight follies reviews and sit in the bald-headed row.

Disobeying Orders

If these old historical and Biblical characters had been in the U. S. army they would have been locked up in the Hoose-gow for the following reasons: Adam and Eve, not in proper uniform; Noah, bringing animals on board; Moses and Jonah, swimming in unauthorized places; David, fighting; Sampson, not getting a haircut; Rip Van Winkle, asleep at reville; Paul Revere, disturbanee after taps; Prodigal son, Awol.

After reading this you are at liberty to send in to Scoop a dissertation on "Women".

"Men"

Men are what women marry; they have two hands, two feet, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one collar, or one idea at a time.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, common sense, faith, hope, and charity—especially charity.

If you flatter a man you scare him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired in the end, and if you don't permit him to make love to you he gets tired in the beginning.

If you are a clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have a brain, and if you are a modern, advanced and independent, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate, and if you are brilliant he longs for a playmate. If you wear gay colors and rouge, and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out, and if you wear a little brown toque and a tailor made suit, he takes you out but stares all evening at women in gay colors, startling hats and rouge.

If you are popular with other men he is jealous, and if you are not, he hesitates to marry a wall flower.

(Taken from confessions of Lucy Lou, of Bear Hill section. Bear is spelled correctly.)

Isn't is strange that one rarely sees a bootlegger on the street during the Court sessions?

* * *

Scientists say there are three periods in a man's life when he is apt to get into trouble. We presume these are youth, middle age and old age. Yes, and that goes for women too.

* * *

It is rumored that the Amalgamated Society for the Prevention of Work is meeting secretly to concoct a scheme whereby they might give valuable assistance to the unemployment situation.

* * *

H. C. Sincell got the raspberry from members of the Amal. S. P. W. for wearing his ice cream suit down town yesterday with the thermometer standing around the zero line.

It must not have had much effect, for he's wearing it again. (Well, maybe it will wear out some day.)

The Two Extremes

It's such a shame to kill those innocent things. How beautiful and harmless they look! It wouldn't have been so bad if he had fired in self defense. Oh, the poor dear deer!

And the other—

Nice shot, old fellow. Must have been a hundred yards away at least. You're one out of many. I'd like to be in your boots.

BITTINGER

A snow storm of unusual severity, accompanied by extremely low temperature for the season, struck this section last week. The snow began falling late Monday evening and by Thursday the roads were so completely filled with huge snow drifts that travel was impossible until Saturday when those who had failed to have their automobiles inspected as required by a recent law, found it necessary to shovel through the drifts in order to get their ears to a point for inspection.

Mrs. Gustavus Stanton, who has been in Akron, O., for several weeks with her daughter, returned to her home here last Sunday afternoon.

William R. Browning, of Oakland, was a business visitor in this village on Monday of last week.

The special Thanksgiving service, which was announced to be held in the local Lutheran church on Thanksgiving evening, was postponed indefinitely on account of bad weather conditions.

Dr. N. R. Davis, of Grantsville, was called to this village last Saturday to attend Victor Wiley, who is ill at his home near here.

A rapid rise of temperature on Saturday night and Sunday, aided by the rain of Sunday, thawed away much of the snow that fell last week.

The young women of the Busy Workers' Sunday school class will hold a bazaar in this village early in December and will have on sale a number of attractive and useful articles. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Two cars, driven by Rex Buckle and Joel Brenneman, respectively, collided along one of the roads near this village one day last week and both cars were damaged but the drivers escaped unhurt.

Perhaps we will have a report of a deer killed in this vicinity by the local sportsmen during the open season this week.

There comes a time for a final settlement in everything—so it is with our taxes. Without the hearty cooperation of all taxpayers who are in arrears, it will become very humiliating for you and very unpleasant for me.

I must get my accounts in shape for a final settlement. To do so, I must be guided by the statute in such case made and provided.
